Chapter 1051 Knight In Shining Armor

Armand had a lot of work to deal with lately, and he didn't even have the time to return to the office. Genevieve could only see him at night after work.

Genevieve's heart ached for him. She would help him with whatever she could do for him.

After she was done with work in the morning, she went to the State Taxation Administration to help Armand run some errands and send a document. However, her car broke down when she was on her way back.

Unable to drive any further, Genevieve got out of the car and put up a warning triangle before calling the nearest garage.

Suddenly, a black Audi drove past her. It then reversed and stopped in front of her car after driving over ten meters away.

A young man came out of the car and approached Genevieve. "Did your car break down?"

At that time, Genevieve was still waiting for the garage to pick up her call. She froze momentarily when she suddenly saw a man approach her. "Oh, yes. I've already called the nearest garage."

"It'll take them a while to get here." The man rolled up his sleeves. "May I help?"

Charlotte had been at the spa for the entire afternoon. Not only did she smell nice, but her cheeks were also soft and smooth.

Holding a cream-colored bag, she got into Genevieve's car and complained, "How could you pick me up in such a shabby car? Genevieve, do you know my bag is worth hundreds of thousands?" She picked up her bag and waved it in front of Genevieve.

"I'm used to this car because my man sends me to work in this car too. You can walk if you don't want to sit in this car," Genevieve replied expressionlessly.

Seeing that Genevieve was about to stop the car, Charlotte stopped showing off and turned on the car navigation system.

The crayfish restaurant Charlotte talked about was in the suburb.

The restaurant owner farmed those crayfish himself, and it was the crayfish season that would last for three months. Because of that, the restaurant was expected to have an endless stream of customers. Charlotte had only managed to reserve a table through a friend of hers.

When Genevieve found out the place was located in the suburb, she switched on her phone tracker and shared it with Armand. The weather doesn't look good. I think it's going to rain tonight when we leave the restaurant.

After an hour's drive, they arrived at their destination. The shops around the restaurant were all eateries. Since it was dinnertime, the area was rather crowded.

Chapter 1053 Her Car Broke Down

Since Sean had helped her with her car earlier in the morning, Genevieve unhesitatingly called out, "Hey, Sean!"

Sean turned toward her, and he was surprised to see her there. Upon seeing her waving at him, he brought his friend over to her table.

Genevieve told the restaurant owner they were her friends and told the server to bring over two extra chairs.

She and Charlotte were sitting at a round table, so they had enough space for two extra people.

Sean took his seat and said to Genevieve, "Someone told me this crayfish restaurant is famous, so I brought my friend along to try it out. I didn't know I had to call in advance to make a reservation. Thank goodness you're here. Otherwise, we would have to go home hungry."

Genevieve poured him a glass of drink. "You helped me with my car this morning, but you refused to take my money. I was wondering how I should make it up to you. I'll treat you and your friend to a meal!"

Genevieve introduced Sean and his friend to Charlotte. After all, they were going to have dinner together.

Chapter 1054 Born Pretty

Charlotte was texting her boyfriend because she wanted him to take a video of his hotel room to see if he was with a girl. Despite what she was doing, she noticed the car had come to a halt.

When she lifted her head, she was frightened by the faces she saw through the car window.

"What the f*ck!" Charlotte cursed and turned to Genevieve. "What happened? Were we forced to stop?"

"No," Genevieve answered. "The car broke down, and I can't start the engine."

Earlier that day, she had sent the car to a service center to get it checked out, as she was worried that it had a problem. Little did she expect the car to break down again after they had their dinner.

Genevieve glanced outside and said calmly, "I think these people had their eyes on us when we were eating at the crayfish restaurant."

No one had kept an eye on the car when they were eating. Genevieve knew anyone could've easily messed with her car. The car is definitely gone, and there are six to seven men outside. Charlotte and I are just like lambs waiting to be slaughtered.

Charlotte whispered, "I've already called the police, but I don't know how long it's going to take them to get here."

Genevieve pursed her lips. "We'll be dead by the time they get here."

Not only was Armand still in Springwyn, but even if he was back, he would need to drive for more than an hour to get to them. The men outside their car would not give them that much time.

However, Genevieve still thought Armand was more reliable than the police.

As the man outside the car was rushing for her to go out, Genevieve thought she would do as she was told to buy some time. If these men run out of patience, Charlotte and I will be in big trouble.

The moment Genevieve unlocked the car, the man outside her car suddenly stood up and walked to the back of her car. Seeing that, she immediately looked into the rearview mirror.

Only then did she see Sean coming out of his car and talking to the man. She could vaguely hear Sean telling the man that she was Sean's friend.

The men became pliant, for they noticed Armand, who was armed, wasn't to be trifled with, so they told him how Genevieve's car had broken down and what they were planning.

None of them knew Genevieve or Charlotte. They only began stalking Charlotte because they were offered money.

After stalking Charlotte for a few days, they noticed her having a meal with a female friend of hers in the suburbs that day, which was a chance for them to kidnap Charlotte and take photos of her. However, they ended up trying to kidnap Genevieve too upon noticing her beauty.

Yet, their plan was busted by the sudden change.

Genevieve managed to buy themselves some time with her quick thinking until help arrived, and Armand came too.

The men fixed Genevieve's car deftly. By then, the police had arrived as well. After explaining the situation, Armand handed the men over to the police.

He made his identity known, so the police dared not dally and proceeded to arrest the men for interrogation.

Charlotte wasn't someone difficult to begin with. Besides, Jerry did end up coming for her despite being late. He managed to soothe her, and the two of them left together.

After that, Armand drove Genevieve home personally.

While on their way back, Genevieve, who was in the passenger seat, kept throwing him glances. She was filled with feelings of satisfaction as she admired his profile from afar and his bony hands on the steering wheel.

If it weren't for the fact that they were on the highway and he had to focus on driving, she would've grabbed his hand and fiddled with it.

Armand wasn't facing her, but he could sense her passionate gaze. He muttered, "Can't you look elsewhere? I can't concentrate if you stare at me like this."

"Do you not like me staring at you?" Genevieve questioned deliberately. "I get it now. I'm going to stare at other men from now on. After all, there's nothing interesting about a guy like you. No wonder Jerry became a celebrity. He's young and good-looking."

Chapter 1058 I Am Indeed Very Lucky

After entering the house, she sat cross-legged on the floor and put on a pair of gloves. "I've never even peeled crayfish for anyone, so consider yourself incredibly lucky."

Armand nodded. "Yeah, I am indeed very lucky."

"You look like a respectable gentleman on the outside, but you're a freaking pervert on the inside," Genevieve commented as she opened the box.

As the box was airtight, the crayfish was still steaming hot even after a few hours.

Genevieve carefully removed the head of the crayfish, peeled off its shell, dipped it in some gravy, and fed it to Armand.

"It's not bad," Armand said after eating it.

"Of course! This restaurant specializes in crayfish dishes, after all. See what a nice person I am? I always share all the delicious food I find with you! In return, I want poached salmon and scones for breakfast tomorrow!" Genevieve said while feeding him another chunk of crayfish.

"Sure thing."

“Beatrix! Beatrix!” Karolina called out to her repeatedly while smacking her across the cheek.

Even after being woken up, Beatrix still had a dazed look in her eyes because of the drug she was given.

It wasn't until Karolina gave her a cold shower in the bathroom that she slowly came to.

When Beatrix saw the hickeys on her body and recalled being kidnapped, she started screaming and bawled her eyes out.

“This has got to be Charlotte's doing! You have to avenge me, Eurydice!” she said with teary eyes when she stepped outside and saw Eurydice.

After glancing at the stuff on the nightstand, Eurydice turned toward her and shouted angrily, “Why did you hire someone to kidnap Charlotte? Have you lost your mind?”

Beatrix lowered her head submissively when faced with Eurydice's domineering aura. “My mom told me you guys ran into Charlotte at the auction the other day. I heard how Genevieve had humiliated you guys, but I know I couldn't afford to mess with her, so I went after Charlotte instead. She wasn't married to Jamison Moore at the time, so he's free to be with anyone he likes! It's her fault that he doesn't like her! I haven't even gotten back at her for giving me a freaking concussion, and she dares do this to me?”

Chapter 1060 Why Would I Be A Gold Digger

Genevieve received a notice from her superior that all departments would stagger their off days for a team-building event.

As it was her first time attending a team-building event, she was a little surprised by the announcement.

Genevieve called the department and had them send her a list of all their names. She had just gotten off the call when her phone started ringing on the desk.

Since she wasn't actively dealing with anyone at the moment, Genevieve answered the call, only to hear Charlotte yelling angrily, "F*ck! Do you know why your car broke down last night? It was because of that b*tch Beatrix! She hired a bunch of men to teach me a lesson! Oh, in case you didn't know, Beatrix is Eurydice's cousin. She's the one who stole my first love."

"Yeah, I know who she is. Those men revealed that information themselves, didn't they? You want me to help you teach Beatrix a lesson?" Genevieve knew who Beatrix was. She just didn't expect that Beatrix was the one who hired those men.

"No. That b*tch came and apologized to me. She actually asked me to forgive her! Can you believe it? I want nothing but to tear her to pieces! There's no way I can forgive her! Still, Beatrix has the Gaudette family backing her up, so there wasn't much I could do to her. In the end, I let her off with a mild punishment. Your man sure is something else, Genevieve!"
