

Wife 104

Chapter 104

Yohan's gaze landed on the bag containing the dress. He asked, "Did you buy some clothes?" w w w . n o v e l w o r m . c o m

Clara replied, "It's from a friend."

"It looks good "Yohan didn't know what else to say after that. He wasn't used to talking to a young woman.

Clara said, "It does look good, but it's also costly."

The dress Evelyn gifted her was just too expensive for her. It amounted to several months' worth of her writing income.

Yohan remained silent. He recalled the investigation results Chuck had given him.

Clara had been talking to herself since she was young. Mark once brought her to the hospital for a comprehensive examination, but all her test results came back normal.

Chuck was much more competent than Bruce. He managed to obtain information from the time she was adopted by Mark up to where she was now at 25. He even printed them out on several sheets of paper and handed them to Yohan.

Yohan now gained a detailed understanding of Clara.

Despite her hospital examination results coming out normal, he still suspected that she was mentally ill. After all, she hadn't visited the hospital in over a decade. w w w . n o v e l w o r m . c o m

Clara might have been normal as a child, but perhaps she had developed some mental issues after she grew up.

"Clara." Yohan spoke in a low voice. "Even though we had no feelings for each other and we promised to divorce after a year, we are still legally married within this year. If—I'm saying if—you need any help—say, you're feeling unwell—you can talk to me about it.

"I'll find you the best doctors, and you don't need to worry about the medical expenses—I'll take care of everything. After all, I'm still your husband. It's only natural for a husband to cover for his wife's medical expenses."

Panic flashed through Clara's eyes. Was she sick?

The way Yohan sounded so serious and cautious made her feel as if she was about to die soon.

When did she fall sick? She wasn't aware of it at all.

Yohan thought Clara didn't believe him when he saw her staring at him. He then dug out his wallet and took out a gold card.

He placed the card in front of her and said, "I got someone to get you a new card. The password is the last six digits of your ID number. I've already transferred five million into it. Take it, and don't the medical expenses."

worry about

In her heart, Clara mused that it was too easy for the wealthy to hand out five million dollars out of nowhere.

She would have shamelessly accepted it if he told her that it was her allowance. However, he mentioned that it was for her medical expenses.

What illness did she even have? She would only need five million dollars for medical expenses if she had cancer.

Chap 104 w w w . N o v e l w o r m . c o m

стави

"I'm not sick, Mr. Morris, I don't need to go to the doctors, much less your five million for medical expenses." Clara refused to accept his money.

She then asked, "Who told you that I'm sick? Are you giving me five million dollars to treat cancer or something? I'm only 25 years old. I'm young and healthy!"

2/2

Mark had a deep understanding of medicine. Both Clara and himself were in excellent health through various traditional medicine treatments. He always said that they might live up to 99 years old even if not 100 years old.

"Since you have been talking to yourself-" Yohan did not continue further.

He did not voice out the fact that he thought she was mentally ill. He was a cultured man, after all. w w w . n o v e l w o r m . c o m

Clara asked, "Are you suspecting that I'm mentally ill, Mr. Morris?"

Even though Yohan was silent about it, she realized what he meant. She glared at him and asked angrily," Have you ever seen a mentally ill person as smart and clear-headed as me? Who told you that I'm mentally ill? Tell me, and I'll settle scores with them tomorrow!"

How dare that person slander her in front of a handsome man! She refused to let them off easily!