

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 365

However, Jonas, as a person who had always been depressed and endured everything by himself, she was also very anxious about that.

She had been like this before, and she had forced herself lead to have mental problems. She was worried that Jonas would be the same as her, although she knew that he was not that fragile.

"Jon, is there anything wrong with the company recently?" Melinda couldn't help but ask. Recently, Jonas had spent less and less time with her. She felt a little uncomfortable. But she didn't want to see him so tired.

During this period of time, Jonas had some grey hair. He was still handsome, but he was getting older and older.

What she wanted to see was a vigorous man, not a man as busy and exhausted as he was now.

"Not bad." Jonas said, but he began to tidy himself up. He was very rigorous on business, and his clothes must be neat and formal. So basically, his wardrobe was filled with suits and shirts, and occasionally some sportswear. If there was a special exception, it must be chosen by Melinda.

As for the clothes chosen by Melinda, he would not refuse, but he seldom wore them.

With a hint of dissatisfaction and grievance in her eyes, she walked up to him with her hands on her waist. Finally, she asked in a charming voice, "are you going to the company again?"

Seeing the tiredness on her face, Jonas finally stopped what he was doing and walked up to hold her. He said worriedly, "you're getting heavier and heavier now. If there's nothing else, you'd better walk less."

Speaking of this, Jonas paused. Thinking that pregnant women still needed to exercise, he said, "I'll ask aunt to take you for a walk when the weather is good outside."

"Don't you accompany me and our child?" There was a little resentment in her heart, but the on her lovely face almost melted his heart.

He couldn't help hugging her, but he was still very careful, because of her bigger and bigger belly.

He also wanted to spend more time with her, but he knew clearly that the more important goal now was to drive away these people who would threaten her and the child.

"I'm sorry. I have a lot of things to deal with recently." A gentle kiss fell on her hair, like a dragonfly skimming the water. However, the warmth that hadn't been seen for a long time still made her heart beat fast.

She knew that maybe she was making trouble out of nothing, but she hoped that her behavior could let go of those worries and make him stay with her attentively.

She would try her best not to bother him.

"Linda, you'd better stay at home to nourish the fetus. If you have time, pay attention to what Yulia does at home." Said Jonas. Then he remembered what Melinda had told him that Yulia went to father's study furtively.

was a forbidden area. For Jonas, no one could enter his study at home without them to come in and the more serious look on Jonas's face, Melinda pester him anymore. Somehow, she felt heavy in her heart. She thought something might a calm before the storm. Some small things life

living room was quiet. Only a few servants passed by occasionally, but they were all busy with this, she felt that this simple life was also a kind of kicked by the baby in her belly, Melinda couldn't help smiling. Fortunately, the baby was with her, but she hoped that upstairs to have a rest, but she saw a figure quickly walking over on the second floor. It seemed that he was avoiding Melinda. She walked much faster. The only person who could appear upstairs in the morning when they were cleaning and calling the master for dinner.

family, it's Yulia who favorite too fast. When she finally went to the second floor, she heard a strange sound from the study of Alston.

like last time, she frowned and became more and house were downstairs. Instead of being as scared as last time, she walked directly was a sound of searching for something in the study. Different from last time, the door was tightly closed, but a ray of and the scene inside suddenly appeared in front of her. Yulia bent and it was particularly obvious on her face at this time. Melinda could even see the cold sweat on her face.

opened, and Yulia looked up in panic. Seeing that Melinda was standing outside with her hurry and tried to calm herself eyes were fixed on the documents that she had read, Yulia explained, "Father asked me to look seemed that she was calm, but in Melinda's eyes, she was too flustered.

on her face was even dripping through people's heart. In the past, what Yulia was most afraid of was to look into her eyes, but now it was still quickly and didn't want to look her to have a dispute with Yulia. She nodded and continued, "Have you heavy sigh of relief. Yulia thought it was a good opportunity for herself because Jonas was going to the company today, but