

Gardevoir 70

Chapter 70 Xiao Feng, tell me about him

"Xiaozhi just needs to practice again."

Even though Xiaogang had said it very seriously before, he would still come to comfort Xiaozhi if he really had any problems.

"But...."

Xiaozhi felt inexplicably unhappy. He could have won easily before, but it was strange that something went wrong here.

"You and your Pokémon are so weak and unstable that my Charmander can knock you and your Pokémon over."

Yu Feng rolled his eyes at Xiaozhi. His newly acquired Charmander could defeat all of Xiaozhi's Pokémon.

A single spark from Butterfree could send it on a day trip to the Pokémon Center, not to mention poor Beedrill and Pidgeot, who grabbed its feathers and plucked them off for him.

"I'm different from you..."

Xiaozhi's voice was very soft and he thought Yu Feng couldn't hear it at all.

Unfortunately, Yu Feng's ears were very good. Just when he was about to lose his temper, a voice from inside the tent interrupted his actions.

"Your behavior just now was outrageous. How could you react so slowly? Now I'm going to teach you a lesson again, Sandshrew!"

The sound of Xiao Ming scolding the mole came from inside the tent and attracted their attention.

Xiaozhi the dog lay stealthily at the door of the tent and watched the scene inside.

Beedrill was doing dodging training with Butterfree, while some of the Rattatas were jumping through fire hoops and some were doing balance training on balance balls.

Xiao Ming and the sandmouse stayed alone next to a pool full of water, and the sandmouse stood on a high diving platform.

The mole jumped straight into the pool, and then, as if touched by something unbearable, it quickly jumped out of the water and spun wildly on the ground, trying to shake off the water stains on its body.

"Don't be afraid of water!"

Xiao Ming whipped the sandshrew with a whip, causing it to stop spinning.

"stop it now!"

Xiaozhi suddenly appeared from nowhere, grabbed Xiaoming's waist and pushed him into the pool.

Xiao Ming, who didn't have time to react, was taken down by Xiao Zhi, and both of them sank into the water.

"What's going on? What...what are you still doing here?"

Xiao Ming was very surprised that Xiaozhi was still here. After all, it was rare for him to stay here after failing the challenge.

"The sandrat will die!"

Xiaozhi was very dissatisfied with Xiaoming who was torturing the Sandshrew. It was really unpleasant to treat the water-fearing Sandshrew in this way.

"Don't worry about it! Just understand, this is how we usually train!"

Xiao Ming was very surprised by Xiao Zhi's recklessness. It seemed that they did not act on impulse.

"Train? You mean wearing that weird stuff?"

Xiaozhi became even more confused about the training Xiaoming mentioned, and after taking a look at the strange device on Sandshrew, he was even more confused.

"That's not a strange thing, it's a Pokémon Booster, a secret weapon that can unleash the potential of Pokémon."

Xiao Ming climbed out of the water while explaining what his machine was.

"By the way, Sandshrew, you can't be lazy!"

As if he remembered something, Xiao Ming shouted at the sandmouse that was paddling lazily.

"Sandrats are obviously afraid of water!"

"I know this!"

"Then why!"

"Jump down, Sandshrew!"

Xiao Ming, who had an argument with Xiaozhi, felt that Xiaozhi would not understand if he just talked to him, and he had to let Sandshrew do it himself so that Xiaozhi, who was stubborn, would know right from wrong.

A Sandshrew that appeared on the diving platform at some point in time fell beside Xiaozhi and splashed water all over him as if to provoke him, even though he was already wet.

The mole rat jumped out of the water again, shook off the water on its body, and stood in front of everyone again.

"You sandrat, isn't he afraid of water?"

Xiaogang was a little surprised. This was the first time he had seen a mole rat that was not afraid of water.

"You won't find another sandshrew that has overcome its fear of water even if you search the entire world. Sandshrew, do some intensive training."

Talking about the sandmouse that has overcome its fear of water, Xiao Ming's face is full of pride. After all, you may not encounter a second sandmouse like this even if you search all over the place.

"Maybe there are Tyrannosaurus Rex and Onix that are not afraid of water either."

Yu Feng brought up two ground-type and rock-type Pokémon in his memory that were not afraid of water. The restraint effect on them was even more obvious than that on Sandshrew.

And if he remembered correctly, the Alola Sandshrew didn't seem to be afraid of water!

"Humph, those aren't sand rats."

Xiao Ming showed a satisfied look when he watched Tuan Chengtuan being beaten back and forth by Rattata during training.

"Stop it now! Do you want to train the sandrat to be a punching bag?"

Xiaozhi couldn't stand it anymore. For someone like him who loves Pokémon, Xiao Ming's training method was undoubtedly crossing his bottom line.

After hearing what Xiaozhi said, Xiaogang and Xiaoxia almost fell to the ground. Yu Feng covered his forehead with his hands and had a headache, while Xiao Ming had an expression that said, "What are you talking about?"

"Pikachu!"

Pikachu pulled out a cushion from somewhere and swung it in front of Xiaozhi.

"Ah? A seat cushion as a reward? Ouch! This is not the time to joke around!"

"Qiu~"

Looking at Pikachu's actions, Xiaozhi was a little angry. After all, now is not the time to joke!

After being scolded by Xiaozhi, Pikachu also carried the cushion to Yu Feng to seek comfort.

"The sandrat is so pitiful!"

"Too pitiful?"

Xiao Ming seemed to have heard something funny, and said to Xiao Zhi seriously: "Exercise like this is the key to training the sandmouse's skin to be as hard as steel!"

"Why do you want to torture the sandrat like this?"

Xiaozhi was a little dissatisfied. In his opinion, this was not training at all, but simply torturing Sandshrew.

"Because Sandshrew is the first Pokémon I captured!"

Xiao Ming explained to everyone the reason why he trained Sandshrew in this way. His goal was the same as Xiaozhi's, which was to become the world's number one trainer and Pokémon.

"It's wrong for you to do this. Pokémon and their trainers should be friends!"

"It's too noisy, go back!"

Xiao Ming had nothing to say to Xiao Zhi, who had different ideas from him. After all, different ideas led to different views, and he didn't want to convince a stubborn person.

"Xiao Feng, come on and say something to him!"

Xiaozhi turned his gaze to Yu Feng. After all, he was raised by Pokémon and would definitely understand his thoughts.

"I think he's right. Even in nature, if you neglect training, you may be preyed upon by other Pokémon."

"It's the same thing with your Pidgeot, Xiaozhi, and the Caterpillar before."

Yu Feng shook his head. Apart from feeling unhappy about Xiao Ming's arrogance, he still agreed with Xiao Ming's opinion, which was that the Gardevoir clan had no natural enemies, and the old clan leader was very powerful.

Otherwise, who knows where they will be.