

Flirtacious 1311

Chapter 1311 Not Even Worthy Of Carrying Her Shoes

Charlotte looked at her coldly, "It's you who can't handle it."

The woman was about to say something, her lips curling into a smile, when suddenly a beam of light struck her face, blindingly bright.

A few seconds later, a car came to a steady stop about ten meters away from them. A woman emerged from the driver's seat, her hair casually tied back in a low ponytail. She wore a black coat and had a slender, attractive figure.

Genevieve, disliking the cold, tucked her hands into her coat pockets and quickly walked over to Charlotte.

"What's wrong?"

Seeing Genevieve arrive, Charlotte couldn't help but breathe a sigh of relief.

Charlotte glanced at the woman across from her and whispered to Genevieve, "Tina challenged me to a street race, but in the end, she let her boyfriend step in. Her boyfriend, Wilbur White, is a member of the Jadeborough Sports Car Club. I'm sure I can't beat him, so that's why I asked you to come help."

Jerry and Evan have a good relationship. Previously, Charlotte happened to see a video of Genevieve racing from Evan and learned that she has impressive driving skills.

so even when Charlotte lowered so what's wrong with letting him play? You can also ask your boyfriend to join, you know. If you can't afford to at the woman who was speaking, her eyes narrowing slightly, "I think turns out which restaurant had great food and which brand had released new products. You just wanted to tag along with Charlotte to enjoy free but not daring to speak loudly, "Back then, we were worthy of carrying Lottie's shoes before. If it weren't for her, would you have any new clothes to at her friend's arm and said, "That Birkin bag of wouldn't be able to tolerate it, but the person in front of her was Genevieve.

that his sister-in-law is the daughter of a military to support her, "So what if this bag

I know who your brother is, but that doesn't give you the right to bully to race, and she even put her own supercar on the line. If she can't afford to lose, she should just say so. It's just a supercar, and about this? You imitate a dog barking a few times, and

Chapter 1312 The One Being Played Is You

"Who said we're not going to settle the bill? She's just afraid that if she gives you the sports car, no one will take her back," Genevieve said as she took the sports car keys from Charlotte's hand and tossed them to the man.

Wilbur eagerly took the car keys, his eyes shining with excitement.

After the Benson family went bankrupt, all their assets were seized. This Lamborghini was a birthday gift from Jiminy to Charlotte. Since it was registered under the name of the housekeeper who took care of Charlotte, it wasn't taken away.

Charlotte saw Genevieve throw the keys away, feeling a bit reluctant, but she also knew that Genevieve was a smart person.

As Wilbur got into the Lamborghini, he began to think about where he could drive it to show off.

Genevieve walked up at a leisurely pace, leaning against the car door with a beaming smile. "I have an even better supercar. Would you like to see it?"

The man was almost dazzled by her smile, "What kind of supercar?"

Faintly, the crowd heard the unique roar of a supercar. Following the sound, they saw a black supercar cutting through the night, gracefully coming to a stop within their line of sight.

smooth, making it resemble a recognized this supercar and rushed out to take a closer look, circling around it non-stop. "Holy crap, it's the Pagani eyes lit up models in its lineup, but the Mamba is the top of other supercars in terms of design, performance, and handling by a long shot. However, it enthusiasts believe that if they could drive a Mamba around in this lifetime, they boyfriend took out his phone and struck a pose in front of the sports one more game. If unable to believe it, "D*mn, Genevieve gently stroked the sports car's body and smiled slightly. "I heard you're quite skilled at driving. Since I'm here, I wouldn't be satisfied just leaving without having supercar club do you belong to?"

sports cars and occasionally racing with others.

seemed to have almost misspoken and quickly pursed her that her racing skills were not that great.

in the supercar group was already small, and no one had ever heard of someone

Chapter 1313 Break Your Foot

After the man finished speaking, he called a friend over to act as a referee. Genevieve, feeling as if she was being pushed into doing something, had no choice but to agree.

Due to the car race, Genevieve found it inconvenient to wear a coat, so she switched to Charlotte's baseball jacket.

Charlotte cautioned, "Be careful, this road has many bends. If you lose, you lose."

After all, it's just a car. Eventually, it will be worn out and scrapped.

Genevieve zipped up her baseball jersey and gave a faint smile, "Since you asked for my help, I can't lose. Besides, I've never lost in a car race."

Upon hearing this, Charlotte felt a warm sensation in her eyes.

Charlotte had always known that there weren't many true friends in her circle. However, when she really lost her power and influence, not a single friend remained by her side. Many even turned around to step on her when she was down.

The only one who treated her as a friend was probably Genevieve.

the sound of the referee's whistle, the two supercars shot out like arrows released from their aerial camera. Although its speed couldn't match that of a supercar, it was able to capture footage of Genevieve and her companion racing down aerial camera's perspective as two supercars passionately raced through the bends. Because they were driving so fast, all Wilbur's Ferrari was way ahead of Genevieve, thought Wilbur was sure to win, Genevieve's Mamba shot forward like a cheetah, leaving the Ferrari far behind. After completing two laps, also saw Genevieve's brilliant of the sports car, Charlotte was so excited that she didn't know what to say, "No said, stretching her wrists. "Otherwise, hugged her and gave her a kiss, face away when Tina's boyfriend returned. He slammed the car door and stormed over to Genevieve, his face a Genevieve, "Isn't shrugged, casually saying, "I just said kidding me?!" The man's you can tease my friend together with your girlfriend, why can't I do lost, now kneel down and apologize to Lottie," Genevieve reminded

Chapter 1314 Promised To Kneel And Apologize

Genevieve saw two police officers getting out of their car, their uniforms displaying badge numbers. The woman named Tina approached them and started talking to the officers.

It's likely that she's the one who called the police.

Charlotte's face turned blue with anger, and she said resentfully, "How disgusting! They can't accept their loss, so they called the police!"

Genevieve smiled faintly, "What's there to be afraid of? Even if the police come, he'll have to apologize."

As Tina and the two police officers approached, Genevieve had already retracted her foot and stood there leisurely with her arms crossed.

A police officer asked Genevieve, "Your boyfriend's girlfriend reported that you hit her. Is that true?"

"No way, I couldn't possibly beat him," Genevieve said. "We lost a bet, and he said he wanted to apologize to my friend, so he knelt down on his own."

Wilbur scrambled to his feet and exclaimed, "When did I ever make a bet with you?"

his side, and now even the police had arrived, Wilbur stubbornly this conversation with Wilbur when they immediately, and he quickly retorted, "You recorded me without my permission, that's a violation of my privacy any accidents. How did that invade your call, he initially thought it was a fight, but upon arrival, it was clear that the man had lost a bet and refused about to leave, a taxi stepping out of the taxi, the police officers instinctively straightened their postures and respectfully and then walked toward Genevieve. Seeing her wearing only a baseball jersey, he felt a warmth in her heart, "Didn't I tell you to just too cold outside, let me give you a ride and lost. He couldn't accept the loss, and to make matters worse, his girlfriend there any evidence?" Armand recorded it, and they also have videos his gaze calm yet incredibly intimidating. "Since you've lost, you should accept the consequences gracefully. Making a scene won't do

"Mr. Faulkner."

Chapter 1315 Cannot Afford

After waiting for his apology, Genevieve turned to the two remaining police officers and said, "I remember there's a speed limit on this road, right? We must have exceeded the allowed speed by at least thirty percent."

A police officer nodded and instinctively said, "Thirty percent over the speed limit, that's a six-point deduction."

"Here you go." Genevieve handed over her driver's license.

Upon seeing her actions, the police officer immediately understood. After deducting points from her, he noticed several supercars around and proceeded to ask for their driver's licenses to deduct points, regardless of whether they had been speeding or not.

That group of Scion street racers had never been treated like this before, and they were furious. However, they didn't dare to say a word.

D*mn! When this woman gets ruthless, she doesn't even spare herself.

The police officers and the group of Scions soon left, and it was then that Genevieve turned to Armand and said, "I thought you came to scold me."

Armand asked with a smile, "Why would I scold you?"

well, you might what you wanted to do, and you wouldn't listen even if I scolded you. So, just have fun however words, Genevieve couldn't help but hug she came for is the one my brother gave to had it brought over to opening it, they were extremely careful, up." Armand fixed Genevieve's clothes for her, and asked, "Did I interrupt your you were a bother, I wouldn't have come," Genevieve laughed, tossing the Ferrari keys to her, the private room in No and said, "Genevieve, your move just now totally blew me away! You know how great it felt when that guy and Charlotte picked one up to bring it from her hand and pale, and she leaned back into the sofa, "Why should I look for

Chapter 1316 Having Many Ex Boyfriends

"That won't do," Charlotte sniffed.

"Let's not even mention that we broke up a long time ago. Back then, I was the one supporting him financially. If I take his money now, wouldn't that be the same as him supporting me? My self-esteem won't allow me to stoop so low."

"Genevieve, do you think I'm really useless?" Charlotte asked her. "Timothy got me a job at Forlisle Group, but I can't even do admin work properly. They're all gossiping about me behind my back. And the salary is so low. I work twenty-four days a month, and I only make ten thousand."

As she spoke, she suddenly hugged Genevieve and burst into tears, "Even the cheapest dress I used to buy would cost more than thirty thousand."

"You can ask Timothy for money if you want to buy clothes," Genevieve said, aware that Jeremiah and Jiminy had a close relationship, and Jeremiah practically considered Charlotte as his goddaughter.

Charlotte shook her head and said quietly, "After the incident in my family, Timothy has helped me a lot. He even got my brother and sister jobs at Forlisle Medical. I owe him so much already; I can't spend any more of his money."

single, I'd simply marry him, so he could handle things with peace not have a head for business and loves to have fun, but she still remembers what her father taught always taught her that if the family has money, try to solve problems with admin position pays up surrounded by wealth. My dad would even have some of the there to help her. They lived in the mansion quarter, with a private chef preparing three meals a day.

Their living to share a condominium with someone and eat soaked the tissue paper completely. "If only I had opened a bank account abroad earlier and saved a few million, I wouldn't be going asked, "Didn't your dad send you design," Charlotte said sheepishly. "But I don't know anything about it. My dad donated two hundred million to that school, and I even had someone else write my your dad must be really rich then," Genevieve said with if she had any other impressive skills, to which Charlotte replied, "I've had many boyfriends, I'm great at eating, and I'm great at

Chapter 1317 Give Me Some Money

Charlotte thought about how she had been pampered by her family since childhood, and then recalled the various experiences she went through after going bankrupt. In her last job, she had to tread carefully and constantly watch other people's expressions while working.

She covered her eyes with a tissue and began to cry loudly, drinking alcohol between sobs.

Charlotte rang the bell to call the waiter in, asking him to bring a few glasses of brandy with ice. Genevieve knew she was falling apart at the moment, but didn't say anything, just quietly accompanied her in drinking.

Genevieve couldn't handle strong alcohol; just one drink made her head spin. Struggling, she managed to take out her phone and called Armand, asking him to come pick her up.

After downing a few glasses of brandy, Charlotte too was drunk, slumped over the marble table.

She rested her chin on the back of her hand, poking the decorative potted plant on the table with her other hand, mumbling, "Are you a money tree or not? If you are, then give me some money..."

"Dad, your daughter is so poor, she hasn't bought new clothes in such a long time..."

Seeing Genevieve so drunk, it was hard not to laugh and cry at the same time. Worried about the cold floor, she was just about to go over and help her up when the door to the private room was pushed open.

In the softly lit private room, Armand immediately spotted Genevieve sitting on the sofa and Charlotte on the floor.

wasn't drunk, his face looked slightly better. He walked over, picked up Genevieve's coat from the sofa and placed it on his arm, then extended his hand to Charlotte up from the ground, "Let's get her home it as Armand finished speaking, another tall to the crowded bar, the man was afraid of being recognized, so he wore a woolen hat and a mask, revealing took Charlotte

but she still remembered the pleasant scent of Jerry. As he carried her in his arms, she instinctively hooked her hand around his neck and nuzzled you for your hard work," Jerry nodded to watched the two of them leave Genevieve was looking at, Armand's expression turned somewhat dangerous. He simply look at other men; I wasn't looking at him, I just noticed that Charlotte wasn't wearing to call out to Jerry, but the table, Armand's furrowed brow finally relaxed. He called the waiter over and asked him arm as they left the bar. As the walk," Genevieve didn't feel like taking a car and wanted to walk to sober up

Chapter 1318 Use This Money

Joash, in the driver's seat, was concentrating on driving when he heard Charlotte's words, causing his pupils to dilate in surprise.

Ever since Bruce's death, he had been following Jerry and was aware of the deep relationship between Jerry and Charlotte. But was it really appropriate for him, an assistant, to have heard all this?

Joash thought to himself: With Jerry's status, getting hundreds of thousands in tips for accompanying wealthy women seems pretty normal, right?

Joash sneakily glanced at the rearview mirror, only to meet Jerry's icy cold gaze.

He quickly pressed the button, allowing the partition to separate the front and rear seats.

Seeing Charlotte being uncooperative, Jerry simply took a sip of mineral water and fed it to her with his mouth.

Charlotte was forced to drink several mouthfuls of mineral water mixed with sobering pills, which significantly alleviated the discomfort in her stomach.

Jerry kissed the moisture from the corner of her lips, then gently pried them open to engage in a deep, passionate kiss.

After the kiss, Charlotte's eyes welled up with involuntary tears due to her shallow breathing, causing her eyelashes to become damp and moist.

then buried her head in the crook of his neck, word. Instead, he gently tired. She waited for the driver to bring the car around, and then and the

had with Charlotte while drinking in the private room, and how she used to manage the taking a bath and getting into bed, she looked serious and said to Armand, "I want the dressing table. He found a box of sleeping masks, picked it asked her, "How do we looking into the mirror Armand was holding, spread it evenly across her face. As she did so, she replied, "In a few days, I'll start working at Genevieve Orsi Productions. I'll plan out what I want to accomplish in the next three years and cultivate some best of Specter Corporation. I believe that earning two billion in three years shouldn't be a difficult task. I have confidence to a wealth of resources in a big impact, Armand said, "Go ahead and about this? In three years, I'll use the money I've earned to plan a wedding think it's pretty good," Armand chuckled softly, using his finger to wipe away the mud on the corner morning, Genevieve spent three and a half hours training in the training room.

hear voices coming from inside. She pushed the door open and entered, finding not only

Chapter 1319 Traditional Gown Master

Genevieve didn't want to pay attention at first, but when she saw that the other person knew her last name, she couldn't help but turn her head to take a glance at her. The woman quickly handed over her business card.

"I am Sienna from 'Ingenuity Entertainment'."

Genevieve hadn't been paying attention to the entertainment industry for quite some time, and after being unconscious for a while, she was aware of Ingenuity Entertainment but didn't know about Sienna, the agent.

After all, the entertainment industry changes every year. A celebrity who was popular last year might sink into oblivion like a stone in the ocean this year.

"Ah, hello," Genevieve said as she took the other person's business card.

She had just set her goal yesterday: in a short while, she would head to Genevieve Orsi Productions to showcase her skills and work hard. She needed to get a clear understanding of the current industry situation.

Taking advantage of Leila's busy moment, Genevieve chatted a bit more with Sienna.

her clients had

Ingenuity Entertainment's achievements in the past two years in a scandal involving having a child with a certain tycoon. The company failed to handle the public relations and television resources, as well as the luxury resources, that had been in her there was a star-studded charity dinner. However, due to the scandal surrounding a female artist, not only luxury brands, charity dinner, the female artist went to great medication hormones, so she asked her agent to find the supporting roles she played after her debut, she starred in a TV show with a high rating of nine points and won the Best Supporting Actress award that year. She also starred in two movies, one with a box office of one billion and the other with one was know? Then how did you meet

“Introduced by an acquaintance.”

Leila. She's truly deserving of the title 'Traditional Gown Master' in the industry. Do you remember the the Vertsilver Film Festival was reported, the news spread both domestically made her traditional gown. They are willing to spend a fortune to have Xenia create a traditional

Chapter 1320 Less Than Three Years

Sienna paused for a moment, then nodded, “That's right. Yvonne has no plans to renew her contract with the company, so they didn't continue to help her clean up her scandal.”

Since Yvonne was the first artist Sienna brought to Ingenuity Entertainment after becoming an agent, Yvonne made hundreds of millions for the company in the first two years. This allowed Sienna to make a fortune, buying houses and cars in Jadeborough. Sienna usually took good care of Yvonne, but she was still just an employee.

Yvonne's contract was about to expire, and she didn't want to renew it. The company also didn't want to spend any more money on her, so they were just waiting for the contract to end to let her go. Sienna couldn't do anything about it.

She could only do her best to help Yvonne before her contract expired.

“Genevieve Orsi Productions wants to sign Yvonne,” Genevieve said candidly, without trying to hide anything from Sienna.

“I don't want to wait for Yvonne's contract to expire; it would be best if she could terminate her contract with Ingenuity Entertainment this month. After she signs with Genevieve Orsi, I'll handle any scandals on my end. I'll also make sure she attends the celebrity charity dinner in December with style and grace.”

Genevieve aims to make a net profit of two billion for the company within three years. Relying on signing a large number of artists won't work; they need someone like Yvonne, who is not only beautiful but also talented in acting.

Once Yvonne's movie becomes a hit, she might achieve her goal in less than three years.

Sienna didn't was a subsidiary of Specter Corporation, and Genevieve used to be the boss like Genevieve hasn't been managing the company for quite lately, so I left the company in the hands of my the contract early might be wanted to sideline her until her contract ended. However, her acting skills

Yvonne to terminate her contract with Ingenuity Entertainment sooner, but the penalty fee demanded by Ingenuity Entertainment was too high my message to Yvonne. As long as she's willing to good idea herself, she can always ask her brother or her with any solution, and it to leave Ingenuity Entertainment too, I can help you terminate your

If they manage to sign Yvonne, it would be better to have Sienna as her agent instead of someone unfamiliar with

Ingenuity Entertainment, expired, but now Genevieve was offering her an opportunity. If Sienna could help improve Genevieve Orsi's performance, she would agree. She needed to go