

First Love 55

Chapter 55 Doctor Sister

Looking at Li Zhen lying motionless on the beach, Wang Kun was so anxious and angry that he couldn't use any strength. He seemed to have used up all his strength, but Li Zhen was still lying there straight and motionless. Wang Kun couldn't hold on any longer and was shaking all over, as if the sky was about to fall.

Seeing his companions running towards him, Wang Kun seemed to be on the verge of collapse. "I beg you to come and save my wife."

"I'm here. I'm a doctor." The person who ran towards him was the lady who gave bread to Lizhen yesterday. She rushed to Lizhen's side as fast as she could. She immediately sucked on Lizhen's mouth. After sucking for a while, she connected her hands again, put her ten fingers together, and pressed very hard on Lizhen's chest. She repeated these two actions over and over again.

Because of the effort, beads of sweat appeared on her forehead and face, and her face was red. Under the rising sun, looking at the scene of this female doctor saving Lizhen, the scene was so beautiful that a tourist who happened to run over couldn't help but take a picture of this unforgettable scene with his camera.

"Hehe, hehe" With the help of the doctor Wang Kun, Lizhen finally made a sound from her mouth.

"Lizhen, wake up." Seeing Lizhen waking up, Wang Kun immediately rushed over and hugged her tightly, as if he was afraid that she would leave him.

"Wang Kun, where am I?" Li Zhen slowly opened her eyes and cried when she saw Wang Kun. "I seemed to have walked a very long way just now. I was looking for you but couldn't find you. I thought I would never find you again, woo woo."

Seeing them hugging each other and crying, the female doctor standing beside them also shed tears of excitement. She looked at them and said, "That's good, you won't be separated." After saying that, a sweet smile appeared on her face.

At this moment, there was a "click" sound beside her, and the tourist just now took another particularly sweet photo of her.

"Don't take pictures." The doctor quickly used her hands to block the tourist from taking pictures of her.

"I'm going to post this set of photos on my circle of friends. You don't know how beautiful and pretty the scene was when you saved that person just now. Not only are you beautiful, but your heart is even more beautiful. I'm going to take this photo to a competition, and I think I'll definitely win a prize. You don't know how much I admired you when you saved that person just now."

"I'm not that great. I just think of myself as a doctor. It's our responsibility and instinct to cure diseases and save lives. Sister, please be careful next time. This is too dangerous." She said this lightly and wanted to leave and go back to her room.

"Sister, wait a minute." Hearing that the doctor was about to leave, Wang Kun hurriedly stood up and knelt in front of her with a "bang".

"What's wrong with you? Get up quickly and help your wife back to the room to change her clothes. Your wife is pregnant." The doctor immediately helped them up.

"Thank you, sister, for saving our lives. If it weren't for you, my wife wouldn't have woken up yet." Wang Kun and Li Zhen's eyes were filled with tears, and they thanked the female doctor very sincerely.

"Take good care of yourself, my wife. We just arrived here. Look at the sea here. It's so beautiful. We haven't had a good look at it yet. Besides, I'm still waiting to eat your children's red eggs." After saying this, the female doctor giggled and went back to the room.

"Let's go back and change our clothes." Wang Kun hurriedly carried Lizhen back to the room like a princess.

After changing clothes, Lizhen felt dizzy and almost fell to the ground. "What's wrong with you?" At this time, Lizhen heard her stomach rumbling because of the movement of her intestines.

Hearing Lizhen's stomach growling, Wang Kun looked at the time and it was exactly seven o'clock. Wang Kun thought that Lizhen might have fainted because she was too hungry. "Let's go, it's time to eat."

At this time, someone knocked on the door. Wang Kun ran to open the door. It was the doctor who knocked on the door. "Hello, sister."

"Is your wife feeling better? Let's go have breakfast now. Your wife vomited so badly yesterday, she must be very hungry." She still had a smile on her face, and the two dimples on her face were particularly eye-catching. She had beautiful eyes and eyebrows, and looked very kind.

"I feel better now, but I felt a little dizzy just now." Li Zhen's face showed a very tired look.

"She vomited everything in her stomach last night. She tossed and turned all night and there is a baby in her stomach. It would be strange if she didn't feel dizzy. Fortunately, her body is okay. If it were someone else, they would have fainted long ago. Let's go and find something to eat." After saying that, she pulled Lizhen out.

They searched slowly along the way, and after walking about a mile or two they finally found a place to eat.

"We're here. This is where we'll have dinner." Seeing the dinner place, Lizhen seemed to be full of strength, probably because she was hungry.

In an open area, a shed-like house was built with coconut leaves as the roof and coconut trunks as the support. It looked simple but was very beautifully built. The structure inside was particularly novel. Although it was not too high, when Wang Kun and others walked in, it felt like they had come to a large restaurant, bright and spacious.

Seeing Wang Kun and his friends coming, two black men wearing white clothes and black pants who looked like attendants standing at the door immediately came up to them, greeted them in English, and made a gesture of invitation with their hands.

The rows of stainless steel dining tables are unique in shape, neat and beautiful. On the dining table, napkins are folded into two triangular flower shapes and inserted into white and transparent glass cups.

There is a bright red rose in the vase on the table. There are four sets of Western dining utensils on the dining table, including knives, forks and spoons, but no chopsticks like we Chinese use.

This is a buffet. They have several areas where people can choose their own ingredients. They use colorful lights to decorate the tree to look like a Christmas tree, as if celebrating Santa Claus. The colorful lights are twinkling beautifully. On the edge of the tree are fruits cut into various shapes and fresh vegetables, as well as all kinds of white salads. Looking at these fresh and beautiful fruits, Wang Kun and Li Zhen's stomachs growled even louder, and the saliva in their mouths gushed out like mountain spring water.

In order to pay attention to their image in front of foreigners, Wang Kun and his friends had to swallow their saliva. The saliva made gurgling sounds in their throats, and they immediately turned their heads to the side to avoid being noticed.

"Do we only eat fruits here?" Lizhen looked like she wanted to eat something, but according to our Chinese dining habits, we have to eat staple food in the morning.

"Look over there," one of the companions quickly pointed to the front. Lizhen saw that there was something like a bar there, and a row of chefs wearing chef hats were cooking all kinds of delicious food for them. They could already smell the aroma of roasted beef and mutton.

They each quickly took a plate and walked over, "Wow, the food here is so rich." This place is closer to Europe and the people here eat Western food, including roast lamb, roast beef, roast fish as big as the palm, fried eggs, and many other specialties of their country that they can't name.

"I'm very hungry." Seeing your delicious food, Wang Kun and his friends became even hungrier. They quickly picked up various foods on their plates.

They happily filled a plate with all kinds of delicious food. They found everything very novel and unknowingly filled the plate. The black waiter next to them couldn't help laughing when he saw how happy they were.

When they came to the table to prepare for dinner, the dark-skinned waiters politely pulled out the stools for them and gestured for them to sit down. After they sat down, they raised their thumbs and shook them to show respect for the foreign tourists. Wang Kun and his friends were not far behind them and hurriedly said "thank you" to them in English.

Since everyone was very hungry after not eating last night, they took a lot of food and ate whatever they wanted to eat, especially steak, because Westerners are very good at cooking steak and it tastes especially good. Wang Kun and everyone else ate a lot.

After eating steak, they went to eat fruit. There are so many varieties of fruits here, and they are delicious. There are many varieties that are not available in our country, and they are especially fresh. They look particularly tempting. There is a black waiter at the fruit pick-up area who is there to peel and cut the fruits for you.

"The fruits here are so delicious." Lizhen's spirits improved a lot after eating. Her face became rosy and a blush appeared on her face. Looking at Lizhen who was talking and laughing, Wang Kun's mood also improved.

"Come and see, there is coffee and milk here," the doctor shouted as if she had discovered a new world.

"But we are full, there is too much food here." Everyone was full and now they were full of energy.

"We still have another week here, let's eat in the morning."

"Where are we going to play today?" Everyone was talking about it.

"Let's go and take a look around."

"But we don't have a tour guide, so how can we have fun? We might as well go out and not be able to come back," said a younger guy without knowing the immensity of the world.

"Pooh, pooh, do you know how to speak? You can't say such unlucky words when you are out," a middle-aged tourist quickly refuted what the young man said.

The young man immediately stuck out his tongue and said, "Then let's take a look at it together."