

Gardevoir 182

Chapter 182: Release Yourself? ?

Manatori looked at the time on her watch impatiently while walking on her high heels.

Musashi and the others arrived too late. You know, she has a lot to do, and any waste would be a loss.

As a result, now all his time is wasted waiting for these three people. I really don't know what Boss Banmu was thinking, giving these three people the right to contact him freely, and they can also serve as Boss Banmu's direct team.

I really don't know what kind of magic potion these three people have given to Boss Banmu.

Not long after, the three members of Team Rocket, sneaking in windbreakers, sneaked into the room where Mana was.

At first, Manatori wanted to sternly ask who the three people in front of him were and why they broke into his room.

But when the three of them took off their hats, she was glad that she didn't have any, and didn't have time to say anything.

Otherwise, being laughed at by these three people would make you angry for the whole day.

"Ahem, why are you three here just now?"

Knowing that he couldn't reveal at this moment that it was their fault that he didn't notice it just now, Manatori decided to strike first and make these people ignore his previous behavior.

Kojiro and his men, who had just been dealt with, stood still immediately and subconsciously prepared to face Boss Itaki.

"What? You watermelon-rind eyes!"

Musashi suddenly realized why he had to be so respectful to this girl with watermelon-shaped glasses?

She rolled up her sleeves and was about to give Manori a few hard blows, but unfortunately Kojiro and Meowth were quick enough to hold her thighs to prevent her from doing anything extreme.

"Musashi, don't do this! She controls our salaries!"

Kojiro held onto Musashi's thighs tightly to prevent her from really hitting him, because Manatori was in control of their salaries!

If Musashi were really allowed to attack, their future wages would be in jeopardy.

"That's what I'm saying! Meowth doesn't want to eat bento for a month!"

Meow Meow also clung to Musashi's thighs tightly. He didn't want to have nothing delicious to eat and could only eat those dry bento boxes!

"How dare you two say that! Didn't Kojiro advance your salary for this month?!"

Originally, Musashi was just having a normal reaction to Manatori, but when he heard Kojiro talking about the salary, he immediately became angry.

Originally, they could have sat on the ship safely, enjoyed the sun and all kinds of delicious food!

But it was all because of Kojiro who was tricked into taking two months' salary in advance and actually bought a Magikarp!

They were forced to come here smuggled only by sitting on a wooden basin, and now you are still talking to her about the salary issue?

"It seems so!"

After Musashi's reminder, Kojiro seemed to remember his outrageous behavior and scratched his head in embarrassment.

"It's a hammer, meow!"

Now Meow Meow couldn't sit still anymore. She could have enjoyed a luxury cruise and endless delicious food, but because Kojiro bought a Magikarp full of bones, she had to sit in the wooden basin for the whole day!

Then the three of them started fighting with each other, punching each other.

Looking at the messy situation of several people, Manatori calmly pushed her glasses. At this moment, she became more determined to suggest to the boss to disband their special operations team.

After all, their existence serves no purpose other than wasting the organization's funds.

"Stop and tell me what you did with the advance funds."

But Manatori didn't care about anything else at the moment. She opened the recent funding application from Musashi and his team, pointed to the column for advance application and asked.

Although she shouldn't ask about this matter morally and logically, she couldn't help but be interested, and this item happened to be under her jurisdiction.

"This...this..."

"Kojiro, he..."

"I bought a Magikarp, meow..."

The trio felt a little embarrassed when they mentioned this, and they began to stutter. After all, spending thirty thousand on a Magikarp was simply embarrassing, and no one, no matter how stupid, would fall for this?

"You used this month's salary in advance to buy a Magikarp?"

Although he knew that the trio was stupid, he didn't expect them to be so stupid. The Magikarp would cost less than 500 yuan if he went to buy it from those fishermen, and the fishermen were so generous that they didn't even want money.

After all, they wish there were fewer Magikarp, but spending 30,000 to buy a Magikarp?

Please forgive her for being so ignorant. Who would do this? Pikachu is a rare Pokémon in other regions. Magikarp is just like a stray dog on the roadside.

"What about those Magikarp? I'll register you on the organization's list."

However, now that Manato has caught the three men's weakness, he still has to do some practical things, and register the Magikarp into their team.

So Manato reached out and asked Kojiro for Magikarp's Poké Ball so that she could record the information.

"Carp... Magikarp... Ahahaha."

"He...he evolved into...Gyarados."

When it comes to Magikarp, Kojiro and Musashi became a little hesitant. Magikarp had evolved into Gyarados on the day it was captured.

They can't take it out now.

"Then bring Gyarados here and register it. Evolving it is a good thing."

Now it was Shincho's turn to be confused. Isn't it a good thing that Magikarp evolved into Gyarados? Gyarados is a very powerful fighter, and it's not a loss to spend 30,000 to buy a Gyarados that is about to evolve.

Although there are as many Magikarp as there are carp swimming in the river, not every one of them can successfully evolve into Gyarados. Most Magikarp can only maintain their original form throughout their lives.

"It's just... Gyarados... set himself free..."

Seeing that there was no reason to refuse, Musashi closed his eyes and directly told Gyarados about his current situation.

When escaping from the St. Anne, Kojiro kicked Magikarp in a panic, and then...

"you...."

"What about what the boss told me to do?"

Now Shintori was helpless. This was the first time she heard of a Pokémon releasing itself.

Feeling extremely helpless, Manato could only ask them whether they had completed the task assigned by Boss Itaki. It was just a Gyarados, and it was gone.

"Ah, mission? What mission?"

There was clear stupidity in Kojiro's eyes, as if he was curious about what mission they hadn't completed.

"You two!!! Hurry up and find them!!!"

Hearing that Kojiro and the others had forgotten even their own mission, Manatori was really overwhelmed. They even forgot the mission assigned to them by the boss!

Although she was the one who notified them, this group of people really pissed her off! ! !