She then sent Queenie the address a direct message.

Queenie glanced at it and sneered Without a second thought, she grabbed her coat and hag but left the livestream cunning. "It's probably just nonsense."

She got in the car and instructed the driver to go to the address Madison had provided.
The driver took her straight to the location.

The destination was an old apartment building without an elevator. As drisk tell, the streetlights began to illuminate the area.

Queen and Rebecca excited the car and folked Madison's directions op to the fifth floor of the building The old building was only five stories tall, and the states led to a rooftop

she heard the sound of a car aring downstars,

"They're here," Madison said.

Queenie held her breath instinctively and heard the sounds of footsteps. One was heavy, and one was light indicating that they belonged to a man and a woman

As the footsteps reached the 11th floor, a woman's voice broke the silence "I'm home now. You can leave, Mr. Nocton."

Queenie recognized the woman's voice at once.

"What? You're ignoring me now that you're with Harvey? Kevin questioned coldly. "You just met him, but you're already taking his side? You were chatting so happily with him at the party just now!" mrah responded helplessly, "You're already engaged. You have no right to interfere in my affairs."

Kevin retorted. "Even I'm married, you're still not a timant."

Farrah screamed in response.

Queenie's expression darkened. Meanwhile, the comment section of the livestream was flooded with reactions to the dramatic turn of events

"Let go! Let go of me!"

"Let go? Didn't you used to like this?"

"You're crazy! Aren't you worried your fiancée will find out?"

Kevin held Farrah close. "So what if she finds out? it was she who agreed to marry me. The Andersen family sought me out."

As Kevin and Farrah continued their intense exchange, a sharp knife cut through the air. The two of them looked up to see Queenie and Rebecca rounding the corner of the stairs.

Queenie's face was filled with fury as she rushed down and slapped Farrah "You bitch!"

Farrah's head turned to the side due to the blow of the slap, but she remained silent.

Queenie was about to slap her again, but Kevin grabbed her wrist to stop her. "Stop it!"

Queenie shook off his hand and retaliated with a hard slap to his face. "You're in the wrong, but you're telling me that"

The second she rushed across the stairwell

It was Ben Anderson.

Queenie turned to see her father and her brothers arriving on the scene. She called out loudly, "Dad"

She turned to Son, who comforted her with a hug. "It's alright. I'm here."

Her brothers began swinging their fists

Farrah's eyes widened.

The livestream abruptly ended

Seeing that the livestream was cut off, Madison said to the camera, "That concludes today's livestream."

Before the viewers could fully process what happened, Madison had already ended the livestream.

The viewers were stunned speechless by how abrupt it was. There was still more drama to witness, but unfortunately, they wouldn't be able to continue watching it.

Jordan excely pulled out a chair for her and asked if she was craving any other food.

"No. I'm good," she replied.

Yesterday, Jordan had been busy hanging out with the younger crowd of thecing, so he missed Madison's livestream. It wasn't until he returned to the hotel and learned about the events that he went in look for the video recording online.

He watched the entire livestream from start to finish. He negretted not watching such an entertaining show thee!

Jordan's eyes widened in shock Considering what he had heard about Kevin, he asked, "Really? It doesn't seem so.

Madison clarified, "Kevin in just any mama's boy. He's capable but is unable to ersist his mother's influrnent

Jordan quickly nodded in agreement. "Kessin's parents were in an arranged marriage. His father died in an art when Kevin was very young, and his mother raised him alone." Kevin's background made his mama's boy tendencies less surprising.

Madison glanced at him

With an Ingratiating smile, Jordan said, "Ms. Madison, I promise I won't speck out of turn"

Only then did Madison nod

They agreed to meet in the lobby in half an hour.

Madison returned to her room to propise. Just then, the doorbell rang.

Upon opening the door, she saw Tampa, Willam, and Harvey outside.

There were faint dark circles under Tanya's and William's eyes, clearly showing they had had a rough night tu centras, Harvey looked refreshed and relaxed

Madison stepped aside to let them in.

Once inside and with the door closed, Tanya asked urgently, "Maddie, tell me the truth. Does your older brother have a destined marriage or not?"

Madison looked at Harvey, who appeared resigned. He explained, "Thanks to last night's interview, I've become famous."

Even though Farrah and Kevin had only mentioned his once, everyone in the circle was able to identify him. Moreover, some knew that Farrah had visited the Locke family. So, many believed that Farrah was Harvey's girlfriend and that Kevin had been unfaithful.

Tap's eyes widened. "It's my fault. If I hadn't pressured Harvey into blind dates, this wouldn't have happened."

She regretted bringing Farrah to the Locke family, as the resulting gossip suggested that Farrah was Harvey's fiancée.

William comforted Tanya before turning to Madison and asking, "Maddie, I heard from your mother that you mentioned Harvey has a destined marriage, is that true?"

Madison nodded.

William and Tanya both looked at her eagerly.

"Are you sure you're not just saying this to comfort your mother?" William asked.

Madison frowned slightly. "I wouldn't lie about this."

Instead of being upset by Madison's tone, Tanya smiled with relief. "That's great to hear. I won't meddle in Harvey's affairs anymore."

William also breathed a sigh of relief.

However, Harvey's expression was less cheerful. He studied Madison but didn't press further.

With the main issue resolved, Tanya started asking about Madison's preparations. She noticed Madison carrying a backpack.

Madison explained, "I have something to take care of outside."

Tanya got about crying, and her eyes brightened. "What is it? Can I come with you?"

Madison was rendered speechless.

Jordan parked the car in front of the Hall residence.

Turning to Madison and Tanya, who were in the backseat, he asked, "Ms. Malison, should we just go in like this?"

Madison opened the door and exited the car

Tanya followed behind. Tanya's anxiety was palpable as she placed at the lowering, closed gates of the Hall residence.

The Had family was a prominent aristocratic family in Deatropolis. Among the Four Major Families in the city, the Halls had the deepest historical roots. Madison walked up to the ornate iron gates and pressed the doorbell. A moment later, a man in his 50s dressed in a suit walked out. "May I help you?" Malison answered, "I'm Madison. I'm here because the Hall family is facing trouble, and I'm here to help you through it."

The man's face immediately hardened, and he slammed the gates shut

Tanya walked over, remarking, "They don't seem to treat you"

Madison responded, "Just give it a little more time. They will come out and open the door eventually"

Jordan had full faith in Madison, especially since he knew Sebastian had been following her around. Madison's visit to the Hall family was undoubtedly because of Sebastian. Just that he didn't see Sebastian anywhere after looking around

As Madison had predicted, the man in the suit came back after a short while and reopened the gates. This time, he regarded them politely. "Please, come in "

He suspected them of being fraudsters initially, but after closing the gates, he was questioned by his mistress. However, upon hearing Madison's ease and her explanation, his mistress instructed him to let them in immediately.

Although both the Locke and Salle families were prominent in the view, they couldn't compare to the Hall family. The Hall residence alone wasn't something that ordinary

Dana greeted Tanya and Jordan. She didn't do any small talk and moved on to the matter at hand. "I heard from Benjamin that you claim the Hall family is in trouble, to that so?"

Madison nodded, sweeping her gaze across the living rooms. "The Hall family has been encountering problems frequently in the last three months.

At her words, Diana's smile washed instantly. "You can Madison explained, "The house is filled with negative energy it's not only affecting the Hall family members but also those living in the mansion

Dana turned to Benjamin Greene, who looked terrified as he nodded. "Mrs. Hall, we didn't want you to worry, so we didn't mention it all. Last month, the gardener hurt his foot with a hoe while working in the garden"

"Last month, the chef cut his hand while cooking And this month, the cleaning lady fell from the second floor and broke her

There had been numerous similar incidents. Benjamin had initially dismissed them as the center piece due to his employers' lack of supervision. But now, hearing Madison's words made him shiver. Dana was equally shocked by the frequency of these incidents, she calmed herself down and asked, "Ms. Locke, is the cause the Hall family or the mansion itself?

Madison responded, "A Hall family member brought the negative energy back, but has persisted due to the mansion's unique characteristics.

Dana's breath hitched in her throat. "Unique characteristics What exactly do you mean?"

"The negative energy is extremely strong, Currently, we can't identify its location. The exact case will be determined once I have the opportunity to examine the relevant items."

Dana nodded vigorously. "Whatever you need."

Benjamin had some concerns. "Mrs. Hall, about Mr. Hall!

"I will inform him," Dana said.

She then called her husband, Hugo Hall, to explain the situation.

After ending the call, she turned back to Madison. "Ms. Locke, please begin. My husband will return soon, Benjamin's hrow burrowed as he explained, "This room is a storage room for ers we rarely use. Apart from the cleaning statt no one else has entered."

Madison remained silent but lightly traced her finger along the lock hole, revealing several noticeable scratches.

At the sight of these scratches, Benjamin's face fell. "This is."

He took out a boy from his pocket, inserted it into the lock, and opened the door to the storage room.

As the door swung open, and a gust of wind blew past them, it teased everyone at the doorway to see

Because the drapes were drawn tight, the room was dark.

Benjamin didn't know if it was an illusion, but he felt that this moment was darker and gloomier than any of the others.

He turned on the light, carefully maneuvered around a cluster of items, and approached the window. Then, he pulled back the drapes and opened the window.

The bright sunlight flooded into the storage room, bringing with it some warmth

Inside the room were a bed, an old chest, and some miscellaneous items. Although there were many things, everything was neatly arranged so it allowed him to see the entire room. Finally Benjamin went around the room once and shook his head. "I didn't find anything of my host's old stuff."

Dana turned to look at Madison, who was staring at the bed with a serious expression. She followed Madison's gaze.

All the beds in the small villa were box beds. For some reason, Dana couldn't shake the feeling that something might be hidden within this bed, the doors of which were

"Mr. Lock could it be the bed?" Dana asked.

shut tight

Madison nodded. Benjamin promptly wanted to instruct someone to open the box bed, but Madison stopped him, she suggested, "it might be best to call the police. There could be evidence that they need." Benjamin and they were at a loss for words, while Tanya shivered inexplicably.

Jordan stood on tiptoe to inspect the bed from afar, but he didn't find anything unusual.

When Hugo returned to the mansion, he was met with the sight of several police cars parked in the yard. Personnel in official uniforms were seen moving in and out of the small villa, all with serious expressions. The helpers of the mansion also appeared uneasy.

Hugo quickly found Dana standing in the small villa's yard and strode over. "What's happening?"

Dana, who looked pale, clutched Hugo's wrist. She swallowed nervously and spoke in a trembling voice, "Under the bed. There are

Benjamin arrived with a troubled expression and continued Dana's sentence, "There are body parts, at least a few. The police are currently gathering evidence."

Hugo's face grew somber at once. Looking around, he asked, "Where's Madison, the one you talked to on the phone?!"

"Ms. Locke said the villa's negative energy was too strong and instructed us to leave. She's inside,." Dana explained, then introduced the others to Hugo. "That's Ms. Locke's mother, the wife of the chairman of Locke Corporation in Riverview."

"The young man is the sole heir of the Salle family in Riverview as well"

Hugo went over to greet Tanya and Jordan

Tanya looked pale but managed to talk to Hugo.

After some time, the chief police officer emerged, looking deeply concerned. He approached Hugo and explained, "According to our observations, these body parts do not belong to a single individual. This meant that the body parts were Early from a different people."

Hugo's expression darkened considerably.

After Hugo saw the police leave, he supported her back to the main villa. At the same time, Madison emerged from the smaller villa.

She then realized that Madison was a very active young woman, She was also very elegant "So, this is Madison?" Hugo asked.

Dana nodded weakly. Upon seeing Madison, she seemed to regain some strength and hurried over. Grasping Madison's hand, she said. "Ms. Locke, what happened? Why are you here."

Even though she hadn't seen it firsthand, just imagining it was terrifying enough.

"Because someone wants to harm the Hall family," Madison responded.

Dana and Hugo were shocked

"Ms. Locke, can you provide more details? Higo asked.

Madison explained, "This is a very el formation known as the negative energy convergencemarlx."

The name itself was already foreboding.

Madison continued, "In the mystic arts, it's believed that everything starts with one. The One creates the Two, and the Two creates the Three

The Three represents heaven, earth, and humanity. The Four corresponds to the four symbols, the Five to the five elements, and so on. This concept mirrors the principles found in the Book of thunge

"The number Nine is seen as the biggest single-digit number and negative number. When it is multiplied by nine, equals at, which represents the purest and most extreme form of negativity.

"In the natural order, all things have both positive and negative energy. The living are associated with positivity, while the dead are associated with negativity.

At this point, Huga and the rest started to understand the concept

The of copies in the formation formed an intensely negative environment, representing the extreme of negativity

Huga's face grew dark with concern. "What are the consequences of this formation?!"

Dana looked at Madison anxiously as well

Madison replied, "The Ea body parts likely come from individuals who were murdered, so their souls harbor resentment. Moreover, seeing that they were part of the formation, their resentment would only grow. "Currently, people are harmed, but overtime, it could lead to deaths."

"After investigating, I saw the birth detail of you three inscribed below the body parts. The resentment is ultimately directed at your family of three."

Huga gritted his teeth. "They truly go to any lengths, huh?"

Dana asked, "Can you resolve this issue, Ms. Locke?"

Madison nodded. "Yes. It can be resolved, but not today. We must wait for the police to gather all the relevant information about these individuals, before we can proceed with the. Although Madison could get the birth details of the A1 individuals herself, it would require significant spiritual energy. She had to save some to restore the negative energy

Aher some thought, Madison agreed.

Dana promptly instructed Benjamin to make arrangements for their stay.

Since they could no longer stay at the smaller villa, Madison and her party were relocated to the main villa

Tanya, who had intended to stay with Madison, received a call from Rebecca. Afterward, she approached Madison "Maddie, something urgent has come up with Rebecca. I need to

That night, stadion was sleeping soundly, but an eerie prince suddenly jolted her awake.

Her eyes flew open, and she found Scbastian standing by the window. The window was slightly ajar, allowing the sheer curtain to flutter in the breeze and pass through Sebastian's astral bode. His once-clear body now bore a black tinge

Noticing that Madan had awoken, he slowly turned his head. His eyes were bloodshot and had narrowed significantly

Madison leaped out of bed and over to him she touched his head with two fingers, and with her other hand, pressed a talisman against his brow.

In that instant, the black ghostly energy surmounting Sebastian was drawn into the talisman. The talisman fell away from his forehead and crumbled to dust.

"Sebastian's eyes had returned to normal, though his expression remained grave, "The one responsible for this is already dead."

Madison didn't know what to say.

Sebastian turned to look outside the window.

The vast expanse of the Hall residence was engulfed in profound darkness under the night sky, as if an unseen force had swallowed all the light.

"I warned you against going to places thick with negative energy and resentment," Madison said.

A lot of negative energy was concentrated in the small villa, Sebastian was just asking for a death wish by going there.

Sebastian said nothing more

Madison climbed back into bed and pulled the covers over herself.

After a brief pause, she heard Sebastian's deep voice again. "I let the house because I sensed a familiar presence."

Madison kept her eyes closed

Sebastian continued, "That presence was very compelling. I found mal drawn for some reason. On the first day Lared in Riverview, I was already attracted to it. I ended up Finally, Madison lined the covers and looked at him with a furrowed brow Sebastian drifted to her bedside. "I knew it was risky, bot had to investigde. That presence is something you can't sense

Madison understood now. He believed the presence was stronger than her and wanted to avoid putting her at risk, so he went to investigate himself.

"You don't know much about the mystic arts. Even if you found something what could you do about if you would just be manipulated by others, Madison said, still irritated. Sebastian stued at her interdy. "I don't want you to be hurt because of me!

Madison replied, "Injuries are inevitable in cultivation. What you're doing isn't pestorting me bir hindering in progren."

Sebastian shook his head. "I followed the familiar presence but didn't find anything instead, I ended up being contaminated by ghostly mergy"

He had sensed and traced the familiar presence back to the Hall residence, where he discovered the strong negative mingy. That was why he came to Madison for help.

He dought Madison might refuse, but to his surprise, she had agreed without hesitation after listening to him.

After Hugu consoled her, he handed the documents he was holding in Madison. These are thereports garding the body parts.

Madison took the documents and skimmed through them. "Everything seems to be in order, I'll be able to dismantle the negative energy comergence matrix at noon." Hugo exhaled in relief.

The clock struck noon. Even though the sun bleed brightly, a chill permeated around the small villa

Jurdan was eager to join in but was sent away by Madison.

Madison entered the villa alone with her bag.

Watching the villa's door slowly close, Dana inked with concern, "she'll be fine, right?"

Jordan said proudly, "Don't worry! Ms Madison is very skilled. She wouldn't take on the task if she weren't sure of her abity!

Danael slightly relieved. She stood with Hugo under the sun and waited for Madison to come on, inside, Madison climbed the stairs to the second Home Perhaps because the negative energy couldn't dicopate, it was stronger torty. An ordinary person entering the villa would experience headaches and mood swings.

"Do you sense the Camiliar presence? Madison asked Sebastian, who had followed her in.

Sebastian shook his head. A talisman had been stuck in his desehead. If someone were to appear at this moment, they would see all drifting in the air next to Madison, in syne with her moverents.

When they reached the storage room dour, the ghostly energy grew even more oppressive. Despite the talisman, some of the ghostly energy ching to Sebastian, causing his eyes gradually red.

Madison raised her hand and gave a decisive push. Sebastian's astral body was instantly expelled from the villa

The nad second, Sebastian appeared outside the vill

Jordan gasped, his eyes widening

Hugo, sensing something was amiss, asked, "what is ?

Jordan quickly shook his head ""spothing"

Jordan thought, "Why is Sebastion here'ob, wait kis his house, so him being here isn'tamusid. Hot" jordan supled to suppress his curiosity

He didnt realize that his peculiar reaction had been nailed by Hugo. Maintaining his composure, Hugo folowed jordan's ga

Jordan book a few small steps ned to Sebastian. In a very low voice, he whispered, "Mr. Schas Han, why are you here?-

sebastian glanced at him, then looked toward Hugo, who was scrutinizing jordan.

"My dad's looking at you," he trained Jordan.

Jordan quickly turned his head and met Hugo's gaze. The next second, he quickly turned his head back around again.

Jordan's suspicious behavior convinced Hugo even more that there was indeed something over there. His expression darkened slightly.

Dana asked, "Is there something wrong?"

Hugo shook his head.

Half an hour later, a strange cry emerged from the small village. It sounded like it came from a human, but it also resembled the sharp, piercing cries of a wolf. The sound was short and abrupt, and it disappeared after a second.

Everyone who heard a thought they were hallucinating.

Suddenly, Jordan jumped up and exclaimed "Ms. Madison must have died."

After a few minutes, Madison walked out of the small village. "The negative energy convergence matrix has been broken. Do not let anyone stay in the small village for a month."

Hugo nodded and walked to the door of the small village. The icy coldness that was previously present had disappeared.

"Thank you, Ms. Locke."

As Hugo spoke, Benjamin took out a check. Hugo then looked at it and handed the check to Madison.

Madison glanced at the check—one million dollars.

She put away the check, opened her backpack, and took out two strings of five Decardian coins. "Here are some The Deranian Coins. They can help you ward off one disaster." Hugo accepted them gratefully and carefully tied one string around Dana's wrist. He had noticed earlier that Dana also wore the same thing on his wrist. Now, he finally knew who it came from.

Dana touched the string of Five Decardian Coins around her wrist. She wasn't sure if it was her imagination, but the weight in her heart seemed to have dissipated the moment she put them on.

She looked at Madison in shock.

Jordan said, "I've already told you that Ms Madison is really powerful"

Hugo also wore the Five Decadian Caround his wrist. "Ms. Locke, was wondering if you could help me with another problem," he asked.

Madison mained silent and looked at Sebastian, who stood next to the comple

Madison nodded and said, "It's too crowded here. Let's talk in a quieter place."

Hugo led Madison to the study

Dana was still obvious to the situation "Hoy, weren't we going to ask Ms. Locke if she could go check on Sept

"Sept is right here," Hugo answered in a hoarse voice

Data's eyes widened shock, and she quickly scanned the study

"Opening the phantom vision isn't good for ordinary humans. So, I'll only gher you half an hour's time."

Huga nodded his head repeatedly. "We'll do as you say, Ms. Locke"

Madison tossed out a talisman paper and lightly chanted an incantation

Afigure gradually appeared in the study.

Clara's ees turned red as she witnessed the figureurs from nothingness to smashing solid.

"Sept!" Dana rushed over to hug her son.

a's eyes were also red as he walked over and observed Sebastian from radiator.

Madison let the study and closed the door behind her. She went to the living room and saw Jordan sitting on the couch, playing with his phone.

Jordan ummadurely put his phone away whin be saw her approach.

"Ms. Madison, will Sept art tooverview with us? judan askel Jordan glanced around the Hall and sighed "Sept was supposed to be the heir of the family. Now that he's in a coma, I guess the family will have to find another heir. "Mi Madison, will Sept be able to wake up?"

Madison shook her head. "I can only make him temporarily conscious with mycuteni spiritual energy."

Jordan didn't ask any more questions

11 Madison said I couldn't be done, it probably couldn't be done.

Half an hour later, Sebastian's astral body dried down

Hugo and Dana followed from the study

"Maddie, we're counting on you to take care of our dear Sept," Dana said warmly, holding Madison's hands with a gentle, loving

UmOkry," Madison replied hesitantly, finding Dana's enthusiasm slightly strange

Hugo, too, was no longer as distant as before. He smiled slightly and said, "Sept told that wing this period with happened to him by now." He handed Madison another check. "I know you don't need money, but please accept this as a token of our appearance

Madison glanced at the check, and her eyes widened with surprise.

Five million dollars

Previously, Hugo gave her a million dollars for saving the negative energy convergence mat according to traditional customs. But this time "It's too much."

"It's not too much at all Hugo and Dana said

Dana was still holding onto Madison's hand. "You're a young woman. You should treat yourself to something nice. And if you

The couple stood at the front door and watched as Madison got in the car

Inside the car, Madison looked at the five-million dollar check in her hands

Seba glanced at her and calmly, "It's not. I'm the beat the Hall, and av de la valtaabila.

Jardin noticed that Madison was frowning through the rearview mirror. He opened his mouth

Back at the Locke residence, Tanya held Rebecca, who was sobbing uncontrollably, in her arms. "Alright, now. Maddie said she's coming back tonight. When she gets home, she'll definitely agree to your request," Tanya comforted her.

Rebecca's eyes were red from crying, "Really? Maddie's newly liked me. Do you think she'll really agree?" she asked.

"she will. You're sisters, after all she will definitely help you And besides, it's not your Rebecca buried her face in Tanya's embrace and cried softly.

Tanya held Rebecca tightly with all her might.

Madison would definitely agree to Rebecca's request. It wasn't an unreasonable request
