CHAPTER 188: THE BEAUTY OF THE LAND OF FAIRIES

April stared at the entrance that Fay had opened to the land of fairies, it looked beautiful and shiny, so much so that she felt drawn to touch it. Alessandro brought her out of her thoughts by holding her hand.

_Aby be very careful.

_Don't worry, I'll be. Alessandro hugged her and said.

_Come back soon, remember that I'll be waiting for you.

_Remember not to do anything reckless, think before you act.

_Think before you act, that's clear to me.

_And if you're in danger, don't act brave, run away if necessary.

_I won't.

April stood on her tiptoes, kissed him and said.

_My priority will always be to return to your side, I won't do anything that will kill me.
Alessandro gave her a soft kiss and replied.

_I truly hate having to let you go.

_I also hate having to separate from you just now that we're back together, that's why I'll try to finish as soon as possible and when I get back we could start creating a child, don't you think?

_Really?

_Of course, I've already broken the last seal so we don't have to worry about that anymore, we'll finally be able to have children and have a family.

Wouldn't you like that?

Alessandro hugged Abril tightly, so much that she felt like Alessandro was crushing her. She was happy.

_I'd love that, so don't take long I want to start working on making a baby.

Fay began to give instructions.

_This portal will take us directly to the land of fairies, when we get to the other side they will be careful with what they touch and what they eat, especially with the last thing.

They all nodded.

_If everything is clear now let's go.

Fay crossed the portal, Ethan and Dantriell were next, April followed after, followed by Maya, when it was Cassian's turn, Alessandro told him.

_Cas, take care of April for me and make sure you don't do anything stupid.

_You don't have to say it, you were already thinking about doing it.

Before crossing the portal, Cassian looked at his brother and thanked him.

_Lessan thank you for having accepted the alliance with the fairies, I know it wasn't easy for you since you were forced to let April go even when you didn't want to.

_You don't have to thank me for that, it was actually April who asked for this alliance, I only have to respect her will.

_Still, thank you.

Cassian crossed the portal and it closed behind him, that tree became normal again. Alessandro touched the trunk of the tree and said.

_Come back safe and sound my love, I'll be waiting for you.

As she crossed the portal, April blinked for a moment under the intense sunlight, admiring how beautiful the sky, the trees, and even the grass beneath her feet looked. In the land of fairies, everything looked brighter and seemed to have more color.

Maya stood next to her, breathing deeply, the smell of the air of the land of fairies filling her nose and mouth.

Even though she had been in that place against her will, she couldn't deny how beautiful and wonderful that place was.

_Is it beautiful here?

_Yes.

_Although it's also dangerous so be careful.

_When Cassian reached the other side, Maya was where he found himself.

_Are you okay?

_Yes, are you okay?

_Maya wished she could lie at that moment, but she ended up spitting out the truth.

_No.

_Cassian took Maya's hand, she could see the worry reflected on his face.

_Maya, what's wrong? Does something hurt? _

Maya didn't want to answer his question so before he finished spitting out the truth she gave him a kiss on the lips and said.

_It doesn't hurt anything.

Unable to lie, Cassian knew that Maya wasn't lying, but there was still something that bothered him, Maya didn't seem to be very well. He was going to ask her again when Fay said.

_Come on, the queen already knows that we have arrived, she is waiting for us. Maya pulled Cassian's hand to get him to move and said.

_Come on, it is not good to make the queen wait, she hates it and it makes her angry.

_How do you know?

_I have been with her for a long time, I know more or less what she is like. As they walked through the beautiful forest, Cassian couldn't help but say.

_Even though they are at war, this place seems to be very quiet. Maya looked at Fay as if seeking his approval before speaking, he nodded and she began to say.

_The battle is taking place in another space-time. _What is that?

_It's here but at the same time it's not.

_Your answer is even more ambiguous than the previous one.

_Well, it's something difficult to explain and even more to understand. In reality, Maya didn't quite understand how it worked either, although it had been explained to her several times, that was something she had never been able to fully understand.

_Let's say it's the queen's magic, she can handle time as she pleases, that's why time here passes differently, she's using that power to hold back the war and its attacks, but I don't think it can remain that way Forever.

_So the war hasn't started yet.

_Of course it has, only right now the war is in a kind of lethargy.

They arrived at a small clearing, there were several winged horses, of different colors, lilac, yellow, soft pink, turquoise, white and brown. Their fur looked soft and silky, their feathers radiant and fluffy. April was the first to approach, she was someone very curious by nature and couldn't help but want to touch them.

When she was about to touch the muzzle of a white horse, Ethan grabbed her hand stopping her and said.

_Don't touch them, it can be dangerous Sophia.

After saying that, there was an awkward silence between them. Ethan continued to confuse her with his mother and at some point, April began to feel that Ethan trapped her even more as Sophia, forgetting that she was April, the woman he had loved so much, was not her.

Maya tried to destroy that awkward moment and said.

_Winged horses don't like to be touched lightly so don't touch them recklessly.

Maya tore a branch from a bush, offered it to one of the horses and waited for him to be the one to approach first, when the horse started eating Maya said.

_But if you let them be the first to approach there will be no problem.

April did the same thing that Maya had done, when one of the horses approached her voluntarily she was very surprised and said to him.

_You were right!

_She's liked you, she'll surely let you ride her.

Ethan was nearby, hearing that he replied. _You're crazy! Those beasts are dangerous.

Maya caressed her horse's nose and said.

_If you don't want to ride them or not that's your problem, but you'll have to travel these lands on foot alone if you don't and you might even end up getting lost so think about what you want to do.

CHAPTER 189: THE FREEDOM TO FLY

April was amazed by the fairy kingdom, wherever she saw beauty, Maya and the others insisted that this place was dangerous, but no matter how much April looked, she couldn't understand why. While she was caressing the fur of her winged horse, Maya approached her and said.

_I'll teach you to ride it, it's not that difficult, you'll see.

Ethan jumped again.

_That's dangerous, I'll go with her.

That's not possible, she can only ride one at a time.

But...

_Calm down, she'll be fine.

Dantriell put his hand on Ethan's shoulder and said.

_Calm down, don't exaggerate things.

Maya taught April the correct way to ride the winged horse and how to hold on when it took flight. Cassian had heard Maya's explanation so he did the same. They all mounted their winged horses, Ethan was the only one left.

Are you planning to walk the rest of the way?

Ethan didn't answer. Maya thought. Why is he so stubborn?

_Hey let me tell you that there is a long way to the land of fairies, at a brisk pace it will take you half a day and that's even if you don't get lost, so why don't you stop being so stubborn and ride one of these horses.

Follow new episodes on the

I don't like being in the air depending on a fierce and wild animal that could let me fall at any moment.

- Are you afraid of heights? Ekme I didn't say that.

Then stop complaining and get on one of those horses before they leave, they won't be in this meadow all day and we won't wait for you to decide to ride one of those horses either.

Ethan seemed reluctant to ride one of the horses, April told him while caressing her horse's back.

_I don't think these horses are as dangerous as you think, why don't you try to get close to them?

Okay, I'll try.

Ethan answered, although he still didn't seem very convinced to do it, April wondered if there was any other reason why he refused to ride one of those horses. Ethan pulled a branch from one of the bushes and brought it close to one of the horses. Several of the horses moved away from him, but one came close, a brown horse. He began to eat from his hand; Ethan stayed very still. April told him.

Try to touch it.

Ethan caressed the horse's nose and to his surprise it let him. He looked at April, she told him with a sweet smile.

You see, they're not as fierce as you thought. That one seems to like you, I'm sure he'll let you ride it.

Ethan stared at her beautiful smile and for a moment it was as if he was seeing Sophia, her smile, expressions and her physique were almost identical, that's why he used to confuse them, but he knew that that was not his beloved Sophia but his daughter. He had been repeating it over and over again, but still he couldn't stop his heart from racing every time he saw her, every time he heard her voice and saw her smile.

Ethan got on the horse, everyone managed to rise to the sky and it was at that precise moment that Ethan recorded the real reason why he had refused to ride those winged horses. He hated heights, he felt as if his stomach suddenly dropped and rose again.

Damn it, why I let myself be convinced to do this crazy thing...

The higher that horse went, the more afraid Ethan felt, he clung tightly to the horse's neck and closed his eyes wishing to return to solid ground. He opened his eyes for a moment to see how April was doing. He was terrified and felt like his heart was going to jump out of his mouth, but for April it was the opposite.

She seemed to be enjoying the flight on the back of her horse.

As she soared through the skies, for the first time in her life, April felt what true freedom was. She loved the feeling of freedom, that lack of limits, of barriers, that fierce joy she felt while flying. The wind blowing back her reddish hair and caressing her cheeks, she wished she could stay that way forever.

She liked seeing every detail of the landscape, how great it was to see everything from above, to see the world from another perspective, to forget everything she had lived until then, the pain, the problems, the suffering and to live in the moment. She was intoxicated by these new sensations that were emerging inside her, she was intoxicated by the feeling of freedom that being able to fly gave her.

I wish I could stay this way forever.

She thought as she stretched out her arms feeling the air that enveloped her arms, the roar of the wind and the soft rays of the sun that warmed her, she was so absorbed in all that that she didn't hear Maya's screams that said.

_April, don't do that, you could fall, hold on.

It wasn't until after several screams that she heard them and held on to the horse correctly, for a moment she had made the others have a bad time, they were scared that she was going to fall, but even if it was selfish, she didn't care, she actually longed to do it again, but she didn't want to make the others go crazy so she limited herself to looking at the landscape, the mountains, the valleys, the trees full of color and the flowers that adorned them, the meadows covered by grass that seemed soft and pleasant like a carpet, that beautiful landscape that fell in love and enchanted her heart.

CHAPTER 190: THE LIFE I WANT TO LIVE

From the distance April glimpsed a tall, large marble building that rose wonderfully between the hills, the closer they got she could see small colorful houses. It was a wonderful sight, full of beautiful flowers.

Maya shouted. We've arrived, we have to descend.

They landed in a small meadow next to a stream, there were several fairies, some had green, blue skin, some did not look human, but there were others that did, although they all had a certain beauty that enchanted. They approached with fruits, flowers and some branches with colorful leaves, April thought that all those things were being offered to them, but she soon realized that it was not like that, they were for the winged horses.

The fairies passed by her side ignoring them or dedicating an expression of contempt to them, April wondered why those had seemed to hate them or if it had just been her imagination.

Maya seemed to decipher her expression and said.

_ The winged horses are very dear and precious by the fairies, that is why they have come to receive them, the humans on the other hand, are not very popular here.

_ I already realized that. Fay began to walk towards the palace and said. Follow me, we must greet the queen.

April had heard a lot about the queen, so much that she was curious to know what she was like.

Fay took them to the marble palace, the guards who were stationed at the doors let them pass without asking questions. Further on she met a young fairy, short, with smoky hair and gray eyes, she bowed to April and said.

_ Hello, I am Narim, welcome to the land of the fairies human queen, elf princess, follow me, I will guide you to where the fairy queen is.

The young fairy walked in front of them, guiding them to a large room with a glass dome that let the sun in in torrents, that place was decorated with vines and beautiful flowers.

That was the queen's throne room, that place brought back bad memories to Cassian.

The queen was sitting on her throne, to April she seemed like a beautiful woman with an ethereal beauty, but someone cold.

Everyone except April bowed to the fairy queen. So she also shows her dignity as a queen. The fairy queen thought as she watched the life I want to live.

But that couldn't be further from the truth. April was not used to bowing to anyone, not only because of her title but also because of her ignorance, that was the real reason why she hadn't bowed to the fairy queen.

The fairy queen began to speak.

_ I'm glad you've finally arrived, I've been waiting for you for a long time elf princess, April Venobich, or should I call you queen of the humans?

You can call me by my name, there's no need to use any title okay.

The fairy queen stood up and approached April to get a better look, after examining her carefully with her gaze she said.

Your resemblance to your mother is admirable. Did you know her? As it is, she came to visit me from time to time, it's a shame she fell in love with a human, that was her downfall.

April wanted to refute what the queen had been saying, but she couldn't, because deep down she knew it was true.

_ I don't like to beat around the bush so I'll be direct, bless the weapons of my soldiers, I have a war to win.

_ Since you're direct I will be too, I will bless your weapons, but you must give me something in return.

_ It seems fair to me, what is it that you wish? I wish for you to free Maya.

The queen had directed her gaze at Maya. When their eyes met Maya knew what the queen's answer would be.

No. Cassian and April were very surprised by the queen's answer, but Maya did not seem surprised, although deep down she had wished to receive a positive answer.

You can ask for anything else that is within my reach, except Maya. Cassian said very upset. Why not? I have my reasons.

Cassian took out the key to the door of Hades that the fairy queen had given him before and said to her.

If what you want is your key it will be returned to you, but she freed Maya.

The queen seeing that Cassian had the key to the door of Hades, frowned, she looked truly upset and with a serious tone she said to him.

_ You are a complete idiot, how did it occur to you to bring that key back to my lands.

This key was in your possession, now I return it to you and give freedom to the woman I love.

_ No, she is not going anywhere and you should go where you came from with that key.

The queen began to use her magic to open a portal and surely the guards who were there.

Get this idiot human out of my lands. April blocked their way and said. Enough, we have come to help and this is how he treats us.

_ The key that this stupid human prince carries is something very dangerous, that is precisely what the person who has started a war against me has come looking for, excuse me if my treatment is not the most cordial, but he must go.

Casiano responded. I do not plan to leave here without Maya. That will not happen, she is a fairy and must live as such. Maya took out a small dagger that she carried in her belt and shouted. Enough.

The guards stood in front of the queen to protect her, the queen stared at her and asked very irritated.

- What do you think you're doing Maya? Put down that dagger. Maya put the dagger to her neck and said.

_ If I can't be free to live as I wish, with the person I love, then I'd rather die.

Cassian was scared to see what Maya was doing and said.

_ Maya drop that dagger, I don't want you to hurt yourself, we'll find a way to...

There's no other way Cassian, she'll never let me go and after being with you again, I realized that I can't live without you anymore, so...

_ Maya put down that dagger.

The queen ordered forcefully, those words were like chains that forced Maya to do her will, she threw the dagger aside and fell to her knees holding her chest, she seemed to be affected.

Cassian ran to her side, took her in his arms; with great anger he shouted at the queen. What have you done to her?

I have only made her see reason, guards take her to her room.

Cassian clung to Maya to prevent her from being taken away, he wanted to use his magic, but it was useless, just like the first time he had been in that place, his magic had disappeared.

When one of the guards tried to touch Maya, silver flames surrounded Maya and Cassian.

April could still use her magic, she screamed loudly calling the queen's attention, she seemed perplexed.

_ Leave them alone, I think I have not been clear before, so I will repeat it once more, free Maya and leave Cassian alone, if you do not want to have one more enemy to face.

- Are you threatening me? No, I am simply stating the terms, you choose what you want. You do not know who you are messing with. April raised her face high and replied.

_ I say the same, even though we are in your kingdom right now, you seem to have forgotten that we are part of the royal family and you have also forgotten that it is you who needs our help and not the other way around.

The queen's face turned red with anger, she looked like a boiling pot, April on the other hand was firm and self-assured.

_ I can't give you the girl.

_ Then I can't give you my help.

CHAPTER 191: A QUEEN'S PROMISE

The queen was furious, Maya was her descendant whom she had recently recovered, someone who looked a lot like her daughter who had died a long time ago and she was about to lose her again, she played the last card she had left.

If you refuse to help me they will know of your existence, I personally advised them to know of your existence and I assure you that when that happens you will no longer be able to live among humans. April responded without any fear or hesitation.

Well do it, I don't care.

Don't you love your human husband? Do you really not care about having to separate from him? Of course not, but I do not intend to let anything or anyone separate me from the man I love, I do not care if that leads me to a war.

You are a fool.

_ If I have already stated my demands, Maya's freedom or our help, what would you choose?

The queen had nothing left to bargain with, plus she was running out of time, her magic was running out, she wasn't going to be able to keep delaying the war any longer; the only thing she could do was accept April's demands.

_ Okay, I'll free her, but only if that's what she really wants and it will be after we've won the war against your sister.

_ How can I be sure that you will keep your word?

_ I always keep what I promise.

_ Free her before.

_ No, I'll do it later, otherwise how can I be sure that you will help me.

April didn't know what to answer, the queen smiled and said.

_ It's obvious that none of us trust each other, but unlike you I can't lie, if I say that I will keep my word it's because I will, but I can't say the same about you so we'll do it my way.

April exchanged glances with Cassian and Maya, both of them nodding.

Okay, then it will be done your way, we will help you and in exchange you will give Maya her freedom back.

I give you my word, I will free Maya after this war is over, as long as she wants it, but I do not want the prince in my kingdom, he must leave.

_No, he stays. _It is a danger to everyone that he and the key he has brought with him remain in this place.

He will not go anywhere.

_I hope you do not have to regret your decision.

The queen answered as she turned around and began to walk away.

_Fay April to the armory and have her bless our weapons. The queen ordered before leaving the throne room.

April approached Maya who was still on the floor looking tired.

_Are you okay?

_Don't worry, I'm fine.

Cassian was hugging Maya and told her.

_ Don't try against your life again.

Maya put her hand on Cassian's and said.

I'm sorry I didn't think very well about what I was doing.

Maya I love you and even if we couldn't be together I could bear it if I know you're okay, but a world without you, that I couldn't bear, your life and mine are one, so next time think very carefully about what you do.

Fay approached them and addressed April first.

We must go to the armor, Maya you must go rest, you don't look well, Cassian spoke.

April should rest a little before ...

That will not be possible, the queen has already given her order and as you know the demands requested is something that she would not have given so easily.

You don't have to worry about me Cassian, I'm fine, I'm full of energy so don't worry, you take care of Maya, I'll go find them when this is all over.

But, I promised my brother that I would take care of you, how could I let you go alone.

Ethan told him.

She won't go alone, we will accompany her.

Cassian didn't trust the elves much, but even though Maya said she was fine, her face reflected the opposite. He had no choice but to accept than to exclude the elves from protecting her.

_ Okay, I'll leave her in your hands, take good care of her.

Fay began to walk in front, April, Ethan and Dantriell followed behind him. After that Narim approached and said to Cassian.

_ Maya needs to rest, the queen's orders said with such force not only affect our body, but also our souls and the firmer the order, the worse it will be for whoever receives it.

Maya seemed to be barely conscious, Cassian took Maya in his arms and said to Narim.

Show me the way.

Fay took April to a long, tall building, which was next to the palace, when she opened the doors April was very surprised to see the large number of weapons that were in that place.

You must bless with your magic you take the weapons. Ethan asked April.

Blessing a weapon is heavy and tiring or since you must infuse a large amount of magic, doing it with so many weapons would be very dangerous.

You don't worry, I'll be fine, since I broke the last seal that held back my magic, my power does not seem to have an end, I'll be fine and if that were not the case I hope you catch me before I faint, Fay said.

Enough talk, start doing your job, we have no more time to waste.

April stood in the center of the room, closed her eyes and began to spread her magic like a torrent throughout the room, the weapons began to glow slightly. April blessed each weapon and unlike when she had done the same to bless Alessandro's armor, this time she was not tired at all, the magic flowed freely through her body, she smiled at Ethan and said.

You see, doing something like this is no longer a problem for me, I am strong now.

CHAPTER 192: USING HEALING MAGIC

Ethan and Danriel were left with their mouths open as they saw April had blessed that entire arsenal in a moment, they had had the opportunity to see how the weapons were blessed, but it was not even close to how April had done it, one of the most talented elven princesses in the elven kingdom, she could only bless one weapon at a time and the number of weapons she blessed was limited.

They both looked at April and asked themselves the same question. How strong was April and how much power did she hold?

Fay walked over to examine the weapons, all of them had a slight glow of light on them, he asked.

-Is that all?

-Yes, the weapons have already received the blessing of light, you can tell by the slight glow they give off.

Ethan replied. And how can I know that they are effective?

-You can go to the battlefield, look for a monster born from darkness and try it yourself. Fay got upset with Ethan's answer, she took a long sword made of ivory, walked to the door and said.

-These weapons better be useful . -Maybe you can use them ... _ I know you did everything in your power, you even brought the key to the gate of Hades, that was reckless, I'm surprised your brother allowed you to bring it with you. _ Actually my brother doesn't know that I brought it with me. - Has he stolen them? Technically the key is mine so he hasn't stolen it. In short, he has stolen it. _ Let's say I borrowed it, I'll return it when we get back, because you'll come back with me. I still can't believe the queen agreed to free me. There's something I can't understand, why did she refuse to free you so much? Because I'm a descendant of hers, that's why she was willing to give you the key to the gate of Hades, because for her I am more valuable. - What? I'm sorry I didn't tell you before. How long have you known?

_ Since recently, Fay told me, that was why he got so involved between us, he saw that what I felt for you was not temporary and that is why he wanted to push us away.

-So you are his granddaughter?

_I'm not very sure, that we really are but I suppose that his daughter was my grandmother or great-grandmother and that makes us family.

_The queen said that she would let you go as long as you wanted it, do you want to go with me or do you want to stay?

Maya gave him a soft kiss on the lips and said.

_Fool, a while ago I was willing to die if I couldn't be with you, what makes you think that I will stay here, the fact that I have discovered that the queen and I share blood ties does not change anything.

-Really?

_I have left my brother and my father before to go after you, the queen and I are not that close, it is obvious that I will choose you.

_I can't wait to leave this place, it makes me nervous to be here.

_ I'm nervous too, even though the queen has agreed to let me go, she still doesn't convince me.

We only managed to convince her thanks to April, I didn't imagine she was so stubborn.

_ Yes, I was also surprised, even though she is sweet, kind and gentle, she can be quite strong and persistent when she wants to.

The sound of the door being knocked at that moment interrupted them, Cassian opened the door, it was April.

- How is Maya? She's better, do you want to come in? I don't want to bother you. Don't worry, you're not bothering me, come in. When April entered, she saw that Maya's face was better, she approached the bed and asked her.

_ How did you feel? I'm fine, the pain has almost completely disappeared.

- Do you want me to use my healing magic? It's not necessary, you must be tired, you were going to bless the weapons, right? I've already done it and I'm fine. Are you sure? Yes, I'm fine.

April took Maya's hand and infused her magic into it. Maya felt the pain that the queen had caused her with her order disappear completely.

_Thank you, I'm fine now. You're welcome. _Cassian approached and asked. How did the blessing of the weapons go?

_I've already done it but the fairies are a bit distrustful, they've been a bit hesitant, they want to test the weapons to make sure they've done it right.

_And now what will we do? For now we'll wait to see what they say.

Do you think they want us to fight in this war? _Maya answered.

_Fay saw what April did during the war, he must have told the fairy queen, I'm sure she'll have to help Aby.

_That wasn't mentioned before, she was only supposed to bless the weapons. That was before April released all her power and became so powerful.

_Well, we have to stop assuming things, we'll find out later, there's no point in worrying about it now.

Narim knocked on the door and entered without waiting to be told that he could enter, she turned to April and said.

_ Human queen, I have prepared a room for you, let me guide you please. April did not want to continue interrupting Maya and Cassian's time, she said. Good, so I can rest a little, I'll see you guys later. When April passed in front of Cassian, he said to her. If you need anything or if something were to happen, do not hesitate to tell me. If I need something or something happens to me, you will be the first to know.

CHAPTER 193: BY FEERA

After being taken to a beautiful room, decorated with colorful flowers and fine rugs, Narin handed her a set of clothes, they were brown linen pants, a green tunic and a gold ribbon to tie around the waist.

Please wear those clothes tomorrow and do not leave the room until further notice.

April hated that they limited where she could go, she asked a little annoyed.

- Am I your prisoner?

-Okay, I won't go out.

After Narin left the room, April had completely hidden, but the sky shone with great beauty, the stars in that place seemed to be much closer and shine more intensely, the sky there showed other colors, dark blue, purple and light pink touches, it looked like the image of a beautiful painting, an image that could not be real and was only in the painter's mind.

The fairy lands were such a beautiful place that for a moment April wondered if it was real. She looked into the distance, nothing was seen, but she could feel a strange force full of hatred and pure evil coming from that place.

That must be the place where the army her brothers were leading was. Suddenly a question invaded her mind.

If her father had died, why were her brothers still fighting to get the key to the gate of Hades?

April sighed, she didn't know what her brothers were thinking and it was useless to try to find out. She went back into the room and took off the uncomfortable dress she was wearing, leaving her in a light white nightgown. Ever since she had arrived in the land of fairies she had felt suffocated by the thick winter clothes she was wearing, since the climate there was much warmer than in Cosset's kingdom.

The bed was soft and pleasant, the sweet scent of flowers filled the room, which made her feel sleepy. It didn't take long for her to fall asleep. That night April dreamed of a girl again. It was a beautiful baby and she was carrying her in her arms. The next morning, when she remembered her dream, she wondered if those dreams represented her desire to have a child with Alessandro.

Narin knocked on the door and said.

- Good morning, are you awake?

April got out of bed and answered.

Narim was carrying a jug of water, he emptied it into a bowl near the table and said to her.

- I brought water for you to wash yourself.

Another fairy came in a little while later, she had green skin and brown hair, she was carrying a tray with fruit, cookies, bread, jam and what looked like orange juice.

- And here is your breakfast.

Another fairy with dark skin, purple eyes and purple hair came in a little while later with a large jug, she went to the room next door, April wondered what that fairy was carrying. Narin seemed to read her expression and answered her question.

They are currently preparing your bath, do you want to take your bath before breakfast? April was very hungry since she had not had dinner the day before, so she shook her head and answered.

I prefer to have breakfast first.

The pink-haired fairy arranged everything that was on the tray on a table next to the window, after washing her face April ate breakfast until she was satisfied. Then she went to the bathroom, the fairies helped her with the bath and with her clothes even though she insisted it wasn't necessary.

April loved the fairies' clothes, they were light and comfortable. The fairies had braided her hair with golden thread, that was nice because she wouldn't have to bother her hair on her face. When she finished Narim said:

Please come with us.

When she left April saw that they weren't going to Maya's room, so she asked:

- Where are you taking me?
- The queen requires her presence.

At that moment April understood why they had taken it upon themselves to make her look beautiful.

- And what about the others? Have they also been summoned by the queen?

Yes, they should already be there.

April was a little calmer knowing that she was going to meet with the others.

When she arrived at the throne room April saw that the queen was dressed in clothes similar to theirs and that she had her hair braided with the same golden thread although she also had some pearls decorating her hair. The queen stood up when she saw April, Fay who was next to her passed her the sword, it was one of the weapons she had blessed the day before, she recognized it by the slight shine it had. The queen began to say.

You have done a good job, are the weapons you have blessed effective against the monsters born of darkness.

- Now that you have verified that I have done my job, can we go?

No, I want your help on the battlefield.

That was not the deal

-I never said that I only wanted you to bless my weapons, what I asked for was your help, I never specified for what.

Ethan jumped saying.

-Your majesty, she is not a warrior, we will help in her war, she can return to the human kingdom.

-I will not deny that your help is important, but I prefer the help of the one who finished off King Venobich and his army of monsters.

Ethan looked at Fay with great hatred and resentment. He ignored her gaze as if it had nothing to do with him.

The fairy queen turned to April.

I want you to fight alongside me on the battlefield.

-Can I refuse?

-Refusing is not an option.

No, she will not be on the battlefield. Cassian shouted, opposing the fairy queen.

April knew she could not continue to refuse the fairy queen's wishes since if she did, she would ultimately achieve nothing. The day before she had pressured her enough and continuing to do so would end up achieving the opposite effect.

-Okay, I will participate in this war.

- Cassian objected again.

- April can't do that, you promised Alessandro that you wouldn't do anything reckless.

- And I don't plan on doing it.

- April turned to the fairy queen.

- I'll go to the battlefield with you, but I won't be on the front line, I'll be as a healer tending to the wounded, if you don't like it then I won't go.

The queen agreed to what April was saying.

- Okay.

The queen began to move her hand and said. - Then we have to go, there's no more time to waste.

A blinding light covered them, when they opened their eyes, the landscape was completely different, they had left the beautiful palace for a tent made of linen fabric. Dantriell asked.

- Where are we?

The queen opened the tent, outside there were more tents like that and there were soldiers walking back and forth carrying weapons and moving boxes.

- We are on the battlefield.

Everyone left the tent, the queen told them.

- Follow me.

They followed her to the edge of the camp, in the distance the enemy army could be seen. April shuddered to feel all the evil and darkness that was in that place, the queen told her.

- I have been using my magic to contain them, but my barrier is breaking, it will only resist one last attack and it will break into thousands of pieces.

April could see how the fairy queen's army took their place on the battlefield, all who were added to the ranks carried weapons with the blessing of light.

- This war is about to begin. The queen looked at Cassian and said.

Try to stay away from the battlefield, you have been carrying the key to the gate of Hades, your body emanates a certain aura like the key, so all the monsters will go for you.

That's why my sister didn't believe you when you said you didn't have the key.

Yes, I had that damn key for a long time, its aura is still in me, your sister could feel it, that's why she didn't believe me when I said I didn't have the key anymore and she ordered Fay.

Give me my sword and find me a crim.

Fay passed her the sword and ran away. April asked surprised at the sudden change in the queen's attitude.

- What's wrong?

- They prepare to attack.

April wondered how the queen knew that, she looked where the queen did, she saw in the distance a shadowy silhouette that was in the middle of that crowd of monsters. It was thin and feminine, it seemed to be holding a long rod, she raised it high, pointed at it and that army of monsters began to move at a great pace, they headed towards them.

Fay returned with a horse that looked somewhat strange and was green, the queen got on it and went to the front of her army, she unsheathed her sword, raised it high and shouted in a loud voice.

-for Feéra.

The fairy soldiers prepared to defend themselves from those monsters that were heading towards them like an avalanche of darkness, sharp teeth and claws.

CHAPTER 194: YOU ACT LIKE A TRUE VENOBICH

The battle between fairies and monsters was brutal, April dedicated herself to treating the wounded with Cassian and Maya, but although they were far away they could hear the roar of the battle.

After treating several wounded April left the tent as she headed to the other wing, she felt an intense gaze on her, as if someone was watching her.

She looked frantically around, although there were many fairies going back and forth, it didn't seem like anyone was watching her, but she still felt that intense gaze that gave her chills.

Cassian seeing her so nervous asked her.

- Is something wrong?

I don't know, maybe it's just my imagination.

- Tell me what's going on?

- It's just that I feel like someone is watching me.
- There are many people here, it could be anyone.
- That's why I told you not to pay attention, I think I told you it's my imagination, I'm very nervous, I never got along with my brothers, I hope I never have to see them again.
- I also hope that this war ends soon and we can go back to living our lives.
- Yes, I wish the same.

The battle between the fairies and the monsters lasted longer than expected, two weeks passed in which the army fought fiercely, but the army of monsters continued without diminishing.

April was healing a fairy with blue skin and white hair, when the queen approached her and said.

- I need to talk to you.

April was a little shocked that the queen went to look for her herself, while following her she wondered what the queen wanted to talk to her about.

Upon arriving at the queen's tent, April was very surprised to see who was inside the tent. It was her brother Enzo, when he saw her he said.

- Hello little sister, it's been a long time since I last saw you.

Without thinking twice April created a fireball in both hands and prepared to attack her brother.

What are you doing here Enzo?

April looked at the queen with a reproachful expression on her face and asked.

- What does this mean?
- Your brother has come to talk.

- I don't care what he has to say, so for me he would be leaving already if he didn't want me to turn him into ashes.

- Wow, this is the first time I hear you speak like a Venobich, little sister.

April felt insulted by the mocking expression on her brother's face, she made a gesture to attack him but the queen stood in the middle blocking her attack.

Enough, why don't you let your brother speak before attacking him, if you don't like what he has to say, you can always kill him later.

- I would prefer that no one kills if possible.

April extinguished the flames that were in her hand and asked her brother with great suspicion.

- What do you want Enzo?

- I want an alliance with the fairies and with the kingdom of Cosset. April laughed when she heard her brother speak.

- But what kind of joke is this?

- It's not a joke, I'm very serious.

- That's impossible

April rekindled the flames in her hand and answered.

- Then the conversation has come to an end.

- Wait, you won't ask why.

- The truth is that why didn't interest me in the least.

- Our sister always hated you for how weak you were, I wonder what you would say if she heard you speak right now.

April looked at the queen and asked.

- I can kill him now.

Enzo laughed loudly and said.

I think our father would be proud if he heard you speak, you are a true Venobich, ruthless, cruel and cold.

- I am not like that, I am not like you.

- Well at this moment speaking so casually of killing me, you seem like it, but well let's stop wasting time, I can not promise a surrender because it is not me who leads the army of monsters, it is our sister Cira.

- Then I do not see why you come to ask for an alliance when it is obvious that you have no power, you are just useless.

- I promise a redemption for later when Cira is dead, I will submit to your kingdom and your stupid laws.

- So you've only come to betray our sister.

- Yes, because that being is no longer Cira.

- What?

- Cira is no longer human, she is a monster. -

It's the same as our father, she is being controlled by darkness itself.

- What nonsense are you talking about?

- Cira joined with a demon from the depths of Hades and is now a monster, our father lost his mind to darkness, but Cira is different, she is not being dominated by darkness as I told you before, so if you want to defeat her you're going to need me.

- Because I would need your help.

April pointed at Enzo with her hand covered in silver flames.

- I can handle our sister and you too.

- I don't think you'll be able to defeat Cira, she was already strong but now, she's even stronger.

- I am also stronger than you imagine, I am no longer the weak and fragile girl they liked to torture, now I am someone different, I can handle anyone who gets in my way, no matter who it is.

CHAPTER 195: AN UNBREAKABLE ALLIANCE

Enzo smiled amused, he had always hated his sister for being a useless softie, that she spoke with such determination seemed interesting to him.

- I understand that you have changed little sister and that you have great power, I have heard what you did with our father, how you defeated him, but are you sure you can win this war alone?

- I am not alone, don't you see it ?

- I have been on the other side of the battlefield, from there I have seen a tired army that is slowly weakening, our sister has an army of monsters, they are strong and expendable, if one dies cira brings out more monsters from the abyss, from my point of view you are not about to win, you are about to lose.

April was going to reply when the fairy queen spoke.

- What do you mean your sister is bringing out monsters from the abyss?

- If you want to know more you will have to accept an alliance with me.

Enzo turned to April.

- What will you do little sister? Will you accept this alliance with me and we will not become allies or will you refuse and we will continue being enemies?

April gritted her teeth hard, she hated that Enzo called her little sister, especially since she was older than him.

- I refuse to have anything to do with ... The fairy queen interrupted saying.

- I accept the alliance.

April opened her eyes wide at the queen's response.

Enzo is the enemy, she will not get anything good if she makes an alliance with him.

I have lived much longer than your human queen, I know when she won't, I always take the winning side.

- Enzo is not on the winning side but on the losing side.

- Do you plan to fight at the front on the battlefield?

- What?

- Answer my question honestly.

- I don't ...

- Then do not get involved in my decisions, he can give me important information to win this war, something that is truly valuable in times of war, you on the other hand can only heal my wounded as a healer would do, at this moment between you and him he is more valuable to me.

Enzo smiled at what the queen had told April, everything seemed to be going according to what he wanted, he wanted to dethrone his sister who was an evil being, which would kill him the moment he stopped being useful. But he knew he could not do it alone, his only hope was an alliance with the other kingdoms, even if that hurt his pride.

- We do not have much time, what do you plan to do sister?

Follow new episodes on the

- Will you accept the one created by Cira?

- And how can you be sure that it is not a trap created by Cira?

- You will have to trust me.

- The detail is that I do not.

- I understand your distrust, but at the moment you do not have many options just like I do not have them either.

- The queen said.

- There is a way to make sure that you will betray us Prince Enzo, we will seal this alliance with blood and it will be unbreakable.

- I accept.

April was surprised by her brother's quick response.

- I must return to camp before Cira realizes that I am not there, so let's do this quickly, what do I have to do?

The fairy queen took an ivory dagger from her weapons belt and made a small cut on her hand, the red blood fell on the ground.

- Do the same as me.

Enzo took the dagger that the queen was offering him and did the same as the queen, both bloods mixed when they reached the ground.

- It's your turn sister.

Enzo said as he passed her the dagger. April hesitated for a moment to take it, but did so anyway, cutting the palm of her hand and spilling her blood on the ground where the fairy queen's and her brother Enzo's were. The fairy queen began to say a few words.

- The blood alliance will not be broken until everyone present dies.
- April added.
- None will be able to attack the other, we will be in harmony. Enzo said.
- And none of those present will be able to kill the other, the punishment for breaking this sacred alliance will be death.

The blood that was on the ground began to join together and turned into a sphere that rose from the ground and became a red thread that wrapped around each of their right hands. That mark burned. April felt as if it were being burned into her skin. She moaned at the pain.

-Ahg!

The fairy queen didn't even flinch. She answered Enzo's question as she looked at the red mark around her wrist.

-This is proof of our alliance, a promise of peace between our kingdoms which is unbreakable. If anyone breaks this alliance and attacks the other, the mark will kill them.

At that moment, Enzo realized why the fairy queen was such a terrible person. She had taken advantage of that moment to create not only an alliance but to tie up any possible enemy.

Enzo turned to April.

-I suppose that with this you will stop doubting me. I can't betray you without dying.

-Now tell us what is this about Cira bringing monsters out of the abyss?

- In the kingdom of Laios there is a crack through which Cira is bringing out monsters, she said that crack led to the abyss or what you call, Hades.

Reina seemed extremely surprised by what Enzo was revealing.

- How did you find that crack?

- Apparently it was a very small crack that suddenly appeared in my kingdom, that was where the darkness that possessed father came out, but over time it has grown larger, enough to let out something more powerful, a high-ranking demon, one of Hades' generals, he is inside my sister and has taught her how to get monsters out of that place, although they are all low-level monsters, what that demon wants is to open the doors of Hades and let out even more horrors than you can imagine.

- Do you have any idea how we could defeat Cira? April asked since the fairy queen seemed out of her mind.

- And how can we defeat Cira?

- You will only have one chance to do it, if you want to beat her you will have to use the surprise method, go where she will be and attack when she least expects it.

- Do you want us to surprise Cira?

- Yes, to do that we will all have to cooperate, we need something that will catch Cira's attention to distract her and then I will open a portal and make you appear next to her, when I do you must give her the final blow little sister, you must finish off Cira before she can react.

In short, you want me to be the one who takes care of our sister.

I will not deny that that is true, but without my help I assure you that you will never be able to reach her, she is surrounded by too many monsters, I am the only one who will let me get close enough to open a door that will lead to her.

CHAPTER 196: A CREATURE FROM THE DEPTHS OF HADES

Enzo took out a pendant and a ruby ring from his pocket, the ring he gave to the fairy queen and the pendant to her sister.

-They are magical jewels, when they shine it will be the signal that I will give you to put our plan in motion, fairy queen when that happens you must create a good distraction to attract the attention of my sister Cira.

Enzo turned to April.

-When I see that Cira is distracted I will open a portal that will take you directly to where Cira is, you will not have much time so you will have to attack instantly.

Enzo stared at the ground for a moment, then said.

I must go before my sister notices that I am not there, I will fulfill my part of the plan, I hope you do too, little sister when you have Cira in front of you, kill her do not hesitate.

Enzo disappeared into one of the shadows of the store. Once alone Queen Hades told him.

Try to keep this alliance a secret from your friends.

Why? I think they have the right to know what's going on.

No, your friends are a real nuisance, if you talk to them about this alliance they will create a drama and this is not the best time for it.

Still I think...

The fairy queen interrupted her saying.

-In order to defeat your sister you will have to go to the battlefield, are you ready to face her?

Of her siblings, Cira was the one who had treated her the worst, she had always shown her pure hatred every time she saw her. Although memories of the past came to her mind when thinking about her and made her go through mistreatment, she forced herself to say.

-I am no longer someone weak and powerless, I am ready to face my sister.

-I hope so, otherwise we will all die there will be no future for the family.

-What?

-I'm busy, I have to go.

After the fairy queen left April wondered what she had meant with the last thing she had said, but her interest in that lasted little, there were still many wounded to treat, she could not afford to get lost in her thoughts.

April returned to the tent where the wounded were and began to heal him, when there were no wounded she felt as if all the accumulated fatigue came back at once. It was as if all her strength had gone, she was a little worried thinking that she was losing control of her magic, but then she realized that it was just tiredness, since she was in the land of the fairies she had not had a good rest, it was normal that her body began to claim her.

She lay back on one of the cots and closed her eyes for what seemed like a moment, but when she opened them again she discovered that it was another day, a heartbreaking scream was heard in the distance, it was so loud and annoying that she had to cover her ears. Cassian entered the tent and said to her.

- Are you finally awake?

- What have you been?

- Nothing good.

April got up in a hurry, which made her dizzy, Cassian grabbed her by the arm and asked.

- Are you okay?

Upon leaving the tent they headed to the edge of the camp, there were all the healers and doctors gathered, all looking into the distance. April squinted to see better. In the distance, a huge black stain as thick as ink, hissed and crawled across the battlefield, April felt a chill run through her body, despite the great distance that separated them, she could clearly feel all the evil and darkness that being held.

April's face was pale as a sheet of paper, Cassian put his hand on her shoulder and asked her repeatedly as April seemed to be in shock.

Follow new episodes on the

- Aby, what's wrong with you?....

Cassian had to shake her to get her to react.

- Aby answer me.

- That creature will kill them all.

- What?

- That's not just any monster, if we don't do something they'll all die.

- Calm down Aby, they're all fighting right now, the queen is with them, she has great power, they'll be fine.

- No Cassian, they won't be fine this time, my sister has released something that should never have come out of Hades, not even putting together all the monsters on the battlefield could they compare to all the evil and darkness emanating from that being, we must warn them.

- That day Maya had gone to the battlefield, Cassian stared into the distance in horror.

- Maya is on the battlefield right now, I need to go get her, Aby go away, this is too dangerous.

After saying that, Cassian ran out, he used his earth magic to get to the battlefield quickly, there everything was chaos, he looked for Maya with his eyes while a lot of monsters piled up around him.

Maya was with Ethan and Dantriell, fighting fiercely when she saw how the earth rose from the ground creating huge peaks, she recognized that magic, it was Cassian, but she wondered what he was doing there, since he was not supposed to be there, he should stay in the camp, behind the barrier that the fairy queen had created.

- Cassian is in trouble, we must help him.

- What is that idiot doing here? Ethan shouted as he impaled a monster with a spear.

- I don't know, but we should go help him, all the monsters seem to be after him.

- Dantriell said.

- I'll lead the way, let's go.

Ethan found it somewhat annoying to have to run to rescue the human prince in the middle of the battle, but he accompanied them anyway.

When they got to Cassian, Maya hugged him, he hugged her back, he felt relieved to see that she was okay.

- What are you doing here Cassian?

- Maya asked him.

- I...

- Ethan interrupted them saying.

- We're on the battlefield with thousands of monsters that seem to be after this idiot prince, this is not the best time for him to be flirting.

- Dantriell said.

- I agree with Ethan, Cassian, you should get out of here, you're only making things worse.

- We should all go.

- You're crazy, don't you see how difficult things are here.

Cassian pointed at the huge monster that was on the battlefield and with which the fairy queen was fighting.

That is not just any monster, April said that it came out of the depths of Hades and that if we do not flee, we will all die.

- Dantriell stared at that monster, it was huge, terrifying and undoubtedly emanated something sinister.

- Are you sure what you are saying?

- Even though April is far away, she was affected by all the darkness that monster has, she thought we should retreat.

Cassian the more time passed, the more monsters seemed to go towards them, Dantriell said.

- We must warn the others, but first you must leave, idiot prince, because of you all the monsters are not surrounding them.

Cassian took Maya in his arms, she got upset and said to him.

- What do you think you are doing?

- Getting you out of this damn place before things get worse.

After saying that, Cassian used his earth magic to propel himself and get out of that place. Ethan yelled as they walked away.

-Idiot prince, you shouldn't have taken Maya.

Ethan stood back to back with Dantriell and seeing the large number of monsters surrounding him he said.

-If I die because of that idiot prince, kill him.

-Dantriell swung his sword cutting everything in front of him and answered.

-That is if I survive.
