

First Love 190

Chapter 190 Car accident

Qiuyan was just about to go out with her suitcase when her mother-in-law Jinlan saw that her son's company was about to go bankrupt, but Qiuyan did not think of ways to help and was in the mood to go out traveling. She really couldn't stand it, so she said a few words to Qiuyan, and Qiuyan started arguing with her.

After the quarrel, Qiuyan had no choice but to slam the door, picked up her suitcase, took a taxi and went to meet up with a few friends.

"Why did you come so late? Everyone is waiting for you." At this time, one of their companions saw Qiuyan coming late and muttered.

"Oh, just as I was about to go out today, my old mother-in-law started nagging me again. It was so annoying. I was in a good mood when I woke up this morning, but this old woman ruined my mood completely."

"Why did you quarrel with your mother-in-law again today?"

"Yes, she saw that I was still so foul-mouthed when I went on a trip, and she scolded me for never coming back. I got angry and started arguing with her," Qiuyan said indignantly.

"You are going on a long journey too, why are you arguing with your elders? I heard from grandma that you can't quarrel with elders when you go out, it will be unlucky. I'd better not go." My companion Pingping began to back off. She didn't want to go anymore. When she was very young, she heard from her grandma that you can't argue when you go out, and it will be unlucky if you quarrel.

"Why are you like this? We agreed that there would be exactly 5 people. If you don't go, won't there be one less person?" When my companion Yueyue heard that there was one less person, she disagreed as she was driving.

"If she doesn't want to go, then she doesn't have to go. Let's go." Another of the companions was called Liu Ping. She happened to have a holiday during those few days. When she heard that they were not going, she was afraid that she would not have a holiday in the future.

After half a day of discussion, Pingping decided not to go, but the others still got on the bus and went to Hangzhou for a trip.

After getting in the car, most of them were housewives. They met at the club. Only Yueyue was working. They were all housewives and had common experiences and feelings about family life. Therefore, they got along very well and had a lot of topics to talk about.

They can share each other's cooking skills, parenting experiences, housekeeping methods, etc. These exchanges not only make them feel understood and supported by each other, but also allow them to learn new knowledge and skills from each other.

In addition, they will discuss some issues about family relationships, how couples get along, and how to educate their children. Through such chats, they can inspire each other, find better solutions, and improve their performance in the family.

In addition to family affairs, they also talk about personal interests and hobbies, such as reading, handicrafts, fitness, etc. This allows them to find their own fun and relaxation methods outside of their busy family life.

In short, since they are all housewives, the topics they talk about are wide-ranging and in-depth, and this resonance makes their friendship even deeper.

Since their husbands are all very rich, the topics they chat about, apart from fashionable dressing, are family matters and gossip.

"Qiuyan, your mother-in-law is too ignorant. You should think of a way to send her back to her hometown so that she won't sow discord between you and your husband."

"Yes, when my mother-in-law was here, she was always nosy. Later, I came up with a solution, and later even my husband asked his mother to go back to her hometown."

"Oh, how did you do it so well? Tell us about it." The person who spoke was Liu Ping who was driving. While driving, she did not forget to look back at the sisters behind her. Their car was speeding on the highway at that moment. Liu Ping's foot slipped when she turned her head to step on the accelerator. She immediately became flustered. In panic, she stepped on the accelerator hard, and the car flew forward like a wild horse.

Seeing the car suddenly accelerate and fly forward, Liu Ping suddenly panicked. At that time, there was a large container truck in front of them, which was full of goods and was moving slowly. Liu Ping should have turned the steering wheel to the left in a panic, but she turned the steering wheel to the right.

"Bang!" With a loud bang, their car crashed into the truck carrying the boxes. The weight of the car was no match for the weight of the boxes. After the car hit the truck, it bounced back like a spring. When their car was bounced back, a black car came speeding over. They had no time to brake and crashed into the car. "Bang!" With a loud bang, the car crashed into their car.

The impact was so strong that their car was instantly knocked out, rolled several times in the air, and then hit the ground heavily. The car windows were shattered, the interior of the car was in a mess, and everyone in the car was dizzy from the shock.

The vehicle involved in the accident was also severely damaged, with its front end deformed, its hood lifted up, and billowing smoke. The driver looked terrified and at a loss.

Then, there was a loud "bang!", as if the whole world was shaken by this force. Then, there were several more "bangs", like the drum beats in a symphony, beating densely and powerfully.

Each collision was so violent that it made people feel terrified. Then, the sound of "bang!" continued to come, as if it was an endless nightmare. These sounds intertwined together to form a thrilling symphony.

However, the symphony did not end. More "bangs" joined in, as if a fierce battle was taking place.

As time went on, the "bangs" became more frequent and louder. The entire highway was immersed in this chaos, and people were panicking and running around.

The sounds of cars colliding, glass breaking and people screaming mixed together with the howling of ghosts and wolves, forming a doomsday scene.

Suddenly, the highway was in a panic. Some people who escaped from the car first were injured, some were not injured, and at this moment, several people in the crowd quickly called the emergency number and the police. They anxiously waited for the arrival of rescuers, hoping to help the injured as soon as possible.

Time passed by minute by minute, and finally, the sound of sirens and ambulances came from afar. Police cars and ambulances quickly arrived at the scene, and medical staff immediately launched a rescue operation.

They carefully carried the injured onto a stretcher, put them into an ambulance, and quickly drove to the hospital. The police stayed at the scene, began to investigate the cause of the accident, maintain order, and ensure the safety of other vehicles and pedestrians.

At this time, Qiuyan and her friends' car was almost deformed by the cars rushing from behind. At first, they were stunned by this sudden change, and later, due to the collision of the cars from behind, their car was almost squeezed to the point of being deformed.

Some of them were injured and fainted, and some were frightened and fainted.

This sudden car accident shocked everyone. Everyone was talking about it and speculating on the cause of the accident. Was it caused by driver fatigue or other reasons? Only by waiting for the results of the police investigation can the truth be revealed.