At that moment, Diana was cowering on the couch barefoot and only in her underwear. She looked sorrowful and indignant yet resigned.

Given how often Clara had helped Mark burn candles, she was now able to prepare them skillfully in a short time.

When she was done, she allowed Evelyn in and asked her for Diana’s full name to be written on the white candle. She then asked Mark for a white candle and passed it to Evelyn.

Clara said, “Go get a box and light the candle up. Offer some prayers to appease her spirit and manifest some clothes for her. You should be able to do it since you’re her granddaughter.”

Evelyn asked, “What kind of box?” WWW.novelworm.com

“A tin box will do—they won’t get burned easily. It’s just to avoid making a mess on the floor while you’re burning the candle.”

Evelyn nodded and took out a tin box from under the coffee table. She said, “I bought some cookies but haven’t finished them. I’ll just clear the box and use it first.”

Clara hummed a reply.

After Evelyn did as was told, Clara asked her to wait outside and said, “Mr. Fowler will be performing a ritual to send Mrs. Caddel Senior away. It’s not good for the both of you if she keeps lingering here and slips into your dreams every night.”

Evelyn asked worriedly, “My grandma won’t be hurt, right?”

Mark chided her, “Do you still not trust my work?”

Embarrassed, she replied, “I trust you wholeheartedly, Mr. Fowler. I’ll head out immediately.”

Mark was highly respected and trusted by the villagers of Casville.

Clara only started conversing with Diana once Evelyn went out. She asked who had been bullying Diana.

Diana had put on the clothes she received from the manifestation of Evelyn’s prayers. Her face was colored with rage upon hearing Clara’s question.

She said angrily, “It’s Shanny’s grandfather, Paul Green, from the lower village! He lived below my new house. Not only did he bully and scold me, he even snatched my belongings. He threw my shoes into the river! WWW.novelworm.com

“He robbed me of my clothes and gave them to the old lady in the house above mine. That old lady was even older than me! He was so chummy with that old lady. I’m starting to think that Paul cheated.”

Clara was tempted to laugh, but she held herself back. She said, Shanny’s grandfather is just too much. Why would he bully you and cause a strain in your relationship when you both are neighbors? He even took your shoes and threw them into the river!”

Diana said, “Exactly! I have no clothes and shoes to wear now because of him. It was raining heavily when I went back to look for Abe two nights ago. I was soaking wet then!”

She continued complaining, “When I asked Abe to get me a change of clothes home, he told me that all my clothes had been disposed of, and there was none left for me to change. I ended up scolding him for the entire night!

“I then went into my daughter-in-law’s dream, but she was unresponsive. I had no choice but to come looking for Evie.”

Clara went along with Diana and said, “Mr. Caddel Senior should’ve mentioned your need for clothes to Aunt Lilia. Perhaps she forgot. about it after waking up, that’s why she didn’t think much about it. WWW.novelworm.com

“Don’t worry, Mrs. Caddel Senior, I’ll ask Evelyn to call Aunt Lilia and get her to manifest some clothes for you soon. We’ll ask her to manifest more clothes, shoes, and socks for you.

She continued, “We’ll even ask her to manifest some weapons. You can hit them with your weapons if they dare to rob you again- see if they’ll come back again!”

Diana nodded repeatedly. “You’re right! Get her to manifest more. weapons for me—a knife, a long pole, or a hoe, just get met everything! I’ll beat all of them up if they dare to bully and rob me of my belongings again. They’re just too much! We knew each other, yet they still bullied me!”

Clara agreed, “That’s right, they’re just too much! I’ll ask Evelyn to settle this for you, Mrs. Caddel Senior. You should head back if there’s nothing else. Evelyn is busy with work. You’ll affect her work if you keep slipping into her dreams and affecting her sleep quality.”

Diana said reluctantly, “I just wanted to see Evie more. I won’t be able to return anytime I want in a few days.”

As she was still a newly deceased ghost, she would subconsciously miss her family and come back to visit them.

She would lose her freedom once the time was up. If her family. wanted to see her, they would need to go through a medium to call for her.
