

Gardevoir 148

Chapter 148 Respond to me! Gardevoir!

"It has a pretty good momentum, a little stronger than the dominant Pokémon."

Facing the strong wind blowing in her face, there was no change in the expression on Shirona's face except that her clothes were rustling.

Maybe it's because stronger Pokémon all have this strange aura, and she happened to have seen it quite a lot so it's not surprising.

There is also something called special aura, like the dominant aura of a dominant Pokémon, the special aura of an Ultra Beast, and the weird red cloud of the Gigantamax.

In contrast, a dominant Pokémon will lose this aura after being captured, and will only be slightly stronger and larger than ordinary Pokémon.

It's better to say that just looking at the size of the boss, it already looks more outrageous than the overlord Pokémon.

The boss Pokémon seemed to have only lost some of its wildness after being captured, but the sample size was still too small for Sirona to draw a complete conclusion.

"sand!!!!"

The long-unseen Shiny Gardevoir stretched her body to her heart's content. Although she just appeared yesterday, it was rare for her to appear continuously because of her body size.

As the boss Gardevoir stopped her roar, the dust that was raised when she appeared gradually subsided.

"Roar!"

Looking at the leader Gardevoir, who was twice as tall as himself, Garchomp became slightly interested.

She could feel that this Gardevoir was not on the same level as the previous Pikachu, and she could already sense a hint of danger.

"Don't be careless, Land Shark."

It's not surprising that people are cautious when facing a Pokémon boss they've never seen before, after all, no one knows what the boss is like.

But considering the characteristics of Gigantamax and Overlord Pokémon, whose physical strength and skill damage are greatly enhanced as their size increases, boss Pokémon should also have corresponding bonuses.

"Try it out by splitting the tiles first!"

In order to prevent Garchomp from killing the opponent instantly and thus failing to provide guidance and explore the boss's characteristics, Shirona chose to use the least powerful skill to test.

Although this boss Gardevoir doesn't look weak in terms of momentum, what if he is actually strong on the outside but weak on the inside?

Garchomp took action instantly upon hearing the command and ran towards the leader Gardevoir. At the same time, white light gathered on its wings and smashed down towards the leader Gardevoir fiercely.

The leader Gardevoir hooked his finger at Garchomp, which made Garchomp so angry that his movements became more intense unconsciously.

Then the boss Gardevoir wrapped one leg with ice energy, which was the triple spin attack that Yu Feng and his sister liked the most.

Compared to the three spin attacks used by other Pokémon, the three spin attacks of the boss Gardevoir carry a strange sense of oppression, which Garchomp feels deeply.

The three spinning strikes and the tile-splitting strikes kept colliding, and the fierce confrontation was so intense that even the Land Shark could hardly bear it.

With one strike, he forced back the leader Gardevoir, who was not good at physical attacks, and Garchomp jumped back to Sirona, his breathing a little disordered.

At the same time, the sickle-shaped wings shook, shattering the ice that had appeared in the confrontation just now.

"Griffin uses Rock Slide!"

Seeing that Yu Feng didn't give orders, Shirona knew that Yu Feng should be a psychic. After all, only psychics would be like this, or they must have a very good relationship with psychic Pokémon.

Otherwise, no one would be willing to connect with someone who can control their Pokémon at will, and seeing that he didn't do anything at the beginning, he must be a psychic.

Then the test can be a little more radical. After all, although the boss Gardevoir seems to be slightly weaker than your own Garchomp in level, it can still fight back and forth with its huge size and strong body, as well as attribute restraint.

.....

"It seems that due to its size, the physical attacks that the boss Gardevoir is not good at will be strengthened accordingly."

"The increased strength is no less than that of a normal Fighting Pokémon. Unfortunately, the sample size is too small to draw a corresponding conclusion. It is impossible to know whether the boss Pokémon has the same bonus or different individuals have different bonuses."

Professor Mustard Orchid in the stands was observing the battle between the two while taking notes with a pen about the information she observed about the boss Pokémon, Gardevoir. The only pity was that there were too few existing cases of this boss Pokémon.

If you want to conduct research, it will take a long time, but people may not be willing to go back to Sinnoh with you.

According to the information provided by Yuto Seidai, the other party seems to want to go directly to the Chinese region to challenge the conference there after finishing the Quartz Conference.

It seems that he has his own things to do and can't be lied to... Please study it carefully.

"Oh, this is what you want to study. No wonder you came here in person."

Professor Oak was not surprised to see the appearance of the leader Gardevoir, but when he saw the notes in Mustard Orchid's hand, he knew why they came.

That's right, the appearance of this special form of elves that was suspected to have disappeared, especially the unique form of the ancient Sinnoh region, can indeed make a doctor like Mustard Lan who mainly studies history very excited.

No less excited than when he heard that a new type of Pokémon had appeared.

Yes, because his research direction is Pokémon rather than history, Professor Oak doesn't have much interest in the boss-level Gardevoir. Of course, if there is a chance, Professor Oak would also like to study her physical fitness and the like.

"Hey, Omu, why do you look like you know something?"

Seeing Professor Oak so calm, Mustard Orchid seemed a little dissatisfied. Looking at Oak's expression, it seemed that he had known that such a situation would occur?

"Hahaha, what do I know? This boy came from there."

Professor Oak laughed and said a few vague words, as if he didn't want to talk about it too much.

"Hiss, you're not going to say... there shouldn't be anything there, right?"

Looking at Professor Oak like this, Mustard Orchid seemed to have thought of an incident that happened when Dr. Oak was young, and was very afraid of what Dr. Oak said.

"Who knows? Just keep watching. It's almost the most exciting moment."

Professor Oak cleverly changed the topic and said that the next battle was about to reach its climax.

Mustard Orchid looked at Professor Oak deeply, then turned her gaze to the two people fighting below. She knew that Oak had his reasons for not saying anything, but it was really uncomfortable to hear only half of the words she wanted to know the most.

On the field, Garchomp has already had several rounds of confrontation with the boss Gardevoir, and both sides tacitly chose not to use restraining skills to fight.

After all, it is a guidance battle. If it is fought too fast, it will not be guidance.

After all, in the battle against Satoshi, Garchomp didn't even use many of his skills, and even if Shirona was letting him off, it couldn't prevent Pikachu from being defeated in one hit. But this Pikachu could leave charred marks on Garchomp's body, so that was acceptable.

"Well, we have obtained enough information. Do you have any ideas for a hearty battle?"

Shirona stopped Garchomp's movements and looked at Yu Feng opposite her with a smile. The information she got in return was enough, but it would be best if she could compare the wild bosses with the tamed ones.

It's a pity that this boss is already a single copy, but this also indirectly shows that there is a certain connection between the overlord Pokémon and the boss Pokémon.

What comes next is the real battle. The strength of the opposing leader, Gardevoir, has been tested. He is a force that can be used as a trump card in the hands of the title king, and he is only one step away from becoming the champion.

A real fight with the champion might allow her to break through this barrier.

Well, Shirona still knows some social skills. Since Yu Feng helped them understand some information about the leader, although it was not voluntary, they had to pay him.

"I can't ask for it."

Yu Feng rubbed his brows and relaxed himself. It must be said that a champion is a champion. When fighting against him, even if you make a wrong move due to attribute restraint, you will suffer heavy damage.

Of course, it also has something to do with the fact that he is not the one playing on the field. Well, he simply feels itchy and wants to fight. Unfortunately, if he goes on the field now, he will be killed instantly by Garchomp, and his ending will not be much better than Pikachu.

"Then answer me! Gardevoir!"