

First Love 49

Chapter 49: The Argument between Mother-in-Law and Mom

Wang Kun took his mother home, and Shi Lizhen saw that they had not returned for several hours. She was waiting anxiously at the door, and saw Jinlan carrying a lot of bags on her shoulders and hands; "Mom, you must be tired carrying so many things like this." Lizhen immediately reached out to take the things from Jialan.

"Don't move. Don't disturb the fetus while I'm here." Jinlan immediately stopped Lizhen.

"Mom, I'm not that pampered," Lizhen explained with a smile.

"It's too heavy. Mom, you are so great that you carried such a heavy bag to such a far place." Wang Kun teased his mother, but he felt very distressed in his heart.

"Mom, have some water." Lizhen poured a glass of water and handed it to Jinlan. Lizhen was still observing her mother-in-law's movements. She was still worried that her mother-in-law would blame her like her mother did.

"Okay," Jin Lan quickly took the cup of water. She looked around. It was her first time here. She looked at the neat and beautiful four-bedroom, two-living-room house, the floor-length curtains, and the bright living room. She felt like she had come to heaven. It turned out that such a beautiful house that you see on TV is actually something you can live in.

She couldn't help but say, "Kunkun, this place is so beautiful, you guys are so capable."

Wang Kun felt bad when he heard his mother say this. His mother had worked hard all her life and he, as her son, had not given her a good life. He looked at his mother and told her firmly,

"Mom, when I make enough money, I will buy a big house and bring you and dad to live here, so you can enjoy a peaceful life here."

"Okay, good mom will definitely wait for this day." Jinlan was so excited when she heard her son say this that tears came out of her eyes.

"Lizhen, look what delicious food your mother brought you." Jinlan hurried to unpack the things she had brought. When she opened a bag, an unpleasant smell hit her nose.

"Ah, wow" As the unpleasant smell wafted out, Lizhen hurried to the bathroom. Lizhen began to vomit again, and she was vomiting all over the place. Jinlan saw how painful it was for Lizhen to vomit, and she didn't know what to do.

It turned out that Jinlan had no experience in wrapping the killed chickens one by one in plastic bags. In addition, the journey was long, and after more than ten hours of sealed and airtight packaging, the fresh meat actually deteriorated in quality and gave off a particularly unpleasant stench. Except for some that Jinlan fried, all the other food had gone bad.

"Well, why is it so smelly here?" At this time, Lizhen's mother had just returned from the supermarket after buying vegetables.

"Oh, it's Wang Kun's mother." Since Wang Kun and his wife haven't gotten married yet, Lizhen's mother is embarrassed to call Jinlan in-laws. She felt a little uncomfortable when she saw Jinlan. She thought that Lizhen was pregnant before marriage and was afraid that Lizhen's mother would say something about her daughter.

"Oh, dear relatives, you see I am really old and confused. I didn't even expect that such a good thing would go bad like this." Jinlan was particularly annoyed at herself for being so stupid.

Seeing Lizhen vomiting so painfully, Wang Kun was so angry that he was confused, but he couldn't say "Mom". He was so anxious and didn't know what to say.

"Throw the things away quickly and don't pollute the air here. Look, Lizhen is vomiting so badly." Lizhen's mother was very anxious when she saw Lizhen vomiting so badly. She thought that country people were ignorant and didn't know anything, and they would even make such mistakes, but she couldn't say it directly.

"It's better to throw it away. Don't get a stomachache. Especially Lizhen can't have any accidents." I had to persuade my mother to throw the thing away.

"Okay, just throw it away, but it's a shame to throw it away like this." Except for some fried things that were not yet spoiled, the rest were useless and were all thrown away. Jin Lan was born into a peasant family, and when she saw these things being thrown away, her tears flowed.

Jinlan is a very hardworking housewife. She is always restless after coming to Wang Kun's place and wants to do everything. But ever since Lizhen's mother brought those bad things, she is always worried that Jinlan doesn't understand anything and uses her own tricks on Lizhen, making her suffer.

This stumped Wang Kun. He didn't know how to solve the problem, so he could only sigh in front of Li Zhen. Seeing Wang Kun sighing, Li Zhen went to comfort him, saying that it was okay because they had just been together and they would be fine after a certain period of adjustment.

As soon as they woke up that morning, Wang Kun's mother and Li Zhen's mother started arguing. It turned out that Wang Kun's mother had fried eggs with brown sugar for Li Zhen early in the morning and was waiting for Li Zhen to get up for breakfast.

"Oh, Wang Kun's mother Lizhen can't eat fried eggs, it will make her too hot. She should eat steamed eggs with sugar." But when Lizhen's mother got up and took a look, she said Lizhen can't eat fried eggs now, because it will make her too hot, which is not good for Lizhen's body and (the baby's) development.

"No, eating this way will warm Lizhen up. I think she's a little weak. Scrambled eggs with brown sugar can nourish her body better." Jinlan used the old method they used at home. The two of them were in a stalemate. As elders, they all had their reasons, and their purpose was to consider Lizhen's health.

Lizhen herself also likes to eat steamed eggs, but she can't go against Wang Kun's mother's idea. She doesn't know what to say. On one side is her mother, and on the other is her mother-in-law. She suddenly came up with a way to have the best of both worlds;

"You two mothers should stop fighting over me. Let me eat my mother's steamed brown sugar eggs one day and my mother-in-law's scrambled eggs the next day. This way I will have both nutrition and a healthy body."

Hearing Lizhen's words, Jinlan clapped her hands happily; "Lizhen really understands the hard work of mothers. I agree."

In order to please her mother-in-law, poor Lizhen had to eat the brown sugar eggs fried by her mother-in-law. Within a few days, because the scrambled eggs were too nutritious, Lizhen couldn't defecate and was constipated, and the stool was bloody. She went to the hospital for a check-up and found that it was the scrambled eggs that caused constipation.

Wang Kun also went to the hospital. When he heard that it was because of the scrambled eggs, he was very angry and immediately wanted to go home and quarrel with his mother.

Lizhen quickly advised Wang Kun, "Don't be anxious, talk to Mom slowly, she won't hurt me, she's doing this for my own good." When Wang Kun heard Lizhen say this, he felt especially ashamed, he was not as considerate of his mother as Lizhen.

When Wang Kun got home, he called his mother outside and told Lizhen to eat brown sugar, which caused her constipation. Lizhen also told Wang Kun not to be angry and to talk to her mother. Although Jinlan was not well educated, she was a very reasonable and open-minded person.

After returning home, Jinlan immediately went to apologize to Lizhen and Lizhen's mother. "Mother-in-law, Lizhen's mother is sorry for making you suffer. I am not well-educated and don't know as much as you do. Next time, I will only do what is good for Lizhen and the baby in my belly. I will definitely listen to you."

Jinlan's sincere apology won the forgiveness of Lizhen's mother. From then on, Jinlan and Lizhen's mother got along very well.