Chapter 179: Six-winged Poison Bee Hatches, Winter Arrives

"It's probably not that simple to live in the market.

After all, building a market isn't for us loose cultivators to live and eat freely."

"Even if we can actually live there, the price might not be something ordinary loose cultivators can afford."

One loose cultivator sneered, there's no such thing as a free lunch in this world.

Even if Cyan Forest Market really expands successfully, those cultivators who can actually live there will still be very few.

Most cultivators can only live in the slums.

"That's fine, living in the slums is better than the wilderness."

"It's still better than us not being able to buy high-tier cultivation resources now."

"The question is, when can Cyan Forest Market be fully repaired?"

Many cultivators asked curiously.

They were eager to return to Cyan Forest Market immediately.

After all, the cultivation environment where Cyan Forest Market is located is truly excellent.

And there lies a Tier Two Spirit Vein.

It's not comparable to these barren fields.

Most crucially, it's safe.

Nothing can compare to safety.

"Not sure, but even if it's fully repaired, it'll probably take a month or two."

"After all, it's easy to destroy, but building is very difficult."

A loose cultivator said grimly.

He felt that he would still need to stay at this temporary settlement for a while.

For now, it's just something to look forward to.

"One or two more months are needed?"

"If that's the case, then it might be troublesome."

"You haven't forgotten, have you? Winter is coming."

One loose cultivator said with a very serious expression.

What?!

Upon hearing this, everyone's expressions changed involuntarily; those cultivators who recently arrived at the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range may not understand, but those old hands who've been in the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range for a long time know very well the horror of the winter there.

In winter, the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range is covered in snow, and temperatures drop, becoming extremely cold.

If it were just that, fine, but more importantly, the demon beasts of the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range become more ferocious, attacking human cultivators' settlements to get more prey.

Previously, one could rely on the Cyan Forest Market's array power to fend off the demon beasts' attacks.

But now, without the array from Cyan Forest Market, they can only rely on their own strength to resist demon beasts.

When facing a large amount of demon beast attacks, there's no telling how many people could die.

"Looks like we need to prepare for winter."

Many loose cultivators had very grim expressions.

After gathering information, Jiang Fan quickly returned home.

"My husband,"

Upon hearing the sound outside, Su Weiwei immediately welcomed him.

He saw a palm-sized dark golden bee perched on her head, impressively the Six-winged Poison Bee.

A terrible evil qi and killing intent emanated from its body.

The tail was nurturing a poison needle.

Once an enemy gets hit by the poison needle, they're almost certainly dead.

The venom is so potent, it's basically incurable.

Obviously, after these two months, the Ancient Strange Insect Six-winged Poison Bee finally hatched.

And more so, it didn't only hatch.

As a Queen Bee, it's also birthed three Soldier Bees.

Each Soldier Bee is only thumb-sized, with densely packed dark golden patterns, growing six wings.

With a slight tremor of their wings, they move almost like a stream of light.

They are soldiers protecting the Queen Bee, each courageous and fearless.

If anyone dares to harm the Queen Bee, they'll be attacked fiercely.

The poison needles on their bodies shoot out.

Usually, enemies are obliterated by the needles without any defense.

Whether it's speed or attack power, they are top-notch.

This is just after recently hatching.

If they can form a nest, nurturing thousands upon thousands of Soldier Bees, that is when the Six-winged Poison Bee becomes truly terrifying.

But now it's still incredibly vulnerable.

It still needs time to develop.

"Oh, seems the Six-winged Poison Bee is even more spirited today."

"There's no issue with their food, right?"

Jiang Fan rubbed his chin; he sensed that the aura of these Six-winged Poison Bees was much stronger compared to before.

Naturally, their hatching also propelled Su Weiwei's cultivation, allowing her to advance to the Realm of Third-Layer Qi Cultivation.

With their presence, Su Weiwei's safety is further guaranteed.

"No problem."

"Raising Six-winged Poison Bees is simpler than other spirit beasts."

"Because they can find food themselves and bring it back to the Queen Bee."

"As long as the Queen Bee stays by my side, massive amounts of food will naturally be harvested."

Su Weiwei smiled.

If it were ordinary spirit beasts, she would need to specially find suitable food for them.

But the Six-winged Poison Bee is different.

They are omnivorous creatures.

They can not only consume flowers and spirit medicine but also devour demon beasts.

All in all, they eat almost anything, making them easy to raise.

Furthermore, the newly birthed Soldier Bees can actively go out to the wild to search for food.

Their stomachs are like dimensional bags, capable of storing hundreds of kilograms of food at a time.

As their cultivation rises, the food their stomachs can hold increases.

Thus, each time they go out searching for food can consume a significant stretch of time.

They are incredibly sensitive to various heaven and earth spiritual objects.

The power of the Six-winged Poison Bee can help locate hidden heaven and earth spiritual objects and spirit medicine deep in the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range.

It's safe to say, worthy of being an ancient strange insect, their capabilities are exceptional.

"But the Six-winged Poison Bees need to nest, where will they do that?"
