

Gacha 369

369 Plane

A few minutes ago,

In the corner of the Mizbah Forest. This was the forest where Alex appeared as soon as he entered the new world. A figure of a red-haired woman suddenly appeared in this forest. She was carrying a blue box in her hand.

The woman looked at the sky, "Husband, I finally came to this place. I... No, I am sure Alicia is also missing you."

She looked at the box while clenching her hands. She wanted to meet her husband. However, she also knew that if she met him now, she would become his burden once again. And this time, she was carrying Alicia. Firia could only let out a single tear before she activated the token on her right hand.

The token shone brightly. She waited for a while after activating the token. She was wondering since she did not feel anything about it.

Firia thought the token was broken. She thought about paving her way first if the token was broken. However, just when she was about to walk, the sky shone brightly and was split into two.

Firia was shocked by the sudden occurrence, as this was the first time she saw something like this. She was wondering if this was a normal occurrence in this world.

Firia felt pained when she thought Alex would need to fight a being like that continuously in this world. "Alex..."

However, a middle-aged man appeared. The man looked like he was in his early thirties. With red long hair fluttering, and a kind of cosplay-like costume on Earth that made his appearance look gallant. He appeared in front of her.

She was startled by his sudden appearance. However, she instantly recognized him. "You are Uncle Maxwell."

"Let's go, little girl. I can't stay in this world for so long. So I need to bring you out of this world as soon as possible." Maxwell said as he looked at her as well as the box in her hand.

Firia nodded her head. She wanted to meet Alex, but she knew this was not the time.

Maxwell also knew she missed Alex. It was like when he missed his wife. "Even though you can't meet him. I can send your voice to him with my divine intent. Do you want to say something to him?"

He said that as he made a teleportation array. The teleportation array was going to take them to the sky above the Northern Continent. This was what he had agreed with Lin Xingzhi.

She said she did not want to cause unnecessary trouble for him. So, she decided to split the world barrier right above the Northern Continent. She could open it on other continents like Heavenly Continent or Sacred Continent. However, it was too far.

And Maxwell's power got a bit restricted when he entered this. So, they decided to open it above the Northern Continent. This way, Maxwell only needs to make a single Teleportation Array with his current power.

They thought about opening the sky in Nilis Continent, which was the second closest continent from the Willow Continent. However, opening it in that continent would cause him problems in the near future.

Alex would need to undergo his golden lightning tribulation in that place sooner or later. And if this phenomenon appeared there, they would tighten their defense. So, when Alex triggered his golden lightning tribulation, he might be ambushed.

Lin Xingzhi wanted him to mature up after experiencing a problem after problem. But she knew there were necessary problems and unnecessary problems that would only lead him to danger. She would not danger her beloved one because of that.

After activating the array, they were teleported to the sky above the Northern Continent. They could see many people coming toward them. However, because of the shining sky, they could only see two figures, but did not know who they were or their appearance.

He made another array and said, "Little girl, we don't have much time. You can say your pieces now, it will transmit to him."

Well, he was only connecting his token in Alex's possession to track Alex's whereabouts and sent it to him there.

Firia decided in an instant. She had many things she wanted to talk about with Alex. However, she knew that she did not have enough time for that. And even if she had that time, it would only hinder him.

So, instead of giving him unnecessary thought, she said with all the emotions she had, "Husband, I love you."

She said that with all her might and unknowingly shed some tears even though she only told him four words.

Firia looked at Maxwell and nodded. Maxwell flicked his finger, and they were teleported outside that world, and Maxwell immediately erected a sphere-shaped barrier.

When Firia looked around, she was shocked that she could see black skies everywhere. She also found many round shape objects around, including the one in front of her. The round-shaped object was very huge, and she realized how small she was in front of this object.

However, at this time, she could see many green and blue color layers in that round object. She looked at it and noticed it was beautiful. "How beautiful..."

"This is what is known as a Planet. This is a world that you experienced just now." Maxwell said.

"Planet..."

"Yeah. The world you live in. There are five types of world: Lower World, Upper World, Divine World, Abandoned World, and Exiled World. The one you lived in was a lower world. And you can see the planets around you are lower worlds that are connected to this Upper World."

"Well, I am sure my cultivation book has explained the entire cultivation stages, right?" Maxwell asked.

"Yes. Foundation Stage, Martial Master Stage, Martial Grandmaster Stage, Martial Lord Stage, Martial King Stage, Martial Emperor Stage, Martial Monarch Stage, Martial Saint Stage, And God Stage." Firia replied.

"Indeed. Your husband is in the Martial Lord Stage. So, after this, I want my wife to teach you until you become Martial Emperor if not Monarch Stage and send you back to this world. Anyway, back to the topic. This Lower World usually has a smaller size than an Upper World. You can see it from here." Maxwell explained as he pointed out to the planets around them.

He then stopped at one particular planet, "That one is your previous world, Agar World. And usually, in the lower world, people would only be able to cultivate until they reached the peak Foundation Stage, which you call rank 9. As soon as you reach rank 10, you will be equal to Martial Master.

"In your previous world, you would not be able to cultivate again. And will be forced out of the world soon. And If you don't immediately go to the upper world, you will be forced out to this vacuum.

"If I don't erect this barrier, your body would not be able to withstand the coldness and any other things. Only if you reach God Stage would your body be strong enough to withstand the condition outside.

"However, there are many ways to travel between the world. They usually called it Spaceship. I will be explaining it after I explain about the other worlds.

"Anyway, look at that fireball over there! That is called 'Sun.' And these planets were orbiting around this sun. This entire system is called a Solar System. Usually, each solar system would have one or two Upper Worlds. And this one is a big one since it has one Upper World and more than a hundred Lower Worlds.

"Well, you will learn about it later, so I will move on a little bit. The third world is Divine World. Normal Upper World like this one could only have Martial Saint as the peak. Just like the lower world, when they reached God stage, they would need to go out of this world.

"However, for Divine World, they could handle the energy from God Stage people. In other words, they can host Gods and Goddesses. Each world has a kind of barrier that prevents people like us from entering."

"But, how could Uncle Maxwell enter and grab me?" Firia asked.

"Well, I got help from another person, and I would like to introduce you to her. Well, she is going to recover her energy for a while, so I will keep explaining it a bit more clearly."

Firia nodded. She was indeed curious about this too. After all, seeing all of these objects around her had blown her mind. She never knew the scenery would be like this outside of her world.

"The fourth type is Abandoned World. This world is basically a ruined world where the creatures inside that world destroyed themselves and caused the extinction of the entire population, or whatever.

"Basically, you would not meet any living creatures except plants or many things that small. And some worlds even have destroyed their living space. And you would not find any water or whatever, including the blue sky and so on.

"The last one is Exiled World. And your husband was born in this type of world."

"Exiled world?" Firia was gasping. Even hearing that name alone made her feel chill through her spine.

"Yeah. This type of world usually made a big mistake by offending many gods and goddesses, so they decided to exile it to universe junk. It is a place where you won't meet any living creatures besides you. If gods and goddesses had exiled a world, they wanted the creatures in that exiled world to destroy themselves or to go extinct.

"A few thousand years ago, your husband's previous world had offended many gods and goddesses. In fact, they wanted to conquer the entire universe, which even I could not know how many planets are there.

"Because of that ambition, they incited the rage of many gods and goddesses. However, they also had some secret weapons. At that time, there was a big fight that killed many gods and goddesses. I am not there though.

"Anyway, after they lost, the remaining gods and goddesses used their power to exile that world, through that place!" He pointed at a black spot far far away from them.

Firia looked at the black spot while narrowing her eyes. He could not see anything in that black spot. It had no color other than black. If the people from Earth were here, they would be surprised because that black spot was practically a Black Hole.

"So, Husband lived in such a world..." Firia looked down, a bit sad.

"Well, he was finally brought to your world after that."

Firia nodded her head. She felt glad that Alex really came to her world. That way, she could meet him and change her fate.

"So, that kind of world is my husband's hometown." Firia murmured.

"... Yes and no." Maxwell said.

"Yes and no?" Firia was confused.

"It was indeed his hometown. However, if you talked about the other thing, it was also not his only hometown. He also had another hometown."

"Another hometown? Do you mean he could travel to many worlds with... a spaceship?"

"Nope. Well, this is not my job to explain this. Anyway, we will be meeting that person now. And you can ask about Spaceship to her." Maxwell shrugged his shoulders as he flicked his finger once again.

They were then teleported to another side of the planet. Firia saw two people. The first one was a female who had long brown hair. Her beauty exceeded her own. Firia could not help but narrow her eyes when she saw her pale face.

The second one was a male with long white hair. He was a middle-aged man wearing a butler suit.

"Let's go back first before we start anything." The woman said to Firia. She then looked at the butler on her side, "Please, Zark."

"Understood, my queen." The middle-aged man nodded his head and clapped his hands. At the same time, a big Teleportation Array and teleported all of them away.
