

Gardevoir 20

Chapter 20 How about I find you a companion?

"Garde (You should know that we have to go into the deepest part of the forest after evolving into Gardevoir.)"

The old patriarch began to explain to Yu Feng and Shining Kirlia the reason why they had to come back.

"It seems we are not the only ones going in. I remember Blimwin and the others are going too?"

After hearing what the old patriarch said, Yu Feng remembered that it seemed to be true. It seemed that all the races in this forest had to go deep into the forest after evolving to their final form.

The same goes for Gardevoir, Blimwin, the Suction Marionette, and the Galar Flamebear that just moved here in recent years.

"Sana. (Yes, all the Psychic and Fairy Pokémon in this forest must go.)"

The old patriarch continued, after all, this matter had to be told to them.

"Shanai. (In the depths of the forest, two pieces of deer antlers shed by Master Xerneas are enshrined.)"

"Shanai. (As long as you evolve to the final form and then make sincere offerings, Master Xerneas will bless you and your subsequent breakthroughs will become easier.)"

The old patriarch told Yu Feng the secret of the forest, which is the biggest secret of this forest.

Yu Feng didn't expect that there was a horn that Xerneas had fallen off in the forest, but he knew that the old patriarch would not tell him about this for no reason. "So this has something to do with you asking us to come back?"

"Sana. (We were originally hesitant about whether to let you in.)"

Yu Feng and his aunt spoke up. They couldn't let the clan leader tell them everything.

"But now we feel we can go in."

Yu Feng raised his eyebrows. He could guess what was said next without him saying anything.

"Sana. (Yes, after seeing that you have the feather of the Phoenix King, we can finally rest assured.)"

The old patriarch pointed at the feathers that had started flickering again at some point in time. Combined with the flashing features that appeared around Yu Feng, it made him look like a human-shaped neon light.

"Chief, do you think this is really okay?"

Yu Feng took out the Phoenix King Feather. He felt that this guy was very excited and kept flashing.

"Sana. (Is this the feather of the Ho-Oh? It's so beautiful.)"

"Sana. (I said some unnecessary words. Believe me, this time it will only benefit you and not harm you.)"

"Sana. (Besides, with the feathers of the Phoenix King as a backup, there will be no danger.)"

The old clan leader said with certainty that after all, they were all experienced people, and Lord Xerneas was not an evil god.

In addition, Yu Feng is also a person favored by the King of Ho, so Lord Xerneas should also give him some face.

"Okay, let's go now?"

Yu Feng had nothing to say and put the feather into his backpack to avoid blinding other people's eyes.

After all, if he doesn't trust the tribe members who raised him since childhood, who can he trust?
What's more, what could happen to his mother here?

"Shanai. (No, we still need to prepare some things to worship Master Xerneas, but you don't need to go there.)"

"Sana! (Yes, leave it to me, your aunt. I promise to prepare the best for you.)"

The clan leader was interrupted by his aunt before he could finish his words. She looked so excited as if she was going in herself, even though she had already been in there.

"Sana. (Okay, you just need to go to the entrance with your sister tomorrow, and leave the rest to your clan leader grandmother.)"

The old patriarch touched Yu Feng's head with a doting look on her face. You know, it was his mother who begged her for a long time to let Yu Feng stay here, although in the end she also accepted this child.

"Sana!!! (That's right, just leave it to your aunt. Look how worried your mother is... Hey! Hey! Hey! It hurts, it hurts, big sister, I'm not a child anymore, don't pull my ears!)"

Yu Feng and Shining Kiria watched the most lively little aunt being dragged away by the gloomy eldest aunt, and a smile appeared on the corners of their mouths. After all, it was indeed too much to interrupt the clan leader again and again.

The clan leader also waved to them and pointed at their mother, indicating that the two of them should go and keep her company. Now she was going to deal with the little guy who liked to interrupt.

Yu Feng also noticed the patriarch's actions and looked at his mother.

He stepped forward and hugged her right hand. Not to be outdone, Shiny Kirlia hugged... Gardevoir's left leg?

Well, don't ask why Yu Feng could only hold her hand. His mother, those aunts and even the old clan leader are all leader Pokémon.

His mother is nearly four meters tall, and it's already very high for her to just hug him with her hands. Can't you see that his sister can only hug her legs?

In this way, they slowly walked to the tree house where they had lived for more than ten years.

"Sana? (Speaking of which, Xiao Fengfeng, have you conquered any new partners? Do you want mom to find a partner for you?)"

Gardevoir's mother hugged her son excitedly. The scene was like a giant playing with her doll.

What's more, the new partner you conquer now might be your daughter-in-law. Don't panic if there's no one. I know many people and elves. I just have to think carefully about who is more suitable for my little Fengfeng.

Chillian, who was standing aside, was covering her mouth and laughing secretly at her brother, not realizing that if she sat in her brother's arms, the scene would be no different from what she was seeing now.

"Oh, it's not that easy to win over new friends, mom."

"But I received my own starter Pokémon."

Although Yu Feng wanted to break free, his mother was much stronger than him.

You can only hold Charmander's Poké Ball in your hand and release Charmander.

"Like!Σ('△`)?!"

Charmander had just come out and was looking for his trainer excitedly, but he found that his trainer was sitting in the arms of a huge Pokémon, with his head clamped between two huge mountains, and he could basically no longer be seen.

Well, what should I do if the trainer is caught by the female titan? Waiting online very urgently.

Charmander is in such a confused state right now, but he should save his trainer now, right?

As he thought of this, wisps of flame appeared from Charmander's mouth and sprayed towards Gardevoir's head.

Flash Kirlia on the side gave her a thumbs up. You know, his mother's superpowers are always extremely terrifying every time he feels them, and this little guy actually dared to take action.

However, since you are willing to fight against a powerful enemy in order to save your brother, I will give you a passing grade for now.

Not to mention the storm in Shiny Kirlia's head, Charmander only felt a huge pressure, and her spark was extinguished by a slap before it could get close to the other party.

The other party looked at her curiously. She dared to use her irresponsible father as a guarantee, but others were too lazy to do it.

It seems that I have to use that move, but it hurts every time I use it. No matter what, saving the trainer is the most important thing. Thinking of this, a red cyclone rose from Charmander's body.

Gardevoir also looked at her child's Pokémon curiously to see what it would do. She wasn't worried about any problems at all, as her methods wouldn't cause any harm to a newborn baby.

"Like!?(?`^'?)"

As the red cyclone completely enveloped Charmander, Charmander's eyes turned red.

Her mind was now filled with all kinds of violent thoughts, but she still remembered to rescue her trainer.

So Charmander bravely charged towards Gardevoir's feet, and then his eyes went black and he lost consciousness.
