CHAPTER 168: PLEASE COME FIND ME Sirius stayed in those silver flames, he approached looking at them better and was surprised to see that the flames were not hot, he touched them and did not get burned. What kind of flames are these? I've never seen them before. I just wanted to do the same thing Liam did, but I think it didn't go well. Wait, what were the words you said? _ Purifying fire, may your flames cleanse and restore the body, wait I think it was destroy, I got confused. Sirius put his hands to the fire, but those silver flames did nothing to him again. I guess I failed. I don't think so, but I didn't know you could use fire magic. _ I just did what you told me.

I don't know if I explained it to you but, wizards and magic wielders are not the same, a wizard can use all kinds of magic, but a magic wielder only has one magical attribute, be it earth, water, air or fire, even if they use enchantments they cannot change their attribute, in short they cannot use another type of magic. But you are the exception, I don't know if it's because you're half elf or if it's because you've also inherited your father's abilities, I understand that all members of the Venobich family use fire magic.

_It's true, everyone in my family uses fire magic, according to what I read in one of the history books of the kingdom of Laios, that is something that characterizes the Venobich royal family.

April touched her hair and said.

Like our red hair.

_This makes me wonder what the limit of your magic will be, especially since you have not yet fully awakened your power.

_ Well I'm a little curious about that too, I wonder how strong I'll be, how much I can do to help in this war.

April looked at her hands and said.

I wonder if with this power, I can protect Alessandro, although if possible I wouldn't want to break the last seal, I don't want to lose the part of my mother that's inside me.

_ I'll help you handle your magic the best I can so you don't have to break the Please come to bu. Last seal.

Thank you Sirius.

I haven't done anything yet, and I can't guarantee that you won't have to break that last seal.

_ I know, but your intention is the best, that's already a lot for me, that's why I thank you.

After that day, Abrit continued studying hard to control her magic, after two months she memorized all the magic books that were in the tower and learned to perfectly control her magic. She was at the door of the tower waiting for the answer to the letter she had sent to Alessandro; Sirius at seeing her approached her and asked.

- What are you doing here?

I sent a letter to Lessan, I'm waiting for his answer.

_ You always exchange letters, but why do you seem so anxious today?

I asked him if he could return to the palace, I have already learned to control my magic so I have nothing else to do in this place.

April saw the messenger arrive, she ran to meet him, she wanted to quickly read Alejandro's response.

- Where is my letter?

_ I'm sorry Miss Amara, I don't have any letter for you today.

- Are you sure?

Yes.

Check again, there must be a letter for me.

The postman checked his bag and said.

I'm sorry Miss Amara but I really don't have any letter for you, I only have a letter for the owner of the tower.

Sirius approached and took the letter that the postman was carrying to him, April saw the seal of the Veriatte royal family on the envelope and asked him.

- Why has Lessan sent a letter to you and not to me? Sirius put the letter in his cloak pocket and said.

_I think you're mistaken, this letter was not sent to me by him. Sirius began to walk away, April followed him.

_ I have seen the seal on the letter, I'm sure it's from Lessan. It's not from him.

Then why has he hidden the letter?

He didn't hide it, he just kept it. Then show me what the letter says.

I can't do that, it's confidential.

You already know who I am, if it's a state secret I can read it. I'm sorry but I can't reveal the content of the letter.

April had a slight suspicion of why Sirius didn't want to show her that letter and why Alessandro hadn't answered her letter.

He doesn't want me to come back, right? That's why he hasn't answered my letter, he's probably forgotten about me already.

I don't think that's the case, he loves her madly, I can assure you.

So why hasn't he come looking for me? He wants me to prepare.

_He already prepared me enough, he memorized every magic book in this tower and learned to control my magic.

Sirius had no way to refute April's words, she was a true genius, she memorized the books just by reading them once, what took some years to learn to handle their magic, April had taken two months.

Maybe it's still not enough, she's only been in the tower for two months, there are still many things she needs to improve, for example self-defense.

-What?

_Yes, I think she should learn to defend herself, remember that the war will soon begin.

-Learning to handle my magic doesn't count?

_No, since that would only work in case of monsters but it's useless against humans.

It's not completely useless.

Her magic only heals or nullifies other magic, she can't defend herself with that.

I guess she's right, but I really miss him, I thought I could finally see him again.

After saying that April began to walk away, as she did she wondered if Alessandro missed her the same way she missed him or if being away for so long meant nothing, that day she went back to her room and stayed there crying for a long time, wondering if she would ever see him again or if she would go back to being a forgotten wife like she had been in the past.

She hugged her pillow and said through her tears.

_ Lessan, please come find me.

CHAPTER 169: LETTER TO MY BELOVED

Sirius opened the letter after entering his office, the letter was short and precise. Take care of my wife, don't let her return to the palace, it is not a safe place.

P.S. Come to the palace when you can.

After reading the letter Sirius wondered what exactly was going on in the royal palace, since April had left the palace they had managed to hear several rumors about the royal marriage, many claimed that the marriage between them had ended due to threats of war from the kingdom of Laios and that was why the king had returned his wife.

Sirius did not understand what Alessandro was thinking about, he had told him that she would return when she mastered her magic, she had already done so but he was still looking for him to keep her in the tower, but Sirius knew he could not do that forever, April was starting to get impatient, he no longer knew what to do to keep her, in the end he had said the first thing that had come to mind.

And now what will I do with her? Stupid king, when do you think you'll take your wife back?

Sirius felt his head heavy, he was full of work due to the persistent attacks on the magical barriers that protected the kingdom, he had so much work that the shadows under his eyes had become even more marked. He wondered until when the king would stop exploiting him, since if that continued he doubted he would have a long life. He sighed heavily and wondered.

When will all this madness end, when the day comes when I can rest.

The next day Sirius left very early in the morning to the royal palace, when he arrived he went directly to Alessandro's office, Gabriel saw him and immediately let him in.

Alessandro was sitting behind his desk with a tired look and dark shadows under his eyes, he looked extremely haggard.

_ Greetings to his majesty the king.

_ I'm glad you could come so soon, have a seat. Sirius did as he was asked and asked. - How is everything?

_Not very well, my work only increases with each passing day, but that is not why I sent for you.

_Is it about your wife?

_How is she?

_Fine, but very upset since you did not receive a response to the letter you wrote to her.

_How upset was she?

_Enough to say that his majesty had forgotten about her.

Alessandro sighed heavily, brushed his hair back with his hand and said.

I hate not being able to be with her, but I do not want to put her life in danger.

_She has tried very hard during these two months, I can attest that her handling of magic is excellent, do not you think you should let her come back?

_Not yet.

You know that if you don't explain this situation properly, it could create a misunderstanding, right?

- I know, but I don't know what to answer because no matter how sweet the words you write to tell her that you can't come back yet are, I know that they will all break her heart.

- You're right, but I don't think ignoring the letter is a good idea, as I said before, your wife may interpret your silence in the wrong way, as for example that you have found another woman and have forgotten about her.

Alessandro sat up in his chair and answered upset.

_ I would never cheat on my wife with another woman and she is the only one for me and I could never forget her, I think about her every minute of the day.

_ But your wife doesn't know that, so I think it will be better if you answer the letter.

Otherwise I will be the one who found myself in trouble, Sirius thought.

- I guess you're right.

_ If that was all your majesty wanted to tell me, I will leave, in the tower we are having some problems, I cannot afford to be away for so long.

_ Actually, it wasn't to ask about April the reason why I sent for you, it's for another matter, because of the serious expression on Alessandro's face Sirius worried.

– Tell me, what happened?

Alessandro sighed heavily and answered.

The sighting of monsters at the border has been reported.

_The magicians have been reinforcing the barriers.

_I know, that's why I sent Cassian to Letter to my beloved

5/9 find out what's going on, but I think everything points to the fact that the monsters were already in the kingdom before raising the barriers, that's why I want you to reinforce the barriers of the royal capital and the palace.

Okay, I'll take care of that personally.

_I also want you to take care of another matter.

_Which one?

_We have discovered that Duke Vampel is gathering an army, he could not confirm it but it is almost certain that the duke is in cahoots with the kingdom of Laios.

_And why haven't they arrested him yet?

The duke has great social power, if I were to arrest him without evidence a war between nobility and royalty would start, I can't afford to start something like that.

-So what do you think I should do?

-At the moment I have him under surveillance, but I want you to create a barrier in Duke Vampel's territory, which will be inactive and can be used when the time comes.

-What kind of barrier?

One that can trap him in his territory, the war will soon begin and I think that will be the moment when the duke will act.

_I see, if you do that you won't have to worry about the duke while you're on the battlefield.

_That's right.

_ What you are asking me will be a little difficult to do, but not impossible, I will do it as soon as possible.

_ Thank you. - Do you need anything else?

- No.

Sirius stood up and said. Then I will leave. Wait. Yes, your majesty.

- I will write a letter to April, wait outside while she writes it. Okay.

Sirius left the room, stood by the door for a while while Alessandro wrote the letter, when he finished writing it he handed it to him and said.

- Deliver it to her personally. I will do so. And take good care of my wife. Yes, your majesty.

Sirius said goodbye to the king again and then left. When Sirius returned to the wizards' tower he was very surprised when April suddenly appeared behind him.

What a scare you gave me. - Are you coming from the palace?

- What?

_ I suppose so.

Sirius wondered how April had found out that he was coming from the palace since he hadn't told anyone where he was going.

- How did she know?

_ It's because of your clothes, you always go disheveled when you're in the tower, but you usually dress better when you go to the palace.

_ He's right, I come from the palace. With a sad face April asked.

How is Lessan?

Sirius didn't know whether to tell the truth or lie, he remained hesitating for a few minutes until April said.

– I suppose he's fine, I'm the only one who feels like she's dying when she's away from him.

That's not true, he didn't really feel well at all, he was pale, dark-circled and looked very tired.

- Is he sick?

_ No, I think what he has is called sadness, he misses her.

Sirius took out the letter that Alessandro had given him and handed it to April.

_ This is the letter he was waiting for, he asked me to deliver it personally.

Thank you.

April stared at the letter for a few minutes, asked Sirius.

– Are you not going to read it? Yes, I'll go to my room to read it.

April left without saying goodbye, when she got to her room she stared at the letter for a long time, that was the letter she had been waiting for, but at that moment she was afraid of what that letter would say, afraid that the words written in that letter were not what she wanted to hear, she took a deep breath and gathered her courage to read the letter: Hello my beloved wife.

Today has been another day without having you by my side, writing these words to you is the only thing that comforts me. It's been two months since you had to go away from me and I confess that it has not been easy at all, the days, the nights, every minute and every second that I can't see you, or have you in my arms have become eternal and painful, I look forward to the day that we can be together again.

You asked me to come back, but it's not time yet, please be patient and wait for me. Don't forget that I love you, you're the love of my life.

April hugged the letter and began to cry, she felt like a fool for having doubted Alessandro's love, that day she cried again for a long time wishing that the day would come soon when she could be with her beloved.

CHAPTER 170: MY OTHER HALF

After crying for a while April wiped her tears and ran to Sirius's office, she slammed the door open scaring Sirius, he threw the papers he had in his hand into the air and said.

- But what are you doing? You almost scared me to death. I want to learn to fight.

- What?

_You said that I must learn to defend myself in order to come back, so I want to learn to fight.

- What exactly do you want to learn?

_Something I can learn in a short time. Why did she go to the wizard training room and decide what she wants to learn?

I guess that's a good idea. Yes it is, so I should go immediately yes, that's what I will.

Sirius didn't really care about what April wanted to learn, he just wanted her to keep busy for a while and leave him alone, he picked up all the papers he had dropped because of April and focused on his work forgetting about her.

After two months with the arrival of winter the war began, Alessandro marched to the border with his army and the elf army. When April found out that the war had started, she ran to Sirius's office, she entered without knocking.

-Is it true that the war has already started? You know, there is a door in this room for a reason.

_Answer my question.

Sirius was organizing the wizards to go to the border and join the battle, the last thing he wanted at that moment was to deal with April, he sighed heavily and answered.

_ That's right and that's why I'm very busy, I would appreciate it if your majesty did not continue to steal my time, I must prepare to march immediately to the battlefield.

Sirius headed for the door, April stood in the middle blocking his way and said.

_I'll go too.

_Your majesty has not given her permission...

_ I don't care, I want to go, I have learned to defend myself, I will not be defenseless on the battlefield, besides my magic is more effective against those monsters.

_I know, but your magic can also nullify our magic, if that were to happen we would be defenseless.

That will not happen, you learned to control my power.

_But...

If you don't let me go with you I will go on my own, would that be even worse?

Sirius did not have time to continue that dispute with April, he scratched his head and said to her.

Okay, do what you want since you do it anyway.

– Then I'll go get ready. Before Sirius left he said. Wait.

– If you're going to try to convince me not to go...

It's not that, I just wanted to remind you that you must make sure you continue being Amara.

I already know that.

April went to her room and put on a brown robe like the one the other wizards would be wearing.

She met with the other wizards in the courtyard, Sirius said a few words.

We are heading to the battlefield, everyone must be prepared and attentive.

They all shouted in one voice. Yes, sir.

Sirius activated a magic circle and everyone was transported to the battlefield.

When they arrived, April was horrified to see a pile of corpses behind them, the strong smell of blood and death hit her nose making her nauseous, she covered her mouth with her hand, Sirius approached her and said.

We were so many years in peace, that for a moment I forgot what war was.

Sirius seeing that April covered her mouth to escape the strong smell of blood that was in the air and that her whole body was shaking said to her.

You shouldn't be in this place.

April tore her hand from her mouth and nose, forced herself to come back to her senses and answered.

No, now more than ever I know that this is the place where I should be. In the distance screams and sword clashes could be heard, crimson flames and monsters flying through the air could also be seen, at that moment April recognized Alessandro's wind magic and knew where he was at that moment, he was at the front fighting with that horde of monsters and enemy soldiers.

Sirius began to give orders to the wizards to reinforce the barriers, and others ruled out going to the front and supporting the soldiers so they could retreat and reorganize, April stood not knowing what to do, Sirius told her.

There are many wounded, she could help with that. Of course.

April approached the wounded who looked worse and began to heal their wounds; That lasted all day. When the sun began to set, April saw the soldiers return and among them, she saw Alessandro. When she saw him, she stood still watching him. She had always thought about what he would do when she saw him again, but at that moment she didn't know what to do or what to say. She just stood still, looking at him from afar.

One of the magicians approached her and shook her shoulder to get her attention.

"Amara, more wounded have arrived, some really serious. I need your help."

April wanted to refuse and go with Alessandro, but she knew that this was not the time, that having that power she was obliged to share it with the others. She turned around and said in just a murmur.

– Just a little longer, I'll be with you soon my love.

Sirius followed Alessandro to his tent, while he washed the blood from his face, hands and arms he asked.

- Is your majesty hurt? No, the blood is not mine.

Alessandro stared at his reflection in the water, his face covered in the blood of his enemies and said.

This war is even worse than I imagined.

It's true, it seems even more brutal than the last one. Alessandro splashed water on his face and said.

- Am I glad that April is not here to see any of this?

Sirius felt a shiver run down his spine when Alessandro asked.

- How is she? It's only been four months since I saw her but it has felt like an eternity.

JI?

– Well about the queen, there is something I have to say.

- What about April? Well the queen is... here.

The last thing Sirius had said so quietly that Alessandro had not been able to hear it.

_Speak clearly, what happened to my wife? Alessandro asked again with a face that said, I'll kill you if something happened to my wife. Sirio gulped, he was going to speak when a commotion was heard outside the tent; Alessandro came out and asked the soldiers who were nearby.

-What's going on?

_It seems that a monster has managed to cross the barrier, it's attacking the camp.

Alessandro took his sword back to the tent and ran in the direction of the screams, that monster was attacking the tents where the wounded were, he cursed.

_Damn it, why did he have to attack that very place.

In those tents were all the seriously wounded, they could not defend themselves from that attack or so he thought, but when he arrived he found that one of the magicians was fighting with that monster.

Silver flames surrounded that monster making it scream, that strange fire killed the monster. He approached the magician, he was strong and his power was very effective against monsters, Alessandro thought about going to the front the next day, but when he saw his face his blood ran cold, the color of his hair was different, but without a doubt that one! Magician, it was his wife Abril. He stood, looking at her, he wondered if it was really her or if he had begun to delirious from missing her so much. Abril met his gaze, while the soldiers ran from one side to the other attending to the wounded, they remained motionless looking at each other. Abril was the first to approach, when there was almost no distance between them Alessandro remained motionless, looking at her as if he could not believe that she was in that place.

After so much time apart, you will not tell me anything, will you not be happy to see me?

You are not real, you cannot be here.

That wasn't the answer April was expecting, her reaction bothered her a little.

I guess that's a no? Sirius came closer and said.

_That's what I wanted to tell you before, I couldn't convince her to stay.

Alessandro gave Sirius a murderous look and said.

_I'll talk to you later.

Alessandro took April's hand and led her to his tent, when they were alone, he caressed her face and hair.

_Are you really you Aby?

April changed the color of her hair again, the vibrant red returned to her curls.

She put her hand on Alessandro's cheek and answered.

_Of course it's me, it offends me that you can't recognize your wife.

Alessandro took April's face in his hands, looked at it closely and said.

I've been waiting so long to see you, it seems so unreal that you're here with me.

April stood on her tiptoes, kissed Alessandro and said. This moment is real, I'm real.

April kissed him again and said, You can feel it.

Alessandro kissed her back, his kiss was deep, wild, full of desire and restrained passion, as their lips met he said,

Aby, my Aby.

He repeated her name over and over again, as his lips pressed against hers, thirsty and hungry. While they had been apart he had felt like something was missing, that a part of him had abandoned him, but in that moment as he kissed her, as he felt the warmth of her body, he felt that he was once again whole.

CHAPTER 171: DARKNESS DWELLS IN EVERYONE

After exchanging several kisses, Alessandro paused and hugged Abril, he spoke with a trembling voice full of destructive guilt.

- I'm sorry

- Why are you apologizing?

- For sending you away, believe me it was painful to separate from you. Abril knew it was true, at one point she had doubted it, but deep down she knew that he was just as sad as she for not being together.

That doesn't matter anymore, it's in the past now we're together.

Even so...

Abril separated a little, put a finger on Alessandro's lips and said.

Don't continue with that, we're together and from now on we always will be, because I don't plan on going away from you ever again, so don't try to push me away because you won't succeed.

Alessandro had planned to ask Abril to return to the wizards' tower, even though he was glad to see her, he was very nervous, that was the battlefield; but when he saw her eyes, he saw total determination, there was not a shred of doubt in them, he knew that no matter what he said he would not be able to change her mind. He caressed her face gently and said.

– I suppose it would be useless to tell you to leave. Yes, so don't do it.

- You know that this is a very dangerous place.

I know that, but I don't know if you realized it before or not, but I'm not as weak as I was before, now I can protect myself and protect you too and that's what I plan to do, protect everyone I love.

Alessandro sighed heavily and said.

– Aby, wars show the worst in people, if I'm honest with you I wish you weren't here, that you didn't see the horrors of war...

_ I already told you that I don't plan to leave.

I know, but even if you are here, be clear that you will not let yourself rush into battle.

– I can defend myself Lessan.

-And I am glad that it is so, but do not fight unless it is necessary.

But ...

– Please.

Okay, I will take care of the wounded while you fight, I will be waiting for you on this side of the barrier, but if you need me remember that I will be here for you.

Thank you for understanding Aby.

Cassian entered the store without warning, he cleared his throat to get their attention and said.

-Hum ... I am sorry to interrupt your meeting but outside it is chaos. April seeing Cassian moved away from Alessandro and went to him, gave him a hug and said.

– I am glad to see that you are okay Cassian.

– I am also glad to see you Aby. How have you been?

Good and now that I am reunited with you, my family, it could not be better, I do not see you surprised to see me, did you already know that I was here?

– I met Sirius, he told me.

_ But let's leave the talk for later, there are many wounded outside. You're right, we'll have time to catch up.

April approached Alessandro, gave him a soft kiss on the lips and said.

– See you later,

Yes but before that change your hair color again, it's better that you don't know who you are.

Yes, you're right.

April changed her hair color back to the one she had before, before Alessandro left she told her.

Aby, try not to get close to the elves and try not to use your magic while they're around.

– Yes.

After April left Cassian said. – Elfa seems to have changed.

_Yes, she seems to have grown while we weren't looking.

– I've organized the generals, we must reorganize. We've had many casualties.

_Yes.

-And the elves?

They've hardly had any casualties, they're excellent warriors, it seems those guys weren't just talk.

– I'm glad we're allies for the moment.

-Aren't you afraid they might discover April?

– Of course, but try to make April leave.

– That's harder than ending this war without any deaths. Exactly, she can be very stubborn.

We'd better go, make the generals wait, they must be tired.

Alessandro sighed, the war had been going on for a week but for him it felt like an eternity, he felt completely exhausted and he knew that the others must feel the same, even if they didn't show it.

– Yes, let's go.

Alessandro spent a good while meeting with the generals, when he returned to his tent he was very surprised to see April waiting for him, she smiled at him and said.

– Welcome.

Alessandro approached her and hugged her and said.

I never imagined I'd have you here, just by looking at you you make my tiredness disappear, I already feel renewed.

– You're lying.

– What?

You're exhausted.

April touched Alessandro's cheek and used her light magic to make his tiredness disappear. Alessandro felt as if the warm rays of the sun had warmed his entire being, his tiredness disappeared and he felt renewed.

– I see that it was not a lie that you can control your magic.

I am not lying, I tried hard to learn to control my magic, I really wanted to be useful to you, to be your help.

– You were already useful before learning to use your magic, for me you have always been my help.

– That is not true, before I was just a hindrance to you. Alessandro shook his head.

That's not true, I didn't consider you useless, for me you were my help, because only by your side could I feel rest, that is something that only you can give me, you are my light in the middle of so much darkness.

April hugged him and asked.

-Do you really think that of me? Yes, I always have, although at first I refused to accept it.

-The important thing is that you did it, now nothing else matters.

-You always say the same thing, you don't hold even a little bit of resentment for what I did in the past, for having hurt you so much.

-That's because I've already forgiven you and when I forgive I forget, I only keep the good memories, the bad ones the wishes.

-Sometimes I feel like I don't even deserve you, you're too good and wonderful, while I'm an idiot.

-I won't deny that sometimes you behave like one, but we are human, we are imperfect beings that constantly fail.

That's why I fell in love with you, for your way of thinking, for your warmth and your kindness.

I'm not that kind Lessan, there are times when I'm selfish too, times when my thoughts would scare you, inside all of us there's something dark and twisted, although some of us show it more than others. I don't think there's anything in you that could scare me.

_ Maybe there is.

April tilted her head and seeing that Alessandro's armor was stained with blood she was scared.

- Are you hurt? - No, I'm fine.

_ Take off your armor, let me check you.

Alessandro began to take off his armor, while he did so he made a joke.

- You wanted to see me without clothes so much. -

Lessan, I just want to check that you're okay.

After Alessandro took off his armor and left his torso completely naked, April took a wet towel and began to clean the blood from his body.

- Lessan has confronted you with my father?

- Why do you ask that? Curiosity.

– Not really, your father has gathered a large army, he is sacrificing his soldiers and some of the monsters to weaken us. Lessan my father is a dangerous person, when you fight him, be very careful.

– You don't have to worry about that, I will.

CHAPTER 172: CLINGING TO LIFE

April continued cleaning Alessandro's body with a wet cloth and removing the remains of blood, while her hands moved with agility, Lessan began to feel sleepy, he gave a big yawn.

-You must be very tired, we should sleep.

Alessandro had not slept properly since he had separated from April and at that moment all the tiredness that had been accumulating seemed to arrive suddenly.

Yes, we should rest, tomorrow a difficult day awaits us. Alessandro took April in his arms and carried her to the bed in the middle of the tent, he placed her gently, he lay down next to her while he hugged her and said.

You can't imagine how much I've wanted to have you like this in my arms, how much I've missed you.

– I can't imagine it, because I lived it, I felt the same way as you while we were away, every day was torture and you can't imagine how furious I got when you didn't answer my letter when I asked you to come back, to the point of thinking that you had forgotten about me. Alessandro hugged April tighter and whispered in her ear. I could never forget you, there wasn't a single moment when you weren't present in my thoughts.

April placed her left hand with the marriage mark on Alessandro's left hand, their marriage marks flashed slightly.

I am happy, even in the middle of this war I am happy to be with you, to be by your side, I am very happy to be your wife.

Alessandro pressed Abril tighter against the breath of her hair, Abril remembered that she had sweated a lot and that she had not yet bathed.

– Please do not do that, I am dirty. No, you are not, you smell very good.

After saying that Alessandro fell asleep. She tried to get away from his embrace, but in the end she did not see him, he had clung to her tightly as if he were afraid she would escape. Abril stopped trying to get away from his arms and fell asleep enjoying the warmth of her husband.

The next day Abril woke up feeling that Alessandro was not there, when she opened her eyes, she saw him putting on his armor, he apologized. I'm sorry, did he wake you up? No, what time is it?

– It's early, you can continue sleeping a little longer if you want. Abril shook her head.

-I'm not at home but on the battlefield, I'm aware of that, I couldn't sleep late when there are so many wounded that need to be treated.

Alessandro sighed heavily and answered.

– You're right, right now no one can rest.

- Will you go back to battle? April asked very worried.

Yes, I'm going to organize my men, monsters usually attack at dawn.

Be very careful. After finishing putting on his armor, Alessandro approached April, gave her a kiss on the forehead and said.

I'll have it, I promise I'll come back safe and sound.

– You better be like that.

– We'll see each other later.

Alessandro left the tent, April did so shortly after, she headed to the wounded's tent when she ran into Ethan, although she had a different colored hair, he recognized her right away, although as always when he saw her it wasn't exactly her he saw.

– Sophia, what are you doing here?

He asked, very scared, as if he had seen a ghost.

– Am I helping? Ethan took April by the arms and said to her.

You can't be here, you must leave immediately, this place is very dangerous.

Ethan's hands were shaking slightly. He seemed terrified that she was there.

– You must go, I don't want to get lost again, go immediately to a safe place.

April felt some pity, she knew that all those words and concern were not directed at her but at her mother. She put her hand on Ethan's and said to him.

– I appreciate your concern, but I won't leave. But...

– Don't try to convince me to leave, because I will, that is the decision he made, I know that when you see me you see my mother, but remember that I am not her.

This place is too dangerous, can't you see that? Of course I see it, but in this place is everything that matters to me, what I love, that's why I can't leave, even if I put my life at risk, I will fight for them.

Ethan released April, lowered his gaze and squeezed her hands tightly, he couldn't deny that what April had said was true, every time he saw her, he saw Sophia and he couldn't help but worry about her.

- Take care of yourself, don't make any mistakes. Ethan said, then he left.

Lionel, one of the wizards of the tower approached April and said. Amara, where have you been? I've looked for you everywhere.

- Is something wrong?

- They are the wounded, we need help. Come on.

April turned to look in the direction that Ethan had gone but he had already left, Lionel took her to a tent where there were soldiers who had serious wounds and injuries, seeing the state they were in she asked.

- I thought you had taken care of the seriously wounded yesterday?

These soldiers were treated yesterday by the doctors and the other magicians, but their wounds are so critical that they were discarded. They usually treat the wounded who have a chance of survival, but they separate them, most of them die, few survive such wounds, I suppose they are destined to die.

April felt disgusted, that brought back bitter memories, in the past she had been in a similar situation, however she had never given up, she had clung to life, just like many of those soldiers who fought with all their might to survive. She rolled up the sleeves of her tunic and said.

Don't say again that they are destined to die, can't you see that they are fighting with all their might, even if it seems that everything is against them, don't discard anyone, no one has the right to decide who lives or who dies.

CHAPTER 173: THE PROTECTION OF THE LIGHT

April approached the soldier who looked the most seriously injured, he had an ugly wound on his arm, almost severed, Lionel said.

We must amputate the arm, there is no magician, nor doctor who can cure such a wound.

– Bring me bandages, maybe it is not too late to rescue his arm.

Amara, you are not a god, we are magicians, there are things we cannot do, no matter how much we wish for it.

– I know, but let me try. Lionel scratched his head and said.

_It's okay, anyway his condition is critical, if he survives it will be a miracle.

Lionel went to look for bandages. Here you go.

– Help me to join his arm. -That will hurt him.

Lionel joined the arm again, that soldier gave a heartbreak cry, the pain had been so great that he had ended up fainting. April asked Lionel to go get more bandages since the ones they had were scarce.

I'll be back soon.

When Lionel left, April infused her healing magic into the man and slowly saw his color return and his facial expression become calmer.

“You’re going to recover.”

She whispered in his ear, although he could no longer hear her, he was still unconscious. April continued healing the other soldiers, all of them had ugly wounds, they were dying and if she hadn't helped them, they would have surely ended up dying. When Lionel returned, he brought two more magicians, they helped change the bloody bandages and join the almost amputated limbs of the soldiers at April's request, it had seemed useless to them, however, none of them said anything.

In the distance, an explosion was heard, April was surprised and asked.

“What was that?

” “It's the battle, it must have already started, they use magic stones that explode to keep the monsters away from the barrier and be able to leave without them entering.

” “Does that kill them?

Not at all, but they make them fly away for a few minutes, that allows them to leave.”

_ I see April was worried about Alessandro, she knew he was someone strong, however she couldn't stop being afraid that something would happen to him, she hit his cheeks to spend on what was in front of her at that moment, Lionel told her.

- Why are you hitting yourself?

- I just wanted to focus. You're crazy.

April continued working on the wounded, when she finished with the last one, she left the tent and turned her gaze to the battlefield, beyond the invisible barrier that separated them, she saw a horrible scene, despite the distance she could see the monsters and the dead lying under her feet, that reminded her of the prophecy that her mother had once told her, until that moment April hadn't thought about it much, but she wondered how her mother knew that would happen.

Sirius approached April and seeing her so distracted.

-Is something wrong?

No, I better go check on the wounded I treated yesterday.

They're fine, they've fully recovered, today they joined the battlefield.

April looked at the battlefield. I hope they survive.

That arose from the luck of each of them.

Maybe I shouldn't have healed their wounds completely, then they wouldn't have had to return to the battlefield.

-Do you know why we magicians stayed behind the barrier?

Follow new episodes on the

April had also wondered since magicians were good with attack magic and some were excellent warriors, but she hadn't even asked anyone.

-The truth is, no.

We are the last barrier, if they fail we must protect the city and its citizens, our duty to care for the wounded, but we do it because we know that if they all die the army will fall and only we will be left, but as you will see we are few so the only thing we can do is reinforce the city with all our magic, completely empty ourselves to create a strong and impenetrable barrier, die so that others can live; that is why if you can heal someone do not do it halfway to prevent them from returning to the battlefield, because if we all stay behind the barrier, who will fight against the enemy?

– I’m sorry, I shouldn’t have said that.

– You didn’t know, but I hope that now that you know it you use your power to help us win this war.

That’s why I’m here.

_No, actually you’re here for Alessandro, but I hope you don’t just want to save him, think also of the people who live in these lands, fight for them too, remember that you are the queen of Cosset and it is your obligation as a queen to fight for them even if you don’t know them.

After saying that, Sirius walked to the barrier, put his hand on it and a light shone reinforcing the barrier. When he passed by her he said to her.

Think about what I told you.

April returned to the tent where the wounded were, the wizards who were there looked surprised.

- Did something happen?

- All the wounded seem to be better, what did you do to them? Nothing special, I just used healing magic and treated their wounds just like you.

- Are you sure?

- Yes and now let’s leave the talk there are many ... things to do.

The battle raged on all day, at dusk the sound of a horn was heard, it was the signal for the soldiers to return, some wizards rushed to the barrier and cleared the entrance for the soldiers. April ran over, she anxiously looked for Alessandro with her eyes, when she saw him she felt that he was breathing again. Although he looked tired and his armor was stained with a liquid, but he did not seem to be hurt.

Lionel pulled April, preventing her from going to Alessandro.

- Amara, what are you doing? There are too many wounded, don't you distract yourself.

- Yes, I'm sorry.

That day she was handling the wounded all night and she couldn't see Alessandro, she had gone to get water from a nearby well, regretting not being able to see her husband even though they were in the same place. When suddenly she heard Alessandro's voice behind her.

Aby.

She turned immediately, a smile appeared on her face.

- Lesan.

He approached. Seeing dark shadows under her eyes, he asked.

- Have you not slept? There were too many wounded. Don't overexert yourself. Don't worry, rest later.

Alessandro was wearing his armor, April put her hand on it and said.

- Come back safely.

- Promise.

April wanted to give Alessandro something to keep him safe and the only thing she could think of was to renew his armor with magic, she closed her eyes and infused her magic into that armor, a warm light covered Alessandro completely and made him feel.

I have blessed your armor or that is what it claims to, I don't know if it works, although I pray that it does, that no monster can touch you.

-I will check it in a while and I will tell you at night.

Alessandro leaned forward, gave April a kiss on the forehead and said.

Take care of yourself while I'm gone.

I'll be fine, I'm behind the barrier.

-I know and that's why I don't give up and fought with all my strength. April remembered what Sirius had said the day before, apparently what he had said was not a lie, the wizards were a last resort, if those in front failed, they would have to sacrifice themselves to keep the city safe, which did not exempt her.

He gave her a soft kiss on the lips and said.

– See you soon my love, as Alessandro walked away April felt her heart tighten in her chest. She was not used to seeing him leave towards death and blood, which was the battlefield.

Alessandro met with his army, Cassian was in the front row next to him and asked him.

– Have you seen Aby?

– Yes.

– How is she?

All things considered, fine.

Cassian could sense his brother's anxiety, he must have been very worried since April was in that place.

– I'm really surprised you didn't tie her up and send her to a safe place.

It's not that I haven't thought about it, but she would be furious if I did that, I don't want my wife to end up hating me.

– Yes, she is like that.

Alessandro unsheathed his sword and stood on guard, all the soldiers imitated him, some explosions were heard behind the barrier, shortly after when the path was clear the barrier opened and they joined the battle, their swords clashed against the monsters that were in the front line. Alessandro swung his sword and cut everything that stood in front of him, every day they killed countless monsters and enemy soldiers, but these did not seem to diminish at all, he even came to wonder if they would ever end this war. Alessandro had been lost in his thoughts, he discovered his right flank, one of the monsters born of darkness that had long tentacles wanted to pierce him, but upon making contact with his armor, the tentacle of that monster disintegrated. When April's blessing appeared it worked very well, those monsters could not touch his armor without turning to dust.

CHAPTER 174: THE JOY OF SPRING

After Alessandro left, April sat on the ground leaning her back against the well, blessing Alessandro's armor had left her exhausted, especially since she was already exhausted before, she had been using her power to heal the wounded and it was almost empty. She closed her eyes for a moment and must have fallen asleep because then she found herself in a clearing with her mother, she saw her with a face full of worry. My girl, how are you? Mom, did I fall asleep? Sophia lovingly caressed April's face and replied, No, actually you fell unconscious.

I think I overdid it by using so much magic.

_ My girl, you have great power, but you only have access to a part of it since the last seal has not yet been broken, I think it is time for you to do so. April shook her head.

No, if I do, I will lose you again.

The landscape they found themselves in changed abruptly, that beautiful clearing they found themselves in changed to a battlefield full of shattered bodies, with birds of prey eating the remains, April felt everything inside her shake, especially since she recognized many of those corpses, some were soldiers she had previously healed using her magic.

- Is this the future?

It's just one of the many possible futures, although they are all similar, there is only one that is different and that is the one in which you break the last seal and win the war.

The landscape changed again, they were in a beautiful garden full of white and pink flowers, however April still had engraved in her eyes the horrible landscape of death she had seen a second before. Clenching her fists helplessly she replied.

_ I, I can't ...

Sophia hugged her, April felt a strange warmth, although that was a dream, for her it felt real.

My girl, I know you don't want to lose me, but I'm not alive, my time ended a long time ago, don't lose sight of those who are hurt, protect them and let me go. But it's that I... Sophia caressed April's head gently and said to her.

My little April, I think she never told you the meaning of your name, would you like to know? April wiped away the tears that had begun to soak her cheeks, she didn't understand why her mother wanted to talk about what her name meant, but she was grateful that she changed the subject. She nodded, Sophia continued talking.

_ It means, the joy of spring, since I realized that you were in my womb that's what you were for me, my light, my joy and I anxiously awaited your arrival, when I had you in my arms, I realized that I hadn't been wrong, selectively you were my April.

Why are you telling me that now?

_ Because I want you to experience that too. Sophia touched April's belly and said to her.

– I want you to have your own spring joy, but as you know winter must end for spring to begin, your father is a cruel winter that kills everything, he must disappear to make way for spring, don't forget.

After her mother said that, April opened her eyes, Lionel had his face very close to hers.

What do you think you are doing sleeping in a place like this is winter, do you want to freeze to death?

I wasn't really sleeping, I fainted.

I'm not surprised that happened, you haven't stopped using your magic, you must be about to empty yourself.

Lionel helped her up and said.

Rest, you need it if you want to end up dying. Yes.

April began to walk unsteadily to the tent, Lionella held her by the arm and said.

Let me help you. Thank you Lionel.

That day April was sleeping when the horn sounded announcing the return of the troops, April forced herself to get up, she had to help the wounded and above all she wanted to be sure that Alessandro was okay.

That day there were more wounded than the day before, the magicians and the medics ran from one side to the other attending to the wounded, April looked for Alessandro, he had just crossed the barrier with Cassian and to April's relief, he did not seem to be wounded.

She focused on helping the most seriously wounded since only she could save them. When she finished treating the last seriously wounded one she heard two soldiers murmuring as they saw several elf soldiers pass by.

_How can it be that your army does not have any casualties, that is terrifying.

_If not either, maybe they are not human, they are really savages on the battlefield.

Those elven soldiers seemed to hear them as they directed their gazes towards them and by mistake towards April, their gazes only met for a moment, but apparently that was enough for them to realize that she was just like them, since no elf could hide the golden color of her eyes.

They headed towards where she was, April turned around trying to escape from them.

- Where are you going?

Cassian asked when he saw her pass in a hurry.

April hid behind Cassian, he was going to ask her again what was wrong, but then he saw two of them pass by and understood what was happening, April was hiding from them.

Were they chasing you?

_ I'm not very sure, a moment ago we exchanged glances, I think they noticed the color of my eyes.

For the moment it will be better if you don't go wandering around there, don't make them keep looking for you.

You're right.

Alessandro must want to see you, he seemed nervous this morning since you didn't come back to the store yesterday.

There were a lot of wounded yesterday.

-Are there any today too?

- Yes, but there aren't that many seriously wounded, so I can take a break.

Cassian started walking trying to cover April so she wouldn't be seen by them, which she was grateful for, she didn't want to have to worry about them when they got to Alessandro's store she ran into his arms when she saw him, he hugged her back.

- I'm glad to see you're okay, why are you, right? Yes and all thanks to you.

- Me?

Yes, your blessing on my armor protected me, I'm safe thanks to you.

CHAPTER 175: DREAM OR NIGHTMARE

April felt a little dizzy, she had been using her magic without resting properly, Alessandro held her so she wouldn't fall and asked her.

- Are you okay?

- Yes, I just need to rest.

– You used too much magic, didn't you?

I think I used more than I thought when blessing your armor. Alessandro had planned to ask April to bless Cassian's armor, but seeing the state he was in, he didn't tell her. He picked her up, carried her to the bed and said.

– I told you to rest.

– And I did...

– But you kept using your magic even when you hadn't fully recovered.

There were too many injured and I couldn't... I know, you couldn't leave them.

April nodded, Alessandro gently stroked her hair. Cassian felt a little uncomfortable seeing them so affectionate, that made him remember Maya and made him feel miserable, he cleared his throat and said to them.

– I'll leave you two alone to continue flirting.

Cassian turned around and left the tent before they said anything, he needed a moment alone. Leaving the tent, Cassian headed to his tent and was very surprised to see Ethan.

– What are you doing here? – I want to talk to you, do you have a moment?

– Would you leave if I said no?

No, I've seen Sophia's daughter at the camp, why was she allowed to come?

Nobody took her, she just showed up and in case you don't know, she's someone hard to convince, she does what she pleases.

– Even if she refuses to leave, she can't be here, it's very dangerous and it's not just because of the monsters.

– What do you mean?

– Some elven soldiers have seen her, they know she's one of us.

They are under your command, you can't have them controlled.

They are under my command, however they are not loyal to me.

– And what does that mean exactly?

I don't know what they can do if they find out who she really is, fuck, she's part of the elven nobility, you're aware of that, human kings are mean to their descendants and elves are even more so.

– Even so, I can't do anything to make her leave, April is aware of what you're saying, she's aware of the danger she runs in this place, but as I said before she won't leave, no matter what we say, that's her decision.

Follow new episodes on the

Her decisions are foolish and reckless, she's a spoiled brat who knows nothing about the world.

Cassian got a little upset by Ethan's words and told him.

– You don't know anything about her so don't talk. Don't think about doing anything to make her leave, she thinks you were her friend.

– And I am, that's why I won't do what she asks me to do, I respected the decision she's made.

– Even if that puts her in danger?

– If that happens I'll be there to help her. You're a fool just like your brother.

Ethan said as he heads for the exit. Once alone Cassian wondered if the decision he had made to support April was right or if he should do what Ethan had told him and try to convince her to leave the camp to a safe place. But he wanted to respect her decision and support her, at that moment he found himself in a dilemma, but deep down he knew that even if he tried he wouldn't convince her to leave, April was very stubborn and didn't give in when she made a decision someone entered the tent, Cassian thought it was Ethan who was trying to convince him again to cooperate with him, but it wasn't him, when he saw who it was he wondered if it was a hallucination, if he had started to delirious from exhaustion, the person who had just entered the tent was Maya.

He stared at her like a fool, she looked beautiful, she was wearing a simple, straight-cut beige dress, her hair did not fall to the sides like a silky waterfall, she moved a lock of hair out of her face, placed it behind her ear and said.

– You're not going to say anything.

Cassian approached her and caressed her cheek, he wanted to check that it was real.

- Are you really here?

– Yes, it's been a long time. How have you been?

– How...? - How come I'm here? Yes.

– It's a long story.

Cassian didn't know how Maya had gotten there, but he was glad to see her, he hugged her tightly, since he had separated from her, his only wish and longing was to have her in his arms again.

You can't imagine how much I've missed you, how much I've dreamed of having you like this in my arms, tell me this isn't a dream?

Maya stroked Cassian's head and answered.

– No, it's not a dream, I'm with you right now, I'm in your arms, I'm real.

Cassian took her face in his hands, he stared at her face in detail, then gave her a soft kiss on the lips and said.

I'm sorry Maya, forgive me for not going to look for you, I wanted to but the war started Maya put a finger on Cassian's lips and said.

-Don't worry, I know perfectly well, I know that you couldn't go for me and it would have been in vain for you to go.

-What do you mean?

Maya was going to answer when a handsome and good looking man entered the store, he was wearing clothes very similar to Maya's, when she saw them together she frowned.

-Maya what are you doing with this human? Fay, I told you to wait outside.

-It was taking too long, but now I see why.

-Who is this guy?

He asked very dismayed. Maya ignored his question and went to Fay.

_ Fay wait for me outside, I'll go now.

Fay left the tent somewhat annoyed and said.

– Don't take long, don't forget why we're here.

– I'm not.

When they were alone again, Cassian asked.

- Who was that guy and what did he mean by what he said?

Maya wished she could lie, but she couldn't, she couldn't do it anymore, the words came out of her mouth without her being able to stop them.

- It's Faylion one of the fairy princes, he's my fiancé.

Cassian was speechless, what had been a dream a moment ago had turned into a terrible nightmare, he could finally reunite with the woman he loved, but she hadn't returned alone from the land of fairies, she had returned with a fiancé.

Tell me you're joking, that man can't be your fiancé, that can't be, it must be a lie, right? In a terrible nightmare, he could finally reunite with the woman he loved, but she hadn't come back alone from the land of fairies, she had come back with a fiancé.

– Tell me you're joking, that man can't be your fiancé, that can't be, it must be a lie, right? Maya clenched her hands into a fist, she felt helpless for not being able to deny it.

– I can't lie Cassian, I'm obliged to always tell the truth, even if I wanted to tell you that it's not true that Fay is just a friend, it would be a lie and I can't say them anymore.

Those words broke Cassian's heart, he wondered what had happened to Maya during those months that they had been apart for her to end up engaged to another man.

CHAPTER 176: THE FAIRY QUEEN'S DESIRE

Cassian's face darkened, he felt hurt, he hadn't stopped thinking about her for a single moment since they had separated, but apparently she had forgotten about him.

You forgot me in the short time we weren't together?

- Has it been a short time for you? How lucky. - What do you mean by that?

- As you know, time passes differently in the fairy kingdom, what for you has been a short time, for me has been years.

- What?

After you met, the queen took away the medallion that the eifos had given me, for a long time I waited for you to come find me, I knew I couldn't go with you anyway, but I still wanted to see you again one more time, try your kisses, feel your warmth while you hug me.

- And since I didn't arrive, you took refuge in the arms of another?

- Things are not as you think.

– Then explain it to me, because I don't understand anything. – I knew that Fay would come to the human world, I'm not allowed to leave the fairy kingdom, but I wanted to see you so I got engaged to him so I could accompany him and see you.

– And did you really think that it would make me happy to see you knowing that you're engaged to another man? I knew you wouldn't like it, but that was the only way I had to get the queen to let me come; besides, at no time have I said that I was going to marry him, I can break the engagement at any time.

– So you're just pretending to be engaged?

Fairies can't lie so everything has to be real, my engagement is real, but I don't plan on marrying Fay, he already has someone.

Cassian felt himself breathing again, he hugged her and said.

– I'm sorry, I got jealous when I heard that that man was your fiancé.

Maya hugged him back and answered.

– I've already realized that, it really offends me that you thought I would forget about you, because I didn't, during all this time we were apart there wasn't a single day when I didn't think about you.

I'm a complete idiot, aren't I?

– Yes, the truth is you are, but don't worry I already knew that when I fell in love with Cassian he separated a little and joined his lips with Maya's, their kiss became deeper, full of intensity, of content, Maya responded in the same way, while she kissed him she caressed his hair, his shoulders, his back, she wanted to feel him, for his hands to remind her again, she had wanted so much to be with Cassian in that way that for a moment she forgot why she was there.

Fay came back in to clear her throat to get his attention and said.

– We don't have time for this, play with your human lover later.

Cassian didn't feel any empathy for that fairy, even though he knew that she had helped Maya to be able to reunite.

_ I'm coming Fay.

Okay, but don't be long. Fay came out of the tent again, asked Cassian, why did Maya come? The queen sent us to make an alliance.

-An alliance? He thinks she didn't want to be a part of this war.

-She changed her mind when they attacked the land of the fairies, in fact we are also at war, we are fighting with those monsters born from darkness, but King Venobich is fighting against us.

-His daughter is leading an army of monsters, she knew that the fairy queen had one of the keys to the gates of Hades, she tried to make a deal to get it, but the queen didn't have it, she told her but she didn't believe her and started attacking us a few weeks ago, those monsters are hard to kill, we need weapons to fight them.

-They need blessed weapons.

-That's right, Fay is in charge of the negotiations and I'm with him.

The blessed weapons come from the elves, you would have to talk to them.

I know, but it's not just the elves that the queen wants to make an alliance with, she also wants to make one with the humans.

– Why?

– The queen knows about April, she's interested in her.

– Kme – What?. Did you tell her about her?

– She asked questions, I can't lie, I had to answer all her questions, I could have left it out.

A shadow crossed Maya's face and she answered.

– It's not as easy as you think, even when she tried to lie, she ended up spitting out the truth, no matter how much I resist, the words come out without me being able to avoid it, that's horrible.

I'm sorry, I don't...

I know, you had no way of knowing. Fay peeked into the tent again, before he could say anything, she said goodbye to Cassian. I have work to do, I'll see you later.

Cassian grabbed Maya's hand stopping her from leaving, when he had seen her walk away he felt like he would never see her again, she seemed to notice his anxiety, she put her hand on his arm and said.

– I won't leave, at least not yet, I'll be back after a while.

_It's better if you come with me. That would be nice.

Maya said as she looked at Fay, he nodded, Maya linked her arm with Cassian's and said.

Then let's go.

As they left the tent, many soldiers turned their gazes towards them. Some recognized Maya and upon seeing her with Cassian were happy for him. Others could not take their eyes off Maya's fairy companion. He had a strange aura that did not make him look human. He had white hair and red eyes. His skin was pale and thin, and his appearance was beautiful but strange.

Cassian led them to the elves' tent.

"May I come in?"

Dantriel left the tent and was very surprised to see Maya and the other fairy who accompanied him in that place.

"What are they doing here?" Fay replied.

"I am Faylion, representative of the fairy queen. I have come as a messenger and I request an audience with voice.

" "Come in."

As he entered the tent, Fay handed Dantriel a letter. After reading it, he said. "

So you are also being attacked.

" "Yes, the queen is furious. She wants to destroy the human king who has dared to defile her lands."

– Why have you come here and not gone directly to my kingdom?

– It is what my queen asked me, I only fulfill her wishes.

– What your queen wants is not something I can give her at this moment, the blessing of light is something that only a morc of the elven royal family can give.

That is not true, in this camp you have what my queen wants, a morc of the elven royal family, a princess to be more exact. Dantriel looked at Maya, she lowered her head, she felt guilty for having revealed a secret as important as April's existence and apologized.

– I'm sorry, it can't be helped.

Dantriel sighed, he knew that all fairies were obliged to tell the truth, the queen should have made her speak.

– I think you're getting the wrong person, I'm not the one who can help you with that.

_That's not entirely true, she has half of both, elven princess and human queen and from the looks of it that's something the elven queen doesn't know.

Cassian spoke for Dantriel.

“Is that a threat?”

No, I explain the situation, my queen wants the princess to go to the land of the fairies of her blessing.

-And why not go directly to the queen of the elves and ask for weapons to fight the monsters? Why does it have to be April who fairies cannot use weapons made of iron, it makes us weak and a weak warrior is a useless warrior, a walking dead on the battlefield.

-That's true, Maya can use weapons made of iron.

-I remind you that fairies cannot lie, Maya can use weapons made of iron because she is a half-breed, half human, half fairy; we need them to bless our weapons and as Dantriel knows the elven royalty never leaves their lands, they will not go to our aid, that is why it has to be your princess who has to go.

-And if we refuse? In that case we will use any method to get what we want, no matter how vile and mean the method is.

Then it is a threat.

That depends on you, on your cooperation.

CHAPTER 177: NO ONE KNOWS HOW TO CALL !

Maya seeing that Cassian and Dantriel seemed to be about to attack Fay intervened saying.

– Our intention is not to fight, we just want your help.

– Well that is not what this man has implied. Cassian replied while throwing a murderous look at Fay.

Maya elbowed Fay in the ribs, he moaned from the pain.

– Ouch! That hurts.

Apologize Fay.

– Why should I apologize?

– For being so arrogant even when we are the ones who need help.

Fay turned his face away, the fairies were very arrogant and proud, although it was true that they were the ones who needed help, he did not expect to retract his words, he knew that they were not going to let go of their bearer of light so easily and that if it was not under threats they would not achieve anything.

- I do not plan to do it.

- Fay.

- Maya even if you know them, remember who you serve.

Maya couldn't forget it even if she wanted to, she sighed heavily and apologized on Fay's behalf.

"I'm sorry, he's not very polite. No fairy is."

Dantriel replied. Maya tried to do something to calm things down, otherwise she would end up returning with Fay's lifeless body.

"I'm truly sorry for the hostility Fay has shown, but we need help and April is the only one who can give it to us. "

Maya bowed her head in humility and said.

"Please lend us your help." Cassian spoke first. "

That decision is not in our hands, it should be April who decides what to do."

Fay opened her mouth again.

"You really have no choice, you must help us even if you don't want to."

Maya wanted to punch Fay in the face to shut him up once and for all, he was only making things worse. Cassian ignored her comment and said to Maya who still had her head down.

_ It will be better if we talk about this tomorrow morning, when Abril and Alessandro are present.

Cassian deepens his hand towards Maya.

– Let's rest, today we can't do anything else, Abril wasn't feeling very well, so I couldn't talk to her even if they demand it. Maya looked at Fay, he answered.

– I guess there's no other option, do what you want, I'll go sleep over there.

Maya took Cassian's hand, both left Dantriel's tent and headed to Cassian's tent, upon entering Maya felt the need to apologize again.

_I'm sorry.

You have nothing to apologize for.

Still, I... Cassian took Maya's face in his hands and said.

– None of this is your fault Maya, so don't blame yourself, you must be tired, let's go rest.

Okay.

They both lay down on the small bed in the tent. I thought being a prince means you have a bigger bed.

The one in the big bed is my brother, you are a prince without rights, remember?

– It's true, I had forgotten, you are a duke now.

– Yes, although the truth is that I like it to be small, so we can be closer together.

Cassian pressed his hard, firm body against her back, he felt his warmth and his soft breathing made her wish that this moment would never end, but they also made her feel guilty. Maya felt like she was betraying everyone by talking about April, but she hadn't been able to help but talk about her, the queen made her come every day to have tea with her and made her talk about her life, at one point she asked her how she had met the human prince, she told her the story of how she had met Cassian and tried not to talk about April omitting some things, but the queen was someone very perceptive and realized that she was not telling her everything, the queen forced her to tell the whole story, without omitting anything, the magic that tied her to her forced her to say everything even when she didn't want to. When Maya had mentioned April and what she could do, the queen showed great interest. When they were attacked and the queen saw that they couldn't win, she had sent Fay to find April, when Maya had found out she did whatever was necessary to be allowed to accompany Fay, at first the queen had been reluctant but when she had engaged with Fay she agreed to let her go, but not before ordering her to return, Maya felt her words like chains, she knew that even if she wanted to she wouldn't be able to stay.

She turned around to face Cassian, she stayed a moment contemplating his face and then said.

Although I wished it with all my heart I don't think we would be like this again.

Cassian stroked her hair gently as if he were touching a delicate object and was afraid of breaking it.

I don't plan on letting you go a second time, I would go crazy if I did.

– Let's not talk about it now, we said goodbye abruptly, I want to enjoy this moment.

– Are you going to leave?

Maya wanted to say no, that she would stay with him, but as always the truth came out of her mouth unintentionally. Yes, I must return to the land of the fairies, it is an order from the queen and her orders are like shackles that drag me back, even though I hate it I must do what she wants.

– There must be a way for her to let you go, I will give her whatever she asks me, I will do whatever it takes for her to give you back your freedom.

-I don't think she will let me go.

– The fairy queen likes exchanges a lot, I'm sure I'll find something to get her attention.

– I guess we can try.

Maya answered as she snuggled into his arms, she didn't know if she could ever regain her freedom, but she wanted to believe that she would, that she would be free again to be with her beloved.

That night Maya slept happily in Cassian's arms, the next day when she woke up the first thing she saw was Cassian's sleeping face, she was happy to be like this with him, happy like she hadn't been in a long time.

Cassian woke up, hugged her tightly, breathed in the scent of her neck and said.

Good morning. Good morning.

Fay entered the tent without knocking, seeing them still in bed she said.

-Do you plan to stay the day in that bed?

They both got up, and said in one voice.

-Don't you know how to knock?

-Don't you know how to get up early?

Apparently fairies have no education. Cassian said as he gave her a murderous look.

– You are very annoying Fay.

-Don't waste your time, remember why we came, stop playing with your human lover.

Ethan entered the store without knocking, just like Fay had done. He looked furious, although it was not clear who he was knocking on. Yes, Cassiano and Fay saw them both the same way, as if he wanted to kill them.

Cassiano growled.

Seriously! Nobody knows how to knock before entering!

– Sophia isn't going anywhere.

-Sofia?

– April, she's not going anywhere. Ethan shouted as he corrected himself.

Alessandro and April entered with Dantriel, the same way Fay and Ethan had entered. Cassian felt invaded, it seemed that nobody knew how to knock before entering.
