

First Love 194

Chapter 194 I'm doing this for my son

Due to the decline in the company's performance, most of Wang Kun's shareholders demanded a withdrawal of their shares, and the company was facing bankruptcy, which made everyone feel desperate.

After listening to Wang Kun's analysis and report, Li Zhen decided to help Wang Kun overcome this difficulty. She helped him get a contract for an order worth 200 million yuan.

"I will give you a mobile phone component from Germany, but you must ensure the quality and quantity of the components and don't let me down."

"Lizhen, thank you for your help, but I want to ask a question, did my mother tell me?" Wang Kun tried to ask Lizhen.

"Mom did tell you, but I did it for my son's sake. I don't want my son to live with a penniless father and starve to death," Li Zhen said. Indeed, she knew about the difficulties faced by Wang Kun's company very early on, because she was a leader in the industry. No matter which company was in crisis, she knew it clearly, but she was embarrassed to say it out loud.

After listening to Lizhen's words, Wang Kun was very moved and shocked, and also felt a little ashamed. He was a man and should help Lizhen, but now it was Lizhen who helped him.

Moreover, Lizhen has a broad mind. When he is in trouble, she does not hold grudges and extends her warm hands to help him, making him feel ashamed.

"Let's go and meet your shareholders. I see they are waiting anxiously." Li Zhen stood up and walked towards the meeting room with Wang Kun.

When Lizhen passed by Wang Kun's office, all the employees were excited, "Look, our vice chairman is here!"

"Who is this? She's so beautiful and has such a great temperament," several new employees who didn't know Li Zhen exclaimed.

"You may not recognize this, but this is our chairman's former wife, Li Zhen. But she has really changed a lot now, we almost don't recognize her anymore."

At this time, they all couldn't help but greet Li Zhen at the same time, "Hello, Chairman Cheng."

Lizhen came here with light steps and graceful posture.

She was wearing a gorgeous dress, like a blooming flower, exuding a charming fragrance.

The dress was cut perfectly, fitting her graceful figure and showing her unique charm and temperament.

Her beauty was like a bright light that illuminated the entire work area, making it impossible to ignore.

People stopped what they were doing, their eyes were drawn to her, marveling at her beauty and temperament.

She is like a shining star, filling the entire space with vitality and vigor.

Looking at these employees who used to work with her, Lizhen was overwhelmed with emotions. She was so moved that her eyes were filled with tears and she was extremely excited.

"Hello, everyone." Several people who were originally Li Zhen's subordinates came forward to greet them warmly. Their faces were filled with smiles and their eyes were shining with joy.

They walked quickly towards Lizhen, stretched out their hands, held her hands tightly, and shook them vigorously to express their warm welcome to Lizhen.

Then, she opened her arms and gave Lizhen a deep hug, as if she wanted to put all her thoughts and emotions into this hug. The friendship between them was so deep that people could feel a sincere and warm atmosphere.

Seeing the employees' enthusiasm for Lizhen, he felt mixed emotions. He recalled many things and understood many things. No wonder their company's performance was good when Lizhen was there. It turned out that she had been silently contributing all along, but I was completely unaware and still thought it was my own credit and achievement.

This made Wang Kun feel extremely shocked and guilty. In this world, how many people are willing to selflessly dedicate themselves without asking for anything in return? He couldn't help but fall into deep thought...

Li Zhen left this group of enthusiastic employees with reluctance, and she and Wang Kun and his party came to the conference room.

When Lizhen and her group walked into the conference room, all the shareholders' attention was attracted by Lizhen. They speculated whether their company would be acquired by Lizhen and her group under such circumstances, because in this industry, everyone knew Lizhen's current achievements and strength, but they still gave Lizhen a warm applause for her arrival.

After Lizhen and the others were seated, Wang Kun spoke first; "I am now announcing a very good news. Our Chairman Cheng has sent our company an order of 200 million yuan." As soon as Wang Kun finished speaking, all the shareholders in the conference room stood up at the same time and applauded.

Everyone looked at each other, their eyes sparkling with joy and excitement, as if they wanted to pass this joy to each other.

They looked at each other with bright smiles on their faces, and everyone felt the excitement and joy deep in their hearts.

The joy spread like ripples among the crowd, filling the entire atmosphere with warmth and joy. Everyone was immersed in this common joy, unable to hide their excitement.

All their eyes were focused on Lizhen, and that look seemed to be able to penetrate everything.

They looked at her with eyes full of expectation and gratitude, as if she was the goddess in their hearts. And the shareholders also stood up one after another, each of them had a face full of gratitude, an emotion that could not be expressed in words.

This emotional resonance brings everyone closer together, sharing the happiness and satisfaction of the moment.

This sudden good news was like a shot in the arm, giving everyone a glimmer of hope. Lizhen not only brought funds and resources to help the company overcome difficulties, but more importantly, brought hope to their company.

At the same time, her appearance also gave Wang Kun great encouragement and confidence, allowing him to see hope for the future.

Wang Kun went on to say: "I believe that as long as we work together, we can restore the company to its former glory!" His words revealed his firm belief and determination.

Li Zhen smiled at Wang Kun, her eyes full of encouragement and support. Warm applause broke out in the conference room, and the shareholders were full of expectations for the future.

"I just heard from Special Assistant Wang that some people want to withdraw their shares in the company. We won't force you to withdraw. Please tell me your names if you want to withdraw. I will approve them all tomorrow." After Wang Kun finished speaking, he scanned the entire audience with his sharp eyes, as if he could see into everyone's heart.

At this time, there were a few shareholders who were arguing very fiercely. They were afraid that Wang Kun would see them, so they avoided Wang Kun's sharp gaze.

Suddenly the whole place fell silent. Even the sound of a pin drop could be heard. No one spoke. It was so quiet.

"No one wants to leave here. This is a place full of opportunities and challenges. We need to understand that only by regarding the company as our own business can we truly unleash the power of the team and create a better future together. Here, there is no individualism, only unity and cooperation; there is no retreat or escape, only courage to move forward. Let us work together to make the company a leader in the industry." Warm applause suddenly rang out in the conference hall.

"Here I would like to express special thanks to our former vice president, Ms. Lizhen. It was she who extended a helping hand to us when we encountered difficulties. On behalf of all our shareholders and employees, I would like to express my sincere thanks." The whole audience burst into applause, and all shareholders' faces were filled with joy.

In the following period of time, Wang Kun and Li Zhen discussed the specific details of the cooperation together.

They developed a series of plans and strategies to improve product quality, increase market share and increase customer satisfaction.

With Lizhen's help, the company gradually got out of trouble and its business was booming. Wang Kun and Lizhen's relationship also gradually warmed up during their work together. They worked together and worked hard for the development of the company.
