Chapter 92: Advancing to Grandmaster, Killing from Afar, Qi Enters Dantian_6

A single punch across the air, with the explosion of a Grandmaster's Qi Force, is absolutely not something that a Refining Organ Realm Martial Artist can compare to.

If such a punch strikes a Refining Organ Realm Martial Artist, it's estimated they would be blown apart instantly, their internal organs reduced to a mass of shattered meat.

The gap between the two is indeed enormous, far beyond any numerical measurement.

"Qi Force is continuously nurtured within the Elixir Field and Sea of Qi."

"The stronger the Qi and blood within the body, the more Qi Force is nurtured."

"Thus, the amount of Qi Force contained by different Grandmasters varies."

"If it's a top Martial Arts Technique, then naturally the Qi and blood contained are also the most abundant."

"Moreover, after ascending to Grandmaster, the Qi Force nurtured is astonishingly vast."

Jiang Fan could feel the strands of Qi Force nurturing deep within his Elixir Field and Sea of Qi, all of which were special Qi Force nurtured by the Soaring Snake Technique - Soaring Snake Qi Force.

Each strand of Qi Force, like a Soaring Snake, full of endless vitality and lethality.

It is precisely because of practicing the Soaring Snake Technique that the Qi Force within him is so vast, far surpassing that of ordinary Martial Arts Grandmasters.

Even though he had just ascended to Grandmaster, his strength was not something ordinary Grandmasters could compare to.

"Grandmaster's Qi Force is not just for killing from a distance."

"It can also permeate the entire body, covering every corner of the body."

"In this way, when the body is covered by Qi Force, it's like wearing armor."

"Once Qi Force covers the whole body, it seems like a humanoid Demon Beast."

"No matter how the enemy strikes, they cannot harm the Grandmaster's body."

"All attacks will be easily blocked."

Jiang Fan operated the Soaring Snake Technique, and he sensed the Qi Force deep within the Elixir Field and Sea of Qi instantly became like a Soaring Snake, beginning to circulate throughout his entire body, covering every inch of his skin, muscle, and internal organs.

The entire body seemed to be covered by the power of the Soaring Snake.

It's as if a dense pattern of scales emerged on the surface of the body.

The defensive power within it had reached an astonishing level.

Even a Divine Blade could only be blocked for a moment.

If it's a mundane knife or sword, then striking against it would cause them to shatter into pieces from the recoil.

No wonder Martial Arts Grandmasters are so terrifying on the battlefield, akin to a great weapon of mass destruction.

Often, when a single Grandmaster takes action, they can pierce through the entire battlefield, terrifying countless soldiers.

"Now I am simply too strong."

"Power has increased to at least fifty thousand pounds."

Jiang Fan clenched his fists, feeling the immense power surging within him. Even if he didn't use any Qi Force, the sheer power alone could smash a giant boulder.

With every move, there was a terrifying destructive power contained within.

Of course, ordinary Martial Arts Techniques would not possess such power even if one ascends to Grandmaster.

It's only because of the special nature of the Soaring Snake Technique that granted him such tremendous strength.

Which allowed him a trace of the Soaring Snake's characteristics.

"It's not just about strength."

"Even my speed has increased several times compared to before."

Jiang Fan's form flickered.

With a light leap, his speed reached an incredible level, leaving behind trails of afterimages.

He sensed that as he moved, somehow every pore on his body resonated with the air.

This allowed him to slightly harness airflow.

So every time he moved it felt as if the power of airflow was pushing him forward.

In a way, it's like a diluted version of Cloud Riding.

Although incomparable to a Cultivator, compared to Grandmasters, it's much faster.

Moreover, his movements are also very agile, allowing him to move and change direction at will.

"The power of the Five Senses has also been enhanced."

"When the Qi Force covers the entire body, it seems to also reduce one's presence."

"At the same time, it can conceal the aura on oneself."

Jiang Fan also discovered a trace of the Soaring Snake Technique's characteristics; after advancing to the Grandmaster Realm, these characteristics also became amplified. When he operated the Soaring Snake Force within him, he felt his aura seem to completely withdraw into his skin's depth, making him seemingly merge with heaven and earth, becoming a part of nature.

This way, others would naturally overlook his presence.

This is also the secret to reducing one's presence.

As long as one becomes part of nature, they become an element of it.

This way, others naturally won't pay much attention to Jiang Fan, thinking he is just a stone by the roadside.

"The cultivation of a Martial Arts Grandmaster is actually quite simple."

"It is to continuously strengthen the Qi Force within the body."

"When the Grandmaster's Qi Force within the Elixir Field and Sea of Qi reaches the Perfection Level, then you can strive for the Innate Realm."

Jiang Fan squinted his eyes.

He knew that the Innate Realm is the true gate for countless mortals, like a heavenly chasm.

Blocking countless Martial Dao talents.

Don't think that mortals can seemingly enter the Dao through martial arts, it doesn't mean the path to becoming immortal is cut off for mortals.

But how many Martial Arts Grandmasters are there throughout the Wei Kingdom?

Even if one becomes a Martial Arts Grandmaster, how many can actually enter the Innate Realm and nurture a Spirit Root?

"But striving for the Innate Realm is not simple."

"Besides needing the Grandmaster's Qi Force within the body to reach Perfection, the most important is to comprehend Martial Dao Will."

"For example, Fist Intent, Sword Intent, Saber Intent, and so on."

"Only by comprehending Martial Dao Will can the soul undergo transformation."

"And thus operate the Qi Force within, impacting the Mud Palace Pill."

"In this way, one can undergo Postnatal Returning to Innate, thus nurturing an Acquired Spirit Root."

Jiang Fan recalled the contents of that book.

Although Daoist Liu's life was indeed a failure, the secret manual left by him was tremendously helpful to ordinary Martial Artists, leaving them a path for cultivation.

Without this secret manual, he wouldn't even know how to become an Innate Martial Artist or how to nurture a Spirit Root.

In a sense, once you become an Innate Martial Artist, you are equivalent to becoming a Qi Cultivation Stage Cultivator.

"But comprehending Martial Dao Will is not as simple as imagined."

"Even with so many Martial Arts Grandmasters, very few actually reach this step."

"This requires incredible perception to succeed."

Jiang Fan clenched his fists.

But he also knew a path to comprehend Martial Dao Will, which is to practice top Martial Arts Techniques, like Fist Technique, Swordsmanship, Saber Technique, Spear Technique, etc. The more top-level the secret manual, the more likely it is to comprehend Martial Dao Will.

Just like Aurora Swordsmanship, it's that kind of swordsmanship secret manual.

Once reaching the Perfection Level, there's a possibility to comprehend Sword Intent.

So among the martial world, many Martial Artists are eager to find top Martial Arts secret manuals.

One could say, it's equivalent to a path to the heavens.

This is why, after the Li Family lost the Aurora Swordsmanship, they deeply regretted it.

After all, it's equivalent to losing a path to becoming an Innate Martial Artist.

The loss is tremendously severe.

Of course, it's not to say ordinary Martial Arts techniques cannot comprehend Martial Dao Will.

There are still people in the world with extraordinary perception.

Relying solely on ordinary Martial Arts techniques, they can comprehend Martial Dao Will.

But this is extremely difficult.

It's like someone using only elementary school knowledge to create a nuclear bomb.

It's simply defying the heavens; it's almost impossible.

Even if such a prodigious person exists, they're undoubtedly rare, appearing once in centuries.

This is not a path that ordinary people can emulate.
