CHAPTER 197: BLACK FIRE

Enzo had stayed close to his sister Cira, waiting for her to be distracted. He had been staring at her for too long, she fixed her gaze on him and asked.

-Are you up to something brother?|

-Of course not, why do you ask?

- You've been watching me for a while, it's obvious that you're up to something.

- I'm not up to anything sister, I wouldn't dare do anything against you.

Cira laughed, as if he had said something funny and moved a little closer to him. Enzo could see the black aura that his sister emanated was something dark and wicked, he felt a chill run through his body and couldn't help but tremble. Cira scared him, but he still held her gaze.

- I don't know what you're up to, but I advise you to stop if you don't want to die, remember that you're alive because you're useful to me, so don't tempt me.

- I'm not up to anything sister, you're being paranoid.

- You're wrong, I'm not paranoid, just someone cautious.

Cira turned around when she heard a loud growl, she searched with her eyes, in the distance she could see the Fairy Queen attacking her monster, she frowned and with great annoyance said.

- That damn bitch is a nuisance, does she not plan to give up, what's more, that she already won this war.

Enzo was going to say something when suddenly Cira looked elsewhere, shortly after she took a great leap using the darkness to propel herself and headed to the battlefield, that took Enzo by surprise, he asked her what was happening.

He took his horse and followed her in a hurry, Cira was not heading towards where the Fairy Queen was, she headed somewhere else the same direction the monsters were taking, it was as if they were chasing something or someone.

There were two young people trying to escape from the monsters, Cira was faster and blocked their way with a wall of black flames, just before they crossed the barrier that protected the fairies' camp.

- Well, well, I think I found what I was looking for.

Cira approached the two young people who were on the ground.

-I thought I would have to turn this land into ashes to find what I came to look for, who would say I would find it on the battlefield.

Maya was unconscious, when she fell she had hit her head on a rock, Cassian crawled to where she was and took her in his arms, gently hit her cheek to bring her back to consciousness while saying.

- Maya, wake up, open your eyes, tell me you're okay.

Cira got a little closer to Cassian, he could feel that there was something dark and cold under the human skin of that young redhead, although that was the first time he saw her, by her appearance he could recognize her, that young woman was April's sister. Cira Venobich.

- If you give me the key to the gate of Hades that is in your possession, maybe I will let you live.

Cassian clung to Maya, while Cira spoke, he searched with his eyes for a way to escape, but the more time passed, the more monsters surrounded him.

- Don't even think about escaping, if you do I'll kill you and continue with what I planned, I'll look for the key to the door of Hades from the ashes.

- I don't have it.

- I already know, but you know where it is since the key has been in your possession, you can't hide the aura that the key gives off, because it has remained impregnated in your body.

- I don't...

Cira threw a black fireball that passed over Cassian and Maya, although it hadn't hit her, the heat emanating from that fire had burned her skin.

- Think carefully about what you're going to say, as you can see I'm not a very kind person, what's not useful to me I throw away.

Cassian tried to look for help, but there were only monsters around him.

Cira created another fireball in her hand and with a crooked smile she hit him.

- So, where's the key?

Enzo tried to get to where Cira was, but it was impossible, a multitude of monsters surrounded her and blocked his way. But from where he was he could see his sister, she seemed to be focusing all her attention on what was in front of her, she was distracted, that was the best time to attack.

Enzo used his magic to make April appear at that precise moment behind Cira, taking her by surprise.

April had been absorbed by a shadow, for a moment everything went dark and when she opened her eyes, the first thing she saw was Cassian holding Maya in his arms and her sister intimidating him with a black fireball she had in her hand. Without thinking twice, April threw a fireball at Cira, her silver flames caused a burn on her back, she screamed in pain.

April took advantage of the moment to go where Cassian and Maya were, and asked them.

- Are you okay?

Cassian was very surprised to see April since he hadn't seen her arrive, but since this was not the time to be stunned he replied.

- I'm fine, but Maya is not fine, she hit her head when we fell.

April put her hand on Maya's head and used her healing magic, she quickly opened her eyes. Cassian hugged her, relieved that she was okay.

Cira seeing that the person who had attacked her was April, felt her blood boil with anger, she stood up and a distorted voice came out of her throat. -

Damn bitch, how dare you attack me.

- Cira, stop, you will not win this war. A guttural laugh came out of Cira's throat.

- I will not win, take a look around you, my monsters are surrounding them, if anyone will lose this day it will not be me.

- Cira began to approach, an evil energy began to come out of her body, with each step she took, the grass under her feet withered leaving a black and cursed land.

- I've always wanted to kill you, but father never allowed me now that he's dead, I am the queen of Laios and there is no one above me, so I will take your head as a trophy.

Black flames appeared in Cira's hands, April created silver flames in her hands. Cassian seeing them saw that they were similar, but at the same time different like day and night, their powers confirmed it, one has light magic and the other darkness. Without taking her eyes off Cira, April gave Cassian and Maya.

- Go away.

Cassian stood up, unsheathed his sword and said.

- I will not go anywhere, I will fight alongside you.

- No, this fight between them and me, if you stay you will only die.

- But...

- Cassian, please go and take Maya with you, I'll be fine.
- It doesn't matter if this scum stays or goes, his destiny won't change, he'll die anyway.

April stepped forward and put herself between Cassian and Cira, she seemed to be protecting him, she said again.

- Cassian, go away, you're in no condition to fight, if you stay you'll just distract me.

Cassian had hurt his leg when he fell, he knew he wasn't much use, but April's sincerity hurt him a little, and he looked at Maya, although she had woken up, she was still somewhat dazed from the blow, he helped her up, took her in his arms and gave her.

- Be very careful.
- Don't worry, I'll be fine, I don't plan on losing, since your brother is waiting for my return.

CHAPTER 198: THE PROMISE OF REVENGE

Cassian took Maya in his arms and with the little strength he had left he crossed the barrier. He hated himself for not staying, but at that moment they were only a burden for April.

- You seem very confident to be a useless damn.

April ignored her sister's words of contempt and prepared to attack. That only made them attack, the monsters pounced on April, but none of them touched her, she turned them into ashes with her silver flames.

- I am no longer useless Cira, I am not the same weak and powerless girl whom you constantly tortured.

April threw a ball of silver fire, Cira dodged it with ease and responded.

- For me you will always be a useless bitch, good for nothing and whom I want to destroy.

- Why do you hate me so much Cira? I never did anything to deserve your hatred.

- Do I need a reason to hate you? , I don't believe it .

Cira ordered more monsters to attack, but they turned to ash before touching her.

Cira laughed loudly and said.

- The darkness has never controlled me, everything I do, I do it because I want it, I am fully aware of that.

- How can you say that?

- Compared to you, I enjoy hurting and causing pain, that has always been my delight, before you asked me why I have been so mean to you, I think that would be a good reason, I hate you and I hurt you because it pleases me.

Cira ordered all the monsters nearby to attack. April wrapped her body in her silver flames making sure that no monster could touch her, then she spread her flames across the battlefield destroying all the monsters in her path.

Cira took advantage of that moment to pounce on her and tried to attack her, but like the monsters, those flames made her scream in pain, she could feel the demon inside her, writhing in pain and screaming begging her to run away, but Cira's pride was stronger so she didn't back down, even though those flames were making her go through hell, she persisted in attacking.

She tried to hit Abril, but she intercepted it with ease.

- Damn bitch, I'll kill you.

Cira continued attacking, but her blows lacked force, Abril stopped them with her hands. She used her magic and hit her back causing Cira to fall to the ground.

- Damn bitch, I'll kill you.

Abril walked towards her sister with a calm step and responded.

- You threaten me with death, but it seems to me that you are the one who is about to die.

Cira felt as if her insides were melting inside her, as much as she hated to run away, she had no choice but to do so.

She called upon that huge monster that had been fighting with the Fairy Queen to defend her, that monster hurriedly headed towards April. Meanwhile Cira was enveloped in a thick darkness, he told her before disappearing.

- I'm going to take away what you love most, I'll make you suffer, that trust you have I will break into pieces, I'll make you a miserable bitch again.

April tried to attack her sister with her silver flames, but then that huge and terrifying monster attacked her, she dodged them as best she could and began to attack that monster, but her flames were not as effective against that monster. Cira took advantage of the confusion and ended up escaping.

April continued attacking that monster. Dantriel and Ethan, as well as the Fairy Queen, joined the battle, together they killed the enormous monster that had emerged from Hades, from the depths of hell.

Cassian rushed to his side and asked.

- Aby are you okay?

- Yes, I'm fine, even though in the end I let my sister escape.

Enzo approached them and began to say while looking at the place where Cira had been a few moments ago.

- So you let her escape.
- Our sister was quick to flee.
- She is very spiteful and after being possessed by the darkness she is even more so, she will take revenge on us, it seems from now on neither of us will be able to rest easy.

April knew perfectly well that this was true, Cira would not let that lie, she would take revenge on both of them.

- I know, but this time I will be prepared so next time, I will not let her escape.

There were still a few monsters on the battlefield, April expanded her silver flames turning all those monsters into ashes.

When she finished with the last monster, April felt a little dizzy, Ethan who was nearby held her in his arms and asked.

- Are you okay?
- Yes, I just think I used too much power, if I rest a little more I'll be as good as new, so don't worry.

CHAPTER 199: GOOD NEWS

The Fairy Queen seeing that all the monsters had turned to ash, mounted her winged horse and went to where April was, she looked pale and tired.

- You should rest, you have used too much magic human queen.

- I'm fine.

Everyone present showed the same concern as the queen since April did not look well they insisted that she should go to rest. In the end April had no choice but to do what they asked.

- This war is over, you can return to the palace now, your presence here is not required, my servants will take care of you.

- The Fairy Queen used her magic to send April to the Fairy Queen's palace. Upon arrival several fairies approached her and took her to her room.

- Do you want us to prepare a bath for you, something to eat or do you want to rest?

April felt tired and a little dizzy, so she replied.

- I want to rest, you may leave.

All the fairies left. April lay down on the soft, fluffy bed, she felt dizzy and nauseous, her magic had been completely released and the seals had been broken, she thought that when that stopped she would not have a problem using her magic again, but apparently she was wrong because she felt extremely April closed her eyes and fell asleep quickly, the next day when she woke up she was surprised to see Maya in her room, she smiled at her and said.

- Good morning April, did you sleep well?

April sat up in bed, suddenly she felt nauseous, so she lay back down.

- I think I don't feel very well.

- Should I call a healer?

- Don't worry, I think it was because I got up too fast.

- Are you sure?

- Yes, I just need to rest, Cassian was hurt, how is he?

- He's okay, it was nothing serious.

- And how are you?

Maya sat up in bed and said.

- I'm fine, actually we were all more worried about you, we thought they would put you back into a deep sleep like last time.

April was scared to think that maybe she had been sleeping for days.

- Wait, how many days have I been sleeping?

- Calm down, it's only been a day.

- April sighed in relief.

- Are the others okay?

- Yes, everyone is fine, although Ethan was bothering me that he wanted to see that you were okay, that the fairy queen hadn't done anything bad to you, but even if the queen is someone cunning, she wouldn't do something like that, you are her ally, she values and respects her allies a lot.

- You seem to know her well.

Maya shrugged and answered.

- Just a little.

- Although the war is over, in the end my sister ran away.

- Yes, that has everyone very uneasy, especially that idiot of your brother.

- Is Enzo still here?

- Yes, it seems that he wants to talk to you before leaving, he is the enemy, I don't understand why he is being treated like a guest.

- We made an alliance with him, he is no longer our enemy, although I can't assure that he is an ally in reality.
- The fairy queen explained it shortly after she sent him back to the palace, however no one considers him an ally, he seems to be someone who will attack you at any moment.
- The truth is that I think the same, Enzo is not trustworthy.
- I hope he leaves soon, it makes me nervous that he is here.
- He is very stubborn, he will not leave until he has talked to me, it would be better if I get up and go talk to her.

April tried to get up, but she felt dizzy again so she lay back down.

- Maybe she needs to rest a little more.

After a week April's condition, on the contrary, her nausea had become even worse and she could barely eat a bite without vomiting. Everyone was very worried about her.

Maya was so worried that she dared to go ask the Fairy Queen for help.

The Fairy Queen had just finished a meeting with some subordinates when Maya entered, she was surprised and said to her.

- You coming to see me has taken me by surprise. I thought you hated me and didn't want to know anything about me.
- I don't hate her majesty the queen.
- If you don't hate me, why do you want to run away from me?
- It's not that I want to run away from your majesty.

The queen came out from behind her desk, approached Maya and said.

- You say you don't want to run away but even so you will leave this land and go far away, it seems to me you are running away from me.

- I'm not running away, I just want to be with the man I love, nothing more.

- Love is ephemeral, stay, become my successor.

- No, even if it is ephemeral, I choose to love.

- You look a lot like her, you are even just as foolish.

- Your majesty, although I look like her daughter, I am not her.

The queen went to the window, from there she could see the mountains of Nula and the Bross forest, winged horses flew through the sky, it was a beautiful sight, she gave a big sigh and said.

- Why is it that my entire family refuses to relieve me? Is this place so bad?

- It's not bad your majesty, on the contrary it's wonderful, if I'm honest, I'm going to long for this place when I leave.

- Then stay.

- No, although I love this place, I still want to be with the man I love and have a family by his side.

- I hope you don't regret your decision.

- I won't, after all this is my decision.

- So today you came to say goodbye?

- No, actually I came to ask for your help, it's been a week and April still feels bad.

- So that was it, don't worry, she'll be fine.

- She can't eat anything without vomiting, she feels dizzy and weak, I don't think she'll be fine.

- In her condition it's completely normal.

- In her condition, is she sick?

- No, she's pregnant.

- What?

- But how?

- By joining her body with...

- No, that's not what I mean, I already know how babies are made, what I mean is, she was unconscious for a while, which means her pregnancy is recent, is that why her systems started so soon?

- Not all pregnancies are the same, some don't even have symptoms, but I think she'll have a really bad time the first few months.

- Does April already know?

- I guess not.

- Then, how does your majesty know?

- It's because I have great sensitivity with magic, I notice things that others don't.

- But why didn't you tell her?

I didn't think it was necessary to say it.

- She was fighting while pregnant, you knew it and you didn't say anything.

- Maya shouted very upset, the fairy queen responded calmly.

- She was taking care of the wounded, not fighting monsters.

- Still...

- Maya, I understand your annoyance, but you need her, if she had not intervened, most likely we would all be dead.

The Fairy Queen seeing Maya's clear discontent, said to her. - I will go see your friend and try to do something to alleviate her discomfort.

Although Maya was still upset by the Fairy Queen's actions

, she could not refuse to receive her help since that would only affect April, so she swallowed her pride and replied.

- Thank you for the queen's kindness.

Maya left and returned to April, she was very upset with the queen for having put April in danger, even though she knew she was pregnant.

Upon entering the room Maya saw Cassian, he had gone to see how she was.

He approached her, gave her a soft kiss on the lips and asked.

- Where were you?

- I have gone to see the Fairy Queen.

Cassian got a little nervous every time Maya met the Fairy Queen; Maya noticed his uneasiness and said, "Don't worry, I'm fine." "Are you sure he didn't do anything to you?" "Didn't he try to convince you to stay?"

Before Maya could answer, the Fairy Queen entered the room and answered instead.

"I tried, but she refused, she's obsessed with you."

Instinctively Cassian hugged Maya in protective mode.

The Fairy Queen walked past him without paying much attention and addressed April.

"How are you?"

April looked pale and haggard, she answered honestly.

"Not very well, I think I'm still suffering the effects of using my magic.

" "It's not really that, didn't Maya tell you?" Maya said.

"I just got here, didn't I have time to say it?"

- Then I'll tell him, you're not suffering any side effects from using your magic, you just used too much magic at once and that scared your baby, that's why your pregnancy symptoms started earlier, it's one of the ways she found to let you know that it's there and that you must take care of yourself.

April couldn't believe what the queen was telling her.

- What, Pregnant?

- That's right, you're carrying a baby in your womb, congratulations.

April caressed her belly, she was very happy and wished she could go back soon to give Alessandro the good news, to tell him that they were going to be parents.

CHAPTER 200: LET'S GO HOME

April was so happy about the news of her pregnancy, that she couldn't find the time to tell Alessandro and share her happiness with him.

- I have to go.

April tried to get out of bed, but the nausea got worse, she was barely able to move a little without throwing up.

The queen, seeing that her face was green from dizziness, approached, put her hand on her belly and said in a voice as sweet as honey and warm as the summer sun.

- It's okay, your mother knows you're there, she will not put you in danger again.

Those words were like a spell, the nausea disappeared suddenly.

- What was that?

The Fairy Queen withdrew her hand and said.

- I just calmed the baby, you shouldn't feel dizzy anymore, right?

- That's right, I feel very well, thank you very much. -

Although I have solved your nausea, you are still weak since you have not had a good diet, so eat well and rest, I understand your hurry to leave but if you continue putting the baby in danger, the symptoms may return.

Although April wanted to return immediately, she did not want to endanger her son.

- I understand, I have a little longer, thank you very much for your kindness.

- Take it as payment for your help.

The queen left. Cassian, who looked like an angry dog, calmed down his anger and sighed in relief.

Maya said.

- You must be tired, we also left.

- Thank you for your visit.

- Cassian approached April and said.

- Congratulations on your pregnancy, my brother will be very happy when he finds out he's going to be a father.

April caressed her belly and replied.

- Yes, I can't wait to get to his side and share this good news.

- Maya grabbed Cassian by the arm and said.

- Let's go, April needs to rest.

Maya headed to the door dragging Cassian with her, before crossing the door she looked at April and said.

- I'll ask for a good meal to be brought to you.

- Thank you very much.

When April was alone in her room, she began to talk to the baby in her belly.

- My baby, I'm sorry if my way of acting scared you, but don't worry, now that you're like this, I won't put you in danger again.

April stayed two more days in the land of fairies until she felt recovered. On the third day she decided to return to the kingdom of Cosset, but before leaving she met with her brother at the insistence of the Fairy Queen.

Cassian and Maya accompanied her to the room where Enzo was waiting for her, when they reached the door, she stopped them and said.

- Wait outside.

- No! We will not leave you alone with that guy.

- Don't worry, I'll be fine and if something happens I'll scream.

Maya and Cassian were reluctant to April's request

, however neither of them continued to oppose since April was very sure of her decision. Maya took his hand and said.

- Don't go near that guy and if he makes any move, no matter how small, scream.

- I will.

April opened the door, her brother was sitting on a couch drinking a cup of tea, when she entered, he didn't bother to get up.

April sat on the couch in front of him and asked him.

- What do you want to talk to me about?

Enzo put his cup of tea aside and answered.

- It's about our sister and about the kingdom of Laios.

- That you want to talk about our sister I understand, but about the kingdom of Laios, I have nothing to say.

- You are princess of the kingdom of Laios.

- I was always a forgotten princess, I never had anything to do with the throne and I was never interested.

- It's good to know that.

- And what did you want to talk about our sister?

- Right now Cira must be very weak so she will be silent for a while.

- Do you know where she can be? Enzo shook his head.

- No, in the kingdom of Laios there is the rift that leads to Hades, but I don't think he went there.

Why do you think that?

- The weaker you are, the more likely the darkness will take absolute control of you, but Cira hates being manipulated by others so she must have gone somewhere else to recover.

- I see, speaking of the Hades rift, what will we do with it?

- That's why I wanted to talk to you, I want you to help me seal it.

- How do you want me to do that?

- It's not very difficult to do, you just have to create a barrier with your light magic, so the monsters and whatever else can't get out.

- It seems too simple to me.

- You'll be surprised how simple that place is when you see it, but it's not a place where anyone can go without being dominated by the darkness.

Hearing those words, April asked.

- You weren't dominated by the darkness?

- No

- Why?

- I saw what the darkness did to our father, our sister and everyone who came into contact with her, I didn't want to end up the same way.

- You didn't want power?

- A power that dominates you instead of dominating it seems useless to me.

- I'm surprised you think that way.

- I just want to return to the kingdom of Laios and fix the mess that our family created and be a good king.

April looked Enzo directly in the eyes, as she did so she could see that he wasn't lying.

- I thought you were more evil, I'm surprised to see that it's not like that.

- I'm not good, I've done very bad things to try to win father's favor, but that's no longer necessary although I don't think Cira is going to give up the throne so easily.

- And what do you plan to do?

Enzo took out a dagger and swung it in his hands and replied.

- I'll kill her if I get the chance or maybe she'll kill me, I don't know, although there's a chance that she'll look for you first and I won't have to worry about anything.

April knew that as long as Cira was free, she couldn't be completely safe, but she didn't want to think about that, so she stood up and said to her.

- I have to go.
- Are you going back to Cosset?
- Yes, I'll come back now, what will you do?
- I'll go back to Laios, cleanse the kingdom and send you a letter when I need your help to seal the rift that connects to Hades.

April headed for the door, before leaving she said.

- I hope what you said is true and you're not up to any tricks.
- You can rest easy because what I said is true.
- April opened the door before going through it, Enzo told her.
- By the way, Duke Vampel is being controlled by the darkness, kill him or do whatever you want with him.
- Thanks for telling me.

As he left the room, Maya and Cassian asked him.

- Are you okay? Hasn't he said anything to you?
- Don't worry, I'm fine, let's go home.

CHAPTER 201: THE HAPPIEST IN THE WORLD

Alessandro left his office and headed to the garden where the tree was in which the portal to the land of fairies had opened. He did this action every day since April had left, he touched the trunk of the tree and wondered when she would return.

A week and a half had passed since April had left, but for Alessandro, every day and every minute he spent away from his beloved, was like an eternity.

He rested his forehead against the trunk of the tree and between sighs of sadness he asked again.

- Aby, when will you come back?

After saying that, the trunk of the tree began to glow, Alessandro took a few steps back to get a better look at what was happening. Suddenly he saw the silhouette of a person coming out of the tree, he blinked several times until his eyes got used to the light.

When his eyes adjusted to the light, he saw April, she ran towards him, hugged him and with a big smile said.

- I'm back.

Surprise and happiness flooded Alessandro, he lifted her in the air, spun her around a few times and then kissed her.

Alessandro caressed her face as if he couldn't believe she was there.

- Is it really you? Tell me I'm not dreaming? That it's real.

April stood on her tiptoes, pressed her lips against theirs and said.

- It's real, I'm back.

- Even though you've been gone for a short time, it feels like it's been an eternity.

- For me it's been the same, I missed you a lot.

Maya and Cassian crossed the portal, Alessandro seeing them together was happy for his brother. He had managed to return to the woman he loved.

- Brother, I'm back.

- I'm glad to see that you are okay.

Ethan and Dantriel crossed a little later.

Dantriel greeted him, but Ethan didn't, every time he saw April in Alessandro's arms, he couldn't help but get jealous, even though he knew she wasn't the woman he loved.

Alessandro asked.

- How did it all go? April answered.

- It's a long story, we better get comfortable, let's go inside.

They all went to the imperial palace to the king's private room. They all gave a report of what had happened in the land of the fairies; Alessandro remained silent listening attentively to what they said, even though sometimes what they told him filled him with anxiety and fear of what was to come, when everyone finished talking, he said with a frown and his face marked by worry.

- So this is not over yet.

- April took his hand and said.

For now yes, everything is over, Enzo my brother told me that Cira is weak and it would take a while to recover.

Alessandro did not trust Enzo and partly hated him since for a long time, he had tortured the woman he loved, he had caused her injuries that were not visible, but had achieved great emotional damage; from time to time she still had terrible nightmares at night with those bad memories.

Alessandro lightly squeezed Abril's hand.

- What your brother said, is it true? He is not trying to help his sister while she recovers, to then betray us.

Abril shook her head, showed him the rock mark she had on her right hand and answered.

- I do not believe it, even if she wants to, she cannot betray us, if she does, she will die.

- What is that mark?

- The proof of our alliance and our promise of peace, so we do not have to worry about that for some time.

Alessandro was still uneasy, even though there was an alliance between them, he couldn't trust Enzo, but he had been separated from his beloved for a long time, at that moment, he just wanted to be with her and put his worries aside.

Dantriel stood up and said.

- We are leaving, we must prepare our return to the elven land.

Alessandro stood up and replied.

- I greatly appreciate your help, I hope you can express my gratitude to your queen.

- We will do so.

Dantriel walked to the door and seeing that Ethan was staying behind he called him.

- Ethan.

- I'm coming.

- Ethan turned to April. - Take care of yourself.

- I will, thank you very much for everything you have done for us.

- I can't help your mother when I need it, I wouldn't have forgiven myself for doing the same to you.

- Ethan headed to the door, before April left he said to him.

- My mother appreciated you very much, while she was inside me, I could tell.

With some sadness reflected on his face Ethan answered.

- I know, but thanks for telling me.

After they left Maya got up and dragged Cassian with her.

- We're leaving too, you guys must have a lot of things to talk about or do.

- They both left the room, once alone Alessandro looked for Abril's mouth, and with a soft kiss he said.

- My love, finally alone.

Alessandro took Abril in his arms, both went out through another door and headed to his chambers, when he arrived he began to kiss her passionately, he did not want to keep waiting he wanted to show his love not only with words, but also with his kisses, with his caresses, with his body and with his whole being. He gently placed her on the bed and said between kisses.

- I love you aby, I love you my wife, I love you my queen, my everything.

- Abril responded to his kisses, during the time they had been apart, she had not stopped missing him, she got drunk with his kisses and his caresses, she surrendered to the sweetness of his whispering voice and his warmth.

Both made love, a few times until exhausted.

Alessandro caressed Abril's curls while she rested on his chest.

- Lessan.

- I am the happiest woman in the world by your side.

- April sat up, her reddish curls falling like a cascade over her shoulders and breasts covering her.

- You know, there was a time when I was young that I always begged God for one more day of life, I begged him not to let me die and that for me was more than enough, but since I gave you my heart, I only ask one thing, that your love for me does not change, that no matter what is to come, our love remains just as strong.

April caressed her belly and continued saying.

- And now I have one more thing to ask for, that our baby be very happy just like I am.

Alessandro thought he had heard wrong so he asked.

- Baby? I think I heard wrong, for a moment I thought you were telling me that you were pregnant.

April continued caressing her still flat belly.

- You didn't hear wrong, I'm pregnant, we're going to be parents, our baby is growing inside me.

Alessandro placed his trembling hand on his wife's belly and asked again

- Are we really going to be parents? Are we going to have a child? Abril put her hand on Alessandro's and answered.

- That's right, we're going to be parents.

Alessandro couldn't feel happier, not only was he with the woman he loved, but if not, they would soon have a child. He hugged her gently and said.

- Thank you Aby, thank you for making me the happiest man in the world.

CHAPTER 202: FLOWERS IN THE SKY

The next day when Alessandro woke up, the first thing he did was make sure that Abril was by his side, but he didn't find her. He became anxious and wondered if it had all been a dream produced by his desire to see her again.

He tightened the sheets of his bed and said the name of his beloved, convinced that nothing of what had happened was real.

- Aby

April, who had been on the balcony, peeked her head into the room upon hearing her name and greeted him with a smile.

- Good morning Lessan.

Alessandro was surprised to see April, he stumbled to his feet and walked towards her. When they were in front of each other, he reached out his hand to touch her, but hesitated at the last moment.

- What's wrong Lessan?

- Are you really here? Is this not a dream?

- I'm here until when will you keep repeating the same thing?

- It's just that I'm afraid to touch you and you'll disappear.

April took Alessandro's hand and brought it to her face and replied.

- You see, I'm not going to disappear, I'm real and we'll be together. I don't plan on separating from you again.

Alessandro hugged her and replied.

- I don't plan on separating from you either. I won't let you go again.

- I don't want to go anywhere without you either.

- It's still early, you should be resting, remember that you are now a pregnant woman and the mornings are still a little cold.

- I know, that's why I put on a shawl.

Alessandro took her in his arms, carried her back to the room, gently placed her on the bed and said.

- I still think you should stay in bed, yesterday we were too effusive, should I call the doctor to check that everything is okay?

April stopped Alessandro before he left.

- I'm fine Lessan and our daughter is too.

- Our daughter?

- Yes. I'm sure our baby is a girl.

Alessandro was so happy that he was speechless, the idea of having a daughter that looked like April overwhelmed him with emotion. But April took that silence as a negative answer, she asked.

- Aren't you happy that it's a girl? I suppose you would have preferred it to be a boy.

In the kingdom of Laios the gender of the heir to the throne did not matter, but his abilities; but in the kingdom of Cosser it was different, there the heir was a boy, never in the history of the kingdom had it been a girl.

Alessandro took his wife's hand and replied.

- Of course not, the mere idea of having a daughter that looks like you overwhelms me with emotion and cuts my words, so do not doubt, not even for a moment that I am not happy that our baby is a girl.

April laughed and said.

- I really don't think she's going to look much like me, although she will inherit the color of my eyes.

- You can't know that, she hasn't been born yet.

- April caressed her belly and replied.

- In fact I think I've already seen her in my dreams, she will look more like you than me and I think we will be very happy.

- I'm already happy Aby.

April's stomach growled, she hadn't had a bite to eat since the day before, she said. - I'm starving, so let's eat before I faint.

Alessandro got a little scared when April mentioned fainting, he told her.

- Wait, don't get up, I'll ask them not to bring breakfast, you shouldn't force yourself.

Alessandro took a shirt and put it on as he headed for the door, April called him trying to stop him, but it was useless, he left. April gave a long sigh and said to her baby in her belly.

- Your father is a complete madman baby, but a madman who loves us deeply.

While he went in search of the servants, Alessandro found his brother.

Cassian seeing him so happy assumed that April had already told him about her pregnancy.

- Good morning brother, you seem very happy today.

- Of course I am, the woman I love is back and I'm going to be a father.

Alessandro replied with a big smile on his face.

- I already knew it and I'm very happy for your brother, I hope your happiness is long and lasts forever, that nothing tarnishes it or disturbs it.

- I wish the same for you, I'm glad you can be with the woman you love. That she is with me.

- The same thing happens to me, but let's stop talking about it, better help me.

- What do you want me to help you with?

- I want to celebrate a holiday, the news of the queen's pregnancy should be a reason for celebration, I want the entire kingdom to share my happiness.

Cassian laughed and said.

- Do you really think that?

- Of course, April is my queen and she will be the mother of my child, I want the entire kingdom to know it.

- I was thinking of returning to my territory but, I will stay a little longer and celebrate with you.

Alessandro saw one of the maids and ordered that breakfast be brought to his wife and that the doctor be called, although Abril claimed that she was fine, he would not rest easy until the doctor confirmed it. Alessandro said goodbye to his brother and returned to the room with Abril.

Several maids entered shortly after, they carried several trays with food and sweets for the queen. Abril tried everything they had brought her, everything was delicious, she ate until she was completely satisfied.

- Does it seem that you are more satisfied now?

- I spent a few days when I could not eat anything, I will not waste the opportunity to eat now that I can.

- Then I will ask that they prepare delicious dishes, sweets and desserts of all kinds, I do not want you to ever feel hungry again.

- That would be horrible, there is no greater pleasure than eating when you are hungry, if you are not hungry, the most delicious food will lose its flavor.

- I guess you're right, I'll ask the servants to take care of you with great care.

The doctor closed the door and asked for permission, April looked at Alessandro and said.

- In the end you called the doctor.

- I just wanted to be sure that everything is okay since yesterday I was a little harsh with you.

The doctor entered interrupting their conversation. After he examined the queen and gave a positive diagnosis, he left the room.

April told him.

I told you, there was nothing to worry about, I'm fine and so is the baby.

Alessandro gave her a soft kiss on the lips and replied.

- And I thank the heavens that it is so.

That same day Alessandro gave the announcement in the palace that the queen was pregnant. Everyone in the palace rejoiced at the good news.

The news soon reached the ears of the nobles, silencing those who were pressuring the king for an heir. A month later the festival was held to celebrate the queen's pregnancy, diplomats from several nearby kingdoms were invited, all gave offerings to the king and blessed the queen's pregnancy.

April was sitting next to Alessandro in the throne room while a long line of guests congratulated them, she was a little tired of so many congratulations and said to Alessandro in a low voice.

- How much longer will this last?

- The celebration will last seven days, this is the first so there are six left.

- April stared at her husband and said.

- Tell me it's a joke.

- It's not.
- Why do you have to have such a big celebration? Alessandro took April's hand and answered.
- Because I want everyone to know who my queen is and how happy I am by your side.

After such an explanation April could not continue to be angry with Alessandro and continued receiving the blessings and gifts that were brought to her.

When night came there was a grand ball to which all the nobles were invited, after dancing a song the royal couple left, the queen being pregnant had to rest and the king who loved her deeply could not separate from her.

Those were some of the stories that were told among the nobles, although the reality was that April just wanted to escape from that situation. They both went to one of the furthest balconies where no one would interrupt them.

- Why have you brought me here?
- I have prepared a surprise for you. Alessandro pointed to the sky and said.
- This is my gift for you.

April looked up at the sky, colored lights like flowers shone flashing in the sky, the sky was beautifully illuminated.

Alessandro put his arms around her and asked,

"Did she tell you?"

April leaned against him and replied,

"I love it.

" Seeing April's sparkling eyes and the beautiful smile on her face, Alessandro stole a kiss from her and said,

"And I love it, seeing a beautiful smile on your face, that will always be my best gift and my greatest delight, my beloved Aby."

CHAPTER 203: WE'RE HOME NOW

While April watched the colorful flowers sparkling in the sky, she made a wish. That that moment would last forever.

Over the next few days, April and Alessandro stayed very busy attending to the ambassadors who had come. Their visit was not just to congratulate the queen on her pregnancy; they used that opportunity to strengthen their ties and create new alliances.

When the last day of the festival arrived, Alessandro announced that there would be no audiences or meetings that day, that everyone could enjoy the festival as they wanted, the nobles who wanted to get closer to the royal family did not like that, however none of them complained.

That day Alessandro wanted to spend it with Abril, he wanted to show her the city that at that moment was full of life and color due to the festival.

As they headed to the city, Abril looked very excited seeing everything around them.

As they wanted to enjoy the festival without anyone interrupting them, they both used a magic artifact to change their appearance, Abril looked like a young commoner with light brown hair, although her eyes were still golden, it was the only thing she could not change. Alessandro looked at her and said.

- You have not worn blonde hair again.
- No, I already physically resemble my mother, with blonde hair it is as if I were her, although the elves have already retired I would not want to risk that there are still some around here and I confuse her with her.
- Alessandro remembered that this issue was still pending.
- You're right, Ethan and Dantriel promised to hide your existence but it would be best to remain cautious.

Upon reaching the entrance of the city they had to get off the carriage, since the streets were crowded with people.

Alessandro got off first and helped April get off, they both held hands and walked through the streets, there were many street artists and improvised shops of food, fruits, sweets, foreign clothes and beautiful jewelry.

April realized that there were actually many foreigners wearing strange clothes.

April stared at a group of young ladies who were dressed in linen clothes and used a scarf to cover their heads.

- What kingdom are they from?

She asked curiously. Alessandro answered.

- They are from Lisa's kingdom.
- I see many foreigners in the city.
- Many of them have come with ambassadors from the other kingdoms.

Follow new episodes on the

- But none of the ambassadors dressed like that.
- That's because they dressed according to the kingdom's etiquette, but in each kingdom the clothes and customs change.

April remembered that during her classes with Gabriel, he had also mentioned it, April felt a delicious aroma of food in the air and her mouth watered.

- I'm hungry, let's eat something.

- Of course.

Alessandro approached one of the food stores and bought meat skewers, he gave one to April, when she tasted it she felt that it was the most delicious thing she had ever tasted, the meat was tender and was seasoned with various spices, that made its flavor wonderful. Alessandro, seeing that she ate with such satisfaction, gave her his skewer, she devoured it immediately and made him buy two more.

April was excited to try new foods, she dragged Alessandro to each of the food stores and tried a little bit of everything.

- Honey, don't you think you're eating too much?

- Don't worry, I eat for two now, I'm fine.

April kept eating until she reached a point where she couldn't eat anymore, however that didn't stop her from continuing to buy, she wanted to take all those delicacies to the palace. After going through all the stalls, April began to feel her feet tired, Alessandro made signs to one of the guards who was in the crowd to take everything they had bought to the carriage and took April in his arms.

- What are you doing?

- We've walked a lot, you must rest.

- And that's why you're carrying me in your arms?

- Yes, we'll tour the festival this way, so you can rest.

- Don't do that, let's sit by the fountain, after resting for a while we can continue walking the streets.

- Are you sure?

- Yes, and I don't think we can go around the city this way, there are too many people and it's difficult to move.

Alessandro, realizing that April was right, took her to the fountain that was near them and they sat down to rest. April looked around and said.

- Maya and Cassian would have liked to come, we should have invited them.

- Don't worry about those two, from what I understand they have come to the city on more than one occasion and if we had invited them they would have surely refused, they also want to spend time alone.

Since they had returned from the land of fairies, Cassian and Maya used to spend all their time together and rarely agreed to spend time with them since according to Cassian they had to make up for all the time asked for. April sighed and said.

- You're right, they were separated for a long time and although for Cassian it was only a few months, for Maya it was years, I can't imagine how painful that must have been.

- I think that's why Cassian just wants to be alone with her, although he doesn't say it I know he feels guilty for everything Maya had to go through, I hope that when they leave they can make up for all the time they lost.

- What? They're leaving?

- I hadn't told you, Cassian will leave the palace and go to his territory after the festival.

- I didn't know anything about that.

April felt a little lonely since everyone was leaving, Ethan and Dantriel had been the first, now it would be Maya and Cassian. Thinking that they would no longer be there made her feel a little lonely.

- It seems that everyone is leaving.

- Actually Cassian wanted to leave earlier, but I asked him to help me organize the festival and he couldn't refuse.

- In the end everyone looks for their home, we are already there.

Al stared at the palace in the distance, there was a time when she always wanted to escape the palace walls as she considered it her prison, but at that moment when she saw them from the outside, that beautiful palace no longer seemed like a prison but her home, the place she wanted to be.

- You're right, we're home now.

CHAPTER 204: A NEW PRINCESS

A few days after the festival, Cassian and Maya left the palace, since then it seemed to April that the place had become quieter but it had also become quieter, everyone in the palace was kind and took care of her with great care, that was nice for her.

The seasons were changing as well as April's body, her belly had grown quite a bit and although it was difficult for April, her belly had grown quite a bit and although it was difficult for her to move, she was happy to feel her baby move inside her.

April was looking out the window at the snow-filled gardens when Alessandro approached her with a blanket and put it on her shoulders.

- It's very cold, you should dress a little more warmly.

- I'm fine, I'm not cold.

- You should still take care of yourself.

One of the maids came in, she was carrying hot chocolate and cookies on a tray, when she smelled the sweet aroma of chocolate her mouth watered. Alessandro helped her to the table, after serving what she was carrying on the tray the maid left.

April began to devour the cookies, her happy expression while she ate stole Alessandro's heart, he wiped the crumbs off her cheeks and with a smile said to her.

- Watching you eat is always a pleasure.

- Are you making fun of me? Alessandro shook his head.

- I'm not making fun of you, for me it is a real pleasure since I can always see a beautiful smile drawn on your face and there is nothing that makes me happier than seeing you smile.

- By your side I always have reasons to smile, you make me very happy.

- Ah!

April complained of pain, Alessandro immediately stood up, took her hand and asked her.

- Is it time yet? Is the baby going to be born?

April laughed at Alessandro's exaggeration, caressed her belly and answered.

- I'm fine Lessan, the time has not yet come.

- But I heard you complaining of pain, should I call the doctor and the midwife and the maids to take care of you.

April took Alessandro's face in her hands and answered.

- Don't even think about it.

- But ...

- Lessan the baby only kicked me, that's why I complained, lately he moves a lot.

- But what if it wasn't just that and our baby is going to be born.

- When the time comes you'll know, since not only will I complain but I'll scream and howl in pain, maybe I'll even hit you and bite you if I have you near to relieve my pain, so stop exaggerating about everything.

- But if the doctor or the midwife were to check you...

- If you continue with that annoying attitude I won't see you until after the birth.

- What?

- Lately you've become a pain in the ass, if you don't change your attitude I'd rather be alone, it's up to you.

Alessandro was still worried about April, but he knew that if he kept insisting he would only make Aby angry, so he told her.

Follow new episodes on the

- Okay, I'll change my attitude, but if the pain starts...

- When that day comes you'll be the first to find out. A few days later.

It was early in the morning, Alessandro woke up feeling a strong blow to the face, he turned on a light and shook his head nervously wondering who had hit him. It had been Abril, she looked pale, on her face there was an expression of pain, she grabbed his arm digging her nails into it and with a high-pitched voice she said to him.

- IT'S TIME, CALL WHOEVER YOU WANT.

- What?!, It's time already?, Is our baby going to be born?

- Yes, so call whoever you want, but do it now.

She said those words accompanied by a cry of pain.

Alessandro called the maids pulling the ropes that were next to his bed since Abril was holding his arm tightly, he tried to calm her down saying.

- Calm down my love, everything will be fine.

The pain was becoming more unbearable, she wanted to scream at him that it wasn't like that, that this was only the beginning and she already felt like she was dying, but the words were drowned by a cry of pain.

The maids came in a little while later, hearing the queen's screams of pain and her face marked by pain, they rushed to call the doctor, the midwife and the maids who would be helping with the delivery.

When the maids arrived with hot water and blankets. One of them said to Alessandro.

- Your majesty, you must leave the room.

- I will not leave, she is suffering, do something to help her.

- Pain is natural during childbirth, we will do everything possible to help her but you must leave.

- NO.

- The midwife came in, seeing the king clinging to his queen she approached him and said.

- Your majesty, you must leave.

- I refuse to leave my wife alone, right now.

- She is suffering and you are only getting in the way, so leave.

In those moments she only wished for everything to end, the pain had become more intense, she screamed.

- I will be fine Lessan, go.

- But..

The midwife told him.

- Your majesty, this is not something a man should see, please wait outside, we will take good care of the queen and the baby.

Although he hated the idea of letting her leave the room, he stayed outside waiting for one of the maids to come out and tell him what was happening, but the hours passed and Alessandro only heard April's screams of pain from the other side of the door, anxiety and fear seized him. He could not stand the situation anymore, he opened the door, the screams of pain had ceased and instead the crying of a baby was heard.

Alessandro stood by the door watching as April held the baby in her arms, her face was sweaty and she looked tired, but still the expression on her face was undoubtedly the most beautiful he had ever seen.

With a sweet smile he said to her.

- Lessan, our daughter has already been born.

- Alessandro approached them, looked at the baby and then at April, alternating his gaze from one to the other, finally he gave a kiss on the forehead to April and said to her.

- You have done very well my love, thank you very much for this beautiful gift that you have brought to this world.

The midwife took the baby and said to Alessandro.

- Congratulations your majesty, the queen has given birth to a princess.

That did not surprise Alessandro, throughout the pregnancy April had told him that the baby in her womb was a girl and in reality she was extremely happy that it was a girl.

The midwife cleaned the baby, wrapped her in a blanket and asked the king.

Your majesty wants to hold the princess.

Alessandro nodded, the midwife told him the correct way to carry her and handed her to him. When he felt that tiny being in his arms he felt like the happiest man in the world and at that moment he understood why Abril had smiled that way when he had held her in his arms. He wanted his daughter to grow up beautifully and be in good health so he chose the name.

- Lissana, that will be your name.

Alessandro looked at Abril, she smiled when she heard the name Alessandro had chosen for his daughter and said.

- That's a good name, I like it.

- Lissana, that's the name of the crown princess.

Abril was surprised to hear Alessandro say that Lissana would be the crown princess, in the kingdom of Laios the throne was given to the firstborn regardless of gender since what mattered there were the abilities of the successor and therefore if the heir did not fulfill his role, he was changed for another. But in the kingdom of Cosset it was different, the throne was given to the first male child, the fact that he was giving the throne to his daughter made her very happy.

The midwife took the princess back and said.

- Your majesty, we are not finished yet, please leave.

- Alessandro had already checked that they were both fine so he did not reply when the midwife took him out of the room again, upon leaving Alessandro told one of the maids to announce that the queen had already given birth, that there was a new princess in the kingdom of Cosset and that her name was Lissana.

CHAPTER 205: END

The news about the birth of the new princess was celebrated throughout the kingdom of Cosset, the nobles brought gifts to bless the newborn heir princess.

Alessandro saw everyone present very pleased and said to Gabriel.

- I want Lissana's presentation to be remembered in history, so do your best to make it so.

Gabriel looked at the king with hatred, since the princess was born he had not been able to return home because the work stopped piling up due to the excessive love he asked for. Gabriel was tired, he had not slept for a month and the lack of sleep was beginning to affect his health, he thought.

"If I continue working like this I will end up dying."

- Your majesty, I resign.

- What?

- I can no longer continue with this job, my health has deteriorated and you only continue to put more burden on my shoulders, I resign, find another assistant.

Gabriel was very good at his job, Alessandro was not going to let him go so easily, he told him.

- I will double your salary.

- It's not about the money your majesty, it's that if I don't leave this job I will die, I have a family to look after so I resigned.

I understand that you are tired since the palace has been in great bustle since Lissana was born ...

- The problem has not been the birth of the princess, the problem is that his majesty escapes all the time and leaves aside his obligations, obligations that I have had to carry out since his majesty does not.

- Calm down Gabriel, I will give you a vacation after Lissana's presentation.

- No, I want them now.

- Gabriel I am your king, are you rebelling?

- Yes, I am rebelling against the tyrant who does nothing but exploit me.

If it had been anyone else, Alessandro would have punished her harshly, but he could not do the same to Gabriel if he wanted to continue having him by his side, he gave a big sigh and said to her.

- Okay, take a few days of vacation.

- I want a month.

- Gabriel, you are being very capricious.

- For a whole month I've had to work very late and I haven't been able to go home to see my family, I think a month is fair.

Alessandro gave Gabriel an intimidating look, but he was too tired to care so he held his gaze firmly, in the end Alessandro had no choice but to agree to Gabriel's requests.

- Okay, take a month off.

Gabriel left the papers he had been holding on the desk and said.

- Your majesty, here is the list of all the things that are pending to do, I hope you catch up on them before I get back.

Gabriel headed for the door and said goodbye without further ado.

Alessandro had been working all morning and that mountain of documents on the table seemed to multiply, he wanted to be with Aby and his daughter, he didn't want to be away from her for a long time, but Gabriel taking a vacation left him in a difficult position, he could no longer escape from his work as he did before.

He continued working for a while longer when suddenly one of the servants entered and announced Cassian's arrival, as if it had been a blessing from heaven.

Alessandro ordered him to be let in. Upon entering Cassian greeted him.

- Lessan, how good to see you, I'm sorry I didn't come sooner.

- Same to you brother and don't worry about it, you couldn't have come at a better time.

Cassian, seeing the mountain of documents on his brother's desk, wondered if that was true.

- I suppose you'll stay until Lissana's presentation ceremony and since you'll be around here you could give me a hand.

- Actually I only planned to stay a few days, I've only come to meet my niece, by the way, how is she?

Alessandro answered with great pride.

- She's beautiful, but why are you staying for such a short time?
- It's because of Maya, she hasn't been in very good health, she hasn't been able to come and I don't want to leave her alone for so long.
- Is it something serious?
- No, but she wasn't in a condition to travel so she had to stay.
- I see, I hope she recovers soon.
- I'm sorry brother but this time I won't be able to help you with your work, I'll go greet April and meet my niece, good luck with all that.

Cassian pointed to the pile of documents on the desk and then left.

- Cassian, he went to April's room, knocking on the door he asked.
- Can I come in?
- April recognized Cassian's voice, she opened the door personally.
- Cassian, how nice to see you.
- I'm sorry I didn't come sooner.
- Don't worry about it.

April looked everywhere and seeing that he was alone asked.

- And where is Maya?
- She's a little unwell, she hasn't been able to come.
- Is it something serious? Maybe you should go to...
- It's nothing serious, don't worry, besides you just gave birth, you should think about yourself before anything else.

- It's true.

- Where's my niece, I want to meet her?

April took Cassian's hand and led him to the crib where Lissana was, she was sleeping deeply, Cassian said.

- My brother was not exaggerating when he said that my niece is beautiful, she looks like an angel.

April caressed her little girl's head, she settled down and said.

- Yes. Lissana is beautiful, she is just like I dreamed her.

- I'm glad to see that you are happy Aby, that all your suffering is finally over.

- You know, if a few years ago when I was just fighting to survive they had told me that I would be so happy, I would never have believed it. Sometimes I'm even afraid that all this is a dream and that it could end at any moment.

- I understand you, sometimes I feel the same way, but we should think like that, because it is not a dream, this is our reality.

- If you're right.

Lissana woke up, when she opened her eyes, Cassian was surprised to see that she had golden eyes.

- She has golden eyes, that means that ...

- Yes, that's right, she has also inherited elven blood, she is also an heiress of the light.

April took her baby in her arms and asked him.

- Doesn't that worry you?

- I won't deny that it worries me a little but I don't want to think about it, it's useless to worry about something that may never happen.

- You're right, it's not worth thinking about what will happen in the future, it's better to live our present.

- Yes.

Alessandro had to stay late working since there were many urgent documents to review, he was very concentrated working when he heard the door open and was surprised to see Abril.

- Aby, what are you doing here? Should you be resting?

- I didn't want to go to sleep without seeing you, besides, I'm fine now.

Alessandro got up, walked around his desk, hugged Abril, kissed her on the forehead and asked.

- Is Lissana asleep?

- Yes, Noel is taking care of her, are you very busy?

- A little, Gabriel has gone on vacation.

- Do you want me to help you with something?

- No, you just worry about recovering, the doctor said that even if it seems that you are fine you should be careful with your health since giving birth is not something simple.

- I know, but I would like to be your help. Alessandro took her in his arms and said.

- You already are, we are at peace thanks to you, now you must rest and recover.

- I can walk.

- Still let me take you this way.

- Okay.

Returning to the room the nanny left, Alessandro gently placed April on the bed and looked at the crib, Lissana slept peacefully, while doing so he said.

- Our daughter is precious, how I wish I could be with her all the time.

Alessandro sighed heavily and said.

- But as king that is not possible.

At that moment a question hit Alessandro's head.

- What if because I am too busy Lissana forgets me?

- I don't think that will happen.

- There is no way to know, no matter how busy I am I will make sure she sees my face every day.

April took Alessandro's hand and said.

- You are exaggerating.

- I don't think so, I heard that babies forget easily.

- Lissana will not forget you Lessan, so stop worrying about it.

Despite April's words, Alessandro began to visit his little daughter several times a day, even though he was very busy.

A few days later, Cassian returned to his territory, April felt very sad about his departure, but he promised to return with Maya for the presentation of the princess, that made her happy because it was a promise that they would see each other again soon.

The days went by, Alessandro got busier and busier and cursed Gabriel for taking a month of vacation; he continued like this every day until Gabriel returned to work.

A month later was the day of the presentation of the new princess, which was a topic of great celebration.

Banquets and balls were held in the palace to celebrate the official presentation of the crown princess.

April was sitting on the throne next to Alessandro, she looked from one side to the other as if she was looking for someone in the room, he asked her.

- Is something wrong?

- I don't see Cassian or Maya anywhere.

- Maybe he couldn't come?
- He promised he would.
- I know you were hoping to see them but ...

April saw Maya and Cassian come in, with a big smile he said.

- I knew you would come.

They approached, bowed and greeted him.

- Greetings to your majesties.
- Welcome, we are waiting for you.
- Since we are all here it is time to officially introduce Lissana.

Alessandro stood up, motioned to Gabriel to stop the music, when the music stopped he spoke in a loud voice calling everyone's attention.

- Thank you all for coming. Alessandro took little Lissana in his arms and said.
- I want to officially introduce my daughter Lissana Veriatte, crown princess of the kingdom of Cossset.

A few murmurs were heard in the room when Alessandro announced that Lissana would be the heir to the throne since she was a girl, Cassian tried to calm the tension that was felt in the room saying in a loud voice.

- LONG LIVE PRINCESS LISSANA.
- Maya shouted.
- Long live the crown princess.

The other nobles imitated them and said words of blessing.

Seeing that his daughter was being acclaimed as the crown princess, he felt satisfied and ordered the music to play again.

Some couples headed to the dance floor, April said to Maya and Cassian.

- Thank you very much for your help.

- It's the least we could do.

Maya approached Lissana and asked Alessandro.

- Will you let me carry her?

- Of course.

Cassian said to his brother.

- This is a ball, you should dance.

- Alessandro made her almost her brother, he extended his hand to Aby with a small bow and said.

- You grant me the honor of this dance.

April took her hand and both went to the dance floor and began to dance letting themselves be carried away by the music.

There was a beautiful smile drawn on Aby's face, Alessandro said.

- I think I've fallen in love again.

- Like this.

- Yes and I will continue to do it over and over again for the rest of my life.

- I feel very lucky to hear that I will be loved for the rest of my life.

Alessandro kissed her and said.

- Do you think this will be our happy ending? April returned the kiss and replied.

- No, this is just the beginning of our story.

CHAPTER 206: EXTRA

In the middle of the night, when the darkness is thickest and evil is strongest. Cira came out of her hiding place, from a hole hidden deep in a mountain, she had been in that place weak and almost powerless, for more than a year.

After being defeated by her sister, she only thought of one thing, the way she would get revenge on her, how she would make her suffer. Before disappearing she had sworn to her that she would take away what she loved the most and that was what she planned to do, take away everything that was valuable and important to her.

As she walked through the forest, she heard the voice of that darkness inside her, speaking in her mind.

If you enter the crack that leads to Hades you will regain your power immediately.

I will not do what you want, I am not stupid, if I do that you will take my body and I would disappear.

But I would make your wish come true, I would take revenge for you.

No, although I want revenge, I do not intend to give up what I am for it.

Cira continued walking in that forest, among the shadows she heard dark noises from the creatures of the night, but she was not afraid, they were much more dangerous than any creature that could inhabit that forest.

She continued walking until she reached a small clearing, there she gave a hard blow to the ground using the little magic that she had gathered until that moment. A crack opened in the ground and a black smoke came out of it, shortly after some monsters came out of the crack. They were small and weak, but they would serve the purpose she needed them for.

There was one shaped like a bird that had red eyes and a grotesque appearance, she grabbed it by the neck, gave it the order to be her eyes outside that mountain and sent it to the royal palace of Cosset.

Cira returned to her hiding place, completely exhausted. She slept for a whole day, when she woke up, after opening her eyes, she didn't see the darkness of her hiding place, but a beautiful orange sky, she saw the sun slowly hiding behind the mountains and she could also see the royal palace of Cosset and its tall towers rising to the sky.

That bird descended and showed her the gardens of the royal palace, bathed by the last rays of sunlight. They were beautiful, everything in that place was. Anger boiled inside her, while she had been in the dark for more than a year, her sister had been enjoying a beautiful life.

The bird flew by one of the windows and what she saw made her hate her sister even more, although it had also given her an idea to make her suffer. A girl, her sister had had a daughter and now enjoyed a beautiful family.

Enjoy your happiness while you can, because I will make sure it doesn't last long, I will take everything from you, I will make you completely alone, as you had always been.

Cira ordered the bird to hide, she didn't want to be discovered so soon, she didn't want to alert her sister of her presence.

Abril was lulling Lissana when she felt a strange presence, but it was only for an instant, so she thought that maybe she had made a mistake, that it had all been a product of her imagination. More than a year had passed, but she was still nervous, she didn't know when Cira would attack again.

When the baby fell asleep, Abril gently placed her in the crib and called one of the maids to stay with her while she took a bath.

Marin, the maid who took care of Lissana, was very tired, that day she had helped in the kitchen since the maid who normally did it had fallen ill; while she saw the baby sleeping peacefully, her eyes began to close without realizing it and she ended up falling asleep.

A dark shadow in the shape of a bird entered the room and landed on the edge of the crib. Lissana woke up, although the bird in front of her was terrifying and grotesque, she didn't cry, she just stared at it.

Cira from the darkness of her cave ordered the bird to attack. The bird swooped down to attack the little baby.

April was in the bathtub enjoying her bath when she felt a strange presence, it was small but full of evil; that presence came from Lissana's room, April got out of the bathtub, wrapped herself in a robe and ran to Lissana's room, when she arrived, what she saw surprised her.

Lissana extended her small arms and a bright light came out of her hands, touching the bird-shaped monster made it disappear turning into ashes.

April ran to Lissana's side, picked her up and checked her small body for wounds, but there were none. April hugged her to her chest and felt relief at seeing that she was okay and fear at knowing that her daughter's powers had awakened, since it was not normal for her power to manifest at such a young age.

Marin woke up, seeing the queen she immediately got up.

Your majesty, I'm sorry, I was very tired, I must have fallen asleep without realizing it, I promise this won't happen again.

In reality, Marin being asleep had been a good thing, only April knew that her daughter's power had awakened and she wanted to keep it that way for some time.

Don't worry, Lissana just woke up. April went to the crib, there was no trace of that monster left, however she could feel Lissana's power flowing in that room and she was sure that for some time no monster or evil creature could get close to that room. April kissed her baby on the forehead and said to Marin.

Take care of her and if something strange happens tell me.

As your majesty commands.

April left the room and swore to protect her daughter from everything and everyone, she would not let anything or anyone hurt her little girl.
