

Wife 29

Chapter 29

“Ms. Fowler,” greeted Bruce.

He had gotten out of the car with two colleagues and made his way to Clara quickly.

After receiving his tasks from Yohan, Bruce investigated Clara. He learned that she was living in the mountains in a village named Casville.

He also found out that Mark raised her and that she only had Mark in her family.

Yohan told Bruce to invite Clara over. However, after Bruce investigated, he realized that Mark and Clara weren’t in the mountains at the time. They were in the city instead. He kept following the trail until he realized that Clara was in Sunville Hotel. Bruce rushed over right away after that.

When Bruce saw William and Clara chatting, he knew that Yohan was inside the hotel as well.

“Hey, William,” greeted Bruce. After that, he said, “I need to have a private conversation with Ms. Fowler.” (w)Wu.nOvëllwo©m.co(m)

William was understanding. He replied, “I’ll browse around then. Goodbye, Ms. Fowler.”

Clara grinned and bid William goodbye in return. She thought that compared to Yohan, his employees were much easier to hang out with.

After William left, Bruce asked the same questions William did and learned that Clara was waiting for someone. That prompted Bruce to make a suggestion. He said, “Ms. Fowler, you can sit inside while you wait. It’s too hot out here.”

“All the seats are taken, so there’s no place to sit. It’s fine. Mind over matter, right? Imagine being www.noVéLWorrm.com refreshed and the heat won’t bother me. So what do you want to talk to me about? Did your boss ask you to bar my path and rob me again?”

Bruce couldn’t speak for a moment there. He later said, “Ms. Fowler, I formally apologize for barring your path and forcing you to a stop the last time we met. Please know that I never intended to rob you or anything. I was simply following orders.” wwW.novE©(w)ôR@.co(m)

Before Clara could respond to that, Bruce added, “Ms. Fowler, my employer, Mr. Morris, would like to talk to you in person. When will you have the time to come with us to meet him?”

Clara’s beautiful eyes shone. She said, “If he wants to meet and talk to me, why doesn’t he just text me?”

She wondered why Yohan bothered adding her number to his WhatsApp account at all. It wasn’t exactly decorative. All that got her wondering if he was just the kind of guy who enjoyed getting his employees to run around for him.

Bruce didn’t know how to respond. It wasn’t as though he could tell her that Yohan had sent him to figure out her address.

“Where should I go to meet him? He’s inside the hotel and walked past me earlier, so you can head right in and tell him that I can meet him after lunch.

“Tell him to text me the location, and I’ll meet him myself. There’s no need to make things so troublesome or make you drive back and forth like this

Bruce immediately replied, “We will do anything Mr. Morris asks. It’s our job, so it’s not troublesome at all.”

Clara wanted to say something about that, but she swallowed her words before they left her lips.

She thought that it was probably best to speak less since they didn’t know each other well.

“I’ll relay your message to Mr. Morris now, Ms. Fowler.

Chapter 29

2/2 (w)Wu.no©©1w©(r)M.com

“Okay, go ahead.”

Clara saw Mark’s car at that moment.

She didn’t wait until Bruce had entered the hotel. She said, “The person I’m waiting for is here, so I must go now.”

Clara circled around Bruce and made her way toward Mark’s car.

“Mr. Fowler.”

Mark got out of the car and stared at the hotel in front of him for a while. Then he said, “The auspicious energy here is abundant. It’s as though every bit of positive vibes is gathered here.

“It’s no wonder this hotel is the most luxurious hotel in the city, and their business is continuously booming.”

Liam made his way over and heard what Mark said.

The former smiled and said, “You don’t know this, Mr. Fowler, but Morris Corporation owns the Sunville Hotel. That enterprise is the most profitable one in the city. The Morris family owns the company and is the richest family here. Every member of that family has a net worth of billions!”

Liam then lowered his voice and whispered, “I heard that the family knows a very skilled priest. Sunville Hotel’s land was blessed by that priest. He blesses every property Morris Corporation owns and every real estate venture they invest in.

“Additionally, he makes sure that every piece of land is a lucky one.”