

Alliance?

Alliance?

Tamara's POV

I am not here to play games with these two men. They make a big mistake if they think I will let them play me as their mate. I am only here to talk about business. We have to get rid of the hunters and the humans in our area and the lab I just learned about from the gypsies. Dean and Vladimir do not look very happy about me, telling them I am unwilling to talk to them about being their mate. But I do not care about it at this moment. All I care about is the safety of my Pack, and I also want to protect the gypsies that have become my friends. I do not want humans to do any harm to all of the creatures in this area. So I will have to work with dumb and dumber. These two idiots have been making my life difficult.

"Listen here, Lloyd and Harry, if you two idiots give me any more trouble, I will refuse to work with you," I say.

"Now listen here, I am not Lloyd, and he is not Harry. I know you refer to us as dumb and dumber. Tamara, can you please show us some respect? We do not want any trouble and want to sort this out as much as you want. And we know that you want to protect your Pack as much as we want to protect our people. Why would you show us so much disrespect? We did nothing to piss you off, did we?" Vladimir asks.

"You should ask dumber over there what he did. If we work together as a team, this is one thing you must understand. I do not want any of you as my mate, and I will fight with you together with my warriors. But that is it," I say "Fine. While working together, we will not even mention you as a mate. You need to understand one thing, Tamara. We do not want any trouble as much as you do not want any trouble. We need to think about creatures in this area for now. I have a feeling that you know something that we do not know. Can you please tell us what you know?" Dean asks.

"I know that humans have a laboratory close to here. At first, I took the Rogues, and now they are taking Alphas. Many wolves come to me without an Alpha because the humans and hunters are taking their Alphas. I think the gypsies not with the laboratory is, and I can find out easily. But we need to take them out and destroy that place before it destroys this area. You know we do not need any more trouble in this area, as there is already enough trouble between the creatures here. We will have to get all the creatures to work with us. And that includes the dark witches, warlocks, wizards, and white witches," I say. 1

"I knew they must have a lab around here. We also learned that Alphas are now being taken. Even the vampires have been taken, and we all need to stop this. I agree with Tamara. We need to find out what is happening around here, And we have to sort out this area first, but we cannot stop here. We will have to help all the creatures worldwide because I feel that humans and hunters are up to something. And we should find out what," Vladimir says.

"So let us stop talking nonsense, and let us go and see the gypsies and see how much they know. If anybody in this area knows anything about laboratories around here, it is the gypsies. They are my friends, and I trust them, unlike you. I do not trust the two of you, but let us go and find out where that laboratory is. We also will have to save the creatures captured in the labs. I do not care who the creatures are, but we will keep all of them. All I want to do is save the creatures around this area. I know it won't be easy, but I want to know what is happening behind all this. And what are they doing to the creatures in the labs? Who are these humans, and who are the hunters helping them? How can the hunters that we don't even know go against us as werewolves? I understand they go against you as vampires, but that is another story. You have not been friends with the hunters as we have, and I can understand if they will go after the vampires. But why in hell's name would they go after werewolves?" I ask.

Third Person's POV

"Maybe it is because the werewolves have disappointed them lately, and I do not know. All I know is that they are going after my people as well. And I do not know if they are going after any other supernatural creatures," Vladimir says, looking slightly annoyed.

"Well, I can tell you one thing, the gypsies are starting to worry that the hunters and humans will come after them. If humans and hunters go after magical creatures, we have a big problem. Because this means there is something significant about to happen, and they know that all supernatural creatures are immune to any of their viruses. If they plan to release a virus and have specimens of all our creatures, that means that none of us will be immune to any of the viruses. You know, it means they can release the perfect virus that nothing and nobody can withstand. It implies no animal, supernatural creature, or human can withstand this new virus they are planning. It means the world is in danger because a few people think they can rule the world. We could help humans survive any plague by giving them blood. But what will happen if we, as supernatural creatures, cannot withstand the virus? We will all be doomed. The whole world will be condemned," Dean says.

"I cannot believe the humans we protect are trying to kill us all. Now, not all the humans, but those in charge," Tamara says.

"I know I feel the same way. But what can we do? We are the protectors, and it is our job to protect them, and we cannot let all humanity go to waste because of a few people," Dean says.

"We have no obligation to protect anybody. But we want to protect our own. We need to find this laboratory and find out what they are doing there," Vladimir says. Everybody knows that vampires are not protectors of humans, and they were the ones that fed on humans since they were created. Vladimir does not feel any remorse towards the humans, if I have to kill them.

"We all know that you, as vampires, do not care about humans, and we all know that you are not obligated to watch humans. So it is not surprising that you do not care about innocent humans and realize that some of them will suffer with us, and not all are evil creatures. You know as well as I do that some vampires and werewolves are evil, and all creatures have their nasty side. But I am asking you to think about the innocent humans that do not know what is happening in this world and are living in a world of illusion. Please don't believe everything that other humans sell them on TV. I listened to the fake news that people are spreading these days. There is nothing that we can do about that. But we can save the innocent from the evil ones," Tamara says, and she is a little bit pissed off because she does not want this vampire near her. She knows she will have to work with him, but she knows that she will not like him. Tamara still does not trust Vladimir. She believes something is wrong with him and that he is on a mission. Why would they write all these years to come and fetch Maureen? If she lost her daughter eighteen years ago, she would have been here every day, looking for her child. Something about Vladimir's story does not make sense. She cannot believe that her mother will wait so long to come and find her child. She knows they said they have been looking for the child for years. Somehow Tamara does not believe them. She will have to pretend she does to find out what they are doing here.

"I know you do not believe we are here for good, and I know you think we are all evil. It is just a natural instinct because we are enemies. Vampires and werewolves have been enemies for a very long time. And we have to get past that. It is time that you start believing in us, beautiful Tamara. I also do not think that all werewolves are good. I am so willing to work with you for the good of this world. So I think we all should get past what we are. We will need to work together. I do not want us to work against each other," Vladimir says. Tamara looks at him as if she cannot tell if he's being sincere or not. She has a feeling about this vampire and thinks he is lying to them. He and his family are too good to be true. She does not believe that he is telling them everything that he knows.

What do the humans and hunters have on him?
Why does he want him to get involved in this war?
Do the humans have some of his family with them?
Is that why he is desperate to get this laboratory and willing to work with werewolves? She will have to find out before she can work with him. What the hell is going on? Is he trading them for his family? She will not be surprised if he is betraying them. Tamara does not believe that there is one good vampire in this world. She believes that they always have a motive behind their actions. She cannot say anything to Dean in front of Vladimir. She will have to wait until they are alone.

"Fine. We will work together for now, but let me tell you one thing. If you are a double agent, I will kill you myself. If you put my people in danger, I will kill you. These are no empty threats. I'm not afraid of you, Vladimir. You may be an original vampire, but let me tell you one thing. I am a strong Alpha wolf, and Dean is also a strong Alpha wolf. And if you put our Packs in danger, we will come after you and kill your whole family," Tamara warns Vladimir. Dean looks at Tamara in surprise. He has a feeling that Tamara is not trusting Vladimir. He cannot blame her as the werewolves and the vampires were always read, always enemies. He thinks that Tamara is overreacting.

"I think we will have to talk later," Dean says to Tamara.

Alliance?

"I do not feel there is any reason why I have to talk to you. But here, maybe we should talk. I am not very pleased with either of you," Tamara says, and she does not want Vladimir to think they will talk behind his back. She pretends to be indifferent toward Dean. All she knows is that they need to speak, and they need to figure out what the hell Vladimir wants from them. She can see that Dean is also not feeling comfortable around Vladimir. She does not know if it is because Vladimir keeps flirting with her or because he also does not feel that Vladimir is being honest with them. She knows she will have to speak to Dean alone. Tamara is not looking forward to it, though. Vladimir feels he is in the way of the two lovers that need to talk.

"I will leave you two love birds to talk, and I feel you have something to discuss. And I am not involved in your discussion. We will meet again tomorrow and please find out from the gypsies where that lab is, beautiful Tamara," Vladimir says as he runs into the woods. Tamara looks at Dean and does not know what to say or how to start talking to him. It is not like they have ever been friends. But they will have to form an alliance. It will be the werewolves against the world as she sees it.
