

Fortune 192

Chapter 192: Yin Yang Mandarin Duck Talisman, Nascent Soul Cave Mansion Emerges_2

But if accumulated over the years, it becomes quite astonishing.

"It truly lives up to being the Dual Cultivation Talisman from the Primordial Talisman Sect."

"It's said that cultivating this talisman into a Life Talisman is extremely difficult."

"I never expected that my husband would master it so effortlessly."

"Moreover, it has become the seventh Life Talisman."

"Husband is absolutely a peerless talent in the Cultivation Realm."

"If my husband could join a sect, he would surely become a True Disciple."

Su Weiwei looked at Jiang Fan with admiration.

Having stayed in Cyan Forest Market for so long, she had also interacted with other Loose Cultivators.

Thus, she naturally knew how astonishing her husband's talent really was.

Not only does he have Earth Spirit Root Talent, but he also possesses powerful insight.

The combination of the two makes him unstoppable.

Given time, he will surely become a prominent figure in the Cultivation Realm.

Rebuilding the Primordial Talisman Sect in the future is not an impossible task.

"You're flattering me."

"Instead of complimenting me, you'd better focus on cultivating diligently."

"I feel like what we did last night wasn't enough."

"How about we cultivate harder?"

Jiang Fan embraced Su Weiwei's graceful body, feeling somewhat addicted to this sort of thing.

No, that's not the way to put it.

He just wanted to explore the mysteries of the Yin Yang Mandarin Duck Talisman.

The power of this special talisman isn't just that; surely, there are more abilities yet to be discovered.

"Phooey, you villain."

Su Weiwei's face turned rosy, her beautiful eyes glancing at this villain.

In the blink of an eye, three more months passed.

Winter was gone, and spring arrived.

The long winter quickly passed, ushering in the season of spring.

The snow that once covered the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range quickly melted, everything grew lush and green.

Some hibernating Demon Beasts also awoke one after another.

For Loose Cultivators, this is also the best hunting season.

After all, during this season, numerous Demon Beasts are active, and if Loose Cultivators are lucky, they can hunt many Demon Beasts.

This is often the season when Loose Cultivators reap the most rewards.

The rebuilding of Cyan Forest Market made the place extraordinarily lively.

Especially during these three months, the Great Sun Sword Sect and the Five Elements Pill Sect constantly transported Loose Cultivators here.

As a result, the slum area grew larger, with rows of wooden houses appearing.

This left the Nameless Valley where Jiang Fan resided entirely deserted.

The vast Nameless Valley was left with only Jiang Fan and Su Weiwei.

After all, compared to Cyan Forest Market, the Nameless Valley was far inferior in terms of safety and resources.

These Loose Cultivators naturally wouldn't stay.

Moreover, the Great Sun Sword Sect and the Five Elements Pill Sect recruited many miners to excavate Spirit Stone Ore Veins and Crimson Flame Iron Ore Veins, providing numerous job opportunities for the Loose Cultivators.

This made the Cyan Forest Market thrive even more.

However, this also caused Cyan Forest Market to become increasingly chaotic.

Wherever people gather, there will be conflicts.

Especially when many Loose Cultivators are together, they often fight over resources and treasures.

This has further deteriorated the security of the area.

Reports of robbery and murder frequently reached ears.

Of course, for Jiang Fan and Su Weiwei, these matters had no impact.

They both remained in the Nameless Valley.

Though it's a remote place with little resources, it's safe.

This has allowed them to cultivate peacefully for a while.

Rumble~~~

At this moment, Jiang Fan and Su Weiwei, who had just finished a dual cultivation session, suddenly woke up, as the ground began to tremble, affecting a radius of thousands of kilometers, like some kind of super earthquake.

Many nearby wooden houses collapsed.

However, Jiang Fan's wooden house was unharmed because he added a Strengthening Talisman, merging the entire wooden house with the earth, so even an earthquake could not topple it.

"What happened?"

Su Weiwei was shocked, unsure of what had occurred.

Since coming to Cyan Forest Market, this was the first time she'd experienced something like this.

"Something might have happened."

Jiang Fan said solemnly, feeling a deep, unsettling sensation inside.

It was as if a storm was brewing, with immense danger lurking in the darkness.

This was a sense he'd gained upon advancing to the Seventh-Layer Qi Cultivation.

The ability to foresee fortune and misfortune.

Especially regarding matters concerning his own safety, his senses became even keener.

It's an instinct deep within his own body.

Perhaps it's related to his Life Chart.

As his cultivation improved, his understanding of destiny and fate deepened.

"A change? Could it be another war?"

Su Weiwei immediately thought of the previous war between the Great Sun Sword Sect and the Five Elements Pill Sect, a war that affected countless Loose Cultivators' fates, causing numerous cultivator deaths and displacements.

Now that Cyan Forest Market was finally rebuilt and many cultivators returned to normalcy, there couldn't be another war.

People now longed for stability, and no one wanted to start a war again.

Even sect disciples felt the same.

After all, they cultivated to become immortals, not to risk their lives in endless wars.

"Not sure, it seems like I need to go to Cyan Forest Market to gather information."

Jiang Fan's expression was serious.

Though the Nameless Valley was safe, it also resulted in being cut off from information.

But that wasn't a problem.

After all, Cyan Forest Market wasn't far.

He just needed to make a trip to find out what had happened.

A few days later.

Jiang Fan finally gathered detailed information about the earthquake in Cyan Forest Market.

This news spread like a hurricane throughout the market.

"Major news, major news, someone discovered a mysterious Nascent Soul Cave Mansion while excavating a Spirit Stone Ore Vein, triggering its restrictions and causing this earthquake, affecting a thousand miles."

Someone immediately spread the news, seemingly aiming to cause chaos and profit amid the disorder.

"What? A Nascent Soul Cave Mansion? Does that mean it contains a Nascent Soul inheritance?"

Many Loose Cultivators' pupils contracted with disbelief.

It's important to know that the sects in the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range were only Golden Core Sects, with the Golden Core Realm being the dream of countless cultivators, and the Nascent Soul Realm a realm of legend.

It's said that characters at that level can live for over a thousand years, true titans who can found sects.

True rulers of a region.

If one could gain a portion of the Nascent Soul inheritance, it might be better than becoming a True Disciple of a Golden Core Sect.

This is an unimaginable opportunity for every Loose Cultivator.

"Honestly, it's a fact."

"The Nascent Soul Cave Mansion is covered by a Tier Four Array, definitely a seclusion site for a Nascent Soul Ancestor, and it seems to exist for at least thousands of years, extremely ancient."

"Wait, if that's the case, the Great Sun Sword Sect and the Five Elements Pill Sect would have sealed off this news long ago, so why is it spreading everywhere, don't they want to monopolize this Nascent Soul Cave Mansion?"

"Haha, initially, these two Golden Core Sects indeed wanted to monopolize this Nascent Soul Cave Mansion and the news, but too many Loose Cultivators knew about it, so monopolizing it was impossible. Some Loose Cultivators even used this news as leverage, selling it to make a good amount of Spirit Stones.

Because of this, these two Golden Core Sects couldn't stop the spread of the news; the more they tried, the faster it spread."

"It's over, completely over, before it was just the Spirit Stone Ore Vein and Crimson Flame Iron Ore Vein that led to the war between the two Golden Core Sects, now there's a Nascent Soul Cave Mansion, how outrageous."

"Indeed outrageous, it's said that after other Golden Core Sects in the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range learned of this, they sent disciples to investigate this Nascent Soul Cave Mansion. This is definitely not a benefit that the Great Sun Sword Sect and the Five Elements Pill Sect can monopolize, and if they try, they'll be attacked by other Golden Core Sects."

"Sigh, how long have we been peaceful, why do such things keep happening?"

"Exactly. While it might be an opportunity for those Golden Core Sects, it's a calamity for us Loose Cultivators."

Many Loose Cultivators discussed, looking incredibly grim.

They knew they had no chance of seizing such opportunities, and daring to get close was a path to death.

Instead, the battles among Golden Core Sects could affect them, leading to displacement and death.

Sometimes, opportunities bring not only benefits but also calamities.