

Fortune 498

Chapter 498: Great Harvest, Sub-Immortal Artifact Immortal Dew Bottle_2

Previously, he had been on the run, searching for a safe place, so he didn't have time to explore the Second-Grade Opportunity.

But now that he had found a safe place, he had the time to study it.

Swoosh!

At this moment, he appeared in the inner world of the Exquisite Tower, effortlessly cutting open the corpse of the Tier Four Demon Beast and finding some remains of human cultivators in its stomach.

Undoubtedly, these human cultivators had all been brutally killed by it and even eaten raw as food.

Besides the remains of human cultivators, there was also a Storage Bag inside the stomach.

It was evident that the treasures inside this Storage Bag were the origins of the Second-Grade Opportunity.

With a wave of his hand, Jiang Fan immediately took the Storage Bag.

Since the owner of the Storage Bag had died, it naturally opened easily.

Immediately, a series of treasures appeared inside.

However, these treasures were very common and nothing significant.

His gaze fell on a white jade bottle, which looked like it was made of white jade but appeared as an ordinary bottle on the outside, not at all like a treasure.

But he knew that this white jade bottle was the Second-Grade Opportunity he had obtained, a treasure not inferior to the Gate of the Void, but without fully refining it, its mystical effects could not be utilized.

"Does it need to be refined?"

"For me, such a task is extremely easy."

Jiang Fan smiled slightly. For other cultivators, refining precious treasures was excessively difficult, even an impossible task.

But for him, with the help of immense Destiny, as long as there are enough Luck Points, any treasure can be refined and can even be forced to recognize a master.

Rumble~~

In an instant, without any hesitation, Jiang Fan held the white jade bottle, rapidly consuming a large number of Luck Points from his body.

Fifty thousand Luck Points, a hundred thousand Luck Points, a hundred and fifty thousand Luck Points, two hundred thousand Luck Points...

In the end, he consumed a total of two hundred and fifty thousand Luck Points.

This was also the time he spent the most Luck Points.

But evidently, it was worth it, as a mysterious energy instantly merged into the white jade bottle, allowing his mind to integrate with it, effortlessly delving into the core of this treasure.

It seemed at that moment he reached the Realm of Unity of Man and Artifact.

He knew that he had fully mastered this mysterious treasure.

"Immortal Dew Bottle!"

Jiang Fan's eyes gleamed, instantly obtaining much information from this treasure, first learning its name — the Immortal Dew Bottle.

And the ability of this treasure was quite simple, which was to condense drop by drop of Immortal Dew.

Each drop of Immortal Dew possessed incredible effects.

If dripped on plants, one drop could reduce the growth time of Spirit Plant by a hundred years.

This means if one wanted to obtain a thousand-year-old Spirit Medicine, ten drops of Immortal Dew would suffice.

As long as it was dripped on a Spirit Plant seed, that plant could instantly grow into a thousand-year-old Spirit Medicine.

However, since Jiang Fan's cultivation was only at the Third-Layer Golden Core, he could condense only one drop of Immortal Dew per month.

If his cultivation further improved, he would be able to condense more Immortal Dew.

"This is a Sub-Immortal Artifact, its effects are no less than the Gate of the Void."

Jiang Fan's spirits were invigorated, feeling the power of this mysterious treasure.

The Gate of the Void was indeed powerful, allowing cultivators to traverse space and cross immense distances.

But the Immortal Dew Bottle was equally extraordinary.

It must be known that the resources cultivators lack the most are precisely various Spirit Medicines.

If cultivators could infinitely obtain Spirit Medicines, even a pig could become an Immortal.

It speaks volumes about the importance of resources for cultivators.

But Spirit Medicines cannot be obtained infinitely.

The more precious the Spirit Medicine, the longer the growth time.

Particularly Tier Three, Tier Four, Tier Five and above Spirit Medicines, often requiring thousands, even tens of thousands of years to grow. What cultivator has such a long lifespan to wait?

But the Immortal Dew Bottle is different; it can hasten the growth of Spirit Medicines.

Just one drop of Immortal Dew can shorten a hundred years of growth time, an astonishing effect.

That means, in a year, he could at least obtain one thousand-year-old Spirit Medicine.

Moreover, as his cultivation grows, he would gain more Immortal Dew.

"If the Gate of the Void is called a Spatial Treasure, then the Immortal Dew Bottle could be considered a Treasure of Life, or even a Treasure of Time," Jiang Fan mused, recognizing the importance of the Immortal Dew Bottle for cultivators.

Even the Gate of the Void is no match for it.

After all, using the Gate of the Void to travel the world required seizing resources and Spirit Medicines personally.

But sometimes rare Spirit Medicines have long since vanished, no matter where you go.

Yet the Immortal Dew Bottle is different.

Even if these rare Spirit Medicines haven't grown or have become extinct, they can still be cultivated using the Immortal Dew.

Even without leaving his residence, he can obtain a large amount of cultivation resources.

This is the importance of this treasure.

"However, it seems this treasure is in a damaged state, not complete."

Jiang Fan carefully felt the power of this treasure and discovered that the Immortal Dew Bottle was damaged. If it were complete, its effects might be even more astonishing, and it's no wonder that others who obtained this treasure never saw any of its miraculous properties.

Because without refining this treasure, it was just an ordinary white jade bottle.

It doesn't produce any Immortal Dew.

But even so, the power of this treasure is strong enough.

"In that case, I can utilize the power of the Immortal Dew Bottle to quickly increase the growth speed of the Purple Gold Jade Marrow Tree, and by then, I can produce more Purple Gold Jade Marrow Fruit."

Thinking of this, Jiang Fan's eyes lit up.

He knew the immense medicinal power contained within the Purple Gold Jade Marrow Fruit.

Just one such Spirit Fruit helped him advance from the Second-Layer Golden Core to the Third-Layer Golden Core.

If he got a few more of such Spirit Fruits, he might not need much time to advance to the Fourth-Layer Golden Core.

He wouldn't even need to go out to seek opportunities.

As long as there's enough Immortal Dew, Spirit Medicines and Spirit Fruits can be grown steadily.

However, currently, the Immortal Dew Bottle can only produce twelve drops of Immortal Dew a year, so it can't be used on a large scale, and must be used cautiously, applying Immortal Dew precisely.

"To make the Purple Gold Jade Marrow Tree bear fruit successfully, it needs at least five hundred years of growth time."

"In other words, five drops of Immortal Dew would suffice."

"I need to wait five months."

Jiang Fan clenched his fists.

"Husband, where did the corpse of this Tier Four Demon Beast come from?"

At this time, Su Weiwei came over to Jiang Fan, inquiring curiously.

She wore a white dress, her waist slender, her figure mesmerizingly curvaceous.

Evidently, after this period of cultivation, her body became even more perfect, her every move exuding endless allure.

"Oh, just got lucky and encountered a dying Tier Four Demon Beast."

"I then ambushed it and killed it, so I brought it back."

Jiang Fan smiled slightly, briefly explaining the series of events.

"Husband, you are truly amazing."

Su Weiwei looked at Jiang Fan with admiration in her eyes. Although he made it sound simple, the dangers within weren't something that words could describe. After all, even a dying Tier Four Demon Beast wasn't easy to kill.

A little carelessness could lead to death and disillusionment.

The ability to ambush and slay a Tier Four Demon Beast was truly an unbelievable achievement.

If outside cultivators knew, it would surely cause a huge sensation.

"This is nothing."

"I'm even better in some aspects."

Jiang Fan embraced Su Weiwei's slender waist. For some reason, even though Su Weiwei hadn't learned any Charm Techniques, her every frown and smile could stir the Pure Yang Fire within him.

But Su Weiwei was his Dao Companion, he didn't need to suppress anything.

"You scoundrel."

Hearing this, Su Weiwei rolled her eyes at Jiang Fan, her beautiful eyes filled with a watery allure.

Soon, the two of them entered the house, exploring the Yin Yang Dao together.