

Wife 124

Chapter 124

Yohan apologized to his grandmother.

Bonnie sighed. “You didn’t do anything wrong. It’s my fault for pushing you too hard. But, Yohan, I believe you won’t be like your father. You won’t give a cunning woman a chance. Your grandpa and I raised you.. wwŴ.©OveℓwOrm.Com

“You have witnessed our loving relationship since you were a child. You’re a very responsible man. Your won’t be like your father, Believe in yourself.”

Yohan stayed silent.

He thought about how confident his dad must have been that he wouldn’t betray his mom when they got married. Things took a turn in the end. wwW.(n)ovℓI@rm.com

After a while, Yohan asked, “Grandma, will you pressure me to remarry if I divorce Clara?”

“As long as I am alive, I will. You’re my favorite out of all my grandchildren. You’re my first and eldest grandchild.

“You grew up by my side. I can’t bear to see you single for life,” Bonnie said.

“Even if you think I’m pressuring you and end up resenting me, I’ll still push you to remarry. Only when I leave this world like your grandpa will I stop pushing you.”

By then, he wouldn’t have anyone urging him to marry.

Yohan pressed his lips together and said, “In that case, I won’t divorce Clara.”

He wouldn’t do it, at least not within this year. WW(w)(n)ovℓW(o)rm.com

With that, he left the pavilion.

Bonnie watched him walk away and sighed.

“Oh, Daniel. This boy is exactly like what Clara said. He is as tough as nails and just as cold. Trying to get through to him is like biting into a rock. You’re bound to hurt your teeth.”

Bonnie’s hope rekindled when she thought of how well matched Yohan and Clara seemed. She muttered to herself, “Daniel, I believe Yohan will fall for Clara. He will!”

She really liked Clara. Clara was a good woman.

Two people who lived together would eventually develop feelings.

Bonnie decided not to pressure them anymore and let their relationship develop naturally.

Yohan and Clara were destined to be together. Despite not knowing each other, they got married in a flash. This was a good start.

After all, Yohan usually avoided women outside his family. Yet, he agreed to marry Clara so quickly. It must be fate.

This was a marriage destined by heaven.

Jennifer watched her son leave and immediately walked over to the pavilion with her two pet dogs. WWw.ovℓEℓ(w)rm(m).com

“Bonnie, what did you say to Yohan? He looked upset when he left.”

Bonnie replied, “I was pushing for a grandchild, and it angered him.” “Pushing for a grandchild?” Jennifer repeated.

Chanter

2/2

She hadn’t even accepted Clara as her daughter–in–law. Yet, her mother–in–law was already pushing for a grandchild.