Chapter 517: Thousand-year-old Spirit Medicine, Advancement to Fourth-Layer Golden Core

"Cultivators from the Ancient Era were indeed powerful."

"What is called Divinity Transformation in the Ancient Era was merely a mid-level cultivator."

"Certainly not considered as some kind of ancestor."

"The true rulers of the Void Realm were Mahayana Cultivators, beings infinitely close to immortals."

"Unfortunately, the ancient calamity arrived, inflicting unimaginable devastation upon the Void Realm."

"That's what led to the continuous weakening of the Void Realm."

"Nowadays, Divinity Transformation Cultivators are the limit in this realm."

The Demon-Vibrating Bell remarked with much emotion.

Even it did not expect the Void Realm to have weakened to this extent, where Divinity Transformation Cultivators could rule over this world, something unimaginable in the Void Realm of the past.

One can only say the changes brought by the passage of time were truly vast.

"Indeed, during the Ancient Era, what did a Tier Five Spirit Vein count for?"

"Even Tier Six and Tier Seven Spirit Veins were commonplace."

"Spiritual Qi was not as sparse as today, making cultivation so difficult."

The Exquisite Tower agreed with this as well.

It also felt that this era was too stifling; even Foundation Establishment Cultivators could become elites now.

If it were the Ancient Era, Foundation Establishment Cultivators would only be beginners, not capable of establishing any families.

However, this situation is unavoidable.

The blame lies with the sparse Spiritual Qi and scarce resources of this era.

"Damn, these old folks are showing off again."

Upon hearing this, the Ten Thousand Transformations Pill Furnace felt quite frustrated, unable to participate in this highbrow conversation, as it was not from the Ancient Era but emerged in this current era.

In terms of experience, naturally, it couldn't compare to these antiques.

But it felt it wasn't because it was inferior to the others, but purely because these fellows were older.

"If that's the case, is there any chance the Void Realm could be restored to its ancient grandeur?"

Jiang Fan questioned curiously.

If he were in the Void Realm of the Ancient Era, perhaps he would grow more quickly.

Yet this current era is not bad either, at least one wouldn't face overly powerful enemies.

For someone of humble beginnings like himself, this era is actually the best.

"Unclear, probably impossible."

"After all, the Void Realm suffered too great a wound."

The Demon-Vibrating Bell said solemnly, believing it's very unlikely to restore to its past glory; history's splendor has long departed.

"It may not be entirely impossible."

"As far as I know, some ancient noble families and forces of the Void Realm haven't been destroyed but left the Void Realm."

"Perhaps one day, these ancient forces may return to the Void Realm."

"Then the Void Realm could potentially be restored to its former grandeur."

The Primordial Talisman Pen seemed to recall something, speaking solemnly.

"Left the Void Realm? If so, why didn't the Primordial Talisman Sect leave?"

The Demon-Vibrating Bell inquired.

"The Primordial Talisman Sect did leave with some of its forces."

"But still, most of the strength remained, choosing to share life and death with the Void Realm."

The Primordial Talisman Pen seemed cautious and did not intend to reveal these secrets.

And Jiang Fan naturally noticed this, saying: "Alright, alright, it's just the affairs of the Ancient Times, not much related to us now, and currently the most important thing is to improve cultivation; other matters are too distant."

He temporarily chose not to delve deeply into what happened to the Primordial Talisman Sect in the past.

After all, no matter what happened, it isn't something he, a Golden Core Cultivator, could handle.

Likely, one must at least become a Divinity Transformation Cultivator to be qualified to investigate these secrets.

Knowing these matters now is nothing but unnecessary worry.

"Hmm, this seems to be the Snow Jade Bone Ginseng."

Jiang Fan's heart was stirred, finding a spirit medicine from the space ring, snow-white throughout, bone-like and jade-like, crystal clear, exuding a faint medicinal fragrance.

Normally, this would be classified as a Tier Four Spirit Medicine.

If it could grow for a thousand years, it would become a Thousand-Year-Old Snow Jade Bone Ginseng, with extraordinary medicinal power.

The problem is this Snow Jade Bone Ginseng has only grown for a hundred years now.

The result was someone harvested it prematurely.

So it can only be considered a Tier One Spirit Medicine.

"These damned Demon Cultivators are indeed reckless and destructive."

Jiang Fan clenched his fist.

Unquestionably, when these two Golden Core Demon Cultivators discovered this Snow Jade Bone Ginseng, it had merely grown for a hundred years, but they couldn't wait for a millennium of time.

Given the thousand-year wait, they didn't know if they'd still exist.

So rather than leave it for future generations, they decided to consume it now, thus directly harvesting the Snow Jade Bone Ginseng.

Not wanting to let other cultivators benefit.

This caused the Snow Jade Bone Ginseng to halt its growth at a hundred years, losing the chance to become a Tier Four Spirit Medicine.

"Fortunately, I have the Immortal Dew Bottle, possibly providing a chance for remedy."

Jiang Fan stroked his chin.

Evidently, the power of Immortal Dew should accelerate the Snow Jade Bone Ginseng's growth, rescuing this Tier Four Spirit Medicine.

With that thought, he didn't hesitate, immediately taking out the Immortal Dew Bottle from himself, then dropping a full nine drops of Immortal Dew onto the Snow Jade Bone Ginseng.

Rumble~~~

Instantly, the Snow Jade Bone Ginseng absorbed the surrounding Spiritual Qi, as though it devoured countless Essences of Heaven and Earth, originally only thumb-sized, then rapidly growing to palm-size.

At the same time, its body became crystal clear, as if it were a piece of artwork.

Every strand of ginseng root on its body contained immense medicinal power.
