

First Love 40

Chapter 40 Raising Money 2

Today, the township secretary came to Wang Kun's home with a team of forty to fifty people.

Wang Kun's mother Jinlan and his father were busy having fun. Customers were coming and going in an endless stream, filling the small department store.

When Secretary Liu's team arrived, the customers in the store immediately withdrew and stood at the door of the store to watch the excitement. They thought that the secretary had brought a large group of people to confiscate the goods from Wang Kun's home.

Wang Kun's father is a timid person. When he saw a huge group of people surrounding their house, he knew that Jin Lan was a bold person. She would not make trouble without reason, but if anyone provoked her, she would fight you to the death.

He was afraid that his wife would make a big deal out of it, so he hurriedly pushed his wife into the room and simply locked the door.

"Hahaha, why did you lock your wife in the room? With so many customers, who will come to do business?" Secretary Liu understood about 80% of the situation when he saw Wang Kun's father's behavior, but in order to ease the awkward atmosphere, he immediately made a joke to Wang Kun's father.

Wang Kun's father has always been timid and fearful. When he saw so many people coming suddenly, especially when he saw that they were led by the township secretary, he thought it must be something bad. The township must not allow me to open a store and came to confiscate my goods.

In particular, he saw that the director of the supply and marketing cooperative had also come, and he thought that their presence must be up to no good.

His legs were weak at this time. He hurriedly took out a pack of cigarettes, opened it and took out a cigarette. His hands were shaking as he handed it to Secretary Liu. "Secretary Liu, have a cigarette. You are a magnanimous person. My wife is a short-sighted woman. She just saw that the children at home need to go to school and the family is burdened with heavy expenses. She wants to earn some pocket money. Don't take it personally, haha." Wang Kun's father's laughter was unnatural and uglier than crying.

Secretary Liu was also a very humorous person. When he saw Wang Kun's father was so scared, he wanted to tease him. Secretary Liu immediately frowned and pretended to be very angry. He said to Wang Kun's father in a serious tone, "Old Wang, your wife is so bold that she actually went against the government."

"Yes, Secretary, you are right. My wife is a little too bold. We are willing to listen to your instructions and punish her however you want." Wang Kun's father nodded, clasped his hands together and bowed to thank Secretary Liu.

Looking at Lao Wang like this, so timid and fearful, he almost laughed out loud, but he held it back. He thought that we villagers are so simple. He paused and looked at Lao Wang with a smile.

"Hahaha, Lao Wang, I was just joking with you. Go and let your wife out. Give me the key now."

Looking at Secretary Liu's smiling face, Lao Wang reluctantly handed the key to Secretary Liu.

Secretary Liu took the key and opened the door. "Come out quickly, haha."

Chen Jinlan looked at Secretary Liu who was laughing. She looked at him with great doubt, but she was not afraid at all. Instead, she came to Secretary Liu calmly. "Secretary Liu, you are here just in time. I wanted to go to the township government to ask you something. When I went to the wholesale department to get the goods, I found that private businesses were allowed everywhere in the country. We are also led by the Communist Party. Why can't we do business here? Are we not the people of the Communist Party?"

"Wife, can't you speak so politely? It's impolite to Secretary Liu." Wang Kun's father hurriedly stopped his wife.

"Lao Wang, Lao Wang, you are still a man, but you don't have the courage of your wife, hahahaha." After listening to Jin Lan's speech, Secretary Liu suddenly looked at Jin Lan with admiration. This woman not only has a business mind, but also is very courageous. She is a talent.

Secretary Liu invited Jinlan to their front door, cleared his throat, and gave a speech. His speech cleared up the villagers' misunderstanding and reassured them. "Fellow villagers, the central government has issued a new document to allow private economy in order to make our people happy and prosperous. It allows some people to get rich first, and those who are capable can open their own shops to do business. As long as you have funds, you can do it."

As soon as Secretary Liu finished speaking, the crowd cheered. "Great, oh oh" followed by applause from the crowd. "Great, my wife, you did the right thing, our goods will not be confiscated, my wife, you are so wise" Wang Kun's father couldn't help but pick up his wife and turned around in a circle. Seeing the couple Jinlan so happy and the excited crowd, Secretary Liu was overjoyed.

"Haha, Lao Wang, you are so lucky to marry such a courageous and determined wife. Look at all of us men present here. We are not as good as a female comrade who can see so far and has so much courage. I am ashamed of myself."

Secretary Liu came to Jin Lan and held her hand tightly. "Thank you, Comrade Jin Lan. You have set an example for our township. You are a role model for women and even men in our township. We all need to learn from you."

The onlookers applauded happily. At this time, Jin Lan raised her stubborn head. Her eyes immediately turned from white to red, and her eye sockets were immediately filled with tears of excitement. She looked at Secretary Liu and her tears of excitement could no longer be controlled and flowed down her face.

"Why are you still crying? You have already won, you should be happy." Seeing Jin Lan crying, Secretary Liu immediately started to make her laugh.

Jinlan immediately wiped away her tears with her sleeves, shook her long hair, looked up at Secretary Liu, and smiled happily. A sweet smile appeared on her face. Since then, Chen Jinlan has become a household name. She is bold and knowledgeable in doing things, and she dares to take responsibility. Her reputation has become a celebrity in this township.

"Secretary Liu, we are relieved by your words. I still need to transfer some goods to expand my business."

"Have you prepared for Guangzhou?" His mother's words brought Wang Kun back to reality, and he realized why he came back. "Oh, Lizhen and I are ready, but we still need some funds." Wang Kun told his parents about buying the machine, and told them that Lizhen had taken out all his parents' pensions.

"Tomorrow we will mortgage our house and our shop and try to get the maximum loan amount. We can't let Lizhen's parents laugh at us. We will do our best. Son, your mother fully supports you."

Jinlan spoke forcefully and powerfully. She worked like a combat commander, methodical, courageous and resourceful. The next morning, Wang Kun finally heard great news from his mother. His mother successfully borrowed 500 million yuan from the bank. In that era of economic scarcity, this news caused a sensation in the whole county.

People were discussing this major event after dinner.
