

First Love 5

Chapter 5 Searching

Wang Kun, who had never traveled far away from his hometown, felt both afraid and happy as the train left. He was afraid that he would not be able to find Qiuyan in such a strange place, but he was happy that he could see his beloved whom he missed day and night again.

Wang Kun was a little confused when he just got off the train and looked at the train station which was dozens of times bigger than the one in his hometown. Looking at the crowded train station, he couldn't find his way and didn't know where to start looking for someone.

Wang Kun calmed himself down, encouraged himself, plucked up his courage, and asked for directions to school as he walked.

After some inquiries, he finally arrived at the school where Qiuyan was studying. He bravely went to the school gate and asked the gatekeeper, and finally found Qiuyan's residence. Her roommate told Wang Kun that Qiuyan had gone out and had not returned yet.

Since it was a girls' dormitory, Wang Kun felt embarrassed to stay for long, so he said goodbye and left.

"Who is this person? Why is there another man here?" One of the female students muttered and stuck out her tongue as she watched Wang Kun leaving.

"She's pretty and many people pursue her," said another classmate, shaking his head helplessly.

"Gurgle" Wang Kun suddenly heard a rumbling sound from his stomach. Only then did Wang Kun realize that he was too busy looking for Qiuyan and had not eaten yet. His stomach was making a fuss to remind him.

Wang Kun looked around and there happened to be a small restaurant at the school gate. He decided to eat in a nearby restaurant while looking for Qiuyan to come back with his eyes wide open.

While eating, Wang Kun recalled the time he spent with Qiuyan. It was so sweet. He hadn't seen Qiuyan for a semester. Wang Kun was looking forward to meeting Qiuyan. He missed her so much.

Since Wang Kun didn't tell Qiuyan when he came here, she wanted to give her a surprise.

Wang Kun waited and waited until the boss was about to close the shop. He was about to leave when suddenly a very familiar figure caught his eye. Wang Kun was so excited that he was about to run over and give Qiuyan a big hug.

At this time Wen Kun discovered that there was another man traveling with Qiuyan. They were walking one in front and one behind. When they estimated that Qiuyan was about to reach her dormitory, they were about to separate. Suddenly, Qiuyan turned around and gave the man a big hug, with an appearance of being reluctant to part. Time passed by minute by minute, about 4-5 minutes, but in Wang Kun's mind it seemed like several hours.

Wang Kun felt as if he had been struck by lightning when he watched their actions. His eyes were dull and he couldn't breathe. It was as if the earth had stopped moving.

Wang Kun suppressed the anger rising from the bottom of his heart and watched them with bated breath, especially when he saw them hugging each other reluctantly at the last moment.

At this moment, Wang Kun's blood was boiling. He wanted to rush over to question them, but he held back and waited for the man to leave.

After Wang Kun and the other men left, when he saw Qiuyan turning around to leave, he quickly rushed forward and blocked Qiuyan's way.

Qiuyan was immersed in the happiness of a date with her new boyfriend. Suddenly, she saw someone blocking her way. Qiuyan panicked and took a few steps back. But when she looked carefully, she was shocked and took a breath of cold air.

"You, you, why are you here?" Wang Kun's appearance scared her out of her wits. As she was guilty, Qiuyan didn't know what to do. Wang Kun's arrival startled her and made her particularly panicked.

"What's wrong with me? I came at the wrong time and ruined your good thing." Wang Kun was extremely excited because of the depression just now. He spoke particularly loudly because of his excitement and anger.

As soon as Wang Kun said this, Qiu Yan immediately realized that Wang Kun already knew that she had done something wrong to Wang Kun. He had seen it all.

"Why didn't you tell me you were coming here?" Qiuyan didn't know what to say to Wang Kun in this situation.

"Hmph, if I tell you, I won't be able to see such a wonderful scene today," Wang Kun mocked her angrily.

"I am in a place where I am unfamiliar with everyone and I have no other choice. I have been waiting for you here, but you have failed the exam year after year. How long do you want me to wait?" Qiuyan was smart, but she took the initiative to blame Wang Kun. She wanted to make Wang Kun speechless and put all the responsibility on Wang Kun.

"You and I have been in love for six years. I have invested my most crucial youth in you for six years. I have worked hard for you to get into college, but you have no heart. Your heart was eaten by a dog. I even delayed my exams. You are so cold-blooded. I love you so much. I miss you so much at home, but you are having an affair with another man." Wang Kun suppressed the anger in his heart, pointed his finger at Qiuyan's nose and cursed.

"Can you blame me for this? It's you who didn't seize the opportunity and ruined your life." Qiuyan felt guilty at first, but later she emboldened herself and decided to just go for it.

"Don't you feel embarrassed saying this? I devoted all my energy to you to help you with the college entrance examination, but today you said such heartless words. You are so disappointing." Wang Kun couldn't continue. He tried his best to control his emotions, but because he was too sad and upset, his throat suddenly choked up, as if something was blocking it, and tears rolled down his eyes.

Although Qiuyan felt a little guilty, she pretended to be unusually calm on the surface, but she did not dare to look Wang Kun in the eye.

Qiuyan is no longer the same Qiuyan. Especially since she came here, she has encountered too many temptations. She has seen too many people from wealthy families, especially those who eat commercial grain and have several people receiving state wages. There is a world of difference between her and herself, who works hard in the countryside and cannot earn a penny.

The young man who just left has a very powerful family background. His whole family is well-off. His parents are teachers and he teaches at school. He was attracted to Qiuyan because she is beautiful and is a college student.

He took advantage of Qiuyan's naivety as she had just arrived here and launched a fierce attack on her, pursuing her madly.

But Qiuyan is a very selfish person. She came here to a place where she was unfamiliar with everyone and lost Wang Kun's help. She could not resist his pursuit and temptation and was finally moved by his enthusiasm.

Especially compared with Wang Kun's family, Wang Kun's family lives in a small town and is from a rural area, and Wang Kun didn't even get into college. In her current eyes, the difference between them is like heaven and earth and cannot be compared.

She thought that six or seven years of relationship was nothing. The conditions before her were the ideals and dreams she had been pursuing since she was a child, so she felt unusually calm about Wang Kun's grief.

Qiuyan sighed softly and said ruthlessly, "It's better for us to separate. I can't go back to a place like home in my current situation."

"Didn't you say you would wait for me until I got into college? Will you wait for me?" Hearing Qiuyan say such cruel words, Wang Kun became anxious and extremely desperate.

"Why are you so naive? What's the point of waiting for you to get into college? By the time you graduate, I'll have already graduated and started working. Can I still wait for you? Besides, you may not be able to get in, that's still an unknown. I've been waiting for you here for several years. Did you get into college?"

Qiuyan is really a woman who changes her attitude faster than turning the pages of a book. She didn't even care about Wang Kun coming all the way to see her, and said such cruel words without any shame.

"You..." Wang Kun felt like a bucket of ice cold was poured over him, which completely extinguished his enthusiasm to meet Qiu Yan. He was so anxious that his head felt dizzy and he almost couldn't stand. If there wasn't a wall next to him, he might have fallen down.

"What's wrong with you? Are you okay?" Seeing Wang Kun so angry, Qiu Yan was also shocked to see Wang Kun in such a state. She was particularly afraid that Wang Kun would do something detrimental to her, but she also felt that Wang Kun was particularly pitiful. At this time, she felt a little sympathy for a few seconds. After all, she had been in love with Wang Kun for six years. After a few seconds, she returned to her original self.

Only then did Wang Kun completely feel that Qiu Yan had really changed, to the point where he could no longer recognize herself. His heart was bleeding, and the passion he had when he first came here had turned into a lump of ice, weighing heavily on his heart.

His mood now was to leave here as soon as possible. He didn't want to stay here any longer. His self-esteem was particularly hurt.

Wang Kun stumbled away from Qiuyan and walked forward step by step with great difficulty.

"Where do you live?" Qiuyan immediately caught up.

"Does this have anything to do with you?" Wang Kun turned around and looked at Qiuyan. She was much more fashionable than before, wearing a fashionable dress. She had completely changed her rustic appearance and was much fairer than before. Looking at this woman who had been with him day and night for six years, she suddenly changed so much that he didn't recognize her anymore. He felt particularly disgusted when he saw her.

At this time, Qiuyan looked at Wang Kun leaving, and her heart immediately surged with very complicated emotions. She wanted to catch up with him and see where he lived. After all, he was unfamiliar with the place.

But she changed her mind and decided to be a little ruthless. Since she had decided to break up with him, she had to be ruthless and let him give up the idea completely.

But she still watched him leave with tears in her eyes. After all, they had been together day and night for six years, and he had given her so much in these six years...
