Chapter 136: Promotion to Lower Grade Talisman Master_4

"Failed?"

"Indeed, when crafting talismans, one must ensure an absolutely calm state."

"Every stroke of the talisman must be infused with equal spiritual power."

"Any fluctuation in spiritual power can lead to the talisman paper spontaneously combusting, causing failure in the crafting process."

Jiang Fan felt quite helpless, seeing success within reach, but at the last moment he relaxed, resulting in failure.

He understood why so few cultivators could become a talisman master.

Refining talismans is not an easy task.

Even a slight fluctuation in spiritual power can lead to total failure.

It's much like a surgeon from the past, who must remain absolutely steady during surgery.

Otherwise, it could lead to surgical failure.

Moreover, the difficulties of becoming a talisman master don't end there.

Every cultivator has limited spiritual power and spiritual sense.

A low tier Qi cultivation stage cultivator can only draw about ten talismans a day.

Whether successful or failed, their internal spiritual power will be exhausted.

If they wish to continue practicing, they'll have to wait until the next day.

Of course, as Jiang Fan has cultivated the Mixed Element Talisman Scripture, his internal spiritual power is naturally incomparable to ordinary cultivators.

Compared to cultivators of the same stage, he can easily draw forty to fifty talismans a day without any problem.

This has placed him above ordinary cultivators right from the start.

If failure occurs too frequently, it'll lead to excessive consumption of talisman paper and ink.

Such materials need to be bought with spirit stones.

Ordinary cultivators can't afford to bear such losses.

Over time, many cultivators simply give up on becoming a talisman master.

After all, the cost of becoming a talisman master is too high.

If one doesn't possess enough talent, it's better not to pursue becoming a talisman master.

"It seems I must rely on the power of Luck Points."

Jiang Fan's eyes shone brightly.

He felt it wasn't wrong to do so.

Because Luck Points are inherently the power of his own Life Chart, a unique talent.

To quickly master the technique of talisman making and save costs, why not?

Much like being able to drive across thousands of kilometers to reach a destination, why insist on running?

Is it to appear physically robust?!

"Oh, learning the Silence Talisman only requires one hundred Luck Points?"

"The cost-effectiveness is unexpectedly high?"

Jiang Fan was a bit surprised, after all, one hundred Luck Points could enable him to draw Silence Talismans from a beginner level to perfection quickly, which was fantastic.

Given he currently had one thousand nine hundred sixty Luck Points.

This amount was enough for him to learn the techniques for refining many lower-grade talismans.

Simultaneously, it allows him to quickly become a low grade talisman master.

Considering this, he didn't hesitate and immediately spent one hundred Luck Points.

Suddenly, Jiang Fan found that a mysterious energy instantly transported his soul to a mystical space.

In this mystical space, he was drawing the Silence Talisman there.

A year, two years, three years, five years, then ten years passed.

He kept drawing the Silence Talisman.

He didn't realize so much time had passed.

From being unskilled to skilled, until mastery, it seemed he had reached an uncanny level, completing the Silence Talisman effortlessly with a single stroke.

Boom~~

At the next moment, Jiang Fan felt his soul gently tremble, with a flood of memories about the Silence Talisman pouring in, as if forming muscle memory, becoming instinctual.

"Let's give it a try."

Jiang Fan's eyes shone brightly, now he seemed to possess the aura of a master level talisman master, holding the talisman pen, beginning to draw elegantly on the talisman paper.

Instantly, he completed it in one go.

On the talisman paper, a series of talisman patterns appeared, seamlessly integrated.

Each stroke was perfect, as if machine-carved, without a single flaw.

Silence Talisman, complete.

Immediately, this talisman emitted a faint blue light, containing strands of spiritual power.

Undoubtedly, the perfection level of the Silence Talisman technique made his talisman making success rate one hundred percent.

Basically, there couldn't be any errors.

Thud!

With this thought, Jiang Fan moved his mind, channeling his internal spiritual power into the Silence Talisman.

Immediately, this Silence Talisman was activated, forming a large Silence Barrier, enveloping the entire wooden house.

This way, any sound inside the Silence Barrier couldn't escape.

No sound from outside could penetrate inside.

Moreover, this Silence Talisman could last for at least a month.

Knowing that ordinary Silence Talismans often only last a day.

Therefore, loose cultivators in the shanty town couldn't afford Silence Talismans.

Undeniably, this was the perfection level of Silence Talisman skill, which ordinary talisman masters couldn't compare.

"Now I'm a low grade talisman master."

Jiang Fan felt very delighted, showing a smile.

The standard for becoming a low grade talisman master was actually simple, being able to refine lower-grade talismans.

Even just one lower-grade talisman qualifies one as a low grade talisman master.
