

Gardevoir 137

Chapter 137 Can you please do me a favor?

"Xiren!"

Xishi Hairen was startled at first and then hurriedly dodged the leaves. She could tell at a glance that these were magic leaves that were not easy to dodge, but there must be something fishy about such small magic leaves.

It's a pity that this leaf only looks small, and it is actually harder to hide than a normal magic leaf.

Without noticing, Hiren was hit by the magic leaf, and a piercing pain rose from the place where he was hit.

The power was not reduced much, but it was extremely painful. The Sea Lion cried out in pain and fell to the ground, rubbing the place where she was hit.

"The singer!"

Looking at the singer lying on the ground in pain, Fu Ningna felt a little distressed. She had never seen a singer do something that disregarded her image so much. In her impression, no matter how strong the enemy was, the singer could still stand on the field with a smile on his face.

She had never seen a singer lying on the ground in such an ungraceful manner as he did today.

Yu Huijun, who was watching from the side, discovered the problem. Yu Feng didn't speak before, probably because he was connecting with the Ai Guanshi through superpowers. He spoke afterwards because the Ai Guanshi who was connected fell into a deep sleep and had to speak, and he would do the same.

It was not like he had never fought with this Sea Lion before. He remained calm even after being hit by his main force's Comet Punch.

It seems that there is something fishy about this magic leaf. It is probably giving up something in exchange for amplifying the pain.

This is interesting. It's not that no one has studied the changes in the forms of the moves, but to put it bluntly, no matter how they change, the essence remains the same. Most of them just change the form in which the moves are launched.

But this does sacrifice some damage, in exchange for severe pain that even a Sea Lion with excellent facial management cannot endure, which is equivalent to completely changing the nature of a skill.

"Xiren!"

The pain came and went quickly, and soon the Sea Lion stood up again with a grim look on his face.

I don't know what this magic leaf is. Even she can't bear the pain.

"Keep using Sleep Talk!"

Of course, it's not that Yu Feng doesn't want to use his superpowers to directly wake up Ai Guan Shi, it's just that that would be too much of a cheat and the opponent would have no chance of winning at all. Although being able to communicate directly with superpowers is also very perverted.

A pink crescent moon appeared in the hand of Ai Guanshi who was still asleep, and the power of the moon bombarded towards Xi Shi Hai Ren like a machine gun.

The Sea Lion no longer gave in, and the aria of bubbles rose again and collided with the power of the moon.

The power of Bubble and Pink Moon canceled each other out. In the end, Sea Lion was more skilled than the other, and the sleeping Butler was not as agile as when he was awake.

He was hit directly by the remaining Aria of Bubble, and this time he was no longer as lucky as before. The butler who was hit lay on the ground and lost his ability to fight.

"It's such a close call."

Seeing that she had finally won, Fu Ningna couldn't help but pat her barren chest with a palpitating heart. Of course, Xi Shi Hai Ren's condition was not much better.

Looking at the panting Sea Lion, Fu Ningna had no doubt that if Ai Guanshi could hold on a little longer, she would be defeated.

It seems that I have become accustomed to bullying weaklings over the years, and now I am in trouble when I meet someone with similar fighting ability. I must practice hard in the future.

"It was a great fight."

Yu Huijun clapped his hands and walked up from the side, even though he only knew a little information about Yu Feng.

Judging from the skills his Pokémon has learned and the changes in its moves, it is likely that he has been taken care of by some kind of humanoid psychic Pokémon since he was a child.

As for why I'm so sure... you can roughly infer it by looking at his Pokémon. Frosty, Butler, Mybrimm, and Kirlia, one of them must be the descendant of the tribe that took care of him when he grew up.

As for why it's not Squirtle? It's obviously the original Pokémon.

Kirlia can be ruled out first. This kind of elf is very rare and generally does not appear in front of humans. It is unlikely that it will adopt a human child.

Frosty Milk Fairy can also be ruled out because she is too young.

Is that Aibuta and the Mibrim clan, or Miss Goethe?

We can only see whether he is willing to say it later.

"Miss Joy hasn't arrived yet. It looks like she'll be here for a while. What should we do?"

Miss Joy hasn't come back yet, which means that the tools they need have not been sorted out yet. So what should they do during this time?

"Chirrut, Chirrut!"

Shining Kirlia suddenly jumped out, pointing at the Afterglow Army and saying something.

In Fu Ningna's opinion, it always seemed like she was swearing in a very dirty way.

Yu Feng also looked at his sister in shock, as if he didn't expect that his sister had such a side.

After a moment of confusion, Yu Feng awkwardly translated what his sister had just said to Yu Huijun: "She said she wanted to challenge you. She is not usually like this. I don't know why she is so resentful towards you."

It's more than just resentment. If Yu Feng hadn't flashed here, Kirlia would have attacked people long ago.

Yu Huijun listened to his beloved butler's translator with a strange look on his face. He had never seen this Kirliao before. He had only provoked two Kirliao so far. One evolved into Gardevoir and its whereabouts are unknown, and the other one was standing next to him and turned into Aledo.

I haven't seen many ordinary ones, let alone the shiny ones. I don't know why this little guy is so angry with me.

"It's fine to challenge me, but I only have two Pokémon with me now, an Aledon and an Aegis. Who do you want to challenge?"

However, although Shiny Kirliao cursed quite vulgarly, he didn't understand what he said, which meant he wasn't cursed. As for the challenge?

Isn't there a saying that when trainers make eye contact, they will fight? However, now that I have gone to other areas, the main force is left with my own professor, so I took these two with me, one to take care of their lives and the other to fight.

"Chirrut!"

Hearing the Afterglow Army's agreement, Shining Kirlia pointed at Aledon without thinking. She must teach this guy a lesson today.

"Elu?"

Although Aledo is puzzled as to why he was chosen, as a warrior he will not refuse to fight. Of course, you have to ignore the fact that he likes to stick to the trainer in the first two stages.

"Are you sure you can? Or let her take your place?"

Yu Feng was very worried about his younger sister. To be honest, he and his sister didn't know why they couldn't evolve. Most of the Ralts born in the same batch had finally evolved into Gardevoir, and a few had already reached the King stage.

The two of them have always been like Kirlia, and no one knows why, even though they eat and use the best food, and even though their levels are constantly increasing, they just don't evolve. It seems like something is preventing them from evolving.

He himself also relied on the feathers of Xerneas and Ho-Oh to take the final step, but my sister...

"Chirrut! (I don't need to do it myself!)"

Shining Kiria rejected Yu Feng's kindness and said that he must do this matter himself.

My younger sister is acting particularly strange today... Yu Feng couldn't help but sigh when he saw her determined look in his eyes. After all, she is no longer the little cutie who would lie in his arms and cry "Brother, I'm hungry".
