Chapter 218: Wanted by the Wu Family, Chaos Spreads to Yunlai City_2

But these loose cultivators are unwilling to leave.

Over time, these slums have sprung up accordingly.

Many poor loose cultivators reside in the slums.

After all, the rent is cheap in this area.

If they truly need to purchase treasures, they can just enter Yunlai City.

You could say loose cultivators not only enjoy the protection of Yunlai City but also the resources within it.

It can truly be said to be a win-win situation.

"Husband, let's take a look."

Su Weiwei said enthusiastically.

Of course, before heading to the slums, they first disguised themselves and altered their aura.

After all, one must be cautious when going to any unfamiliar place.

Not to mention, Yunlai City is a City of Independent Cultivators, mixed with all sorts of people.

There might be even more tribulation cultivators among them.

Regardless, protecting oneself is always the first choice.

Soon, Jiang Fan and Su Weiwei entered the slums of Yunlai City.

Although called slums, they're actually not much different from ordinary small towns.

There are not only commercial districts but also residential areas.

A myriad of loose cultivators has formed a bustling commercial activity here.

Hotels, taverns, elixir shops, talisman shops, magical treasure shops, and so forth are all available.

This made Jiang Fan and Su Weiwei, who had long stayed in the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range, feel the long-lost human ambiance.

"Alas, when will the Great Sun Sword Sect and Five Elements Pill Sect end the war?"

"They've been fighting for several months already, right?"

"It's caused the prices in Yunlai City to rise."

"The prices of talismans, elixirs, magical treasures, and so forth have increased by more than thirty percent compared to before."

"If it continues like this, we really can't survive."

At this time, someone in a tavern complained.

These words immediately resonated with other loose cultivators.

"Isn't it? The wars of these Golden Core sects have no end."

"It's said that these Golden Core sects discovered the ruins of a Nascent Soul Cave Mansion at Cyan Forest Market, and numerous Golden Core Zhenren have arrived there. It's now the battlefield for Golden Core influences, and the loose cultivators originally residing there are miserable, many dead or wounded."

"Nascent Soul Cave Mansion? Which Nascent Soul is it?"

"Seems like it's someone named Daoist Wan Hua. A thousand years ago, this person was definitely a legend in the Cultivation Realm. He only had a low-grade Spirit Root but broke through all the way, eventually becoming a Nascent Soul, a true legend among loose cultivators. However, many cultivators speculate that Daoist Wan Hua undoubtedly acquired great fortunes, otherwise, a mere low-grade Spiritual Root Talent couldn't possibly become a Nascent Soul."

"Indeed, after Daoist Wan Hua fell, countless forces wanted to find where he fell, and unexpectedly, it was discovered by the Great Sun Sword Sect and others."

"No wonder these Golden Core influences are unwilling to leave. Daoist Wan Hua was a renowned Tier Four Alchemist who once refined countless perfect elixirs, so wealthy it was comparable to a nation. Therefore, isn't it possible that there are numerous high-tier elixirs in the fallen cave mansion of this Nascent Soul Ancestor?"

"Not possible, there are indeed high-tier elixirs. Just in the outer area of the cave mansion, several bottles of Tier Three Elixirs were discovered by those Golden Core Zhenren. They immediately fought violently, almost to the death. Rumor has it that even Yunlai City's City Lord, Daoist Yunlai, wants to go there for the competition."

Upon reaching their level, obtaining Tier Three Elixirs isn't so easy. Even with Spirit Stones, one may not be able to buy them.

Many loose cultivators discussed fervently.

After all, three months have passed, and the events at the Nascent Soul Cave Mansion have gradually been spread out.

Such matters couldn't be hidden.

They have long been widely talked about, known by everyone.

Even ordinary loose cultivators are beginning to know about these matters.

"No way, even the City Lord is tempted. If the City Lord falls in this war, won't our Yunlai City be doomed?"

One loose cultivator looked very worried.

To Yunlai City, Daoist Yunlai is the backbone of this Independent Cultivator City, regarded as the Stabilizing Needle.

If he falls, the entire Yunlai City will surely be annexed by other Golden Core influences.

Originally, there are not many places suitable for loose cultivators to stay.

If Yunlai City is also taken over by those Golden Core influences, loose cultivators will practically have nowhere to go.

So naturally, they don't want to see Daoist Yunlai fall.

"There's nothing to be done, this matter concerns the City Lord's path to Daoism, no one can stop it."

"That's right. Don't look at how old the City Lord is, almost over 400 years old, nearing the lifespan limit for a Golden Core Zhenren, but he's still not willing to succumb to old age and hoping to advance further."

"Alas, who doesn't want to advance further, but it's undeniable that if the City Lord truly receives Daoist Wan Hua's legacy, acquires numerous Tier Three Elixirs, even Tier Four Elixirs, he might really have a chance to become a Nascent Soul ancestor."

"Tsk tsk, that's too exaggerated. With the Ten Thousand Beasts Mountain Range occupied by so many Golden Core influences, so many Golden Core Zhenren, how many have become Nascent Souls over the thousand years?"

"If one truly becomes a Nascent Soul, then perhaps our Yunlai City could really become an Immortal City in the future, exist for at least a thousand years."

"Although I have great faith in the City Lord, becoming a Nascent Soul is simply impossible."

"Yeah, plus there are so many Golden Core Zhenren eyeing it, how could one possibly single-handedly take the Nascent Soul inheritance?"
