

Gardevoir 104

Chapter 104: Choose Enemy or Friend

"Chirrut? (What are you doing?)"

Just as the Squirtle group was getting ready to feast, a strange voice appeared in their ears.

"Jenny Jenny!"

Realizing that someone was coming to mess up their place, the Squirtle Boss instantly jumped up, ready to see who was coming to mess up their place.

When he turned around, he saw it was Shiny Kirlia. His entire bald head turned red for a moment. What a beautiful Pokémon! He had never seen such a beautiful Pokémon nearby.

And it's blue like him, what an aesthetic.

It was not until the younger brother next to him woke him up that he realized that now was not the time to think about this. The most urgent thing was to find out what she was here for.

"Chirrut? (Isn't it obvious? I'm here to be your boss.)"

Shiny Kirlia blew on his fingers. He was finally let out to play, so he had to have fun. He just happened to hear that there was a Squirtle group playing tricks on people nearby, so he came to take a look.

It's not bad. Although the little turtle on the brother's flyer looks ugly, this little blue bald head actually looks very interesting when it is tied up.

Thinking of this flash, Kirlian's hands became itchy, and he was eager to rub the heads of these little turtles.

"Jenny Jenny!"

The Squirtle boss looked at Shiny Kirliao angrily. He saw him here and yet he had the audacity to want to be their boss!

He really didn't take him seriously and was ready to catch the monster (crossed out). This would give this ignorant guy a little shock.

The Squirtle boss pushed up his triangular sunglasses, ready to give Shiny Kirlia a little Squirtle shock.

"Chirrut. (Choose enemy or friend.)"

The shining Kirlia's pure white "jade feet" seemed to have tremendous power. With one step, a huge crack spread directly to the feet of the two Team Rocket members.

The two men were so scared that they quickly lifted their legs to prevent themselves from falling. Even though they were tied to the tree, it was still very scary without their feet on solid ground.

"Je....Jenny."

A big drop of cold sweat ran down Squirtle Boss's head. He didn't expect that a Pokémon that was not much taller than them could be so scary.

This blow was enough to make him faint immediately. Then he looked at the flash and saw Kirlia's eyes emitting scarlet light shrouded in darkness.

Think about the old Chinese saying, "Wei Xi material, Wei Junjie." When the Squirtle boss Da Ya bit his foot and stomped his feet, his face was full of smiles.

For the flash, Kirlia pointed to the highest stone and motioned her to sit there. From today on, they would be her subordinates.

"Jenny!"

A Squirtle lay directly on the ground and acted as a stepping stone...the stepping stone allowed Shiny Kirlia to step onto the stone safely.

Shining Kirlia gave him a look that showed he understood, then stepped on the turtle shell and sat on the stone.

"Jenny."

The Squirtle boss handed today's harvest, which was the Rocket Team's picnic basket, to Shiny Kirlia, and also presented a pair of women's sunglasses that were better looking than the triangular sunglasses on his eyes.

"Chirrut. (Yes, but is this for these two people?)"

Shiny Kirlia took the ladies' sunglasses handed to her by Squirtle and put them on, revealing the aura of a gang leader.

It's true that the skills learned from Gardevoir holding the Pokétail are quite useful. I don't know why everyone in the family told good children not to learn from her.

However, her eyes were focused on the picnic basket in front of her. Pokémon couldn't use this thing, so its source must be from Team Rocket behind them.

The last time I saw them was probably at the Hualan Gym, but these people didn't seem to notice me.

"Jenny Jenny!"

The Squirtle Boss, no, now the former Boss, nodded seriously and then told Shiny Kirlia what they had just seen.

"Chirrut (That's fine, you can share it among yourself.)"

Shining Kirlia waved her hand and let them share the food. After all, it was the bad guys' lunch, so it didn't matter if they had one less meal.

Well, it's not to avenge the shame of having its blue badge burned by electricity. Shiny Kirlia is not the kind of Pokémon that cares about every little thing.

"Jenny!" x5

The Squirtle brothers cheered, thinking they would not be able to eat anymore, but they didn't expect the new boss to be so generous.

After distributing the lunch to all the younger brothers, Shining Kirlia also got a rice ball, on the grounds that as the boss, they had to eat first before they could start eating.

(It's not because they are afraid of being beaten.)

"Chirrut. (Then I'll take a bite. Ugh, it's really disgusting.)"

In order to set an example, Shining Kirlia took the first bite, but she spat it out as soon as it entered her mouth. It was too salty and not even half as delicious as what her brother made.

He spat out the chewed rice ball in his mouth, rinsed his mouth with the drop of water of life, and then pinched the rice ball floating in the air with one hand, and it was instantly destroyed.

"These are the salted fish roe rice balls I made! You little bitch, you really don't know how to enjoy yourself!"

Seeing that the rice ball she made was spit out after one bite was taken, the hot-tempered Musashi couldn't stand it. You can say that it is embarrassing for her to be caught by Pokémon, but you can't say that the food she cooked is bad!

Musashi is now very angry about Shiny Kirlia who took a bite and then spat it out and even destroyed it.

"My pork chop sandwich!"

Kojiro was very sad when he saw his lunch enter Squirtle's stomach. It was sad enough that he was tied up and his lunch was taken away.

The saddest thing is that they have to watch the people who tied them up eat their lunch. What a torture.

"Jenny Jenny!"

The Squirtle boss turned around and asked them to be quiet so as not to disturb their dinner and welcome to the new boss.

"Damn it! How dare you despise humans like this!"

Although they couldn't understand what Squirtle was saying, it was obvious that Squirtle looked down on them, and even the arrogant-looking little girl didn't even look at them.

I'm so angry!

"Meow, do you think this Pokémon looks like the one next to the big devil head?"

Meowth did notice something unusual. He always felt that this Pokémon looked like the degenerated form of the giant Pokémon that followed Yu Feng.

"If that's the case, I remember that she seemed to be in Cerulean City as well."

Kojiro also remembered that they seemed to have seen this Pokémon in Cerulean City, and it looked like it was someone else's Pokémon.

If that's the case, wouldn't it be possible to make use of them a little? Thinking of this, Musashi excitedly said to the Shining Kirlia and the Squirtles in front of him: "I have a very good job, do you want to take it?"

When Musashi said this, not only did the Squirtle Pirates look at Musashi with some curiosity, but Shiny Kirlia was also curious about what good jobs they had for them to do.