

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 248

She had been cursing him all the way home. But thinking of what he had done and worrying about losing her, she couldn't help but feel warm in her heart again.

Today, she had bought a lot of things. In the past, when she was in a good mood, she would buy something for him, but today, she didn't even have anything for him to eat.

The maid had prepared the dinner. Seeing that Melinda had bought a lot of things, she went to clean the guest room on the side.

The guest room would become a small baby room soon, but according to the aunt, Nelson had built a larger baby room with a lot of decorations.

"My lady, you should have a rest now. You must be very tired after walking for a long time." Melinda kept striking her shins with her fingers. Since her belly had become bigger, she should be more careful with her movements, which would make herself more tired.

She seldom went shopping, so going shopping like this was a little bit suffering for her.

The maid was about to have a massage for her, but at this moment, the doorbell rang. With a cold face, Jonas walked into the room, but with a smile on his face as if he was doing magic.

Seeing what Melinda was doing, he went to her very consciously. When he sat down on the sofa in a tall and strong figure, Melinda suddenly felt that the sofa sank a lot.

He put her foot on his lap and skillfully began to massage it.

He learned from his mother that pregnant women would get cramps in their legs at midnight if they waited for too long for their body to swell, so he went to see many video clips.

While Melinda enjoyed closing her eyes, she suddenly thought of something. She looked straight at Jonas with her big eyes, which made him feel a little guilty.

"Jonas, did you arrange the appearance of Victor's ex-wife in last time?" Asked Melinda. Looking down at Melinda, she found him do the things he used to disdain most.

It was really a happy thing to be loved and doted by a person like Jonas, but many things also made Melinda feel annoyed.

He could be mature and steady, but sometimes he was also childish and would make people angry.

"It was all my fault. I know what I did was wrong, but I just don't want you to be so close to him."

He was a little depressed. But he quickly admitted his mistake and spoke out his uncomfortable feeling.

"Are you mad at me?" Finally, he looked up at her with a complex expression, unwillingness and a little worry.

A man with a cold face all the year round suddenly showed such a funny expression, which surprised Melinda.

In the past, he would have focused on how she knew of that. But now he was wondering how to make her not angry.

in the future if you have anything. I'm better than him." Seeing that Melinda didn't answer him and had been looking at him with a faint smile, praise, she felt that he was it was all because of her, she from his leg cautiously. Jonas can be as childish as a child?" She had intended to get up, but Jonny grabbed her by the arm they were sitting there, she still deep as an obsidian. No one could get out of him of European people. Instead, it was just her eyes to sober herself up and he was not convinced, but thinking of what he had done during this period, when faced with the embarrassment of his loved ones. As a lady who best knew Jonas, she realized that he knew his mistake in

"I'm sorry."

deal to be a coward in front of his wife, and that he should make that was tightly gripped of effort in it. And also, it could be seen how scared he was.

touched her belly subconsciously with a smile know what the character her baby would be like, so after thinking for a while, she thought that he look like both totally different in many ways. People would be extremely tired if they went to extremes. She didn't want the baby in her womb to suffer

She wanted to speak but stopped sofa

Recently, Melinda had a good appetite that she would kept smiling and was in a good mood. What had been in his with me?" Seeing that Jonas didn't eat much, she couldn't help teasing him. But she withdrew of food in a hurry. Seeing his look, she could not help to say, Jonas realized that what was in his heart, he couldn't force a smile at the corners of his mouth. Melinda wasn't that kind of person who was careless. And he also looked very worried. When his hair fell on his forehead, she could also feel in a bad

I say something wrong?' she wondered.

are you feeling now?" Jonas asked hesitantly.

some dangerous sight. She had seen a lot of love stories in recent be something unpleasant if he asked whether she was

"Just so so."