

First Love 7

Chapter 7 New College Students

"Hey, cleaner, please make me a cup of coffee." The voice was sweet and warm, as pleasant as a stream of clear spring water. It came from the desk on the left.

Wang Kun looked in the direction of the voice and saw a slim but short person with fair skin and a pair of expressive eyes that were particularly bright.

She has a round face, a high nose bridge, and red and sexy lips. Although she is not tall, she has long hair like a waterfall. The hair flows along the back of her head along her neck and almost to her waist, making her look very slender.

"Are you calling me?" Wen Kun looked at her and saw that no one was paying attention to her. He looked at her and quickly took over the conversation.

"You are the handyman who does the cleaning here. If I'm not calling you, who else could it be?" She glanced at Wang Kun and spoke in an aggressive tone that made people feel a little uncomfortable.

"She is a college student who was just recruited from the school today. She doesn't understand the situation yet." A colleague nearby felt sorry for her tone and hurried to explain for Wang Kun.

"It's okay, I'll go right away."

After a while, Wang Kun made a cup of steaming hot coffee and brought it over.

"Please help me clear the papers beside the table. I have to finish some documents." The woman took the coffee without even looking up or saying thank you. She took a sip of coffee from the coffee cup with her pink little mouth and started working again. Although she looked a little busy, her movements were very elegant and calm.

"Tsk!" The colleague next to him felt sorry and wanted to say something, but was immediately stopped by Wang Kun with his hand.

Wang Kun immediately bent down and silently sorted out the pile of garbage documents that she had thrown under the table.

After cleaning up, Wang Kun returned to his desk.

After the woman finished her work for a while, she raised her head and wanted to tap her sore neck with her hand. Suddenly, she found Wang Kun working at the desk. She was a little puzzled. She thought the boss here was too humane. Even the cleaner had a desk. The conditions here were too good, and the boss was too considerate of the employees.

Until one day her boss told her to assign her an assistant [she was working on a particularly important project for the company because she was a graduate student who had just been assigned from university], and the other one was her boss, a total of three people.

"Let me introduce you. This is He Lizhen, a graduate student who was just assigned to our company. She is the deputy director in charge of this project." The director pointed at Wang Kun and said, "This is your assistant Wang Kun. There are only three of us in our team. He Lizhen is in charge. I am the project leader, and Wang Kun will cooperate with you in your work."

When her boss brought Wang Kun to her, she was particularly surprised and shocked. She thought she had underestimated him. It turned out that Wang Kun was her colleague, but she had failed to recognize him.

"I'm sorry, I mistook you for a cleaner yesterday." After she said that, her face turned red and white, and she felt extremely embarrassed.

"It's okay. I haven't studied much, so I don't understand a lot of things. I'll need your care and I'll learn a lot from you in the future."

"I just started working here and I don't have much experience. Let's learn from each other."

The next day, Wang Kun officially became He Lizhen's assistant. Although Wang Kun became Lizhen's assistant, he had never been to college and his cultural level was a bit low. He was still not competent for many things, which made Lizhen very angry.

"What's wrong with you? You are my assistant, but you can't do anything I ask you to do. How can I complete this project?"

"I" Wen Kun wanted to defend myself, but after thinking about it, I realized that it was my own problem, so what could I say?

"But what should I do if you do this?" Li Zhen was extremely dissatisfied and angry.

Lizhen had no choice but to ask for instructions from the boss, who requested that Wang Kun be transferred from the project team. The boss had no choice but to agree to Lizhen's request and transfer Wang Kun for the sake of the project's progress.

This decision was a bit cruel, but Wang Kun left without any complaints. However, he understood one thing: if he wanted to become strong, he had to have knowledge and study hard. He finally decided to teach himself and then get admitted to Handa University to make himself a knowledgeable person.

That day, Lizhen had dinner with her friends very late. When she returned to the dormitory, she suddenly remembered that she had forgotten to take some materials at the company. She hurried to the company, but it was already 11 o'clock.

When she came to her office, she saw that the light was still on on the desk in front of her. She thought it was very strange that someone was still working so late. Out of curiosity, she quietly walked over to take a look.

Because her footsteps were particularly light, the man hadn't noticed her in front of the table. Ranran lowered her head and looked at the book on the table intently.

"Hehe" Lizhen came to the side of the table and coughed intentionally to attract the other person's attention, but the other person was too focused and did not respond.

She had to go to the table and knock on it before he raised his head.

"You" turned out to be Wang Kun. [Because he had no money to rent a house, the boss allowed him to build a temporary resting place in the office. In the morning, he had to dismantle the temporary bed and put it back to its original state. He also worked very hard and cherished this hard-earned study time. He insisted on reading until late at night every day.] He was so focused that he didn't expect that someone would come here in the company so late. He heard someone knocking on the table and he reacted.

When Wang Kun raised his head, his eyes met Li Zhen's. The moment he saw Li Zhen, Wang Kun quickly retracted his gaze and his eyelids drooped immediately.

For some reason, ever since he was transferred out of the project team, Wang Kun felt particularly inferior, especially in front of Li Zhen. He felt like he couldn't even raise his head in front of her.

"It's you." Seeing that it was Wang Kun, Li Zhen felt that she was sorry for him. After all, it was she who transferred him out of the project team.

"What book are you reading?" Seeing Wang Kun intentionally avoiding her gaze, Li Zhen felt particularly guilty.

"I'm taking a correspondence course." Wang Kun still had his eyelids drooping, not daring to look Li Zhen in the eye.

"Oh, do you want to take the self-study exam? Which university do you want to go to?"

"I haven't been to college." Wang Kun still didn't dare to look her in the eye.

"Oh, how can you get a job in this company without going to college?" Li Zhen was even more surprised.

At this moment, she felt embarrassed. It turned out that she had worked hard to get into this company. She also felt that she was honored to be admitted to this company, as several of her classmates had not been admitted yet.

It turned out that he had never attended college. No wonder he couldn't do some simple work when she asked him to do it. It turned out that she still thought he was a useless guy. It turned out that he didn't understand anything at all. It was good enough that he could do this without attending college.

At this time Li Zhen felt a little sympathy for Wang Kun. Suddenly, she felt a little confused about Wang Kun. She felt that this man must have some background supporting him, otherwise he would not meet the requirements of this company based on his academic qualifications.

Who is he? Lizhen wondered how she could enter such a big company without any diploma or education. She decided to solve this mystery...
