

Gardevoir 27

Chapter 27 You will usher in a new life

'You can't escape your destiny, but you can change it.'

Xerneas didn't care about Yu Feng's words. From all the futures he had seen so far, he was involved in these events for some reason.

"I don't believe in an inescapable fate. My coming here is the best proof."

Yu Feng did not believe what Xerneas said about being unable to escape the constraints of fate. His standing here meant that what Xerneas said was false.

After all, he was not from this world before. If he had not escaped from the fate, he would have just gotten married and had children like most people, and then lived a dull life of birth, aging, sickness and death.

"How do you know that coming here is not your destiny?"

Xerneas' eyes slightly opened, and countless stories seemed to be reflected in them, but when Yu Feng looked carefully, he did not find anything unusual.

But....

Although reason told Yu Feng that what Xerneas said was right, why would he be reborn into this world if it was not fate?

"Although it is dangerous, it is also a reward for you. You may meet many friends through this."

There was a hint of smile in Xerneas' voice. After all, in most of the future he would be able to meet good partners.

'You don't have to be so quick to deny what I said. When you experience spiritual awakening, you will understand what I said.'

"My time is running out. Before that, I want to give you a gift. When you are ready to accept your destiny, come see me again."

"In this world where humans and Pokémon coexist, what kind of answer will you leave behind? May your future be full of flowers and flowers, traveler."

The light around Xerneas became brighter and brighter, but strangely, the light was not glaring, and Yu Feng could still see Xerneas in the light.

Yu Feng felt something burning on his body, and the feathers of the Phoenix King quietly appeared from his body.

"Am I not in the spiritual realm?"

When Yu Feng saw the feathers of Phoenix King, he felt like he had seen a ghost. He was clearly in the spiritual space, so why could he still see the feathers of Phoenix King?

Yu Feng stretched out his hand and pinched a feather that was emitting a dazzling rainbow glow.

The feathers of the Wind King instantly burned into ashes, and the golden flames swept up Yu Feng's body. Yu Feng subconsciously wanted to put out the flames on his body.

At this moment, a light pink mist swept over Yu Feng's whole body, wrapping up Yu Feng along with the holy ash.

In the last moments, Yu Feng seemed to see his body from another perspective.

"Chirrut! Chirrut! (Wake up, brother. Wake up!)"

His sister's anxious voice sounded in his ears, and Yu Feng opened his eyes dazedly. He just felt that his current perspective was a little strange, his sister was clearly in front of him, but he could only see her back.

Why did he seem to see himself, and his face seemed to be full of surprise. There was also a different-colored Gardevoir with the same expression as him. Although the super power could also allow him to see these things, it was obviously not the effect of the super power.

"Why can I see your face and your back at the same time? Why can I see myself?"

"Sanae? (Why can I see your face and your back at the same time? Why can I see myself?)"

The voices of Yu Feng and Gardevoir sounded at the same time, making Shining Kirlia a little confused.

"Chirrut! (So who is she? Why is she talking like you?)"

Although Shining Kirlia was pointing behind her and asking Yu Feng questions, Yu Feng felt that she was pointing at him.

"I'm your brother! What are you pointing at me for?"

"Sana. (I'm your brother! Why are you pointing fingers at me?)"

Yu Feng was a little surprised that his sister didn't even recognize him.

"Chirrut. (Oh, I don't mean that shining Gardevoir.)"

Shining Kirlia was a little confused. She looked at the Pokémon she was pointing at, and then looked at the brother in front of her.

She was very sure that she was not pointing at the wrong person, but why did the brother say that he was pointing at him, when the one behind him was obviously a female Gardevoir?

"Chirrut. (Wait a minute, bro. I'll put my hands behind my back. Look what I wrote.)"

Shining Kirlia thought of a possibility. She put her hands behind her back and wrote a number, and asked Yu Feng what number she wrote.

"It's four, and where did you put it at the back?"

"Sana? (It's four, where did you put it at the back?)"

At this point, Yu Feng finally came to his senses. He looked at the Shiny Gardevoir opposite him with some shock and took a breath.

Could this be him? Yu Feng was certain of this when he saw the man on the other side also inhaling.

At the same time, he pulled open his clothes and took a look. If he guessed correctly, the symbol representing Gardevoir should appear on his chest.

Sure enough, an orange crystal with a pink glow appeared on his chest, although the depth of the other perspective made him a little concerned.

"Sister, look, are those two orange stripes in my hair still there?"

Yu Feng pointed at his hair and asked his sister to come and see if the mark on his hair was still there.

"Chirrut. (Let me see, it's gone? Brother!)"

Hearing Yu Feng's words, Flash Kirliao obediently looked above his head. The two orange stripes representing Kirliao had quietly disappeared.

Now it was Shiny Kirlia's turn to be shocked. How come his brother evolved after being stunned for a while? But he was still Kirlia?

Wait, that's not right. Then the awakening stone that mom originally wanted to prepare for my brother can't be used.

"This is a big problem."

"Sana. (If I have evolved, then who am I?)"

Controlling two bodies is a very easy task for Yu Feng, who has extremely strong mental power. He can do it skillfully after thinking about it for a while.

"Chirrut. (I just remember that after I put the crystal on, a pink mist appeared and surrounded us, and then I didn't know anything.)"

Shining Kirlia thought back to his experience and found nothing strange, and he hadn't evolved yet!!!

"That's not what's bothering me. Let's go out first."

Shining Gardevoir walked up to Yu Feng and rubbed his furrowed brows, and at the same time took out the pocket of his clothes where the Ho-Oh feather was placed on his chest.

The feathers of the Wind King were no longer as vibrant as before, but rather a little listless. The rainbow glow it had originally emitted disappeared, and wisps of golden flames appeared nearby, but they did not burn anything.

"Chirrut? (How do we get out? Didn't the way out disappear as I remember?)"

Shining Kirlia scratched her hair. She vaguely remembered that the way she came had disappeared.

"It's just a barrier. You'll know when you get there."

Yu Feng and Shining Gardevoir stood up, brushed the dust off their clothes, and walked back the way they came.

Shining Kirlia hurriedly followed the two of them, and they soon arrived at the entrance.

At the last second before going out, Yu Feng vaguely saw Xerneas standing on the tree and looking at him.