Chapter 26

Bonnie was not an easy person to fool.

She was as cunning as a fox.

“Alright, that’s settled, then. If she refuses to move to your place, you will move to her place. Okay, there’s nothing else I need to talk to you about, so you can go back to work now. I will stay at your place for the next two days.

“If Clara is willing to move into your place, then I will live in the house next to yours. I can play the role of a neighbor and be my granddaughter–in–law’s friend whenever she needs one. That way, I can get the scoop on her innermost thoughts and help defuse any crises.”

Yohan was momentarily speechless. He said, “Chuck lives next to me, Grandma.”

Chuck wasn’t a local, but his grandmother, Fiona Teller, grew up in Donford City and had been taking him there ever since he was a kid..

Since Fiona and Bonnie were close friends, they became the reason Chuck, Yohan, and Mandy knew each other. All three of them grew up together.

When Chuck began working at Morris Corporation, Fiona’s extended family called and invited him to stay with them. Chuck politely declined. He didn’t want to disturb others and wanted to live freely. Hence, he bought the place next to Yohan’s current residence.

The two friends worked for the same company and were neighbors.

“In that case,” said Bonnie. “When you call Chuck to help you find Clara’s address, remember to tell him I might be living in his place for a while. I will pay him however much he wants in rent. I will not be taking freebies.”

Just like that, Bonnie successfully took advantage of her role as a grandmother and forced Yohan and Clara to live together. They would be compelled to get to know each other. Bonnie promised she wouldn’t stop them again if they still couldn’t fall in love after one year and wanted a divorce. Www.NoVeIworm.com

Brimming with the joy of being the victor, Bonnie got up without Yohan’s help. She giggled as she left.

Yohan walked Bonnie to the door. He saw how Bonnie was practically skipping and was glad that Bonnie’s physical and mental health at the time meant she’d still be around, even after over a decade.

Soon, Yohan closed the door to his office. He turned around and made his way to his desk before taking a seat. He picked up his phone to make a call. However, he didn’t call Chuck. Instead, he called his bodyguard, Bruce.

Yohan instructed, “Bruce, figure out where Ms. Fowler lives and who her family is. Once you figure that out, go to her place to pick her up.” Yohan paused for a moment before saying, “After that, invite her to -meet me.”

The matter involved living together, so Yohan thought it best to tell Clara about it in person.

“Understood. I will see to it right away.” WWW.NoVeIworm.com

Bruce received yet another instruction that had something to do with Clara. He was still surprised and became increasingly curious about who Clara was. Bruce didn’t know why she was able to affect Yohan, who had never been interested in romantic partners before.

Yohan even repeatedly had Bruce bring Clara to him.

Bruce then realized that Yohan had instructed him to invite Clara instead of just demanding she come over.

After assigning the job to Bruce, Yohan thought about the situation and sent Chuck a message. Yohan informed Chuck that Bonnie might stay at his place for a while.

When Chuck received that message, he instantly acted as though a disaster was heading his way. He called Yohan immediately and asked, “Yohan, did you throw me under the bus? Why does Mrs. Morris Senior want to stay at my place?

“You live next to me, and she sees you as her grandson, so she should be living with you.”

“Am I the kind of person who would sell my friend out?” said Yohan.

Chuck replied, “You will not sell your friend out under any other circumstances. However, when it comes to getting away from Mrs. Morris Senior, you might just drag Justin and the rest of us down.

“Mrs. Morris Senior’s skills at nagging are impeccable. If she sets me as her target, she will nag me about getting married until I get a migraine. Even my grandmother isn’t as relentless as she is!”

Yohan didn’t show any expression on his face when he said, “Don’t worry. She’s not living with you to nag you about getting married. She’s only doing that to con her granddaughter–in–law. I’m married, Chuck.”
