

Wife 123

Chapter 123

“Grandma.”

“Get out of here. Don’t sit here. Seeing you ruins my appetite.”

Yohan helplessly said, “Grandma, can you stop pressuring me? I’m scared. I don’t want to end up like my dad.

“Looking at my mom over the past two decades, has she been happy? Is she fulfilled? Even if my dad returns to the family, that woman and Kian will be there. They always remind my mom of my dad’s betrayal.

“I’m their biological son. I have my dad’s genes. I still fear the unexpected even if I tell myself I’ll stay loyal to my family and marriage. It’s just like what happened with my dad,” he continued.

“I can’t predict the future, and I can’t guarantee that I make my wife happy for life. I’m afraid of getting into relationships.”

The old lady’s face dropped when her eldest son’s marriage was mentioned.

People in her era had many children, so she had four sons and a daughter.

Other than the misfortune that had befallen her eldest son’s marriage, her other children were all happily married.

It wasn’t that Duncan didn’t love his wife. A manipulative woman deceived him, and in a drunken state, he was unfaithful. He half–heartedly continued his relationship with that woman. He even allowed her to give birth to his illegitimate son, Kian Morris.

Duncan claimed he didn’t know that the cunning woman was pregnant with Kian. She used the excuse that something happened at home and left the Morris Corporation. When she came back a year later, Kian had already been born.

At the end of the day, that child was his own flesh and blood, and he was already there. Duncan couldn’t bring himself to kill an innocent child.

To support his illegitimate child, Duncan bought a house for the woman. He also gave her a monthly allowance to care for Kian.

As secrets always had a way of coming to light, the truth about Duncan’s affair eventually came out. Jennifer was furious, causing a huge commotion. At that time, her child had just been born and was only six months old. Jennifer took her youngest son back to her parents’ home and insisted on getting a divorce.

The Morris and Young families were deeply involved in business together. Jennifer’s divorce would surely Impact the business dealings between the two families. The Young family’s response was to have Jennifer’s older brother and her cousins beat Duncan up. They would also force him to sever ties with the woman.

The Morris family, of course, didn’t want Duncan and Jennifer to get divorced. $\mathcal{W}^{\otimes(\mathfrak{w})}.\mathbf{N}_c\mathbf{V}\mathfrak{e}\mathcal{L}w\sigma^{\odot(\mathfrak{m})}.\check{\mathcal{C}}\sigma^{\oplus(\mathfrak{m})}$

While disciplining Duncan, they also lowered their stance. They personally went to the in–laws’ place to apologize. They persuaded Jennifer to forgive Duncan. It was for the sake of giving their children a complete family.

Jennifer could never return to how things were before despite the elders’ efforts to mediate and disagree with their divorce. Although Duncan showed deep regret over the years, she remained distant and

Her husband stopped seeing that woman, but since Klan was his child, he couldn’t ignore him. Jennifer was reminded of Duncan’s betrayal every time she saw Klan. This led to her resentment and hatred.

Jennifer loved deeply and hated intensely. Jennifer and Duncan had known each other since childhood. Although it was an arranged marriage, they understood and cared for each other. They had a deep emotional bond. Yohan’s name was even derived from their family names. This showed the depth of their relationship.

Thus, Jennifer could never let go, and her lingering unhappiness led to a gloomy demeanor. Only when her two sons grew up and excelled in their careers did she smile more in recent years.

“Yohan,” Bonnie called out gently. “I won’t pressure you anymore. I am already happy that you’re willing to get married. I’ll give you some time to adapt.

“It would be great if you could develop feelings for Clara. Otherwise, it’s up to you. I won’t stop you from divorcing her.” $w\hat{W}_{w.\mathfrak{f}\mathfrak{i}\mathfrak{o}\mathfrak{v}\mathfrak{e}}\ell w(\circ)\mathcal{R}m.c^{\oplus\mathbb{M}}$

Yohan didn’t want to discuss these painful topics with his grandmother. He knew that his parents’ marriage was a painful topic for his grandparents. Daniel had always felt sorry for Jennifer. He would be exceptionally kind to her, Yohan, and Justin, just like how Bonnie was.

“I’m sorry, Grandma. I shouldn’t have brought up things that made you unhappy.” $\mathfrak{w}\mathfrak{w}\mathfrak{w}.\mathfrak{n}(\circ)\mathbb{V}\mathfrak{e}\mathfrak{I}w\hat{\mathcal{O}}\mathbb{R}(\mathfrak{m}).(\circ)\mathfrak{d}^{\oplus(\mathfrak{m})}$
