

First Love 199

Chapter 199 Like waking up from a dream

In addition to going to the company to deal with all the difficult problems every day, Wang Kun spends most of his time in the hospital accompanying Qiuyan to practice rehabilitation in the hospital. He usually uses a computer to handle it in the hospital.

Qiuyan felt very guilty watching Wang Kun busy there every day. She thought that if she had not gone out to travel, she would not have caused so much trouble for her husband. Thinking of this, her tears could not stop flowing.

She felt useless. Not only could she not help her husband share the pressure, but she became a burden to him instead.

She couldn't help but think of the past, the good times they had spent together. Those sweet and warm memories now became sharp blades that pierced her heart.

But now, she can only lie in the hospital bed, unable to move, and even speaking has become difficult.

All this happened like a nightmare, making her feel extremely painful and helpless.

She didn't know how to face this reality, nor did she know what the future would be like.

She could only endure the pain silently, hoping that time could heal the trauma of her heart.

At this time, she thought of her mother-in-law. No wonder she was dissatisfied with everything about her and liked Wang Kun's ex-daughter-in-law Lizhen. In comparison, Lizhen was not only beautiful but also outstanding. She could share the joys and sorrows with Wang Kun, share career matters with him, and give him suggestions and advice.

And for all this time, apart from spending Wang Kun's money, it seems that he has not provided any substantial help to Wang Kun.

This made her feel extremely guilty and self-blame. She felt that she was just a burden and of no value to Wang Kun.

Thinking of this, she couldn't help but fall into deep self-blame, her heart filled with regret and anxiety.

What she particularly thought of was the ugly words she had said to her mother-in-law when she quarreled with her. At this moment, she remembered a sentence her grandmother often said: "You must have a conscience and filial piety towards the younger generation. There is a theory of cause and effect in this world. If a person is not filial to his elders, or even often disobeys them, then this person will suffer retribution and may even be punished by God."

Could it be that all the suffering I am going through now is because I disobeyed my elders before? Should I really reflect on my behavior?

Thinking of this, Qiuyan couldn't help crying "Wuwuwu"

Wang Kun, who was working nearby, heard Qiuyan crying, "What's wrong, wife? Does it hurt there again? Doctor?" Wang Kun immediately went to call a doctor.

"It's not that you shouldn't call a doctor, it's just that I remembered the quarrel between my mother and I on the day I had the accident," Qiuyan said while crying.

"You had a quarrel with your mother, how come I didn't know about it?" Wang Kun looked at her strangely.

"That day I was looking for a bottle of facial cleanser at home. I searched everywhere but couldn't find it. So I asked if there was a thief in the house. My mother misheard me and thought I was saying she was a thief, so we started arguing."

"Oh, why can't you just be more patient? No wonder your mother has such a deep prejudice against you." Wang Kun sighed deeply. He thought, no wonder the relationship between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law is the most difficult problem in the world.

"Wife, don't be sad. I believe mom will slowly change her opinion of you," Wang Kun patted Qiuyan's shoulder gently and comforted her.

"But I really feel guilty. I feel so sorry for her," Qiuyan said with tears in her eyes.

Qiuyan secretly made up her mind that she would be filial to her mother-in-law and never quarrel with her again.

"Thank you, honey. This time it's all my fault. If I hadn't gone to Hangzhou, I wouldn't have been injured. And you didn't blame me for this injury, and you still take good care of me every day. I'm really sad. I clearly wanted to help you, but I couldn't. Instead, I brought you so much trouble and trouble. I feel like a useless waste."

"Every time I see you upset about my affairs, I feel so useless. I really want to do something for you, but I always mess everything up and make you suffer even more. I really don't know what to do..."

"Silly boy, don't think like that. You are my wife and I am willing to take care of you. This is what I should do." Wang Kun said gently.

"But I really want to do something for you. I don't want to be a useless person forever." Qiuyan said firmly.

"Well, when you get better, we'll work hard together and things will definitely get better." Wang Kun said encouragingly.

Qiuyan nodded, she took a deep breath, looked into the distance with a firm gaze, and swore secretly in her heart: "I must work hard to restore my health!" She knew very well that she could no longer let Wang Kun bear all the pressure and responsibility alone.

"Husband, from now on I will actively cooperate with the doctor's treatment and strive to recover soon." She wants to change herself and make herself stronger so that she can become his solid backing.

So, she actively cooperated with the doctor's treatment plan, took medicine on time every day, and did rehabilitation training. Although the process was painful and beads of sweat rolled down her face, she gritted her teeth, practiced step by step and never complained.

"Honey, take your time and rest before you go. You can't eat hot tofu in a hurry." Wang Kun felt heartbroken seeing Qiuyan practicing so hard.

"I must practice seriously and strive to recover soon."

She believed that as long as she persisted, she would be able to overcome the disease. At the same time, she also began to learn some management knowledge, hoping to better help Wang Kun handle company affairs after she recovered.

She knew it would take time and effort, but she was willing to do whatever it took to support him. Gradually, her physical condition improved and her mood became more cheerful. Wang Kun was also very pleased and touched to see her working so hard.

The bond between them grew stronger, like a glass of fine wine that mellowed with time. They supported, understood and tolerated each other, and experienced many good times and difficult times together. However, it was these experiences that made their bond stronger and more precious.

They know that the difficulties in life are only temporary, and as long as they love each other and work hard, the future will definitely be better. They are full of hope and confidence in the future, believing that they can overcome any difficulties and realize their dreams.

In this process, they not only learned how to face challenges, but also learned to cherish the present and enjoy every beautiful moment. They know that life is short, so they should seize every moment and create more beautiful memories with their loved ones.

Therefore, they decided to continue to move forward hand in hand, and no matter what difficulties and challenges they encounter, they will face them together and never give up, because they believe that as long as there is love, faith and courage, the future will definitely become better and better.

When Wang Kun and Qiu Yan were looking forward to a bright future, another potential problem quietly approached them.