

Genius 1361

Chapter 1361: Someone Wants to Undermine Foundations!

...

With the leading yacht sounding its horn for departure, a total of more than ten luxury yachts set off immediately from the dock, heading towards the open sea.

It's not too far from the main island to Nanshan Island, but it's definitely not close either. Normally, it would take about an hour or so to sail there.

However, Qin Fang and the others were on luxury yachts, which are meant for leisure, not rushing. So the boats moved slowly, allowing them to enjoy the beautiful sea views.

Qin Fang and the group set off in the morning, needing only to reach Nanshan Island before nightfall. During most of the day, they would be freely engaging in activities at sea.

Such as a group of bikini-clad beauties jumping into the sea to frolic and swim, or some diving enthusiasts donning wetsuits and oxygen tanks to dive underwater...

It was the same for Qin Fang and his group. The women all changed into bikinis, even Tang Feifei put on a slightly more conservative swimsuit, but it still couldn't hide her perfect and impressive figure, making Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng green with envy...

Fortunately, these guys knew that it's inappropriate to covet a friend's wife, so they awkwardly avoided glancing at Tang Feifei too much and turned their attention to the scantily-clad bikini beauties on the other side.

All the men, including Qin Fang, changed into swimming trunks, and considering the weather, diving into the sea for a swim wasn't much of an issue...

"Qin Fang, how about diving into the sea?"

Kong Er's diving gear was, of course, complete, each of the three had a set, plus spares. Once out at sea, Kong Er quickly extended the invitation.

The "battle" was still underway inside the cabin. For these grown men to eavesdrop like this, it really wasn't dignified; they were already quite fired up.

If they each took a lady into the cabin for a "battle," this yacht trip would turn into a rather indiscreet gathering...

"I'll pass on diving; my water skills are pretty good, don't need those..."

As he spoke, Qin Fang leaped gracefully, forming a beautiful arc, and immediately dived off the yacht into the sea, creating only a tiny splash before diving into the deep blue ocean...

"Wow, this kid Qin Fang's got skills... almost on par with that guy from Hu Jia Lao'er!"

Watching Qin Fang's diving style, Kong Er, though not versed in diving, knew that skill was needed to pull off such a feat. Among the acquaintances he knew, only that person from Hu Jia Lao'er had such prowess.

However, it was clear from Qin Fang's performance that he was an amateur, unlike the professional athlete from Hu Jia Lao'er—a world diving champion...

When comparing the two, Qin Fang's remarkable talent became evident...

Whoa~~

A splash soon broke the surface of the water as Qin Fang's head emerged from the waves.

"Nice, the water temperature is good... Feifei, come down for a swim!"

He even called Tang Feifei to join him in the water.

Splash~~

Tang Feifei, not being one to hold back, immediately jumped into the sea, landing steadily next to Qin Fang, but...

"I can't swim!"

She shouted this out before splashing down.

Indeed, she couldn't swim!

"No worries, I'll teach you to swim..."

Qin Fang wouldn't let anything happen to her. As soon as Tang Feifei splashed down, he quickly lifted her out of the water before she could swallow any water, and the two of them started a cozy swimming lesson...

Qin Fang had good aquatic skills, and after grasping the swimming skill, though he rarely got in the water, his Intermediate Swimming Skill was top-notch, definitely at a professional athlete level.

With the addition of his Turtle Breathing Technique, he could hold his breath underwater for several hours, essentially reaching the level of water dragons like the White Strip in the Waves or the Mouse Turning the River.

Generally, beginners learn to swim in shallow water, but Qin Fang decided to teach in the boundless depths of the sea...

Seeing Qin Fang's effortless maneuvering in the water, Tang Feifei watched with bright eyes.

Qin Fang guided Tang Feifei hands-on in learning how to swim, naturally allowing some intimate moves, giving Qin Fang a chance for some indulgence.

Given Tang Feifei's initially frail stature, she wouldn't last long in the sea. But now, she wasn't weak; she was a little expert at the Middle Level Ninja, with a physique strengthened many times over.

Even the comprehension has improved a lot. Under Qin Fang's guidance, the limbs, completely relaxed, began to swim simply in no time...

"Good job, keep it up, keep going!"

When Qin Fang let go, Tang Feifei could already swim a short distance on her own, while Qin Fang cheered her on from the side.

"Hmm?"

As Qin Fang was focused on teaching Tang Feifei to swim, he suddenly noticed on the small map that apart from him and Tang Feifei, another red dot appeared in their small area, moving directly towards Tang Feifei...

Qin Fang quickly used the scouting skill to observe. It wasn't a sea predator like a shark but a person... There was no sight of this person on the surface, indicating they were lurking underwater.

That wasn't surprising. With more than a dozen yachts out at sea, keeping some distance from each other, it wasn't particularly far.

People like this underwater could easily swim between boats, all part of the Hong Kong Island circle. Going from one yacht to another was no big deal, so encountering a diver here wasn't that unusual.

But this diver was approaching Tang Feifei, which made Qin Fang frown. He wasn't sure if this person coincidentally shared the same swimming path as Tang Feifei or was deliberately moving towards her...

"Just in case!"

While one shouldn't have harmful intentions, it's essential to be cautious.

Regardless of this person's intentions, Tang Feifei was just a beginner. Any sudden scare could easily lead to an accident in the sea.

So Qin Fang, without much thought, quickly dove underwater and, like a swift mackerel, headed swiftly towards Tang Feifei.

His speed was truly exceptional, perhaps even faster than professional athletes...

While quickly approaching, Qin Fang continued to monitor the diver's intentions through the small map and noticed that after gradually nearing Tang Feifei, the diver's speed slowed down as if waiting for her there.

"Damn it, trying to take advantage of my girl..."

Upon seeing this, how could Qin Fang not understand the diver's intentions? The guy likely noticed Tang Feifei from the yacht and came over specifically when she went into the sea.

Although Qin Fang's temper wasn't too bad, it was certainly far from perfect. This obvious act of stealing one's girl is intolerable for any man.

Thus, Qin Fang saw no need to be polite, swimming over with astonishing speed, even reaching the position before Tang Feifei did.

The diver was slightly startled, initially thinking the beauty was above him and ready for an ambush... only to find a humanoid beast suddenly appearing underwater.

What frustrated him the most was that this humanoid beast moved even faster than most fish, charging directly at him with blinding speed...

Buzz~~

Although the collision underwater wasn't as violent as on land, the poor guy felt as if he had been slammed hard by a whale or a great white shark, momentarily dazed...

At the same time, to his tragedy, he found the oxygen tank tied to him had been punctured by the collision, with oxygen continuously leaking, forming bubbles around him...

Tang Feifei was swimming slowly on the sea surface. After the body enhancement, her endurance was quite impressive, so she didn't feel tired after leisurely swimming.

However, as she was swimming, she suddenly noticed the surrounding seawater seemed to be bubbling like boiling water, enveloping her with a soft sensation that felt quite nice, leaving her somewhat entranced.

And at that moment, a strong, muscular arm suddenly appeared, wrapping around her slender waist. Amidst her scream, it swiftly turned into an arrow, swimming about five to six meters away before stopping.

"It's you, you scared me to death..."

When she caught Qin Fang's familiar scent, Tang Feifei's heart calmed down, though she couldn't help but reprimand him, truly startled.

"Haha, if I didn't scare you now, someone else might have really scared you later..."

Qin Fang wrapped his arm around Tang Feifei's waist as they floated on the sea, pointing to the area where the bubbles were still churning, laughing.

"Hmm?"

Tang Feifei was confused, unable to grasp the meaning of Qin Fang's words.

However...

Splash~~

A large splash appeared, and a person wearing a diving mask and suit emerged from the sea, gasping for air heavily...

Upon seeing this, Tang Feifei immediately understood the situation and was grateful Qin Fang pulled her away beforehand. Otherwise, she would have been scared, perhaps even taken advantage of...

Chapter 1362: Minor Punishment, Major Warning!

...

Tang Feifei was clever and sharp, and upon hearing Qin Fang's explanation and noticing the man suddenly emerging from the sea, she immediately understood the entire sequence of events...

Understanding this, from the very beginning, she was considerably displeased with this man having ulterior motives; his tactics were just too underhanded.

"Cough, cough, cough..."

This young man quickly stripped off the heavy diving suit, just barely ensuring he wouldn't sink to the sea bottom, and his swimming skills seemed quite good. He soon stabilized, though he had swallowed a few mouthfuls of seawater.

Once he regained his senses, he noticed Qin Fang and Tang Feifei not far off.

Upon seeing Tang Feifei's astonishing beauty, his eyes almost instantly lit up. Originally, he intended to steer the yacht over and get to know Tang Feifei better.

But he soon realized that Tang Feifei seemingly couldn't swim, and was in the sea accompanied by Qin Fang for learning... Thus, he came up with a sinister idea.

This guy, known as a notorious playboy on Hong Kong Island, was incredibly skilled in all manners of flirting. He was confident that if he could build a connection with this beauty, he would surely win her over...

As for Qin Fang, he hadn't seen him before, and it seemed that there wasn't anyone like him on Hong Kong Island, so he wasn't too concerned. As a local snake, he wasn't particularly intimidated, so he chose to selectively ignore Qin Fang.

Yet, he never expected that the very man he ignored would mess up his plan into a complete disaster, almost resulting in him being buried at the sea bottom.

If Qin Fang had damaged his body instead of the oxygen tank earlier, he might have genuinely been unable to get up, suffocating at the bottom of the sea due to the lack of oxygen supply.

With the heavy diving suit pressing down, he estimated it would be challenging to even float up to the surface...

"Hey man, it's better to be a bit more cautious in the sea. If you accidentally run into a shark, you're really done for..."

Looking at this young man, Qin Fang spoke calmly, not taking the vicious glare from the other seriously at all.

Spoiled heirs like these wealthy young masters acted just like that; clearly in the wrong, they couldn't help but get angry from embarrassment when exposed, as if others were at fault for blocking their path.

"You..."

The young man was already furious with Qin Fang, and with Qin Fang's additional provocations, it was like adding fuel to the fire. His face immediately reddened with anger.

If it weren't for the beauty in front of him, he might have wanted to rush over and drown Qin Fang on the spot...

Just thinking back to Qin Fang's wild behavior in the sea earlier, he quickly chickened out, realizing that despite his decent swimming skills, he seemed much weaker compared to Qin Fang.

"Hmph, I can't be bothered to bicker with you!"

Knowing he wasn't Qin Fang's match in the water, the young man understood well enough to back down and immediately abandoned any plans to take Qin Fang on in the sea.

"Miss, I'm Fan Xian..."

Yet, this guy promptly switched the topic, once again ignoring Qin Fang's existence and turning to Tang Feifei, intending to introduce himself.

"Offensive? I don't know you..."

Tang Feifei saw through this guy's petty tricks, and her impression of him wasn't just bad; it was terrible. Even before he could fully introduce himself, she rudely interrupted.

Fan Xian was only halfway through his speech; the latter half was stuck in his throat, unable to come out, his face a picture of frustration.

"Hey buddy, if you want to pick up girls, you'd better find someone else. This one... is taken!"

Qin Fang couldn't be bothered to waste words with such an airheaded rich kid. He simply said this line, then dragged Tang Feifei alongside him as they swam back towards Kong Er's yacht.

Qin Fang had already figured out who this young man was using his scouting skill. Without needing to hear his full name, merely knowing the surname was enough.

This fellow was from the Fan Family, one of the Top Ten Wealthy Families of Hong Kong, likely a legitimate descendant with considerable status; otherwise, he couldn't have been so arrogant.

Among the Top Ten Wealthy Families of Hong Kong, the Li, Hu, and Kong families were the strongest, followed by seven others like the Song, Van, Zhou, Chen, Qu, and the rest...

Although the Fan family wasn't as powerful as the top three, they weren't far behind, having significant influence within the Top Ten.

Fan Xian was the only heir of the Fan family's third generation. The two Fan brothers had many daughters but only this one male descendant, so from birth, Fan Xian was destined to be the sole heir of the Fan Corporation.

With such a status, even the likes of Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng couldn't compare; they only held shares in their family corporations, unlike Fan Xian, who could do nothing yet still inherit an unimaginable fortune...

It's precisely because of this status that most young masters on Hong Kong Island wouldn't want to offend Fan Xian and might even actively seek his friendship...

Between men, methods to build good relationships are well-known; you must cater to their interests...

Perhaps it was because he was the only male in the Fan family, Fan Xian started playing with women at a young age. Not only did the Fan family never stop him, they actually encouraged him, hoping he'd act as a stud, continuing the family line...

Chapter 1363: Minor Punishment, Major Warning!_2

This also shaped Fan Xian's playboy personality. Whenever he sees a beauty, he wants to pursue her, and get intimate, because someone would always clean up his mess, leaving him worry-free.

Over time, this arrogant attitude formed, and now he's set his sights on Tang Feifei, which naturally infuriated Qin Fang.

If it was just a simple expression of affection or something else, even though Qin Fang knew someone was trying to steal his girl, he wouldn't care too much; he just needed to defeat the rival. But this guy chose such a cheap method, trying to take advantage from the start, so Qin Fang has no need to be courteous.

If Fan Xian wasn't undeserving of death, Qin Fang would have really wiped him out directly. After all, it would be unnoticed, directly discarded into the Props Box, or thrown into the sea; no one would likely find out, at most the Fan Family would notice Fan Xian's disappearance and initiate a search to discover him.

"Humph, let's wait and see... No woman I fancy has ever escaped!"

Watching Qin Fang and Tang Feifei's figures disappearing into the distance, Fan Xian's handsome face revealed a hint of menace, and his eyes filled with an even stronger desire.

"Hmm? This guy seems to be unrelenting..."

Almost as Fan Xian expressed such an intention, Qin Fang's little map immediately showed Fan Xian's red dot suddenly enlarging considerably.

This was the little map's warning function, indicating that this person's hostility had suddenly increased manyfold at this moment...

"I hope you don't go too far... Play with fire, get burned."

Qin Fang didn't pay too much attention to Fan Xian; this type of young master only knows a few tricks, and since they are at sea, at most on Nanshan Island, whatever mischief this guy plans isn't a big issue for Qin Fang...

Before long, Qin Fang and the others returned to Kong Er's yacht. By this time, Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng had also returned from diving, and Song Qingshan emerged from the cabin.

This guy seemed revitalized after releasing his energy, but the mature woman Ling Lei beside him looked like a frost-beaten eggplant, struggling to maintain composure, clearly exhausted... It seems Song Qingshan didn't spare her.

However, this woman wasn't completely worn out; looking at the spring in her eyes, her satisfaction with Song Qingshan's performance was clear.

"Tsk tsk, you martial artists are just formidable, hours at a time. If it was me... my waist would have snapped!"

Kong Er said with jealousy, causing Qin Fang and Song Qingshan to feel quite awkward.

Song Qingshan was embarrassed because, after his exercise, even the battle-hardened mature woman Ling Lei was left weak and hoarse; he felt a bit guilty, especially after Kong Er pointed it out, making it even more awkward...

Qin Fang, on the other hand, was made uncomfortable by Tang Feifei's resentful gaze, wishing he could strangle Kong Er...

"Qin Fang, be careful with that Fan kid, if he gets too out of hand, just give him a simple lesson; don't really hurt him... It'd be hard for me to explain then!"

Kong Er, having heard about Qin Fang and Fan Xian's situation, hesitated but eventually gave Qin Fang a heads-up.

Qin Fang was a Martial Arts Expert, while Fan Xian was just a spoiled young master, especially a playboy who had his vitality drained by women.

With Qin Fang's terrifying strength, a single slap could likely knock Fan Xian down, unable to get up again... Considering how Qin Fang had sliced Song Zhan in half with his hand, one could imagine the outcome.

"Yeah, this kid is spoiled... But the Fan family only has this lone heir; if he ends up too tragically, it's embarrassing for everyone!"

Qu Yuancheng hesitated a bit but reminded Qin Fang.

He knew Qin Fang had a grudge against the Qu Family, so saying this wasn't quite appropriate, but he had to make the reminder to avoid potential trouble.

It's not that the Qu Family couldn't provoke the Fan Family; though the Fan Family was slightly stronger, in a real conflict, neither side would easily back down.

But such a big family feud rarely escalates, as it's senseless mutual harm, ultimately benefiting the onlookers.

This statement was also meant for Tang Feifei's ears; Kong Er knew Tang Feifei's background, and Fan Xian chose poorly to provoke this young lady from the Tang Family, surely complicating things for himself.

Even though Hong Kong Island is governed by locals, it's ultimately returned to Dragon Country. The Tang Family behind this young lady holds significant power in Dragon Country.

Purely in terms of wealth, the Fan Family surpasses, but in power, the Tang Family is much superior to the Fan Family...

If Fan Xian really becomes reckless and that kid's tricks lead to trouble with Tang Feifei, it's bound to cause major chaos, given everyone knows his methods.

And with Qin Fang, a human wrecking ball, it might indeed end with a slap taking out Fan Xian...

"I have it under control! As long as he doesn't provoke me, I won't bother much with him!"

Qin Fang nodded, speaking.

He wasn't one to fear trouble, but since Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng treated him well, he didn't want to cause them problems.

Not actively seeking trouble, but definitely not fearing it!

Qin Fang was aware Fan Xian wouldn't give up easily and might even resort to tricks; he pondered how to hurt him without injury and give the guy a lifelong memorable lesson...

After the trouble with Fan Xian, Qin Fang and Tang Feifei lost the mood for swimming, and diving became even less appealing, given Qin Fang's swimming skills didn't require such.

Fan Xian's yacht didn't approach, allowing Qin Fang's boat to smoothly reach Nanshan Island.

This island wasn't particularly large, essentially a small mountain with dense forest covering the top, a lighthouse faintly visible, and some dwellings midway up.

Surrounded by the sea, the coast was mostly scattered rocks, continuously battered by waves, with almost no beach visible...

However, according to Kong Er, the other side of this island possesses a very fine beach, far more beautiful than Hawaii's Gold Coast.

But not many come here, so it's not particularly famous.

"We've arrived..."

All yachts gradually docked at Nanshan Island, quickly filling the already small dock.

The conditions here were such, with so many yachts arriving at once, it's normal for berth scarcity.

"Hope there isn't a storm, otherwise it'll be real trouble..."

As he disembarked, looking at the cramped dock, Qin Fang mumbled softly.

"The weather's been good lately; we shouldn't be that unlucky..."

Kong Er heard and nodded while expressing concern.

This island was quite remote, with a small dock, and if a storm came, these yachts would suffer; many could overturn in waves or collide with rocks and sink...

These young masters, though rich enough to indulge themselves, couldn't control nature's power, no matter how much money is offered...

Chapter 1364: Bonfire Party

...

The yacht docked at the pier over there, and aside from the crew on the boat, basically everyone coming to have fun got off their respective yachts and boarded Nanshan Island together.

"Just follow the people in front, we'll stay at the island's resort tonight..."

Kong Er was directing people to unload some essential supplies from the boat while speaking with Qin Fang and the others as they disembarked and boarded the island.

Nanshan Island hasn't been much developed yet, mainly because it's a bit far from Hong Kong Island. Access requires a boat, and the ocean climate is always changeable, making trips to Nanshan Island not very convenient.

Therefore, even though the scenery and environment here are quite good, not many people truly want to come here...

The Song Family is in the shipbuilding industry, and the development rights for Nanshan Island have long fallen into the Song Family's hands, planning to turn it into a Hawaiian-style tourist island.

At the most beautiful coast of Nanshan Island, a resort prototype has basically been built. This time, Young Master Song organized the yacht gathering here and specifically came to travel to Nanshan Island, mainly to promote the Song Family's resort...

The resort business mainly relies on the number of tourists. Due to some limitations in basic facilities, before the reputation is fully established, the Song Family plans to first pursue a boutique route.

The participants of this yacht gathering are basically the wealthy young masters and ladies from Hong Kong island and Macau. Forming a reputation among them makes it easy for the fame to spread, given Nanshan Island's very clear advantages...

"It's really nice here..."

Walking on the mountain paths of the island, looking at the scenery of the mountains and sea, whether it's Qin Fang, Tang Feifei, Qu Yuancheng, or Kong Er, all of them almost uniformly made this sigh.

In a modern city like Hong Kong Island, to still have a place that can be described as a paradise really is a rarity...

"What a pity..."

At the same time, Qin Fang couldn't help but express this lament too.

When they crossed over a small hill, they could overlook a resort still under construction. Although the resort has tried to maintain as much of its original natural state as possible, the artificially constructed resort has already destroyed the natural and harmonious beauty.

"There's no way around it..."

Qu Yuancheng is a lawyer and understands this best, but can only express deep helplessness. This is the inevitable harm brought by rapid human social development, which can't be stopped.

Even though there are some sighs, Qin Fang is not a saint and can't prevent these things from happening. Instead of self-restriction, it's better to go with the flow.

The group stayed at the currently relatively simple resort. Some technical facilities here have already been completed. Although it's a little short of being fully open to the public, just playing a little here is entirely possible...

Fan Xian didn't appear before Qin Fang and the rest, mainly because indeed many people came, at least one or two hundred people combined... so it's not surprising not to see him.

But Qin Fang knew that this guy was likely hiding in the dark, planning to take the chance to ambush Qin Fang.

However, Qin Fang is skilled and bold, and didn't really take this guy to heart. Just being more cautious can naturally prevent issues.

As for this guy daring to target Tang Feifei, in the sea, Tang Feifei might suffer since she can't swim. However, on land, ten Fan Xians combined are not enough for Tang Feifei to beat up... the middle-level ninja prowess is not for nothing!

Young Master Song settled everyone down and simply explained some precautions on the island, such as safety measures, alert measures, etc.

The resort is equipped with rescue personnel, and these guests need to take special alarms when leaving the resort. If anything unexpected happens, they just need to continue signaling an alarm, and these rescuers will arrive at the fastest speed...

Although Nanshan Island isn't very large, overall, with such arrangements, safety is still very well guaranteed...

"Qin Fang, I heard there's a bonfire party tonight. Do you think we should go?"

Most activities on the island are free, and the resort normally organizes some group activities, like this bonfire party. Whether to participate or not depends on personal preference.

The ones coming here are young masters and ladies of influential families, quite different from those in travel groups, as these people do whatever they want, and no one can stop them...

"It's up to you, I'll listen to you..."

Qin Fang isn't very interested in such bonfire parties, but seeing that Tang Feifei seems to be quite looking forward to it, naturally doesn't refuse, and lets her decide.

"Let's go have a look then, if it's not fun, we'll come back early..."

Tang Feifei also noticed that Qin Fang didn't seem very interested, but she wanted to go a bit, so she simply made the decision.

Qin Fang naturally wouldn't refuse. He just quickly changed his clothes and accompanied Tang Feifei to the bonfire party.

As for Qu Yuancheng, Kong Er, and Song Qingshan, they originally weren't too keen on attending. First, they were too tired during the day, and second, they weren't particularly interested. But when they heard Qin Fang was going, these guys also brought their female companions along.

The bonfire party, truth be told, was just about having some locals sing mountain songs, fishing songs, dance local dances, or beat local drums.

The other activities included some barbecuing, like roasting suckling pigs, whole lambs, things these young masters and ladies were long sick of eating, but if they barbecue themselves, it brings a bit of freshness.

Self-serve barbecues have some standing in high society, at least it's more comfortable than those tedious Western dinner parties.

"Qin Fang, your mission..."

As Qin Fang's girlfriend, also the person who knows him best, upon seeing this, Tang Feifei's appetite was immediately aroused, and she pushed Qin Fang over, waiting to eat herself.

"Sigh, I truly am unfortunate..."

Qin Fang lamented the unfairness while deftly starting to barbecue.

As a Cooking Master, this was his forte. If he didn't do it himself, he probably wouldn't be able to swallow anyone else's barbecue.

Without any hesitation, once equipped, he changed his title to "Novice Barbecue Master," a skill he hadn't used much since returning from Baiyu Lake.

"Title: Novice Barbecue Master, clumsy yet incredibly lucky barbecue master, with a small chance of obtaining mutated food while barbecuing, attributes are random!"

This is the effect of this title, basically dispensable, but when using this title to barbecue, there's a certain degree of hidden bonus to the food's flavor itself...

As for that mutated food, Qin Fang had never seen it before...

Of course, that's because Qin Fang rarely barbecues anymore, but this minuscule probability... Qin Fang estimated it was practically synonymous with "won't happen."

The explanation of the term in the title mentioned being incredibly lucky, suggesting that it required exceptionally good luck to encounter, and the attribute is random; nobody knows what it will randomly become.

Although many people attended the bonfire party, most were gathered in groups of three or five. Qu Yuancheng and Kong Er naturally stayed with Qin Fang and others, accompanied by several women.

Though these guys were all from wealthy families, they clearly weren't inclined to let the women do the work. Seeing Qin Fang started it, Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng thought about showcasing their skills too.

"Big Brother, Second Brother, don't cause trouble, let Qin Fang do it..."

They hadn't even moved yet when Tang Feifei pulled them back, disdainfully mocking them without any mercy.

The only one who sat there firmly was Song Qingshan, showing no intention of getting up. He had spent several days with Qin Fang in the mountains, so he knew well enough about Qin Fang's skills, much more than the other two.

"Feifei, can Qin Fang handle it? Maybe I should do it, your Second Brother has trained specifically for this..."

Kong Er naturally wasn't convinced and wanted to showcase his culinary skills.

"I think you better give it up, definitely won't be better than Qin Fang..."

Tang Feifei was unkind, giving him another blow.

Kong Er didn't mind much, just thought Tang Feifei was being lovey-dovey, in her eyes, Qin Fang might be the best at everything, and everyone else naturally gets ignored.

"Today, I just don't believe it, I must compete with him..."

Saying this, Kong Er rolled up his sleeves ready to start.

This time, Tang Feifei didn't stop him, merely shrugged helplessly, a hint of a smug smile in her eyes, probably muttering in her heart, "One less competitor," or something like that.

However, Qu Yuancheng, hearing Tang Feifei's words, seemed to have some expectations of Qin Fang. Besides, he didn't have any talent in this area, and was afraid of losing face, so he just sat down like Song Qingshan, waiting to eat...

The ingredients were provided by the resort, all very fresh. It was said they were delivered today; after all, this yacht party had been arranged in advance. Young Master Song had everything well-prepared.

Qin Fang sat down immediately, seriously starting to grill various foods.

At this point, Master-Level Cooking Skills seemed quite unbeatable. As skewers of barbecue food were rapidly grilled in his hands, the enticing aroma quickly spread, making anyone smelling it feel it must be incredibly delicious...

Chapter 1365: Mutated Food!

...

"Smells so good..."

The difference in skill was evident as soon as Qin Fang started.

Before Tang Feifei could speak, Kong Er, as a rival, couldn't help but express such admiration first, mainly because he was closer.

"Hmph, these are mine! No one is allowed to grab them from me..."

However, Tang Feifei was quite protective, immediately declaring possession over the food Qin Fang was grilling. A few men naturally couldn't compete, so they could only enjoy the aroma.

As soon as these skewers finished grilling, Tang Feifei snatched them up without hesitation, disregarding the heat, and started eating right away, not even caring to maintain a ladylike demeanor.

"Be careful, don't burn yourself..."

Qin Fang worriedly reminded her.

Fortunately, Tang Feifei's physical condition was much better than before. Even though she yelped from the heat, it wouldn't harm her, which reassured Qin Fang quite a bit.

"Is it really that delicious?"

Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng, along with their female companions, couldn't help but express similar admiration, eagerly waiting for the food Qin Fang was grilling so they could also have a taste.

Their anticipation was quickly fulfilled, and immediately everyone seemed like they'd taken a stimulant, getting all excited.

"Damn, it's so delicious..."

"I never knew barbecue could taste this good..."

"Qin Fang, give me another ten chicken wings..."

"I want twenty lamb skewers..."

After just a simple taste, everyone seemed like starving ghosts reborn, clamoring and rushing towards Qin Fang.

They kept making all sorts of requests, really treating Qin Fang like a barbecue master...

Luckily, Qin Fang was incredibly quick, and with his mastery of controlling the heat, he grilled at a fast pace, able to meet the demands of those few people.

But the commotion here also caught the attention of some nearby people, who curiously looked over. Only then did Kong Er and company become more refined, no longer shouting, though their hands moved just as quickly, because they'd get elbowed out if they were slower...

Qin Fang was constantly busy, finishing skewer after skewer of barbecue food, which then vanished into the stomachs of those few big eaters.

But just as he was busy, all of a sudden...

"Ding, congratulations on obtaining mutated food!"

The more Qin Fang thought it impossible, the more it happened. When this notification rang in Qin Fang's mind, he was almost instantly stunned.

"Uh... What great luck today?"

Qin Fang was quite puzzled, feeling a bit astonished.

But when Qin Fang examined the "mutated food" using his scouting skill to identify its randomly generated attributes, his expression became extraordinarily odd.

"Mutated chicken wing, enhanced with special spices, consuming it will cause continuous expulsion of internal gas, duration: one hour."

This was the attribute of the mutated chicken wing.

Expulsion of gas, to put it bluntly, means... farting!

With a duration of one hour, Qin Fang could already imagine the consequences for anyone who ate this mutated chicken wing...

This was the first mutated food Qin Fang grilled, and it was a bizarre one. Qin Fang hesitated a bit, but he ultimately tossed this skewer of chicken wings into the Props Box when no one was watching.

The note clearly explained what would happen to someone eating this skewer of mutated chicken wings, so Qin Fang naturally couldn't let anyone in front of him eat it. Whoever ate it would embarrass themselves... especially in such a public setting.

Qin Fang's moves were quick, and even though those opposite him were keeping an eye on him, the sudden disappearance of one skewer of chicken wings didn't really catch their attention; after all, Qin Fang was just too swift.

This skewer of mutated chicken wings was merely an accident, purely a coincidence due to Qin Fang's incredible luck. Whether it would appear again was hard to say.

Qin Fang continued grilling various foods casually, supplying the few friends in front of him, and even some big boys and girls who seemed to get along well with Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng came to take advantage, but Qin Fang didn't mind and naturally didn't refuse.

...

A few dozen meters away from Qin Fang and the others, two handsome young men were each holding onto two beautiful women, drinking and sharing crude jokes.

Until they noticed Tang Feifei's presence, which made their eyes light up, and one of the men immediately said to the other lustfully.

"What do you think? She's a rare gem, right?"

This man was none other than Fan Xian, who had already caught Qin Fang's attention.

The one sitting with him was also a notable member of the Hong Kong Island's wealthy youth. This kid's surname was Zhou, the fourth young master of one of the Ten Great Families, the Zhou Family, and the youngest, reportedly the most favored by Old Lady Zhou.

If Fan Xian was known on Hong Kong Island as a notorious playboy and little tyrant, then the Zhou family's young master was nothing short of a complete menace.

This kid wasn't very old, probably around seventeen or eighteen, but his experience with women wasn't any less than those a decade older, and maybe even more.

The Zhou family, among Hong Kong's elite, was an anomaly. Although Mr. Zhou passed away over ten years ago, the real power didn't lie with the second generation—his three sons—but rather with Old Lady Zhou, who was pushing ninety.

This iron lady with a strong personality had stepped up when Mr. Zhou passed away, pulling the Zhou family out of a near-crisis and bankruptcy, restoring and surpassing its former glory.

Old Lady Zhou's influence made her status untouchable in the family, naturally turning this favorite grandson into a precious gem of the family.

Using his grandmother's favoritism, this kid was truly lawless, doing all sorts of bad deeds—not murder or arson, but definitely bullying and harassing.

But every time he got in trouble, the old lady would arrange for people to clean up his messes. With the Zhou family's substantial team of lawyers, minor lawsuits couldn't touch him.

Especially when this kid teamed up with the lustful Fan Xian—they were like green flies meeting dung beetles, truly two of a kind.

It's said that on the first day they met, they performed a ritual with a pimp, drank yellow wine, and pledged brotherhood, forming a strong bond with catchphrases like... Spending money together, drinking together, and enjoying women together!

This Zhou kid even gave himself a nickname... Zhou Fengliu!

"Brother Xian, your eye is... absolutely spot on! A rare gem! She's even prettier than the Hu family's sorrel mare!"

Zhou Fengliu, being even more lustful than Fan Xian, instantly had his eyes go green at the sight of Tang Feifei's charming figure. Somewhere on his body couldn't help but get stiff!

"Fengliu, you're still hung up on the Hu family's girl? You should give it up... unless you plan to settle down and marry, then you go after that mare, otherwise stick with me!"

Fan Xian said with a smile, but his eyes never left Tang Feifei.

"Marriage? Forget it... Wouldn't that be the death of me?"

Zhou Fengliu shivered at the thought. Despite the Hu family's sorrel mare being attractive, he would never give up an entire forest for just one tree.

"But this girl seems well-acquainted with Kong Er and Qu Da, we..."

Fan Xian didn't dwell on the issue, instead watching Tang Feifei's figure and seeming somewhat worried.

"Why worry? Just look at their posture, they're definitely not close. At worst, we put in some effort to woo her, then they have no say!"

Zhou Fengliu didn't mind, a real lawless character. Kong Er and Qu Da might be considered the big brothers in the Hong Kong circle, but these young guys didn't often interact with them and didn't necessarily respect them.

"Brother Xian, weren't you always claiming to be second in Hong Kong at wooing girls? How come you seem discouraged before even starting?"

Seeing Fan Xian seem a bit timid, Zhou Fengliu was displeased. He's always regarded Fan Xian as an idol, and Fan Xian's performance seemed subpar, prompting his dissatisfaction.

This self-proclaimed title from Fan Xian wasn't entirely boasting. He was nearly flawless in wooing girls, considering himself second place in Hong Kong because he deeply admired the person ahead of him.

Who might that be?

It's none other than "Teacher Chen," whom everyone was helping search for his lost photo nationwide.

Fan Xian was acquainted with Teacher Chen, having even "fought" alongside him once. Fan Xian also took the opportunity to further his "photography skills" under Teacher Chen's guidance for a while.

In this process, he deeply realized the significant gap between himself and Teacher Chen, thus only admitting to being second in Hong Kong.

"You're right, so shall we head over?"

Fan Xian was waiting for this statement from Zhou Fengliu, knowing he'd hooked him in, urging to go together.

"Let's go, I refuse to believe there's a woman we both can't handle."

Zhou Fengliu, likely missing a screw in his head, didn't care about the consequences—typical of someone too driven by lust...

Chapter 1366: Failed Pretentiousness Turns into Tragedy!!

...

Qin Fang was busy grilling various foods. Although he seemed quite busy, he was actually enjoying himself...

Now that his cooking skill had reached the Grandmaster Level, the increase in proficiency was as slow as a turtle crawling. Trying to advance further wasn't going to happen overnight, so Qin Fang wasn't in a hurry.

However, grilling could result in mutated food creations. Previously, he didn't pay much attention to this because the probability was too low, like hitting the lottery.

But today, luck suddenly struck, and he really did make a mutated food. Although the random attribute was puzzling, it was still better than getting nothing...

Qin Fang continued grilling, just to see if his luck could strike again, maybe he could manage to make another mutated food skewer.

Even though the likelihood of creating a mutated food was extremely low, given the high number of food being grilled, the relative chance of occurrence was slightly higher.

Sure enough, Qin Fang couldn't remember how many hundreds of skewers he'd grilled, his arm was starting to feel numb when he finally received another prompt.

He had finally grilled a second mutated food skewer, and without any hesitation, Qin Fang used his scouting skill to identify it.

"Mutated Grilled Squid Skewer, consuming it may cause automatic water release from the body, duration: 1 hour."

Seeing the attribute of this mutated food, Qin Fang was once again in despair, feeling the urge to shout "Damn it, this is BS!"

Compared to the previous mutated chicken wing that caused continuous farting for an hour, this one seemed even harsher, directly leading to automatic water loss for an hour...

Whether this would be released in the form of sweat or urine could only be known after someone consumed it.

One hour of continuous water loss was really quite harsh. If water couldn't be replenished in time, it could be life-threatening.

If this thing was given to someone in the desert, it would definitely be a murder weapon!

Qin Fang once again quietly put away this mutated food skewer. The previous one at most would cause embarrassment, but this one could truly be deadly.

"Ugh, so full..."

"My stomach's about to burst..."

"I can't eat anymore... but I really still want to eat!"

Qin Fang had been so busy that he hadn't eaten much himself, yet the group in front of him had eaten so much that they could barely walk, struggling to even stand, only able to burp incessantly.

Even though they couldn't eat another bite, their eyes were still fixated on the food that Qin Fang was grilling...

As for those who came to mooch food and drink, they were somewhat familiar with Kong Er and Qu Da but completely strangers to Qin Fang. Seeing Qin Fang about to stop, they naturally didn't feel comfortable asking him to continue... although they did really want to eat more!

Bam~~

Just as Qin Fang was about to stop and grill a few skewers for himself to fill his stomach, a stack of cash was suddenly slammed next to him.

"Get me a few chicken wings... consider this my tip!"

Zhou Fengliu and Fan Xian rushed over, this time Fan Xian didn't take the lead, but Zhou Fengliu did.

The one throwing the cash around was naturally Zhou Fengliu, not caring about others' looks, blatantly flaunting money and expecting to be served...

Zhou Fengliu had this sort of personality, arrogant and condescending, loving to throw money around, which he learned following behind Fan Xian.

"You..."

Seeing Qin Fang being insulted like this, Tang Feifei immediately got angry, but she was so full that it was hard for her to stand, she could only point her delicate finger at Zhou Fengliu, really wanting to scold him... but her good upbringing made it hard for her to say such words.

"Zhou Little Four, did you lose your damn mind? Get lost, or I'll beat you up right now..."

Tang Feifei couldn't bring herself to curse, but that didn't mean no one else would. Kong Er couldn't hold back at all.

Seeing Zhou Fengliu speaking so arrogantly to Qin Fang, and that cash-flinging action, Kong Er's face turned livid, immediately breaking into curses.

And from the looks of it, he seemed really ready to make a move...

"Fan Xian, get Zhou Little Four out of here..."

Standing nearby, Qu Yuancheng's face didn't look much better, either. If it were only Zhou Fengliu, he might just have chased him off, but with Fan Xian nearby, remembering the previous conflict between Fan Xian and Qin Fang, how could he not understand?

Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu were always up to no good, inseparable. Qu Yuancheng would never believe that Fan Xian wasn't involved in this.

"Big Qu, this really has nothing to do with me, Fengliu just loves barbecue. We just can't make it ourselves, and we heard there's a master cook here, so we came over... Don't worry, we never mistreat anyone. As long as we can enjoy the food, any amount of tip is no problem!"

Fan Xian was definitely no good guy, pretending to respect Qu Yuancheng on the surface, but his words clearly showed that he didn't care about Qu Yuancheng at all.

Chapter 1367: Failed Pretentiousness Turns into Tragedy!!_2

If this kid knew that Qu Yuancheng and Kong Er had once pleaded for him in front of Qin Fang, perhaps he wouldn't be so disrespectful now.

Of course, these two brats don't know anything about repaying kindness. Now their eyes are just on trying to mess with Qin Fang... After all, they heard that Qin Fang is the legitimate boyfriend of Tang Feifei, so naturally, they wouldn't be polite...

"Damn it, I think you guys are itching for a fight today..."

Seeing that Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu showed no signs of backing down, as if they were determined to cause trouble today, Kong Er was also a bit enraged.

"What? Want to fight? Who's afraid of who?"

Before Kong Er could make a move, he saw two burly men standing behind each of these two young masters, immediately positioning themselves protectively on either side.

These two brats are the precious treasures of their respective families, and security has always been their top priority. They've never lacked bodyguards by their side, even when they come out to play, they have them with them.

Fan Xian knew that Qin Fang was formidable, as could be seen from how Qin Fang almost played him to death in the sea. That's why he specifically brought bodyguards, fearing that if they got into a fight, they would suffer losses on their side...

"Shit..."

Kong Er was also stunned. Seeing these four bodyguards, he understood that the opponents were prepared, and he definitely couldn't handle it himself. He immediately glanced sideways and softly called out.

"Qing Mountain... it's up to you now!"

At this moment, Qin Fang, as the person involved, wasn't convenient to make a move, but since Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu were stirring up trouble, no one would say much if Kong Er beat them up. Song Qingshan was clearly considered one of Kong Er's guys, so it was no problem for him to take action.

Song Qingshan had actually wanted to beat up these two brats for a while, but he had heard that Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng had specifically pleaded for Fan Xian before, and he was afraid he might seriously injure the kid.

But now, dealing with just four bodyguards, there's absolutely no problem. As long as there's no fatality, Kong Er would definitely take care of any trouble for him.

Bang bang bang bang~~

Before the four bodyguards even realized what happened, they felt as if their bodies were hit hard by a prehistoric beast. They flew three to four meters in the air before crashing heavily to the ground, immediately losing consciousness...

As for Song Qingshan, he simply dusted off his clothes lightly, as if it was just a trivial matter.

"Uh..."

Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu were also stunned, the events transpired too quickly. Their only reliance was dealt with in one blow, without even a decent reaction.

"You two still dare to act tough, I'm going to beat you to death..."

After dealing with the four bodyguards, Kong Er was in no mood to be courteous with Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu. He rolled up his sleeves, intending to give them a good beating.

Qu Yuancheng naturally wasn't going to be outdone. He rolled up his sleeves, ready to assist Kong Er, and would jump in immediately if he saw Kong Er struggling.

"Hold on..."

Just as Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng were preparing to start the beatdown, Qin Fang, one of the involved parties, suddenly spoke up.

Upon hearing Qin Fang's words, Kong Er and the others all couldn't help but feel a lump in their throats, fearing that Qin Fang might want to handle it himself.

"It's just a small matter. Is it necessary to call for violence?"

However, Qin Fang's reaction was beyond everyone's expectations. He seemed completely unconcerned, even smiling and saying, "It's just about grilling a few skewers, right? I'll grill them for them... "

While speaking, Qin Fang actually took some chicken wings and squid skewers and placed them on the fire to grill, looking as if he wasn't bothered by the previous events at all.

Of course, he didn't even glance at the stack of cash placed next to him.

"Qin Fang..."

Tang Feifei and the others were dumbfounded, unable to comprehend why Qin Fang would react in such a way, as if he had completely changed.

But Qin Fang didn't give them a chance to ask questions, focusing entirely on grilling the food.

"Hey, it's done, give it a try..."

It wasn't long before the chicken wings and squid skewers were done grilling. Qin Fang very politely offered them to the two young masters with an extremely gentle tone.

Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu were also baffled by Qin Fang's reaction, unable to understand what he meant by this.

However, without hesitating, they subconsciously accepted the grilled chicken wings and squid skewers from Qin Fang and began eating them straight away.

"Hiss... it's really tasty!"

The simple-minded Zhou Fengliu was more straightforward. After taking a bite, he immediately found the taste extremely delicious and couldn't help but voice his praise.

While Fan Xian also found it very appetizing, the thought that it was made by his "rival" made him feel quite discontent, and he discreetly nudged Zhou Fengliu, signaling him not to speak carelessly.

"Sigh, good luck to you guys..."

Seeing these two kids fall for his ruse, actually eating the food, Qin Fang's face remained expressionless, but inside he could only offer them silent condolences for three minutes.

Although he grilled many skewers earlier, all of those were perfectly normal. The two skewers that he just handed over were definitely not meant to be eaten.

Qin Fang had grilled two mutant foods today, and these two unlucky kids had managed to eat them both.

"How is it? Not bad, right?"

Inside, he was laughing his head off, but Qin Fang maintained a calm exterior, inquiring about their thoughts on the food while generously leaving a lot more for them.

"If it's not enough, there are plenty more, feel free to eat as much as you'd like..."

Of course, to prove that he hadn't tampered with the food, Qin Fang helped himself to a portion of the grilled food.

Poof~~

A long, unintentional sound immediately caught everyone's attention, instinctively looking toward its source.

They saw Zhou Fengliu's dumbfounded expression, seemingly at a loss.

Poof~~

But just about ten seconds later, Zhou Fengliu let out another loud fart...

Poof~ Poof~ Poof~

But that was just the beginning. Almost every ten seconds, Zhou Fengliu involuntarily released a fart. Even though he tightly clenched his buttocks, or simply covered his behind, it was no use. Those farts seemed on auto-mode, coming out when they were ready, unstoppable...

"Hahaha~~"

Such a scene quickly caused the people around to burst into laughter, including Kong Er, Qu Yuancheng, and Tang Feifei.

Even Fan Xian, despite holding out for a while, couldn't help but want to laugh.

"Brother Xian... Brother Xian, you... you've wet yourself..."

Just as Fan Xian was about to laugh, Zhou Fengliu pointed at his pants.

Everyone froze for a second, then followed Zhou Fengliu's direction, discovering a large wet stain on Fan Xian's expensive trousers, located precisely at the crotch...

He actually wet himself!

At Fan Xian's age, to wet his pants in public like this, if it were in Hong Kong Island, it would undoubtedly become a hot topic for paparazzi, probably hitting the headlines of many tabloids and magazines the next day...

Luckily, they were on Nanshan Island, among prominent figures from Hong Kong Island, who weren't inclined towards gossip. However, this scandal was destined to become an enormous laughingstock within high society...

Seeing the wet mark on his crotch, Fan Xian's face turned green, and he instinctively wanted to get up and turn around.

"Brother Xian, you have it on the back too..."

Yet, Zhou Fengliu graciously added, pointing out that the back of Fan Xian's pants was equally drenched...

Chapter 1368: The Thief's Heart Is Unyielding!

...

A fart that reached to the skies, one wet his pants, the poor Zhou Fengliu and Fan Xian, those two brothers looked truly miserable beyond words...

The bonfire party was originally quite dull, but because of the farce created by these two, it suddenly became lively. Even some young masters who were not interested couldn't help but run over to take a look when they heard the commotion.

If it weren't for the fact that Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu were both from prominent families, people might have thought it was Young Master Song who deliberately arranged such an event to tease them.

But it cannot be denied that the impact of this farce was quite substantial, almost everyone focused their attention on this pair of brothers, laughing and discussing such a joke together.

Three people make a tiger!

Originally, this matter revealed quite an oddity, and the victims' identities were very special. Only a few were truly in the know, while most people merely relied on hearsay. After being passed from one to another, the whole thing changed in form...

Originally, it was Qin Fang who set up these two young masters, but by the time it reached the mouths of many, it became Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu having a sudden bout of madness and streaking at the bonfire party...

As for how things really were, these gossipers didn't care about the truth, anyway, Zhou Fengliu and Fan Xian's faces were surely lost big time...

Not only did they lose face, but the suffering they endured was also quite severe!

"Ouch... my butt!"

Zhou Fengliu was lying there, with ice on his tender backside, looking as if it had just been violated by a group... His appearance could not have been more miserable.

Though he wasn't violated there, the miserable state was not far off; after farting continuously for an hour, his backside was swollen... and quite tragically, it looked a bit like "the flower withers, full of butt injuries"!

"Ouch..."

Compared to Zhou Fengliu's muffled cries while holding his backside, Fan Xian looked even more miserable, as if he no longer had the strength to utter more than an occasional weak "ouch".

With IV drips in both hands, he was replenishing the fluids his body had lost. According to the doctor's explanation, if these severe dehydration symptoms continued, Fan Xian would only be heading towards death.

Fortunately, these symptoms lasted only an hour, nearly costing Fan Xian half his life before the situation was barely stabilized, leaving him lying there with IVs to replenish the severe loss...

The miserable state of these two brothers was evident enough; Young Master Song even came over to check on them, but after seeing the situation, he ultimately decided not to get involved.

He had heard the entire course of events and understood that this was someone intentionally targeting these two. He consulted a master beside him, who ultimately advised him to remain neutral, since whoever could manipulate drugs to this level was definitely a formidable presence, beyond the means of ordinary people to provoke...

Though the doctor checked both young masters and found no signs of drug or food poisoning, the bizarre changes seemed entirely due to adverse reactions of some bodily organs...

The more perplexing the event, the more complex it seemed, so it was wise not to get involved...

In contrast to Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu's tragedy, Qin Fang's side appeared much calmer. Although several people looked at Qin Fang with odd expressions, it wasn't suitable to ask questions in such an occasion.

It wasn't until they each returned to their places that Qu Yuancheng and Kong Er approached...

"Qin Fang, don't tell me this has nothing to do with you! You know we certainly won't believe it!"

Kong Er scarcely allowed Qin Fang to deny the matter from the start.

From the beginning to the end of this incident, all changes seem to have started with Qin Fang taking action. Originally, Kong Er and Qu Yuancheng were afraid Qin Fang would harm Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu, but they didn't expect that even if Qin Fang didn't lift a finger, he still had ways to trouble people...

Moreover, this method seemed a bit gentler than directly hitting someone, but the effect was entirely different!

If they got hit, at most they would be injured, lightly needing some bandage, severely needing to stay in the hospital for a few months...

But Qin Fang's method reportedly made Zhou Fengliu's backside look like it had been battered by ten iron men, almost leading to a prolapse, truly miserable beyond words, and applying ice packs for several hours didn't fully subside the swelling.

Fan Xian was even worse, though his life was no longer threatened, he was severely dehydrated. His once smooth skin completely peeled, making him look as if he had been roasted in a desert for several days...

"Really, this has nothing to do with me..."

Even though they didn't believe it, Qin Fang didn't plan on telling the truth.

The speculation remained just that; even if guessed right, it didn't mean he would admit it...

Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu were notorious "villains" among the young masters of Hong Kong Island. Though not heinous, small punishments were clearly insufficient.

Zhou Fengliu was purely asking for it, but Qin Fang's main target was still Fan Xian, who clearly still held a grudge about what happened in the sea, specially bringing Zhou Fengliu to provoke him.

With such a person, Qin Fang saw no need for politeness. If it weren't for agreeing with Qu Yuancheng and Kong Er not to go too far, these two might have ended up worse...

From Qin Fang's personal view, the punishment seemed rather lenient; whether these two would fear, avoid, or hold more resentment toward him in the future depended on their choice...

Anyway, since Qin Fang can mess with them once, naturally he can do it a second and third time...

Even without the mutant food, he has other tricks up his sleeve!

"You kid are still keeping secrets from us, your mouth is really tight..."

Seeing Qin Fang refuse to admit it, Qu Yuancheng and Kong Er were at a loss. Although they believed in their hearts that Qin Fang was behind it, they couldn't find any evidence.

It's said that someone took the food Qin Fang grilled for a simple toxicological test, and the results showed everything was normal, without any toxic substances.

In fact, Qin Fang himself ate several skewers from that batch of grilled food, but he experienced no abnormal reactions.

If it really was Qin Fang's doing, there's only one possibility... the skewers Fan Xian and Zhou Fengliu ate had been tampered with by Qin Fang.

But those skewers had long been digested by Zhou Fengliu and Fan Xian, destroying the evidence completely. Even later gastric tests didn't reveal anything.

Ultimately, Zhou Fengliu and Fan Xian could only swallow this bitter fruit...

...

But will these two really admit defeat?

Obviously not!

As notorious "villains" in the Hong Kong Island circle, these two have only ever bullied others, never been tormented so miserably.

After a whole night of recovery, the two barely regained "health".

Zhou Fengliu's backside had deflated, although he was still having trouble moving, at least it wasn't as miserable as before, having to lie down to minimize hip movements...

Fan Xian also managed to "rehydrate" successfully, but the dry skin on his face looked terrible, something not easily recoverable overnight, probably needing some days of recovery.

"Damn it, it has to be that boy's doing..."

Fan Xian cursed through gritted teeth, his expression unspeakably fierce and terrifying, with hatred seething inside him.

"Right, it's definitely him... he must have drugged our food!"

Zhou Fengliu agreed, clenching his teeth.

They were both fine at first, but after eating Qin Fang's food, such bizarre changes appeared. Saying it had nothing to do with Qin Fang would be nonsense.

Though they couldn't figure out what exactly Qin Fang had drugged them with, there was no doubt Qin Fang was the one who set them up...

"I must get revenge!"

Compared to Zhou Fengliu's flatulence, Fan Xian's experience was obviously worse, almost costing him his life, which frightened him greatly.

But the more it scared him, the more intense Fan Xian's hatred for Qin Fang grew, and he almost shouted this fierce and furious roar while clenching his fists.

"Brother Xian... Brother Xian... Why don't we... just let it go?"

However, despite Zhou Fengliu's gritted teeth anger, upon hearing Fan Xian's words, he couldn't help but shiver slightly, causing his rear to twitch, making him grimace in pain.

The more it happened, the more fearful he became, cautiously inquiring.

Zhou Fengliu never experienced the dehydrated sensation Fan Xian went through, thus not understanding it well, but the experience of constant flatulence terrified him deeply.

Passing gas, after all, is the expulsion of body waste gas.

For occasional passing, it feels quite refreshing, much like the relief of expelling body waste...

But when this occasional expulsion becomes a ten-second-long "regular exercise", it's not a good thing, rather a nightmare!

He could relate it to having diarrhea... especially continuous diarrhea that leaves you completely exhausted... this is the kind of terrible experience Zhou Fengliu went through for an hour!

When that ordeal finally passed, feeling the sore spot at his rear, he was beyond terrified, even developing a significant shadow over normal body responses like passing gas...

And all of this was caused by the one they had met only once, Qin Fang. There was no way for Zhou Fengliu not to feel intimidated by this seemingly ordinary young man...

"Let it go? Did you just say let it go to me?"

Upon hearing his best brother say such words, Fan Xian's face twisted even more with rage. If not for his weakened state, he would have grabbed Zhou Fengliu by the collar and spit a storm of saliva on him...

Chapter 1369: Peril in the Sea!

...

"Brother Xian... I... I..."

Zhou Fengliu always looked up to Fan Xian as a role model. He was more than happy to be Fan Xian's right-hand man and enforcer.

But this time, he was genuinely scared. Really scared out of his wits...

Seeing Fan Xian's furious expression, he was terrified and unsure of what to do in this dilemma.

If he followed Fan Xian, they would continue to provoke Qin Fang. If they managed to deal with Qin Fang, they would both be happy, and he'd have avenged himself too.

But if they couldn't handle Qin Fang, they would surely face his revenge, which would undoubtedly end tragically, similar to their ordeal last night...

Qin Fang might even strike harder this time... If they're not careful, they might truly lose their lives!

After last night's incident, they had investigated Qin Fang's identity. He was Qu Yuancheng's cousin, considered half a Qu Family member, but he had significant backing on the Mainland.

While they were mixed up in Hong Kong Island, they didn't know much about the Mainland, but they knew there were many powerful forces not to be messed with there...

Even though they had two mighty families backing them, it was just a matter of money. Compared to those from political dynasties, they were at a disadvantage...

"Hmph, look at you, such a coward..."

Seeing Zhou Fengliu looking so terrified, Fan Xian's expression was unpredictable, but he only spat out an angry remark.

Despite being more severely injured from last night's ordeal, Zhou Fengliu had suffered more in personal humiliation.

A once-playboy suddenly seemed like he'd been taken advantage of by dozens of men. Anyone would find it unbearable...

"Don't worry! When have I ever done anything unplanned? I've got arrangements for this—just wait for good news..."

Finding coercion ineffective, Fan Xian resorted to a softer approach to settle the matter and drag Zhou Fengliu into it while deciding to deal with future issues later.

"Brother Xian..."

Zhou Fengliu was still concerned after hearing Fan Xian's words, and he opened his mouth to say something, but Fan Xian dismissed him with a wave.

"I've got someone handling this. It won't involve the two of us... We're patients and just need to lie here and recover... What happens outside has nothing to do with us, right?"

Fan Xian, devious as ever, easily dispelled Zhou Fengliu's worries with just a few words.

The two of them still weak, decided to lie in bed and recover, choosing to skip the activities of other young masters outside.

...

All was calm outside; despite the farce last night, it was just a topic for gossip.

"Qin Fang, we're planning to go fishing today. Do you two have any plans?"

It was a beautiful day, and early in the morning, Kong Er came over to invite Qin Fang. He, Qu Yuancheng, and some girls were going deep-sea fishing, intending to catch a shark.

"You guys have fun; we're heading out to sea ourselves..."

Qin Fang and Tang Feifei had made plans last night to go fishing or swimming, but not with Kong Er and his group.

Though groups could be lively, sometimes it was inconvenient, especially for young couples wanting an intimate moment.

Moreover, Tang Feifei had prepared a very sexy swimsuit just for Qin Fang's eyes, and Qin Fang, though generous in other matters, was quite possessive of this, so... they planned a private outing.

The resort offered small speedboats, so even without riding on Kong Er's luxury yacht, they could still head out to sea.

"That's fine, we won't disturb you lovebirds..."

All of them understood and had no intention of being third wheels. With Qin Fang there, safety wasn't an issue, so they set off freely.

Qin Fang and Tang Feifei left the resort too; apart from Kong Er and the others, they weren't familiar with anyone else, so there wasn't much point staying. They took the resort's speedboat and ventured into the ocean.

Qin Fang and his group did not head in the same direction as Kong Er's; while they talked about catching sharks, Qin Fang didn't take it seriously, knowing they hardly had the skill for it.

"Qin Fang, I've heard there are sharks in that direction. Maybe we shouldn't go there?"

Tang Feifei held a sea map she got from the resort, pondering the directions while voicing her concern.

According to the map, the direction Qin Fang and the others were heading in could potentially encounter sharks if they went too far.

At least, some records suggested that area of the sea had sightings of sharks before...

"Feifei, don't worry... Not to mention, it's almost impossible for sharks to be in waters this close! Even if there are sharks, with me around, I'd definitely catch them and make shark fin soup for you..."

Qin Fang expressed with indifference.

Even though Nanshan Island is in a relatively remote sea area, Hong Kong Island is already quite close to the Mainland, and even further out, it's still considered nearshore waters.

Given the fishing skills of Dragon Country's fishermen, fish in nearshore waters aren't many, and sea predators like sharks wouldn't willingly approach, taking the risk of being caught by people...

That's exactly why Qin Fang wasn't particularly concerned.

Of course, even if they did encounter sharks, Qin Fang wasn't afraid in the least, as those sharks would practically be coming to court death...

"Alright then, I'll listen to you!"

Tang Feifei thought about it and saw the sense in his words, so she said no more. Now, she considered herself somewhat of a small expert, and though not great at swimming, she could still ensure her safety onboard.

...

Yet as Qin Fang and the others' speedboat advanced towards deeper waters, several kilometers away there was also a ship navigating towards them in a roundabout manner.

"The target has left the nearshore region..."

A burly, slightly fierce-looking man stood on the ship's side, peering through a military binocular at the distant sea surface, then addressed another man beside him.

"That kid is really saving us the trouble, running straight into a dead-end on his own... Seems like this deal will be the most relaxed and easiest we've ever taken!"

The man beside him was wiping a dagger in his hand, a slight smile at the corner of his mouth, speaking with such calmness, as if their victory was assured even before they acted.

"Don't get too cocky too soon. This kid is no ordinary person; he's extremely skilled... Underestimating him could easily lead to our defeat!"

The man with the binoculars seemed to disagree, immediately giving a stern warning since the information in their hands indicated that their target this time was very tricky!

"So what if he knows some martial arts? I refuse to believe he can dodge bullets!"

The man wiping his dagger remained dismissive, seemingly regarding martial arts experts as worthless in his eyes.

"Besides, we're at sea. Once we take out their boat, they're basically done for... Pity about that beautiful girl, so young, having to join this kid in a watery grave!"

Yet, seeing a glint of hesitation flash in the binocular man's eyes, his expression somewhat softened, his tone altered significantly, adding with a sigh.

"Du Ping, if you talk so much nonsense again, I'll take you out myself... prevent you from causing our team's failure due to underestimation!"

The man's tone suddenly became extremely sharp, appearing on the verge of losing his temper.

"Yes, yes, yes! Brother Xiong, you're the boss; I'll listen to you..."

The man named Du Ping immediately grinned servilely, lowering his head but still displaying a faint disregard in his barely visible eyes.

"Ah, you brat..."

Brother Xiong could only shake his head helplessly, then directed the boat to chase rapidly in the planned direction.

...

Qin Fang and Tang Feifei naturally had no clue they'd been targeted from the moment they left Nanshan Island. Judging by these people's intent, they didn't plan to let Qin Fang and the others return alive to Nanshan Island.

However, Qin Fang and Tang Feifei were immersed in their two-person world, the speedboat still cruising toward deeper waters. Qin Fang didn't seem at all concerned about running out of fuel. The two wandered amidst the azure sea, observing the blending of ocean and sky, feeling the slightly salty sea breeze, an indescribably romantic and pleasant experience...

If they replaced their speedboat with the Titanic, Tang Feifei might even insist on enacting that iconic pose with Qin Fang.

Even so, Tang Feifei nestled in Qin Fang's embrace, feeling the warmth, tenderness, and comfort... In this perfect setting, in their private world, two young and restless people inevitably feel a bit impulsive.

A mischievous hand rested on the tender prominence, while the young couple's lips clung tightly, passionately exchanging their essences...

Chapter 1370: Deep Sea Annihilation!

...

The ocean is incredibly gentle and peaceful when it is calm.

When the gentle sea breeze blows, causing the hair to flow, the feeling of leisure is exceptionally natural and harmonious...

It almost makes people reluctant to leave, unwilling to break such tranquility!

However, when Qin Fang and the others ventured into the deeper ocean, as the young couple passionately responded to each other, an incredibly discordant event occurred.

To be precise, someone intruded into their "private space."

A speedboat appeared on the surface, significantly larger than the one Qin Fang and the others were on, and evidently more powerful, speeding towards them at a very high speed.

"Huh..."

But Qin Fang carefully observed and was instantly astonished.

Because this boat seemed to be heading straight for theirs, the distance between the two boats was closing fast, yet the other party showed no sign of slowing down, almost as if they hadn't even noticed Qin Fang's boat.

What truly surprised Qin Fang was the intense red glow emanating from the boat, indicating the people on board were extremely hostile towards him, which was the most puzzling thing for Qin Fang.

"Feifei, sit tight..."

Seeing the intense red glow from the boat, Qin Fang was very puzzled by meeting enemies in the ocean, but he needed to remain extremely cautious at this moment.

"What's wrong, Qin Fang? What happened?"

Seeing Qin Fang's serious expression, Tang Feifei looked very puzzled at the speedboat approaching from afar and asked in confusion.

"We might have encountered pirates..."

Qin Fang thought long and hard, unable to fathom why an enemy would chase him across the sea; the only plausible explanation seemed to be that they'd run into pirates.

While Qin Fang did consider the possibility of being retaliated upon by Fan Xian or Zhou Fengliu, any friction between them wasn't significant enough to warrant hiring a hitman.

Besides this possibility, although Qin Fang had many enemies, none would chase him from Hong Kong Island into the ocean; he couldn't think of who it could be.

So ultimately, after much pondering, the possibility of encountering pirates seemed the most plausible...

Pirates originally shouldn't survive around here; Hong Kong Island has water police and stationed forces frequently patrolling this area.

But Qin Fang had heard Kong Er mention that a small group had gathered, smuggling firearms from Anlang, Myanmar, or the Golden Triangle, using speedboats and fishing boats as cover to frequently plunder some ships at sea...forming pirate gangs.

These gangs are extremely cunning, usually disguising as fishing boats. If encountering the navy or water police, they instantly discard their weapons and transform into law-abiding citizens.

Moreover, their raids are transient, sometimes at Hong Kong Island, sometimes traveling to Macau, sometimes in the South Sea...even occasionally venturing as far as Lu Song.

In general, these pirates aren't as brazen as the professional pirates in Somalia, but they're still exceedingly difficult to deal with, encountering them is quite frustrating.

Qin Fang was perplexed, given they were mere speedboats and not worth robbing, why did they encounter pirates?

However, he wasn't fearful; perhaps they were at a disadvantage sitting on a small boat, yet if these pirates revealed themselves, it was his time to shine...

But...

"Feifei, jump ship..."

Before Qin Fang could strategize his next move, he urgently shouted to Tang Feifei and, swiftly embracing her supple, athletic figure, jumped off the speedboat, quickly diving into the deep ocean...

Boom~~

Almost seconds after Qin Fang and Tang Feifei jumped into the sea, a loud explosion was heard from the surface; the speedboat they were on was directly overturned and sunk by the larger vessel, and as the engine ignited it caused a violent explosion...

Exploded!

The terrifying shockwave rolled in, even under the sea, Qin Fang and Tang Feifei felt its clear force.

Qin Fang clung tightly to Tang Feifei, shielding her from the raging shockwave, as her swimming abilities weren't great and if an accident occurred, Qin Fang would be at a severe disadvantage.

Rat-tat-tat-tat-tat~~

But evidently, their actions weren't over yet, they clearly spotted Qin Fang and Tang Feifei jumping ship early and not dying in the explosion, the "pirates" drew guns and a barrage of shots erupted towards the ocean surface where Qin Fang and Tang Feifei had jumped in.

Bullets pierced the water surface, rapidly firing towards the ocean depths.

Qin Fang was startled with fright; fortunately, he was already diving deep to evade the shockwave, so when bullets hit the water, they met significant resistance and couldn't penetrate very deeply.

Whether or not they hit Qin Fang, even some that mildly grazed him had lost considerable force, akin to a normal person punching Qin Fang with all their might.

Given Qin Fang's defense capabilities, this type of attack was negligible and posed no threat to him...