Chapter 126: Slaying a Tribulation Cultivator, Master of Ten Thousand Talismans_4

"The Gathering Spirit Pill can quickly increase the spiritual power inside your body after consumption."

"The remaining three bottles are Grain Avoidance Pills; consuming one means you won't need any food for ten days."

"These are also elixirs commonly carried by loose cultivators."

"After all, loose cultivators cannot afford spirit rice and spirit meat, so they can only eat tasteless Grain Avoidance Pills to fill their stomachs."

The Primordial Talisman Pen glanced at them and immediately provided the origin of these elixirs.

It's estimated that all the spirit stones of these three tribulation cultivators were spent on buying elixirs.

Otherwise, it would be impossible for them to only have this few spirit stones.

"Grain Avoidance Pills? Do cultivators really have such miraculous elixirs?"

Su Weiwei widened her beautiful eyes, very surprised.

She remembered her past experience of hunger, never expecting that the cultivation realm would have such wondrous elixirs like Grain Avoidance Pills. If such elixirs appeared in the mortal world, they could save countless disaster victims.

Unfortunately, Grain Avoidance Pills would not appear in the mortal world.

Ordinary people can't afford to eat them.

"Elder Fu, do we talisman cultivators not have any combat techniques?"

Jiang Fan asked.

After going through what just happened, he urgently needed some combat techniques.

His own strength was too weak in the cruel cultivation realm.

Just now, he only used a Golden Sword Talisman to kill the three tribulation cultivators.

The problem is, now he only has two Golden Sword Talismans left.

Once used up, he would no longer have any means of protection.

So he wanted to know how talisman cultivators actually fought.

"Of course, talisman cultivators typically use talismans in combat."

"Top talisman masters would generally carry dozens or even hundreds of talismans."

"As soon as an enemy attacks, talismans can be used for combat."

"However, since talismans are expensive, ordinary talisman masters avoid combat if possible."

"Typically, talisman masters hide away as logistics personnel."

"Specializing in drawing talismans for other cultivators."

"But talisman masters from our Primordial Talisman Sect are different; they are combat-oriented."

"Once one has cultivated the Mixed Element Talisman Scripture and formed a Primordial Talisman, then they can perform Void Condensing Talisman."

"Able to instantly coalesce the power of the talisman to crush the enemy."

"As long as the spiritual power inside the body isn't exhausted, it can be used continuously."

"In some respects, it's somewhat similar to the methods of technique cultivators."

The Primordial Talisman Pen smiled slightly and explained the methods of talisman cultivation.

"But the Primordial Talisman on me seems to have no combat power."

Jiang Fan blinked.

He also tried to activate the power of the Primordial Talisman, but at most could just activate the primordial spiritual power within his body, unable to unleash any strong power.

Thus, he felt the Primordial Talisman was just an empty shell.

Nice to look at but useless.

"The current Primordial Talisman is indeed just an empty shell."

"That's why you need to engrave other talismans into the Primordial Talisman."

"Once successfully engraved, it's equivalent to eternally carrying a talisman that can be instantly activated anytime, without wasting any time."

"At First-Layer Qi Cultivation, you can engrave one talisman, and at Second-Layer Qi Cultivation, two talismans."

"Following this logic, cultivating up to Ninth-Layer Qi Cultivation means you can have nine talismans."

"If you reach Foundation Establishment, Golden Core, and other realms, then your Primordial Talisman can carry more talismans."

"That's why the talisman masters in our Primordial Talisman Sect are called Masters of Ten Thousand Talismans."

"Of course, even back in the day at the Primordial Talisman Sect, only a few could successfully cultivate the Mixed Element Talisman Scripture."

"Most disciples wasted years of cultivation without success and would switch to other cultivation techniques."

"Only a few true disciples could genuinely inherit the legacy of the Primordial Talisman Sect."

The Primordial Talismans Pen spoke with deep sentiment.

Thus, when it learned that Jiang Fan had grasped the basics of the Mixed Element Talisman Scripture in just one day, it was extremely shocked inside.

If it were the peak period of the Primordial Talisman Sect, this young man would definitely be the Daoist of the Primordial Talisman Sect, the next Sect Leader.

Someone with such innate talent inheriting the orthodoxy of the Primordial Talisman Sect means its destiny is not over.

"Can other talismans really be engraved on the Primordial Talisman? Truly deserving of the Mixed Element Talisman Scripture."

Jiang Fan's eyes suddenly brightened, feeling very excited.

He had underestimated the power of this ultimate cultivation technique.

If cultivated to a high level, it would certainly be extraordinary.
