

Football God 42

Chapter 42: Season system quest

Returning to their hotel room, Sam finally paid attention to the multiple system notifications that he shelved before due to the post-match interview.

The system notifications this time were longer than normal, he was curious.

After taking his bath and laying down on his bed, exhausted even as his captain already dozed off, Sam paid attention to his system interface.

~----~

In a single game, Sam managed to gain so much, he was amazed.

Due to his incredible performance in today's game, he managed to upgrade 3 of his attributes despite the fact that none of them ever budged once even with his efforts for the past few weeks.

This once again showed the importance of professional game experience, this was the main reason why playing time was very important for a professional football player's growth and form.

Apart from the fact that his system finally awakened to another level, one thing that truly excited him among the system notifications was the new skill that the system just indicated in his player status.

'Finally!' He thought excitedly. 'I did it without spending skill points!'

Sam could still remember that moment vividly when he scored with the knuckle shot. He didn't plan it, he didn't think about it, everything that happened was instinctive, a reflex action.

He put a mental reminder to try it out again in his next training session.

This also brought him to his skills tab, he wanted to see the updated section of his football skills in the system interface.

~-----~

[Owned Football Skills:]

(La Croqueta)

(Skill Mastery Level: Basic)

(Skill progress to intermediate level: 31/100)

~

(Body Feint)

(Skill Mastery Level: Basic)

(Skill progress to intermediate level: 17/100)

...

(Cruyff Turn)

(Skill Mastery Level: Basic)

(Skill progress to intermediate level: 89/100)

...

(Power Shot)

(Skill Mastery Level: Basic)

(Skill progress to intermediate level: 15/100)

...

(Knuckle Shot)

(Skill Mastery Level: Basic)

(Skill progress to intermediate level: 18/100)

~-----~

Sam noted that apart from his newly gained football skill at the basic mastery level, 2 of his other football skills in the form of his power shot and body feint skills were slowly showing progress to the intermediate level.

'Sweet'. He thought.

And finally, he paid attention to the last section of system notifications that his system had for him after the game.

Unlike the first ones, these system notifications were new, different.

~-----~

[Congratulations! You have played your first game for Enyimba FC as a starting XI player; you are now eligible for the season system quest!]

[You have unlocked Season System Quests!]

[Your club, Enyimba FC is only eligible to compete for 2 trophies, the NPFL Championship Trophy and the Nigerian FA Cup!]

[NOTE: To present the best growth and career path for host, host must compete in the CAF Champions League!]

[Recalibrating..., please wait...]

~----~

For the first time since Sam gained his system after the 2022 FIFA World Cup final, he saw the blue screen of the system suddenly go off.

At first, he panicked, wondering what happened but his wait only lasted 20 seconds as the system screen came back on.

'What happened?' He thought. 'Why did the system briefly go off?'

He had so many questions but no answers.

The system continued displaying the notifications. For some reason, staring at these notifications, Sam felt like the font was duller than normal. 'Why does it seem as if the system is suddenly working on low energy?'

He didn't think deeper into it though, focusing on the notifications.

~----~

[Reality recalibration complete!]

[Through the rule of allocation by national association, Enyimba FC has been allocated a slot to compete in the CAF Champions League for the 2022/2023 football season!]
