

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 126

Nelson always had a bad temper, but in all these years, not once had he been cruel to Queena. She had never seen him like this before.

Queena broke into a cold sweat and her heart raced frantically.

"I didn't mean that... We were mere guests and that's how people would behave if they saw us denigrating the hostess."

Queena's mind was foggy. She saw Nelson shaking his head in disapproval.

She realized that her reason was lame and it would never convince anyone.

Although it seemed reasonable in her head, when the words spilled out of her mouth, Queena realized that she had done a grave mistake.

Her experience was nothing compared to what Nelson had gone through.

"What do you mean by denigrating the hostess? Melinda did nothing!"

Nelson scoffed. He was in fact, proud of Melinda's actions. He had always been concerned that she endured all the torture and bullying.

Nelson was glad to see that she had changed and finally stood up for herself. The way Queena blamed Melinda for safeguarding herself irked Nelson.

"Don't be stupid enough to believe that Emily is good. She is evil. Only a few people in the entertainment circle are innocent and she's definitely not one of them."

The soldiers of the old generations despised actresses. They appreciated talent but were intolerant to calculative people like Emily, who would go to any extent to have what they wanted.

"Dad, Emily is a sweet girl."

Queena wasn't ready to give up. She defended Emily because she was incredibly grateful for her timely favors. Queena felt that Emily always wished the best for her.

She had fallen for Emily's flattery and failed to see the truth behind the facade.

"Cut the crap! I don't care if Emily is sweet or not. All I care about is the happiness of my granddaughter-in-law, Mellie. I cannot see you treat her like this."

Nelson was seething with rage. He wanted to smack Queena with his walking stick but she was his daughter-in-law, so he suppressed his anger.

Queena shuddered. The intensity of Nelson's anger frightened her. The warm yellow light cast long shadows, making him look scarier. She didn't know how to make things right. She wiped the sweat that trickled down her forehead and looked at him helplessly.

"The Gu family doesn't encourage hypocrites. If you want to be a part of this family, better follow the rules. I won't always be patient enough to forgive you. I may be old but I still make the decisions in this family."

Queena's heart broke as every word was like a tight slap on her face. She knew that if she annoyed him again, she wouldn't have the chance to explain herself.

She understood that his opinion of Emily could never be changed.

were all she had. She decided that

Her usual majestic demeanor was long gone. She looked dejected and her hair that slumped to the floor and stared at the wall. Nelson glanced at her and didn't have the heart to reprimand her anymore. He sighed vast hall. She felt lonely and all her emotions that were simmering book upstairs. Queena's cry caught her attention. She glanced at the door and continued to read her

"Mellie, are you asleep?"

Melinda could sense the

can I do for

wanted to ask what was going on but controlled her curiosity when

to you today was

he didn't apologize to

Melinda shook her yourself. You've had enough already and you didn't have

"Yes, I do."

him sit on embarrass her grandfather. She had been gullible in the past but now she understood what life was. Melinda had only had even fought with

She hasn't understood you yet but there will be a time when she will see you

Nelson said intently.

"Yes, Grandpa."

was Queena who blindly supported Emily and rejected her. There that Emily would come up with a plan to destroy was young. That the Gu family to have a Queena and her husband had a strained relationship but she never thought that this would have been the reason behind their problems. Perhaps there were other dark secrets that he doing now? Does Jonas know about his half-brother? Nelson's words continued to ring in Melinda's ears and her mind was swarming with it's late. I'm wanted to say something but stopped himself. Melinda felt that he wanted to bridge the gap between her and Queena.

let me help you back to your silence. The entire villa went downstairs. Queena's cries immersed in her thoughts and didn't

Here, wipe

bunch of tissues. Queena stopped crying of shame washed over Queena and she hoped that she could vanish into thin air. Queena was always proud and felt ashamed that Melinda turned away. Melinda sighed but didn't give up. She remembered what Nelson said and felt that