

Genius 128

Chapter 128: Sap Outfit_1

"What's wrong?"

The commotion Qin Fang had caused this time was rather big, enough to disturb even Tang Feifei, who was seriously watching the movie. She immediately asked with concern.

"I'm feeling a bit unwell in the stomach, I need to go to the restroom, you guys keep watching..."

Qin Fang could only hold his stomach, pretending to be in considerable discomfort, as he rose from his seat and headed outside. When he passed by Xiao Muxue, Qin Fang distinctly felt her foot rubbing against the back of his calf again.

"This siren!"

Qin Fang cursed silently in his heart, but now was not the time to settle scores with Xiao Muxue. He had more pressing problems to deal with!

If Tang Feifei found out, it would be a big problem.

She might even turn him from a probationary boyfriend of just one day into an ex-boyfriend in an instant.

Qin Fang's departure slightly unsettled the emotions of both women, though their thoughts were completely different.

Tang Feifei was genuinely worried about Qin Fang's wellbeing, while Xiao Muxue felt shy about her recent actions, coupled with a certain unusual excitement.

"What kind of situation is this?"

Meanwhile, Qin Fang bent over and fled, not actually heading towards the restroom but directly out of the movie theater, searching for a supermarket.

His underwear was soaking wet, which made him extremely uncomfortable. If he didn't deal with it properly, Tang Feifei was bound to find out, especially since a man's essence has a very pungent smell. Even a slight proximity would make it too easy to detect.

Just as Qin Fang had just stepped out of the movie theater and was looking around for a supermarket, someone suddenly rushed at him from the side, about to collide with him.

With +10 agility, Qin Fang's reaction was much faster than the average person, almost instinctively dodging to the side, his body shrinking just enough to let the person rush past him closely.

Just then, however, Qin Fang was astonished to find that as this person brushed past, a hand reached out towards his pocket, where his wallet and phone were.

A thief!

Qin Fang immediately realized that this individual wasn't simply clumsy but a pickpocket.

If he hadn't dodged just then, they would have collided, allowing the thief to quickly dip into his pocket and steal his wallet and phone.

"Looking for death!"

Qin Fang was instantly furious, unable to believe someone dared to try stealing from him. Rage uncontrollable, he intended to catch the thief.

But the moment the thief realized the theft was unsuccessful, without even touching the hem of Qin Fang's clothes, he knew he had encountered a tough target. Without a second thought, he sprinted away, dashing towards a dim alley far from the movie theater.

"Stop!"

Qin Fang couldn't let it go so easily. Having something stolen by this thief was unforgivable, and if there was one type of person Qin Fang hated the most in this life, it was the thief.

It was related to a past incident for Qin Fang. He and his mother had been living a life dependent on each other, and once when his mother needed hospital care, he had managed to borrow some medical expenses from several good neighbors. But on his way to the hospital, a thief stole it all, nearly resulting in his mother's death due to the hospital stopping her medication.

It was because of this reason that whenever Qin Fang encountered a thief, he would never let them off easily. This was also why Qin Fang's first encounter with Chen Jiangnan had been in such a scene, and why Qin Fang had been ruthless in dealing with Jiangnan.

Thus, Qin Fang immediately chased after the fleeing thief, even forgetting about the need to find a supermarket, focusing solely on catching the thief ahead.

With +10 to all attributes, Qin Fang was not only extremely agile, but his running speed was also much faster than the average person. The thief might have been used to being chased and was quite a runner, but to his surprise, Qin Fang closed the gap from over a dozen meters to just three or five in the blink of an eye, and he was still getting closer.

Wuuuuu~~~

But just as Qin Fang was about to catch the thief, the thief suddenly took out a whistle and blew it. Almost instinctively, Qin Fang felt that the situation had changed, and it was only then that he realized he had unknowingly run into a secluded alley.

Now, the thief was panting heavily, crouched in a corner of a box, and no longer running.

"Why the chase? I didn't get anything. Mercy where one should show mercy, right? Let's just let bygones be bygones!" the thief said, seeming not as panicked as before and even tried to make a deal with Qin Fang.

"Just let it go? There are no such cheap deals..."

How could Qin Fang negotiate with a thief? Just about to catch him, there was no way he would let go. He stepped forward, ready to grab the person.

"You won't agree? Then don't blame me..."

However, a look of disdain suddenly appeared on the thief's face, "Brothers, come on out..."

Qin Fang was startled, and immediately saw people keep appearing in the alley, even behind him at the alley entrance, a group was surrounding him, and on the not-so-high walls of the alley were already several people sitting.

"Thinking you can win with numbers?"

Qin Fang glanced quickly and threw out one reconnaissance skill after another. The final result showed that all of these people were level 1 thieves, not one of them was level 2.

"This just got a lot easier!"

With such a result, Qin Fang felt much more reassured. Higher levels impose a certain level suppression on lower levels; the greater the difference in levels, the stronger the suppression.

Actually, this is easy to understand just by looking at Qin Fang's attributes.

At Level 1, all Qin Fang's attributes get +5. At Level 2, the attributes increase to +10. That means at Level 1 and dealing with a Level 2 character, you're already at half the disadvantage, so this type of level suppression is quite evident. To exert half of the full strength onto Qin Fang would be considered good.

"Get him!"

Almost at the command of the thief Qin Fang was chasing, over a dozen people from front, back, left, right, above and below all converged on him, fists raining down on Qin Fang's body,

Some aiming for the head, some for the back, some for the chest, and even some targeting Qin Fang's more vital regions. Unfortunately for the one who had this idea, his hand hadn't even touched Qin Fang's private area before he was sent flying with a kick from Qin Fang.

Bang bang~~

Facing this mob of level 1 rabble, Qin Fang still had plenty of confidence. Taking them down was just a matter of time. Almost every time Qin Fang took a few punches, he would immediately return with a heavy punch to the body of some unfortunate thief.

+10 strength was not to be taken lightly, and practically one punch could debilitate a thief. The lighter injuries resulted in them lying on the ground howling in pain, the more severe ones were knocked unconscious by Qin Fang.

Just as their numbers were dwindling and Qin Fang was about to clean up this group of thieves, he suddenly felt a slight commotion behind him. Before he could react, his vision went dark as something was pulled over his head.

"A sack?"

Qin Fang was quite surprised, not expecting these people to use a sack, especially against him.

"He's bagged, hurry up and hit him..."

And at that moment, while Qin Fang's head was covered by the sack, someone also firmly grabbed his arms, forcefully preventing Qin Fang from using his hands. Meanwhile, more thieves began to attack him.

Bang bang~~

Qin Fang only felt his head go slightly dizzy, as if he had been hit by some kind of heavy metallic object, instantly causing his Life Points to drop by a significant three points.

"Fuck, they're really ruthless!"

Qin Fang couldn't help but curse silently, these thieves were really lawless and unruly. Stealing was already breaking the law, and now they were ganging up on him, even daring to use heavy weapons like steel pipes to attack his head.

If a regular person took this hit, if it didn't kill them, they'd surely end up in the hospital for a long recovery, at the very least suffering a slight concussion.

Apart from that blow, Qin Fang didn't suffer any more "special care," and the punches on his body started to get harder and more frequent.

"Stop, what are you doing? I'm a police officer!"

At this moment, a girl's voice suddenly came from the entrance of the alley, and from their angle, it seemed like she was indeed wearing a police uniform.

"Retreat..."

The same thief Qin Fang had been chasing spoke, and upon seeing the situation at the entrance of the alley, he immediately shouted, and the multitude of thieves quickly started climbing over walls or running away. In no more than two minutes, everything was settled, and all the thieves had fled, without leaving a single one behind.

"What the heck is this?"

Qin Fang felt helpless, and after several tugs, he finally removed the sack that had been put over his head. He also saw a rusty steel pipe on the ground, which was clearly the same one that had hit him hard just moments ago.

"Looks like I need to carry some equipment with me in the future. With so many people using a sack, this brick isn't going to cut it!"

As he spoke, he threw the sack and steel pipe into his Props Box for future use, even if it took up two more slots.

"Set of three outfit components assembled, outfit attribute activated, you have obtained the Sap Outfit."

Just then, a prompt suddenly popped up in Qin Fang's mind, an unexpected one indeed.

"Sap Outfit: Stick, sack, brick... Collect all three to activate the outfit effect, increased combo success rate, and increased damage."

Qin Fang really didn't expect that these three items combined would actually activate the attributes of the Sap Outfit...