Chapter 7 Damu Research Institute

On the way to the Oak Research Institute with Aunt Hanako, Yu Feng obtained a lot of useful information from others.

First of all, the general world view here is no different from the normal Pokémon world.

There is just one more Chinese region, which is the legendary hometown of Arcanine.

Although it is not clear why this happened, the champions and kings in other regions remained unchanged.

This Chinese region stands out like ink in a basin of clear water.

The direction of China in this world is basically the same as that of his previous world.

For example, the First Emperor who owns the Black Rayquaza, the real hero Cao Cao, the ideal hero Liu Bei, and His Majesty the Second Phoenix who owns the Phoenix King.

Leaving aside these historical ones, the current Kanto and Johto regions are both sub-regions under the Huaxia region.

There is one champion officially certified by the Huaxia Alliance, the Four Heavenly Kings, and the eighteen hall masters.

Of course, according to Hanako's statement, Yu Feng could understand that the officially certified gym masters all had king-level strength.

That is, the gym leaders of the eighteen series have at least three king-level Pokémon, and the four kings have at least one champion-level Pokémon.

The configuration of the champion is unknown, but Dodo has played in the Chinese League's championship challenge twice and has not been able to get past the second king.

It can be judged that the champion of China can at least crush the four kings below.

Just as Yu Feng was using his superpowers to sort out the information he had obtained, Hanako had already brought him to a very luxurious courtyard.

"Xiao Feng, we have arrived at the Oak Research Institute."

Hanako gave Yu Feng, who was thinking, a slight reminder to prevent him from bumping into the door.

Then he rang the doorbell and waited for Professor Oak's response.

Soon the screen on the gate lit up, and a researcher's face appeared on it.

"It's Miss Hanako, please come in."

The researcher took one look at Hanako and opened the gate of the courtyard without thinking twice.

"This is Professor Oak's research institute. The mountains behind and the sea behind them all belong to the Oak research institute."

Huazi introduced the situation of the research institute to Yu Feng. After all, it was his first time here.

"This is where Professor Oak usually does his experiments."

Hanako simply took Yu Feng around some important places and came to a door that was obviously different from those places. She pointed at the door and said to Yu Feng.

"dong dong dong"

"Doctor, I'm coming in."

Without waiting for Professor Oak's reply, Hanako opened the door and walked in with Yu Feng.

After entering the door, Hanako and Yu Feng saw Professor Oak busy with his back to them.

"Hey, Xiao Feng, don't mind me. Professor Oak is very busy and often forgets to eat."

"Although there are many researchers in the institute, none of them can cook."

"So I come every day to bring some food to the doctor."

Hanako looked at Professor Oak who ignored them and thought he was just immersed in his research again.

After explaining the reason to Yu Feng, he opened the basket he had been carrying and placed the food inside on the table.

Although Aunt Hanako's explanation was very normal and consistent with Professor Oak in Yu Feng's memory, he smelled a familiar scent in the air.

It was very familiar, but Yu Feng hadn't touched that thing for a long time, so he couldn't remember what it was for a moment.

I always feel that if Aunt Hanako finds out what Professor Oak is doing now, he will be lectured.

"Doctor, it's time to eat."

After Hanako set the table, she went to call Professor Oak to eat as usual.

Although it was bad to disturb his research, according to other researchers, they had not eaten breakfast or lunch today.

Of course, after Hanako walked up to Professor Oak and saw what he was doing, the smile on her face could no longer be maintained.

"Doctor, how many times have I told you not to use a beaker to cook instant noodles? It's not nutritious."

Hanako looked at the instant noodles cooking in the beaker with a somewhat upset expression. She had never expected that Professor Oak was secretly cooking noodles here.

Hanako's good upbringing prevented her from saying anything unpleasant, and with Yu Feng following behind her, she couldn't say anything serious for the sake of the doctor's face.

"Ah, Hanako, cough cough, I'm really hungry."

"Hey, this is it?"

Professor Oak looked back embarrassedly. Although Hanako was right, instant noodles were convenient as they could be cooked in a beaker.

However, Professor Oak became interested when he saw the two blue little radish heads following Hanako.

He carefully looked at the body of the Shining Kirlia, pinched the tentacles on its head, and then took his hand to observe it carefully.

This was the first time that Shining Kirlia had encountered such a thing. She was unable to react for a moment and just stood there in a daze, allowing Professor Oak to examine her.

"Dr. Oak, this is very rude!"

Although Hanako could not recognize the specialness of Shiny Kirlia, the Pokémon that could interest him as Professor Oak would not be a simple type.

But it's really rude to observe other people's Pokémon like this, especially when the other trainer is still there.

Moreover, Hanako could clearly see that Shining Kirlia's eyes were becoming more and more dangerous. No matter whose good it was, she had to stop Professor Oak's behavior. Unfortunately, her reminder was too late.

"Chirrut!"

"Ah! It's numb."

Kirlia's eyes flashed with a very dangerous look, and golden electric light quietly wrapped around her body. She shot a 100,000-volt electric current at Professor Oak. Of course, she still knew the seriousness of the matter, and the current was only enough to knock a person out.

Yu Feng gasped when he saw Dr. Oak fall to the ground after being electrocuted by 100,000 volts. Dr. Oak's physical fitness is too good. Although the sister's attack was not strong enough, he just fell to the ground and cried out after receiving a 100,000 volt electric shock. Is this a super newcomer? It's really terrifying.

"Ahem, who are you then?"

I don't know if it was the unique physique of Pallet Town or something else, but under Yu Feng's gaze, Professor Oak quickly recovered from his paralysis and asked Yu Feng about his origins in a serious manner.

You have to know that you can't just come to his research institute whenever you want. If you can't explain it to him, you have to let him know how powerful your old friend is.

Yu Feng took out the token given by the clan leader, a light pink transparent crystal token, which seemed to be naturally formed without any artificial processing.

Even a knowledgeable person like Professor Oak couldn't help but be surprised when he saw the token Yu Feng took out. The last time he saw this super power token was last time.

"Xiao Feng, is this token yours?"

Although it is clear that no one can forge this token, and the boy is accompanied by a shining Kirlia, it should be genuine, but for the sake of safety, I still have to ask where the token came from.

"Well, this was given to me by the clan leader aunt."

"Auntie the clan leader?"

After hearing Yu Feng's answer, Professor Oak murmured a few words, then put on his signature smile and said to Yu Feng: "I understand. In a few days, it will be the time for the new trainers to set off. How about you and them receive the initial Pokémon?"

"I'm OK."

Yu Feng was quite straightforward. After all, he was able to receive the initial Pokémon because of the old clan leader and the others.

"That's fine. It just so happens that the illustrated guide for you will also take some time to transport over."

As he spoke, Professor Oak rummaged around on the lab table and pulled out a list with the three great families drawn on it. He handed it to Yu Feng and said, "Here is the list of the three great families I can transfer over and a detailed introduction. If you like any of them, just tell me in advance."

"Oh, oh, are you done with your work? But speaking of which, Xiao Feng, you probably don't have a place to stay these days, right?"

"How about staying at my house for a few days? Xiaozhi will definitely be able to talk to you."

Watching the two of them finish their discussion, Hanako came up with a smile. When she heard that Xiaofeng was going to stay for a few days, Hanako immediately invited him to her home.

I think Xiaozhi and Xiaofeng are about the same age, so they should be able to chat with each other. Besides, Xiaozhi is also one of the people who will be traveling this year, so it would be even better if he could travel with Xiaofeng.

"Yes, Xiao Feng, Xiao Zhi will definitely be able to chat with you."

Even Professor Oak was persuading Yu Feng to stay at Hanako's house temporarily, after all, it was quite troublesome to go back and forth.

"Well, I'll trouble Aunt Hanako then."

Yu Feng thought for a while. He really had no place to live at the moment. Although there was a tent prepared by his mother, who would want to sleep in a tent when they could sleep in a house? So he accepted Aunt Huazi's invitation.

"Hahaha, Xiao Feng, you can come to my research institute to play when you are free."

Professor Oak was also very happy. After all, his favorite thing now, besides research, was to see the happy smiles of these young people when they received their own Pokémon for the first time.

But before they could be happy for long, a burning smell surrounded them.

Professor Oak's eyes narrowed and his tone was very sad.

"My instant noodles!!!"
