

Shelby is Pregnant

Chapter 36

Shelby's POV

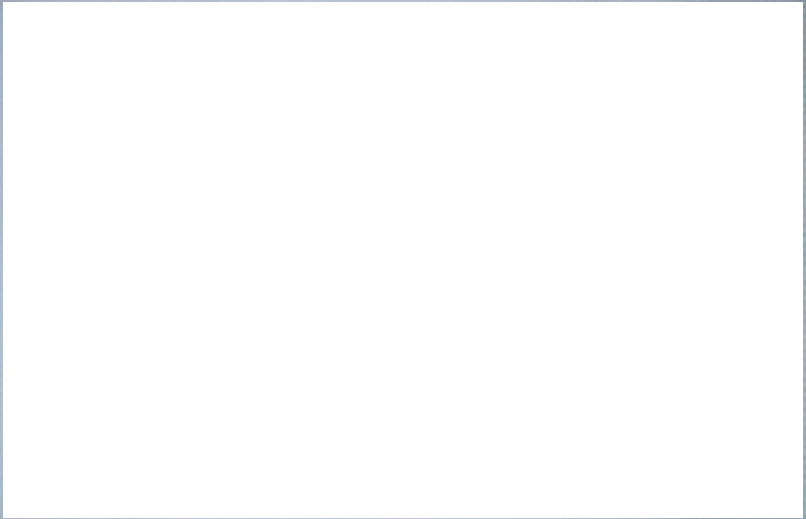

I have been sick for about 2 weeks now, and I have finally been successful with getting pregnant. I have hired some new men, better at protecting me, and they cost a lot more than the last four, but those men were obviously not qualified at their jobs to be beaten by a bunch of mutts. I mean I thought that all they did was phase into their wolves and then fight. No one ever told me that they could be armed, and apparently very dangerous.

I hired these new men, and they are costing me double what I was paying, but I finally feel a little safer now. I am heading to the Witch to get another set of the potion. I had gone to the pack doctor, and he had verified that I was indeed pregnant at this time, and I wanted to speak to the witch and tell her she could stop making the fertility part of the potion, but I still needed to smell like Sabrina for Nico.

He knows in his head that it is me, but I know if I didn't have the spell on me, then Nico probably wouldn't have s*x with me anymore and I definitely wanted that to continue. I now know what the witch meant when she said that she would make him as passionate with me as he was with Sabrina. I always thought that we had a great s*l relationship, but I was wrong. We are so much better together now that I smell like her, even though they are not mates anymore. He clearly loved her very much, and that makes me furious sometimes. Especially when he holds me and tells me he loves me and then calls me Sabrina. That always pisses me off. I don't know if he does it because he is punishing me, or if, sometimes after we have s*x, he forgets that I am Shelby. Whatever the answer is, I am pissed off about it. I am excited to speak to the witch and see what else I can do that would make him love me now that Sabrina is gone, well gone to him anymore. I saw what happened at the gate and I was so excited to see that she belonged to another man, and not my Nico anymore.

If I am honest, I am maybe a little jealous of her for having been given to two very attractive and virile men as mates. That little bh has all the fg luck. When I told Nico that I was pregnant after my doctor's appointment this morning when I found out, his eyes lit up for a little while and he was so excited. But I know why he got upset again. It was because he remembered that Sabrina was pregnant as well, and he wanted her still, and the stupid brat they created. He will never value our child together as he will value theirs and that is because he still loves her and not me and because their child will be 100% able to phase into a wolf. My baby may not ever be able to do that.

We arrive at the witch's home, and I go inside with one of my men and leave the rest outside. They don't need to know about the witch at all. I just take the one that I trust the most, and is the cutest, as he is my sidepiece in the pack these days. Nico only sleeps with me when he is desperate, and that is like two or maybe three times a week now. Henry was kind of surprised when I asked him if he would be interested in an additional benefit, and then he showed me he really was interested very quickly. He stays with me all the time now, and I could not be more thrilled with how this played out. The other men suspect, but they make enough money to keep their mouths shut about it.

I greeted the witch as she let us into her home. I found out her name was Jennifer Scott, on my second trip here, two weeks after Nico rejected Sabrina to get my next batch. Now we are on a first-name basis, and I call her Jen, as she is a big help to me. I like her and she likes the money I pay her, so she is very accommodating about what I need her to do. I settled into a chair near her as she asked me "What do you need to be included in the next potion, Shelby?" and she smiled like she already knew I was pregnant.

"Well, I am pregnant Jen, but I guess you knew that already, so I won't need the potion to include pregnancy anymore. I would still like to smell like Sabrina, that always helps Nico out. But I would like to look like me and see how that works. He is aware that it is me and I think I can just get by with just smelling like her now. I was also interested in a love potion as well. So, if you can do a love potion that can work on him, as it is horrible when we get through having s*x and he tells me that he loves me and then calls me Sabrina. I can do without that anymore", I told her.

"So, you have confirmed that you are pregnant then," Jen asked me.

"Yes, I found out this morning and I already told him. He was really happy, but then he got upset because he remembered that Sabrina was pregnant with their child as well, and he wanted them back. He will always value her and her baby over mine. Is there a potion that you can give me to make sure that my baby gets to be a werewolf too? Can you do that, make it so that my baby is guaranteed to also be able to phase. Nico would only love him if our baby could phase into a werewolf. I want my baby to be as loved as Sabrina's child will be". I asked Jen and I am praying that there is something that she can do to make sure that my baby gets Nico's love too.

"I can keep you smelling like Sabrina, and I can try to do a love potion, but on that, I cannot guarantee it, he is still in love with Sabrina, and has not let that go. I can try to do one and it will at least make your time together more pleasant. It is hard to get a love spell to work on Alphas. The only reason your spell worked was that he already loved his mate, and I made you look, and smell, like her. I am glad that it worked, but I was pretty sure it would because the first one I gave you was very potent. I was trying to get you pregnant from the beginning, and it obviously worked as I started you off with the strongest one, and then they got a little lower in power, so you would be able to conceive from the start", Jen told me, and I nodded in agreement. It obviously worked, and very well.

"Yes, I am very pleased with how well it worked. I appreciate you getting me to be able to conceive, as I have tried for years and was not able to give Nico the child that he wanted so badly. I can now rest easier in the fact that Nico will have to keep me around, as I am the mother of his child", I told Jen.

"I am as well, since you are a human, I had to really pull out all the stops for you. You would have been the most fertile when you started taking them, and I am glad for you as well. I love having a happy customer, as then you will be a return customer", Jen said and smiled at me, and I was trying not to panic now because I just realized that I had a problem, a pretty big problem.

"Jen, you said I was the most fertile right there at the start when I took the first potion. So, would I conceive a baby the first couple of times I have s*x? Or did it need a few days to get into my system? When would I have gotten pregnant based on your potion?" I asked her and tried to remain calm.

"You said you wanted to get pregnant so that first few times were all you needed to get pregnant, Shelby. It would have happened within the first few days for you to conceive. You asked to be able to get pregnant and that is what I created the potions for. Why? Did you not sleep with Nico first?" Jen asked me and I see the panic in her widened eyes now, as she didn't realize that I slept with someone else before I slept with Nico.

"I have a man on the side that I have a standing appointment with that I met up with, as Nico was with his mate, and I didn't know when he would be coming back. I was only with him for two days before I got back with Nico. What are the odds that the guy I have on the side is the father of my baby?" I asked quietly, as I am really worried about the answer to this question.

"Very high, I made it the strongest batch, so within an hour of you drinking it, you were as fertile as you were ever going to be. You were probably pregnant within a day or two of drinking the potion, Shelby. That was your request, and you didn't mention you were sleeping with others to me. I made it so that Nico would have you pregnant within the first two to three days, as that was what you wanted. I told you that you would be fertile after drinking it when I gave it to you", Jen tells me, and she looks like she is about to cry.

I am about to cry too, as I don't know why I didn't think of this myself. Yea, I know why I missed it. Nico was off fg Sabrina, and I was angry and horny. That was why it happened. It wasn't Jen's fault, but holy st, I am in really deep now. I am probably carrying Gary's baby, not Nico's. I am so screwed. This baby is totally going to come out blonde with two blonde parents and Nico will know that it isn't his baby. They can freaking smell their babies and know that it isn't theirs. I am completely finished now. I am stuck. I don't see a way out of this for me. I glance over at Henry, and he seems pissed off, now that he knows I am sleeping with two other guys, and him. He would be really pissed if he knew about the warriors. Why can't anything seem to go my way?

Shelby is Pregnant
