

First Love 63

Chapter 63 Signing the Contract

The next day, Wang Kun and Li Zhen drove to the Tengfei Trade Building, a magnificent and gorgeous building with more than 20 floors rising from the ground. At the entrance, a pair of golden-plated lions weighing several tons sat on both sides of the gate.

There is also a pool inlaid with very beautiful porcelain panels on the right side of the door. There are several dolphins in it. Whenever they are happy, they will cheer and jump there, splashing waves and attracting passers-by to stop and watch.

There are two doormen standing at the door. They stand very straight, look handsome, are dressed very neatly and are very dignified. When the leader's luxury car arrives, they will open the door for the car enthusiastically and lead the way for them to the elevator.

Just by looking at the situation, you can tell what level of people work in this building.

When Lizhen and Wang Kun arrived here, they had their passes checked by security at the door.

Yesterday, Lizhen was making fun of Hongliang because of the pass. When Hongliang put it in the contract yesterday, Lizhen laughed at Hongliang and said that the threshold there was too high. Hongliang smiled and told her that without a pass, you can't even enter our company. Lizhen didn't believe it at that time, but now she finally understands that what Hongliang said is true.

When they came to the front desk and told them they were looking for the vice president, the service desk immediately called to inquire. She immediately smiled and told Li Zhen that they were going to the chairman's office, "Please wait a moment."

"Please come in." Soon a pretty female staff member came out of the elevator and led them into the elevator.

When the elevator reached the 18th floor, they got out and the staff led them into the chairman's office.

Hongliang is very handsome today, with sharp lines that make his face look resolute. His slender body, wrapped in a well-fitting suit, makes him look more elegant, and his noble and elegant temperament radiates from the inside out, which is particularly eye-catching.

"Come here, please." Hongliang made a gesture of invitation, but when Hongliang saw Lizhen, his eyes were full of affection. However, that was only for a moment, as Hongliang was concerned that Wang Kun was here.

"Hello." Hongliang came to Wang Kun and shook hands with him.

Although Lizhen is pregnant today, she stands there leisurely and quietly. The bright light casts a beautiful light and shadow on her face. Her eyes are pure and lively, with a charming smile on her lips. Her eyebrows are delicate, her facial features are small, and her temperament is extraordinary. The plain dress makes her look a little more delicate, which looks extremely breathtaking in Hongliang's eyes.

Lizhen and Wang Kun looked around at the scholarly atmosphere, the spacious mahogany tables and chairs, and the grandeur that was enough to demonstrate the strength of Hongliang and their company.

As soon as they sat down, the secretary immediately brought two cups of prepared coffee.

"Go and get a cup of water. There is a pregnant woman here and she can't drink coffee." As the secretary put down the coffee, Hongliang hurriedly reminded her that Lizhen was a pregnant woman.

"Oh, okay." The secretary's face immediately turned a little red, and she felt a little guilty for not thinking of this.

Hearing that Hongliang was so enthusiastic and attentive to Lizhen, Wang Kun suddenly felt an indescribable feeling in his heart, jealousy. He admired Hongliang's meticulousness and felt inferior to him. He felt ashamed when he thought that he was not as good as Hongliang in treating Lizhen. He secretly made up his mind to be a good husband.

"Hello, President," the secretary at the door hurriedly stood up to greet him.

"A guest is coming." Following a loud and clear voice, a noble lady with an elegant figure, noble clothes and a kind face walked into the Hongliang office.

Lizhen and Wang Kun hurriedly stood up to greet them. Lizhen and Wang Kun looked at each other in surprise.

"President" Hongliang also immediately stood up to greet him.

"This must be Lizhen, right?" The lady looked at Lizhen sharply as she walked. When she saw that Lizhen was pregnant, her eyes suddenly showed surprise and excitement.

"This" Lizhen looked at Hongliang, as if asking him who this was. Because Hongliang's mother was thinner before, but with the passage of time and the changes in environment, her figure became more graceful and elegant, and she looked like a different person, so Lizhen couldn't recognize her.

"Let me introduce her. This is my mother," Hongliang immediately pointed at the old lady.

"This is Lizhen, and this is Lizhen's lover Wang Kun." Hongliang pointed at Lizhen and Wang Kun.

Hongliang's mother looked at Wang Kun and was suddenly surprised. What a smart and handsome young man.

The dazzling light gently sprinkled on his face, making his facial features more delicate. His eyes were as dark as the night and as vast as the sea. He exuded a charming ascetic temperament, making people feel that he was handsome and intelligent.

"Congratulations, son. When did you get married? And you found such a handsome husband. By the way, you're going to be a mother soon." Hongliang's mother seemed particularly happy and excited. She thought Hongliang would no longer blame me, and would give up and would no longer be sad.

"Thank you, aunt. I got married last winter." Lizhen thought, this is good, I am already married, you will no longer be afraid that I will lead your son astray, and you will no longer prevent me from meeting your son.

"Hey, son, why didn't you tell your aunt about your marriage so that I could give you a generous gift." In order to make her son believe her sincerity, Hongliang's mother said things that showed she cared about Lizhen more than anyone else.

"Thank you, auntie, for your concern." Lizhen seemed to realize that Hongliang's mother was performing for Hongliang.

"You're welcome. You're Hongliang's best classmate. It's my duty as an auntie. I'll give you a big red envelope after the baby is born." Hongliang's mother, with a big smile on her face, touched Lizhen's belly when she came to her. She made people feel that she was a very kind and amiable mother.

At this time, the secretary prepared the contract and took it to Hongliang's desk. After asking Hongliang's consent, she put it on the table.

"Are you here to sign the contract today? Well, Hongliang told me yesterday that it would be better for me to give the job to my classmates than to others. You just need to ensure the quality and complete the task on time." Hongliang's mother thought to herself, now I am no longer afraid of you bothering my son, as long as my son is happy.

"Thank you, Chairman, for your compliments. Thank you for your trust in me to do the order. Please rest assured, Chairman, we will never let you down. We will complete the task you assign to us with quality and quantity." Wang Kun's sincere words touched Hongliang's mother. Hongliang's mother kept observing and nodding as he spoke.

"Son, you graduated from that university?" Hongliang's mother was impressed by Wang Kun's clear and sincere speech, and she couldn't help but ask about his personal experience.

"I have never been to college, but with the help of Lizhen, we have taught ourselves and have graduated from college." Wang Kun introduced his life experience to Hongliang's mother in a dignified manner.

"Really? That's amazing." When Hongliang's mother heard Hongliang's story, she immediately looked at Wang Kun with admiration. She couldn't help but admire Lizhen and Wang Kun's persistence.

"Chairman, let's finish our business," Hongliang quickly reminded his mother.

"Let's sign the contract. Secretary, please arrange a dinner for us to celebrate our cooperation."
Hongliang's mother was very happy.

"No, President, we should treat you to this meal," Wang Kun immediately rushed to offer the treat.

"I think we should treat them today. You are still in the start-up phase and have limited funds. Once you complete our order, you can treat them." Hongliang understands the current predicament of Lizhen and her friends very well, and he is thinking about Lizhen.

Lizhen was deeply moved by Hongliang's action. Her heart skipped a beat. His heart had not changed. He still cared about her and loved her as before.

"You guys sign it. I have something else to do, so I'll leave first." Hongliang's mother came mainly to see Lizhen's current condition. Now that she understood, she left with peace of mind.

"Chairman, the contract is ready, both of you sign it."

"Okay, let's go eat after we sign." Hongliang signed the contract with a stroke of his pen.

The contract has been signed, and the future of Lizhen and Wang Kun's company is bright. How is Wang Kun and Lizhen's relationship?