Chapter 386: Harvesting Heavenly Flower, A Spiritual Object to Enhance Spiritual Root Talent

"I wonder which direction each of you fellow Daoists will choose?"

At this moment, Elder Alchemist Wei Song asked.

After all, to maximize the chance of encountering opportunities, it's naturally best to act separately.

If everyone stays together, then the probability of each obtaining opportunities becomes smaller.

Furthermore, if opportunities appear, they might end up fighting each other and become enemies.

So he felt it's better to act separately to avoid conflicts among each other.

"I plan to take a look at the nearby Xingyue River."

"That river is vast, spanning several thousand kilometers, and contains a large number of Spirit Fish."

"Perhaps something spiritual might emerge there."

Lian Minglan immediately said, having long decided where she wanted to go. She felt a connection with water and believed she might find a suitable opportunity near the river.

"I think Spirit Smoke Valley is nice."

"The place is shrouded in mist and rich in Spiritual Qi."

"It's clear that it's an extraordinary place."

"I believe spiritual objects might appear in that valley."

Chang Lisheng said in a deep voice, having decided on his destination as well.

"I want to walk toward the southwest, without a specific destination."

"I hope to gain something this time."

Jiang Fan also spoke.

Yu Kelian casually chose a direction as well.

After all, everyone was just trying their luck; it didn't matter much which direction.

"In that case, I wish everyone good luck."

Elder Alchemist Wei Song nodded and also casually chose a different direction from the others, quickly flying away.

The other cultivators did the same, swiftly leaving the area.

Jiang Fan and Su Weiwei bid farewell and flew southwest.

As for Su Weiwei, she stayed at Seven Stars Peak, not planning to leave.

Meanwhile, within the Profound Celestial Sword Sect's territory.

Numerous family cultivators and sect cultivators naturally also learned of the Spirit Vein tremor.

Compared to loose cultivators, they understood better what it meant.

Each one of them was overjoyed.

"Haha, the Spirit Vein tremor, the Spirit Vein tremor has finally appeared again."

"Every time a Spirit Vein tremor occurs, a large number of spiritual objects emerge. We absolutely cannot miss it this time."

"Exactly, these spiritual objects are usually hidden deep within the Spirit Veins, impossible for us to find, but during the Spirit Vein tremor, they emerge—this is a rare opportunity."

"If we can obtain some rare spiritual objects, it would be a tremendous fortune. Countless predecessors have flown sky-high from similar opportunities, benefiting immensely."

Various cultivators were ecstatic.

They were eager to depart immediately and seize all the emerging spiritual objects in their grasp.

It's as if those soon-to-emerge spiritual objects were already considered theirs.

"The issue is, apart from us, loose cultivators also know about this."

"And there are so many loose cultivators; perhaps they might have seized the opportunities early."

Some sect cultivators worried about this.

After all, obtaining emerging spiritual objects still requires some degree of luck.

Without sufficient luck, all they could do was watch in vain.

The area governed by the Profound Celestial Sword Sect is immense, with only a small section truly under their control.

Because their manpower is still too limited.

It's impossible to monitor every place within the sect's territory.

"No need to worry."

"If those loose cultivators obtain spiritual objects without our discovery, then so be it."

"After all, that's their luck, and we have nothing to say."

"But if discovered by us at the same time, then it's kill without mercy."

"Treasures naturally belong to the virtuous, and those loose cultivators lack the virtue. Forcing themselves to get spiritual objects is just courting death."

There was a heated discussion, and their bodies exuded a murderous aura.

Obviously, every Spirit Vein tremor and emergence of spiritual objects is inevitably accompanied by slaughter and casualties.

No one would give up on competing for opportunities.

If they want an opportunity, they must battle for it.

If other cultivators want to take action, they will have to face them.

Immediately, numerous family cultivators and sect cultivators set out.

They dispersed across different places, attempting to locate those soon-to-emerge spiritual objects.

At that moment, the entire region turned lively.

At sunset.

Near Cuiyun Peak.

Jiang Fan also slowly arrived at this place with the power of the Light Body Talisman.

He knew that according to the Fortune-Telling Talisman, the opportunity, although present here, required the time of sunset.

Most likely, arriving at other times would result in missing the chance or a fruitless endeavor.

At this moment, his Spiritual Sense covered all directions.

Evidently, besides him, there were no other cultivators in this area.

Truth be told, this was a good thing.

Otherwise, if he encountered other cultivators and an opportunity appeared, a fight would be inevitable.

Rumble~~

Just then, as the sun had just set, the ground near Cuiyun Peak began to tremble.

A massive crack appeared in the ground, with rubble flying everywhere.

A surge of massive Spiritual Qi spewed from the crack, shooting into the sky, accompanied by multicolored rays of light.

Forming a vast Spiritual Energy Vortex.

"Is the Spirit Vein tremor happening again?"

Jiang Fan had learned from Elder Alchemist Wei Song that the Spirit Vein tremor wouldn't just occur once but would last for several days, causing continuous tremors daily.

This would provoke countless Spirit Veins deep underground to vibrate, generating terrifying Spiritual Qi storms.
