

First Love 196

Chapter 196 Mother-in-law persuades ex-wife to return

Lizhen and her son were having fun together. Seeing her grandson and Lizhen having so much fun, Jinlan came to where Wang Kun was drinking tea and looked at Lizhen. "Kunkun, tell mom how your wife's injury is now."

"It's a bit troublesome and it won't be healed in a short while." Wang Kun didn't want to tell his mother because he was afraid that his mother would worry.

"What do you mean it won't heal in a short time? That means the injury is very serious. Tell mom the truth about where you are hurt." Jin Lan said while staring at Wang Kun's eyes. Wang Kun didn't dare to look his mother in the eye and had a depressed look.

"You are lying, aren't you? You are the son I raised, you won't lie. You didn't tell the truth today. How badly was she injured?"

"She was seriously injured. Her cervical vertebrae were dislocated, her lumbar vertebrae were broken, and even the bones in her right leg were broken." Wang Kun became so emotional that his throat choked up when he said this.

"Every wound is shocking, as if you can feel the piercing pain. Such serious injuries not only cause great damage to the body, but also face huge challenges in subsequent treatment and rehabilitation."

"According to the doctor, in this case, even if the patient survives, he will most likely be paralyzed in bed for the rest of his life and unable to take care of himself."

Having said this, Wang Kun couldn't help but feel a chill running down his spine, and he couldn't say any more.

"Mom, if Lizhen hadn't come to our company to help me and save our company, our company would have almost gone bankrupt. Now Qiuyan is injured like this again, I am about to collapse. If Lizhen hadn't saved me, I would have almost given up." Wang Kun looked in the direction of Lizhen and his son.

"Son, now you know how good Lizhen is. Your mother told you, but you didn't believe it. You were bewitched by this vixen. All these things are caused by you. You regret it now." Looking at her painful son, Jin Lan felt heartbroken, but she still couldn't help nagging Wang Kun a few words.

"Is it still useful for me to say this now?"

"Yes." Jin Lan suddenly came up with an idea and looked in Li Zhen's direction.

"Think about it, son. Lizhen is not married yet, and you and Qiuyan are not married either. Can you please consider the sake of our eldest grandson and my poor granddaughter and ask if there is a possibility for you to remarry?" Jinlan lowered her voice and spoke to Wang Kun in a very mysterious tone.

"Mom, how can you think like this? How can I do such an immoral thing? Qiuyan's life or death is uncertain and her injuries are so serious." Then, Wang Kun carefully observed Lizhen.

She exudes a noble and beautiful temperament, like a shining pearl.

Since they separated, Lizhen has become completely different from before.

She is no longer that ordinary girl, but has become a remarkable person.

In comparison, Wang Kun felt that he was so small and ordinary. There seemed to be an unbridgeable gap between him and Li Zhen, as if they were living in two completely different worlds.

I don't think Lizhen would agree. After all, she is no longer the simple, timid woman she used to be.

Today, Lizhen is courageous, capable, and successful in her career. She is even better than me.

She has experienced ups and downs, seen the world, and has her own unique insights and judgments on many things.

"It's hard to say, because Lizhen is a very kind person. Maybe she will come back to this family for the sake of the two children," Jinlan said, but she already had a little plan in her mind. Humph, look at me, if you are embarrassed to say it, I, an old woman, will go and tell Lizhen, and she will listen to me.

"Mom, we don't know if Qiuyan's injury can be cured yet. We can't just abandon her. Isn't it too cruel for us to do this?"

"But, Mom, this is not fair to Lizhen." Wang Kun looked worried.

"Don't worry about whether it's fair or not, just give it a try first." Jin Lan has made up her mind.

Wang Kun wanted to say something, but he opened his mouth and didn't know how to refute.

Seeing that her son's attitude had softened, Jinlan decided to strike while the iron was hot and go talk to Lizhen.

At this time, Lizhen came over holding her son's hand and said, "Mom, the company has something going on now, I have to go back."

"Mom, don't go back, I want you." At this time, the son hugged Lizhen's legs and refused to let go.

Lizhen quickly squatted down, touched her son's face and said, "Son, Mom has something to do at the company. Can you come and play with me after I finish my work?"

Hearing her son's words, Lizhen's heart was broken and her eyes were filled with tears, about to fall.

"Lizhen, can you have dinner before leaving? Your son doesn't want you to leave, can you stay with him for a while longer?"

"Son, mom really has something to do and has to leave." Lizhen held back her tears and hugged her son. Jinlan quickly pulled Lizhen over and whispered, "Lizhen, you see, you and Wang Kun haven't gotten married yet, and Kunkun is taking care of Qiuyan. Can you help take care of your grandson?" Lizhen was stunned. She didn't expect Jinlan to make such a request.

She looked at her lovely son, her heart full of contradictions. On the one hand, she no longer had feelings for Wang Kun, on the other hand, she couldn't bear to reject Jin Lan's request. After a moment of silence, Li Zhen slowly said: "I'll consider it." After that, she picked up her son and gently kissed his cheek, "Baby, be good and obedient, mom will come to see you again.

"Then, she turned and left. Wang Kun looked at Li Zhen's departing back, feeling mixed emotions. He knew that Li Zhen agreed to consider taking care of her son only out of love for her son and past friendship.

But he also understood that their relationship could never go back to what it was before.

In the following days, Wang Kun devoted himself to Qiuyan's treatment, hoping that she would recover soon. Lizhen often came to see her son at home, often bought some toys and food for her son, and came to see him more often than before.

Although she and Wang Kun felt a little awkward when they met, they both tried to control their emotions for the sake of their children.

"Mom Lizhen wants to ask you something. You don't have a boyfriend yet, and Kunkun and Qiuyan are not married. Can you please remarry with Kunkun for the sake of your two children?" Finally one day, Jinlan tried to ask Lizhen while she was feeding her grandson.

"Mom, I understand how you feel. I come back here often just for my son's sake. Now Wang Kun doesn't have time to take care of my son, so I come here to help and care for him. Don't misunderstand that I just want to go back to this home. Now Wang Kun has a wife, and his wife needs his company and care right now. I, Lizhen, am not a person who does things without moral bottom line, and I will not be a vicious woman who rubs salt into other people's wounds." Lizhen looked at her son and touched his head.

"I came here to see my son and to see you. When I was here, you treated me like your own daughter. Wang Kun and I no longer have any feelings for each other. As the saying goes, a good horse never turns back." Li Zhen's words stunned Jin Lan.

"My child, I also feel that what I said was a bit abrupt. I'm sorry for putting you in trouble. I just feel pity for the two children, one without a father and the other without a mother. Besides, it was Kun Kun who let you down, and you have feelings for him if you don't forgive him. I hope you don't take it to heart. It's Mom's fault."

"Mom, I don't blame you. After all, you are doing this for the good of your son and grandson, but I don't want to be someone else's third party."
