

Gardevoir 17

Chapter 17 Flashing Toucan

A freezing wind mixed with ice chips emerged from Shining Kirlia's mouth, and followed the telekinesis to wrap around the Sparrow and Toucan that were ready to move.

The toucans, who had no idea what this was, were still ready to continue attacking them. So many of their kind had been killed here, so they had to let this man and his elves know how powerful their toucans were.

Even though this human looked very beautiful, the aura around him was very comfortable.

Of course, for them who have never seen the freezing wind, it is just wind of different color. What's so great about it?

The toucan family is nothing but stubborn!

Brave Toucan, not afraid of difficulties!

Of course, the consequence of underestimating the freezing wind was that the toucans that were entangled instantly lost their ability to fly and fell to the ground with circles in their eyes.

The toucans that were lucky enough not to be killed instantly screamed in fear and flew away in panic.

"Ga! Ga~!! (There is a blue old lady killing birds here!!)"

If you say run, then just run. Why are you screaming for no reason? When Yu Feng heard the toucan screaming, he observed a three-second silence for it.

As expected, a thick bolt of lightning struck the screaming toucan directly, turning it into a roasted toucan that fell to the ground.

The rest of the toucans no longer dared to sing after seeing this situation. They all wished they had grown a few more wings when they were born.

"Chirrut. (This is the big deal you're talking about?)"

"Chirrut, (If you want to make me angry, this is a big deal.)"

The red light in Kirlia's flashing eyes became more and more conspicuous in the dim forest, and it was obvious that she was very angry.

If the toucan hadn't screamed, it would have just run away. She, Shining Kirlia, was too lazy to get angry with a little bird.

But if you dare to call her old aunt, you are like a grasshopper jumping around in autumn.

"Shh, it's raining."

Yu Feng caught the falling raindrops with his hands and looked up at the sky which was beginning to darken.

"Chirrut? (What's raining?)"

To be honest, Shining Kirlia was beginning to find it difficult to understand her brother. After living together for so many years, this was the first time she felt she couldn't understand her brother.

A drop of rain fell on Shining Kirlia's head, catching her attention.

Not long after, the patter of raindrops drew white lines from the sky and merged into the earth.

The rain was getting heavier at a speed almost visible to the naked eye, and the sky was getting dark.

The lights in the camp illuminated this small area, and some Pokémon took shelter from the rain under the awning that had been built in advance.

Shiny Kirlia glanced at Yu Feng who was still fishing for Pokémon by the river. The heavy rain fell on him, forming a white film that wrapped around him.

"Tsk."

After so many years of living with Yu Feng, Shining Kirlia has more or less learned some human words, although most of them are interjections.

But she rarely uses it. After all, as long as she has superpowers, she can just resonate with them directly. At the very least, her brother can understand what she says.

"Chirrut. (Why don't you come back quickly? What are you pretending to be?)"

She was not worried that her brother would catch a cold if he stayed in the rain for too long, but if she didn't say anything, her brother would probably have to wait in the rain until it stopped.

This kind of thing has happened before. They went to steal the honey of three bees, and were surrounded in the cave by the queen bee and a group of three bees for nearly two hours. This brother blocked the door outside for two hours.

If my aunt hadn't arrived in time and driven away the queen bee and the others, my brother might have been stung by more than just a pig's head when he returned.

"Hey, that's good."

After hearing what Shining Kirlia said, Yu Feng smiled and trotted back to the tent.

If his sister didn't speak up, he would not be able to hold on any longer. You know, using superpowers to stop a few drops of rain is not a problem, but continuous raindrops would be too difficult.

There were so many things I couldn't stop just now that my shoulders are all wet.

"Chirrut. (You're allowed to pretend.)"

Flash Kirlia curled her lips, but still condensed a small ball of light in her hand and let it float on the top of the tent.

The appearance of the small ball of light warmed the damp and cold air in the tent, and the Pokémon that were sheltering from the rain around the tent also moved closer to it.

Yu Feng gave the wet clothes to the butler to dry, and put on a white windbreaker with a blue lining.

"What are you talking about? I'm telling you, this rain won't last long."

Looking at the heavy rain outside, Yu Feng calmly picked up the black tea handed to him by the waiter and started drinking it.

Well, behind every cup of black tea there is a Bu Si Hu being persecuted.

"By the way, do you feel that the magnetic field around here is beginning to distort?"

After returning the empty teacup to the steward, Yu Feng turned his head to look at his dear sister.

His superpowers told him that the electrical energy nearby was disappearing rapidly, which meant that the time had come.

Hearing Yu Feng's words, Flash Kirlia closed her eyes and felt it carefully. The nearby electric energy was indeed gathering in one direction. She nodded to Yu Feng: "Kirlia. (Yes, I have this feeling.)"

"It's OK as long as you feel it's right. Next we are going to enjoy the wonders."

When his sister proved that her feeling was correct, Yu Feng smiled faintly. This was one of the few times that a certain movie emperor used his full strength.

Just when Flash Kirlia was confused, a thick bolt of lightning fell from the sky, like the wrath of God, splitting the entire earth in half.

The dazzling white light made it impossible to tell where they were for a moment. They could only see the thunder that was even brighter than the white light.

"Chirrut! (Is that what you mean? It's definitely worth seeing.)"

Flash Kirlia gritted her teeth. She calculated that if she wanted to reach this level of 100,000 volts, she would have to at least reach her aunt's level, or learn the skill of thunder.

But the problem is, it's still too early for me to reach my aunt's level. I'm not even Gardevoir, so how can I compare to my aunt?

Compared with this, it is more reliable to learn how to make thunder.

"No, no, it's the next one."

Yu Feng signaled his sister to wait, this was not what he was talking about.

After a while, this sudden heavy rain disappeared into the sky just as it came.

"Here he is."

Yu Feng crawled out of the tent and released all his Pokémon. He pointed to the sky which had turned blue, where a mysterious Pokémon was flying towards the other side.

A rainbow was quietly appearing along its path.

"Chirrut? (You want me to see this shiny toucan? I'm shiny too.)"

Shining Kirlia stood beside Yu Feng and looked at the Ho-Oh that was emitting small specks of light in the sky. Then she looked at herself who was also emitting small spots of light and then looked at the "Shining Toucan" flying in the sky with a bit of disdain.