

Genius 1761

Chapter 1761 - Killing the Five-Star Assassin "Gunman"!

...

The gunman's strike was extremely ruthless this time, and the speed of that flying dagger was incredibly fast, almost reaching the limits of what the naked eye could perceive.

And Qin Fang seemed not to have anticipated the gunman's sudden strike, completely unguarded, watching as the dagger was about to pierce through his heart...

Seeing Qin Fang not react, the gunman's pale face, almost devoid of any color, finally showed a hint of a smile.

But his injuries were already quite severe, and this sudden strike had almost exhausted all his energy. At this moment, he was already a lamp running out of fuel.

He swayed, his body trembling as if he might fall at any moment, but he forced himself to hold on, determined to see Qin Fang hit and accompany him in death before he would be satisfied...

There was no change in Qin Fang's expression, he even stood there smiling slightly, as if he didn't see the dagger at all, allowing it to fly closer and closer...

Thud~~

The gunman laughed, a bright smile on his face, as he watched the dagger he threw pierce Qin Fang's heart, even thinking he could hear the sound of the blade entering the body.

But...

When he waited for the blood to spurt from Qin Fang's chest, he was shocked to find... the dagger seemed to have encountered some resistance, barely piercing a tiny bit before stopping completely.

And in a very short time, the strength carried by the dagger was gradually neutralized, and the dagger fell powerlessly from Qin Fang's chest to the ground, making a crisp sound.

"How can this be..."

The scene almost made the gunman's eyes pop out, his pale face turning a strange bluish-purple, and his lips were bitten until blood flowed.

But before him, Qin Fang was still standing like nothing had happened, not a single trace of blood on the chest that had supposedly been hit, only a small hole in his shirt...

Qin Fang even casually brushed his hand over it, as if he was afraid the dagger was contaminated with something dirty... His demeanor was extremely calm, without the slightest hint of pain, and his gaze remained unchanged, as if he hadn't taken any damage at all!

"Since you don't appreciate it, I won't be polite..."

At this moment, Qin Fang's smile remained, but his eyes showed a hint of hostility, clearly expressing his dissatisfaction with the gunman's sneak attack.

It was only now that the gunman could finally be sure that Qin Fang was indeed uninjured; not dodging earlier wasn't because it was too late, but purposely letting him attempt a sneak attack...

Qin Fang obviously had something he could rely on, ensuring he wouldn't take any damage, which is why he let the gunman take the initiative to sneak attack him...

But now the result was evident: Qin Fang was unharmed, while the gunman, due to that sneak attack, had exhausted all his strength, now at the end of his rope, without even the chance to put up a fight.

"I lost..."

These were the gunman's last words in this world, as if he were using up all his strength to speak them, collapsing as soon as he finished.

"Dead..."

Ji Xiang rushed over at this time, checked briefly, and confirmed the result—the most mysterious five-star assassin of the Assassin's Alliance had fallen...

As for his cause of death, aside from that absolutely powerful strike, it was likely due to being angered to death by such an outcome.

"The next things, you handle them, and clean up a bit..."

Qin Fang's Scouting Skill was naturally better than Ji Xiang's, he had been monitoring the gunman's Life Points, and when the dagger was thrown, the Life Points were already critically low...

And with the continuous bleeding from the gunman's wounds, even without being angered by Qin Fang, he would have died in a few more minutes regardless.

Qin Fang's actions merely hastened the arrival of death... However, it saved a lot of effort, at least removing a substantial risk.

"Young Master Qin, what was that just now?"

While Ji Xiang was busy cleaning up the scene, he asked with great curiosity.

The gunman's dagger was coming at such a speed that even he noticed it, his face changing drastically, almost crying out to warn Qin Fang.

But seeing Qin Fang's calm demeanor, he felt Qin Fang had a measure of reliance, so he forcibly held back his words, waiting for the outcome.

Soon, the gunman seemed to be about to have his eyes pop out in astonishment, but Ji Xiang was not much better, looking at Qin Fang's chest with immense surprise, unable to understand how Qin Fang had blocked it.

The gunman's sneak attack just now used all his remaining strength, almost a last-ditch effort, though not the strongest blow of Master Level Peak, it wasn't far off either...

Such a terrifying attack, no expert below Grandmaster Level could withstand head-on, and yet Qin Fang confronted it head-on... It was almost like offering himself to a blade.

Chapter 1762 - Killing the Five-Star Assassin "Gunman"!

But the result is...

The dagger pierced Qin Fang's heart, with incredible speed and undoubtedly a great deal of Strength, coupled with its remarkably sharp tip, even a Grandmaster-level Expert would only avoid its sharpness.

Yet Qin Fang was completely unscathed, not even a trace of blood appeared, it was truly bizarre...

"Hiss~~ If you hadn't mentioned it, I would have forgotten. It really hurts!"

When Ji Xiang asked with such curiosity, it was as if Qin Fang suddenly remembered something, clutching his chest, he took a deep breath.

"Are you hurt?"

Ji Xiang was briefly stunned and asked in surprise. He didn't see any blood but seeing Qin Fang's pained expression, he immediately became concerned.

"No, I'm not injured, just got hit a moment ago, it still hurts a bit..."

Qin Fang shook his head and said. A full-powered strike from a Master-level Peak Expert is absolutely terrifying, and as it hit the heart directly, it's impossible to feel nothing at all.

"Fortunately, I had prepared in advance..."

Seeing Ji Xiang's puzzled look, Qin Fang smiled, pulling his coat slightly open to reveal a bit of the garment inside.

"This is... Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor?"

Ji Xiang saw the clothing underneath Qin Fang's coat, was momentarily stunned, then unsurely asked, seeing that the material seemed like Heavenly Silkworm Silk.

"Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor... it's a treasure from the Tianchi Sect, it accidentally fell into my hands!"

Qin Fang nodded with a smile, casually stating that this Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor was stripped from Shangguan Tianling.

"No wonder..."

Seeing this Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor, Ji Xiang suddenly realized.

In the Martial World of Dragon Country, Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor has always been the finest soft armor for defense, but because it's extremely rare, each piece is incredibly precious.

Similarly, because there are so few, the efficacy of Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor has been somewhat exaggerated by people...

Those who possess Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor surely wouldn't divulge its flaws, while those without it would overimagine its power based on their assumptions...

Although Ji Xiang is not from Dragon Country, he is of Chinese descent, and he practices Dragon Country martial arts, so he knows a bit about the martial world, but had never seen Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor. Seeing Qin Fang wearing one and its miraculous effect just now, Ji Xiang assumed it was due to the power of the Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor, and thus wasn't particularly surprised anymore.

Qin Fang didn't explain much, merely giving a slight smile, and the matter was left at that...

What Qin Fang said was true, but it was not the whole truth... Although Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor is an excellent defense, it can't withstand a fatal blow from a Master-level Peak Expert, especially an attack like the one just now.

The previous assault, even if it couldn't penetrate the material of the Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor, it could still conduct that terrifying Power onto Qin Fang's body.

For a critical area like the heart to suffer such severe damage would not just cause Qin Fang some slight pain, even if it couldn't take his life.

However, if there was another piece of soft armor under the Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor stronger than it, then the recent occurrence could have been possible.

This was indeed the case; Qin Fang wore an outer coat, inside that was Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor, but even further inside was Ice Silk Armor closely protecting his body.

This Ice Silk Armor is a near-mythical treasure in the martial world, having once sparked bloody battles, but later mysteriously vanished and was gradually forgotten by the martial world's people.

Even if later on there were occasional mentions, it was merely considered a legend in the Jianghu, with few believing this treasure truly existed.

But this time, as Tang Huaiyuan reemerged to hunt Qin Fang, he not only brought one of Tang Sect's Ten Great Hidden Weapons, the Peacock Feather, but also this Ice Silk Armor.

Perhaps Tang Huaiyuan knew Qin Fang possessed the Rainstorm Pear Blossom Needles, and this Ice Silk Armor might have been meant to counter one of Tang Sect's most powerful hidden weapons.

Unfortunately, the Ice Silk Armor didn't have much use, as Tang Huaiyuan was directly killed...

The Ice Silk Armor could almost defend against any attacks below Grandmaster-level Peak Experts. Using it to deal with Qin Fang or even higher Grandmaster-level Experts was practically foolproof. This was Tang Huaiyuan's confidence in daring to seize the Blood Coral.

Yet he never imagined Qin Fang not only borrowed a blade to kill but also brought forth a Great Grandmaster Level top expert.

Without any defenses, Tang Huaiyuan was severely injured by the Great Grandmaster-level expert Chu Tianji, which became a critical turning point that led to his defeat and demise.

Because Tang Huaiyuan was severely injured and nearly unable to move, facing the unharmed Qin Fang, he chose a path of mutual destruction.

Indeed, the Ice Silk Armor was formidable, but the Peacock Feather was equally terrifying. Although the needles couldn't penetrate Tang Huaiyuan's body, they easily pierced all exposed parts outside the Ice Silk Armor... this included the vital areas of Tang Huaiyuan's head!

This was akin to when Qin Fang used a puppet person to shield himself. Qin Fang avoided major areas of identification but still had a few places hit by the Peacock Feather, though without any substantial impact.

But Tang Huaiyuan wasn't as lucky as Qin Fang. After the Peacock Feather's assault, his life was thoroughly ended...

Tang Huaiyuan is dead, and even his corpse was disposed of by Qin Fang. However, this Ice Silk Armor was stripped by Qin Fang.

There was no helping it, as Tang Huaiyuan died such an unavailing death, not even truly by Qin Fang's hand, leaving Qin Fang with little gain, so he couldn't be blamed for benefiting from a dead man.

Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armors are very thin, whether it was Qin Fang's previous Celestial Silkworm Golden Armor or this Ice Silk Armor, they're both extremely thin, barely noticeable when worn.

Consequently, Qin Fang was not polite and wore both Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armors, immediately greatly increasing his defensive ability.

The defense of Ice Silk Armor is 10, whereas the Ice Silk Armor reached a terrifying thirty-six... Along with Qin Fang's own True Qi's weakening effect of 10 to 20 in defense, this effectively raised Qin Fang's personal defense to over sixty.

And the last stab by the gunman, had an Attack Power exceeding fifty, roughly equivalent to the power of a Zi Dan, and given its point-blank nature, truly could have instantly killed Qin Fang if it hit.

It's understandable, as the gunman aimed at Qin Fang's heart, where even a dagger with Attack Power over fifty, let alone ten, slightly deeper could explode ten times more damage... potentially even critically higher!

Unfortunately, Qin Fang wasn't completely unprepared. The dagger had rather considerable Attack Power, almost exceeding the defensive limit of both Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armors.

Yet ultimately, it couldn't pierce through, the force got mostly nullified, thus the dagger dropped helplessly to the ground.

This encapsulates the entire process that transpired in those few seconds...

Qin Fang ended up without any injury, aside from a little pain in the chest, but without any material damage.

As for the gunman... his luck was just too poor. Had he not accepted the task to assassinate Qin Fang, he could have continued to live leisurely, maybe even soon advanced to Grandmaster-level, or Six-star Assassin level...

But now that chance is gone forever; he's become a cold, lifeless corpse, and even after death, his body would be used against him by his enemy, Qin Fang... truly a death of utmost grievance!

Chapter 1763 - Boss Kui Is Dead!

...

Qin Fang and his team killed the gunman and knocked out all the members of The Green Gang, including Kui Mingyu. Their objective was already achieved, so they left smoothly and easily.

However, shortly after they left, the police received a tip that a murder had occurred in the manor here.

When the police arrived, they undoubtedly found the slain "Japanese friend," and some "special evidence" left at the scene proved that this "Japanese friend" was a renowned cold-blooded assassin internationally, and that this cold-blooded assassin had an unclear relationship with the manor's owner, Kui Mingyu.

The case was quickly reported because it involved The Green Gang and Boss Kui's son, Kui Mingyu, making it a significant case.

Why Kui Mingyu hired a gunman is a big question. Some speculate it was to deal with Qin Fang, while others think Kui Mingyu was unhappy with someone...

The gunman clearly died of foul play, and evidence showed that Kui Mingyu was not the murderer, proving his innocence... One could even say Kui Mingyu was the victim, as he himself was beaten badly and was confused for quite a while after waking up.

Due to The Green Gang's connections, the case was eventually covered up, and naturally, Kui Mingyu easily extricated himself from it.

However, Boss Kui couldn't relax because information indicated that the matter of his son cooperating with the Japs had quietly leaked out.

Originally, his son being absolved from the murder case was a thing worthy of joy, but now Boss Kui hoped that the murderer was his son, Kui Mingyu.

If that were the case, even if his son were to encounter trouble, he could dissociate himself from any involvement in the incident...

But is it possible for the useless Kui Mingyu to kill a gunman who is considered a top-notch expert within the Assassin's Alliance?

Even if Boss Kui found a way to tie the gunman up completely, the gunman would still have ways to deal with Kui Mingyu, let alone be killed by him.

Furthermore, although the case was suppressed, the upper echelons of Jiangzhou have clearly indicated that this case should not wrong an innocent person... Hence, Kui Mingyu didn't even have the chance to confess.

The moment this kid fully regained consciousness, the gunman's corpse had already been taken away by the police, leaving him unclear about the condition of the deceased, thus lacking any reference to fabricate a lie.

Boss Kui is troubled...

It's said that recently, he locked himself at home and hasn't stepped out. Although The Green Gang internally remains relatively stable, various rumors have gradually increased.

The Green Gang's traditions have been passed down for over a hundred years, and every generation of disciples strictly adheres to them. Particularly with the Jiangzhou Qing Gang established by Boss Kui, he strictly enforced these ancestral rules to ensure the organization's strength.

But now, his son has collaborated with the Japs... And information suggests the slain Jap was closely connected with Japan's Yamaguchi Group.

What kind of force is the Yamaguchi Group?

It is Japan's largest syndicate, often claiming to be Asia's largest, and in the Americas, it is a sworn enemy of The Green Gang. The two syndicates clash nearly a hundred times annually, almost every few days...

This sharply antagonistic relationship keeps these two syndicates in a position of absolute hostility. But now, as the leader of The Green Gang in Dragon Country, Boss Kui's son has linked up with the people from the Yamaguchi Group, and they appear to have a very intimate collaboration, raising objections inevitably.

Boss Kui has led the Jiangzhou Qing Gang for twenty years with supreme authority, but this doesn't mean the Jiangzhou Qing Gang is an impregnable fortress since other big bosses also wield considerable power.

Usually, these people are suppressed by Boss Kui, preventing their strength from manifesting... But now, with this event, someone immediately stepped forward.

There's even news that a certain big boss has escalated the matter to the Qing Gang Headquarters... This matter has truly turned into a big deal.

This is not unexpected, as given the uproar, it would indeed be suspicious if things remained calm.

Boss Kui remains behind closed doors, neither appearing himself nor the Elder Alai, while Kui Mingyu has shown his face a few times, albeit very low-key, always under heavy protection, and appearing only in territories of Boss Kui's most loyal subordinates.

Like Green Wolf's Drunken River South...

The Green Gang internally started to stir, and some people's minds began to waver. Green Wolf and other loyal subordinates of Boss Kui were immediately furious and began taking steps to suppress these "rebels."

However, those openly attempting to rebel are extremely few mindless fools. Most, even if they harbor rebellious thoughts, maintain appearances, and they even help "debunk" unfavorable rumors when they arise.

Of course, it's debatable how effective this debunking is, and it carries no practical significance... At least, the Qing Gang Headquarters won't buy it.

As for the changes within The Green Gang, Qin Fang isn't concerned; he's done what he could. Whether Boss Kui can be brought down depends on luck.

Boss Kui, who has led The Green Gang in Jiangzhou for twenty years and developed its influence thus strongly, is certainly not someone easy to deal with.

Qin Fang is well aware that until people from the Qing Gang Headquarters arrive in Jiangzhou, the rule of Boss Kui won't change in the slightest.

Even if there were a few people who outwardly obeyed but secretly defied, or just outright covered up, it wouldn't have a significant impact on Boss Kui's rule.

If Boss Kui were to fall, these people would naturally rise up immediately to seize that incredibly coveted position... But if Boss Kui hadn't fallen, then when this old man settled accounts in the fall, a lot of people would be in big trouble!

Don't think that just because Boss Kui was old, his heart had softened. This man truly built up The Green Gang bit by bit from the piles of the dead, and the blood on his hands is untold.

Moreover, the Jiangzhou Qing Gang was single-handedly managed by him. Twenty years of control have made the foundation exceptionally solid, beyond what an average person could imagine.

To take control from such a big shot is as difficult as ascending to the heavens...

Of course, unless Boss Kui were to suddenly and unfortunately pass away at this time, leaving the entire Qing Gang leaderless, then the situation would become unpredictable.

However, sometimes Qin Fang also helplessly sighed at how his own jinxing power was in no way weaker than that of the football king, Uncle Pele.

"Young Master Qin, I've just received some news..."

One day, while Qin Fang was contemplating how to deal with the Shadow Viper hidden in the dark, Ji Xiang suddenly came with news, and this information indeed surprised Qin Fang.

"Boss Kui is dead!"

The message was simple, just a few words, but they filled Qin Fang's face with shock and disbelief.

"What's going on?"

Upon hearing this news, Qin Fang's first thought was that Ji Xiang was joking. Although he had never met Boss Kui in person, from his style of handling affairs, Qin Fang knew that this old man was definitely a formidable and heroic figure.

On the surface, this matter had nothing to do with Qin Fang, but this old man surely knew that the gunman had probably died by Qin Fang's hand, and even the spread of this news was orchestrated by Qin Fang behind the scenes.

It is precisely because of this that Boss Kui could ignore the rumors within the Qing Gang, but he would absolutely make a move against Qin Fang immediately...

But unexpectedly, Qin Fang hadn't received Boss Kui's killer move; instead, he received the news of Boss Kui's death. How could Qin Fang not be surprised?

"The information was obtained from the police, and it has been confirmed..."

Ji Xiang also wore a helpless bitter smile and said, probably unwilling to believe it himself, "The body was found in his villa, and it was discovered by his son, Kui Mingyu... Um, it's said to be suicide..."

"Suicide?"

Hearing the news of Boss Kui's death left Qin Fang speechless with shock, and now hearing that it was by suicide sounded more like a fairy tale.

Boss Kui, who had controlled the Qing Gang for twenty years, was akin to a local emperor at the pinnacle of Jiangzhou.

Even if he had been severely betrayed by his son Kui Mingyu, at most it would result in some loss of power, certainly not a life-threatening blow, so how could he possibly choose to commit suicide?

"Could it be that he felt his reputation was beyond redemption, and in a moment of despair just..."

Qin Fang thought and thought, and it seemed that only such a reason made some sense.

However, Boss Kui was not some noble and righteous gentleman. He had taken no fewer than a hundred lives himself. Talking about him killing is normal, but saying he would commit suicide... probably no one in Jiangzhou would believe it!

"Right, what about that old servant by Boss Kui's side, what's his status?"

Saying that Boss Kui would commit suicide was something Qin Fang was the first not to believe, but since the police had given their verdict, it indicated there was definitely a problem here. Qin Fang immediately thought of Elder Alai and inquired at once.

"That old servant is now missing, and no one has discovered his whereabouts yet..."

Ji Xiang seemed to have anticipated Qin Fang's question and was prepared to respond.

"There's indeed a problem..."

Upon hearing this, Qin Fang couldn't help muttering.

Almost everyone in Jiangzhou who knew Boss Kui was aware that this old servant of his hardly ever left his side. Even if Boss Kui sent him on an errand, he would return at the fastest speed possible.

But now, Boss Kui had died, yet this always-present Elder Alai was also missing, which clearly indicated something had happened...

However, another headache-inducing issue was about to arise, and even Qin Fang couldn't help muttering, "The Qing Gang is going to be in chaos..."

Chapter 1764 - Life-and-Death Sniper Attack!

...

The death of Boss Kui of The Green Gang came very suddenly, something even Qin Fang had not anticipated at all, but in fact, it did happen.

Not only did Ji Xiang deliver this news to Qin Fang, but even Tang Cheng specifically called to inquire, seeming to think this matter was done by Qin Fang.

However, Qin Fang is well aware that he set up Boss Kui, but he did not intend to kill him; otherwise, he wouldn't have waited until now. As soon as Boss Kui conspired with Tang Huaiyuan against him, he would have acted first...

Receiving Qin Fang's positive response, Tang Cheng remained somewhat skeptical but didn't say much, simply reminding Qin Fang to be a bit more careful these days.

This warning was not unwarranted, as Tang Cheng from certain channels learned that the sudden death of Boss Kui had garnered the attention of The Green Gang Headquarters, and they seemed to have dispatched experts over for investigation and stabilization.

The Green Gang, although they moved overseas, always considered their roots to be in Dragon Country, and Jiangzhou was their most important base there.

Previously, with Boss Kui in control, everything was naturally very calm, and the headquarters were also tacitly allowing Boss Kui's control because it made them very reassured.

But now, first there were "rebellious" events involving Boss Kui, followed by "suicide due to guilt." To say there's nothing fishy going on would be hard for anyone to believe.

The key point is, with Boss Kui's death, the Jiangzhou Qing Gang suddenly has no leader, and faces imminent disintegration, which is something The Green Gang Headquarters does not want to see, prompting them to immediately send people to take control and suppress, as well as investigate the truth of Boss Kui's suicide!

Investigating Boss Kui could easily lead them to Qin Fang, since recently the only one really at odds with Boss Kui, yet still alive and well, is Qin Fang!

Even though Qin Fang has the support of the Tang Family, The Green Gang is not a benevolent group, and if things really stirred up, the Tang Family might have a hard time ensuring Qin Fang's safety.

However, Qin Fang was not concerned about this; the two matters that stirred up are something he initiated, but Boss Kui's death has nothing to do with him. He has no guilty conscience, so naturally, he has nothing to fear.

Besides, The Green Gang is indeed strong, but Qin Fang is no pushover either...

With Boss Kui dead, the Jiangzhou Qing Gang was no longer calm; reportedly, several internal leaders were restless, each leading their men to seek independence, and some gangs previously affiliated with The Green Gang were also withdrawing, causing a large underground kingdom to face disintegration.

Of course, this has nothing to do with Qin Fang, who is busy with his own affairs now.

One day, Qin Fang accompanied Chu Yunxuan for a meal.

"The negotiations are progressing quite smoothly, and Reid Pharmaceuticals has also yielded. Basically, the formal contract can be signed in the next couple of days..."

Chu Yunxuan briefly reported the cooperation from that side to Qin Fang; everything was on track, so there was no need for Qin Fang to worry about it.

"This is quite a hard task on you..."

Qin Fang was now a hands-off manager without the time or energy to handle these matters, so everything had to be handled by Chu Yunxuan, which he felt quite helpless about.

"Actually, it's not much hard work for me, it's just... oh, look over there!"

Chi Yunxuan was quite content with Qin Fang's concern. Just as she was about to say something, she suddenly pointed to a certain place with surprise.

Qin Fang was taken aback, also surprised as he looked into the distance...

At this moment, he and Chu Yunxuan had finished their meal and were in the underground parking lot of the hotel, preparing to get their car and leave, but to his surprise, he noticed five or six people standing in the shadows of a corner of the parking lot.

The reason Qin Fang didn't notice was because these people were beyond the range of Qin Fang's small map monitoring, and naturally, there was no warning.

Chu Yunxuan happened to be driving her car away, and the car lights shone in that direction, so she noticed them, and immediately felt that these people were a bit strange.

"Tianchi Sect..."

Upon seeing these people, Qin Fang's brows furrowed slightly. He had detected that these people were from the Tianchi Sect.

The relationship between Qin Fang and the Tianchi Sect is very clear to anyone who remembers the incident when Qin Fang dealt with Shangguan Ao; they could not possibly be friends, and naturally were enemies!

At least, the thick and almost unending red aura around these people clearly indicated their hostility...

"You get in the car and go back first!"

Facing these Tianchi Sect individuals, Qin Fang was not overly worried. He had just probed them, and the strongest were two elders at the Master Level Peak; the rest of the young people, one had just crossed into the Master Level, and the rest were below that level.

This formation, compared to Tang Cheng, was far inferior. It didn't pose a threat to Qin Fang, he was only worried that they might get desperate and use Chu Yunxuan against him, hence he asked Chu Yunxuan to leave first.

"What about you?"

Chu Yunxuan asked with some concern. Although Qin Fang seemed unconcerned, she was still somewhat uneasy in her heart.

Chapter 1765 - Life-and-Death Sniper Attack!

"Just a few small fry, no need to worry..."

Qin Fang laughed and pushed Chu Yunxuan into the car, casually remarking with a mischievous smile, "Go ahead and clean up. Wait for me in bed..."

"You... naughty!"

Chu Yunxuan didn't expect Qin Fang to have the mood for such words at this moment. Her snow-white cheeks blushed a deep red as she chuckled and chided, then she started the car and drove off immediately.

Since Qin Fang was in the mood to joke, it clearly eased a lot of the worry in her heart. Besides, she wasn't the type of woman who would willingly be a burden, so she left without any hesitation.

"Come out!"

With Chu Yunxuan gone, Qin Fang had no more reservations. He immediately faced the hidden Tianchi Sect experts in the shadows and shouted.

"Such an arrogant young man..."

A cold voice emerged from the darkness, and then six of the Tianchi Sect experts slowly revealed themselves. Each of their expressions was icy cold, and their eyes flashed with vicious hatred.

"Cut the crap, if you're going to fight, make it quick... I don't have time for idle chatter!"

Looking at the six people opposite him, although the lineup wasn't weak, with two Grandmaster Level Peak experts holding the fort, it wasn't enough to intimidate Qin Fang.

Among these people, besides the two Grandmaster Level Peak Elders who posed a bit of a threat to Qin Fang, the remaining four young ones were negligible.

Whether these four were at Grandmaster Level or not didn't matter to Qin Fang; they posed no threat at all...

You could see this just by checking how these four were displayed on Qin Fang's mini-map.

The two Grandmaster Level Peak Elders appeared as red on the mini-map, indicating a certain level of threat to Qin Fang!

The young expert who just stepped into the Grandmaster Level showed as white, indicating no threat to Qin Fang, although the disparity wasn't ridiculous!

As for the remaining three who hadn't even reached Grandmaster Level, they appeared in gray... clearly showing they posed no threat whatsoever and wouldn't even provide experience points if taken down!

Six people, and four could be directly ignored, leaving only two who barely posed any threat to Qin Fang, so how could Qin Fang be afraid of them?

The grudge between Qin Fang and the Tianchi Sect had to be settled sooner or later, and he couldn't avoid it even if he wanted to. Better to settle it early and be at ease.

Unless Shangguan Tianlong personally made a move, Qin Fang would be quite tense. But given Shangguan Tianlong's special status, he wouldn't act so openly... For now, Qin Fang didn't have much to worry about.

As for these people in front of him... it wasn't that Qin Fang looked down on them, they simply overestimated their abilities!

"Courting death!"

Sure enough, upon hearing Qin Fang's words, the two Elders' faces turned quite unsightly. The young ones also turned livid with anger and shouted in rage.

"Take action..."

Seeing Qin Fang standing with arms crossed, acting as if he didn't regard them at all, the two Elders wasted no time. With a cold shout, all six raised their arms, and six swords were in hand, swiftly attacking Qin Fang...

Six swords closed in rapidly, their speed astonishing and the angles deceptively tricky. Each move was a killing strike, as if wishing to dismember Qin Fang in one brutal assault.

"Interesting..."

The Traceless Snow Stepping Technique launched fully, and Qin Fang transformed like a swimming fish, dexterously weaving and evading the assaults among the sword glows from the six swords.

At the same time, Qin Fang was surprised to discover he might have underestimated the Tianchi Sect. Though the six individuals' strengths varied greatly, when combined, they formed a small sword formation.

The six coordinated quite harmoniously, with a smooth flow between attack and defense. The overlapping sword shadows, both real and feigned, advanced and retreated in order, putting considerable pressure on Qin Fang...

If not for the miraculous nature of his Traceless Snow Stepping Technique, Qin Fang might have already stumbled before this small sword formation.

"Indeed, a prestigious sect with profound depth..."

Witnessing the sword formation's power, Qin Fang understood why these six dared to come for his head; they had considerable backing.

With two Grandmaster Level Peak Elders and four rather weak younglings, the formation they created unleashed power rivalling that of an attack by a Grandmaster-level expert...

At least while maneuvering, Qin Fang constantly dodged the chilling sword qi, fearing the heavy losses he'd suffer upon contact!

"Your movement technique..."

As Qin Fang marveled at the sword formation's might, the Tianchi Sect was equally astounded by Qin Fang's fluid movements, especially noting the changes beneath Qin Fang's feet. One Tianchi Sect Elder's expression shifted slightly, as if he recalled something.

"Who exactly are you?"

Light Body Techniques are quite rare in the Martial World, even some prestigious sects lack them, like the Tianchi Sect...

Chapter 1766 - Life-and-Death Sniper Attack!

But Qin Fang's movement technique was evidently quite impressive, moving with remarkable fluidity and without the slightest hesitation. This clearly indicated that he had mastered a complete set of light-body techniques, far more powerful than those fragmented techniques.

Many light-footwork techniques have long been lost, and even if some sects retain a portion, they are mostly incomplete fragments. Only a select few ancient sects have preserved them in their entirety.

And these ancient sects, none of them are comparable to a third-rate sect like the Tianchi Sect, so it's no wonder that this elder's face changed drastically upon seeing Qin Fang's technique.

Failing to kill Qin Fang was one issue, but more importantly, they feared offending a terrifying ancient sect because of him, which would spell disaster for them...

"Only asking now?"

Qin Fang, however, smiled indifferently, realizing that cultivating the Snow Mountain Sect's Traceless Snow Stepping Technique had indeed provided significant benefits.

Previously, when facing the Grandmaster-level expert Elder Alai, he forced even Boss Kui to concede. This time, it seemed he had frightened the Tianchi Sect...

Of course, when facing Tang Huaiyuan, his Traceless Snow Stepping Technique didn't give him any advantage, as the Tang Sect was in no way inferior to the Snow Mountain Sect.

"Too late..."

Seeing that the Tianchi Sect elder seemed intimidated, Qin Fang's face showed a subtle change, then with a faint shout, he swiftly moved, quickly closing in on the elder.

Almost simultaneously with his movement, Qin Fang gathered his strength, the violent energy aura vibrating, and the terrifying True Qi of the Demonic Divine Art seemed to vaguely manifest outward, causing his clothes to billow and even his hair to stand on end...

However, this was merely a minor change brought on by Qin Fang's power surge... In reality, there was no substantive change.

Even so, the elder's face changed dramatically, with a hint of panic and disbelief in his eyes.

Whether he was amazed by Qin Fang's sudden surge in power, reaching a height he dared not face, or speculated that Qin Fang had an extraordinarily powerful background...

These experts from the Tianchi Sect, from the moment they attacked, showed no mercy, aiming directly for Qin Fang's vital points without any intention of holding back.

In such a case, Qin Fang naturally had no reason to hold back either, and his first counterattack was ferocious and terrifying.

"Say hello to Shangguan Tianling for me..."

As Qin Fang gradually approached the Tianchi Sect elder, the elder was trying his best to protect himself, but his speed was far slower than Qin Fang's. He could only watch as Qin Fang got closer and closer, unable to retract his sword in time.

What was more infuriating was that, as Qin Fang approached step by step, he uttered a sentence that quietly echoed in the elder's ear.

Shangguan Tianling...

Hearing this name, the Tianchi Sect elder suddenly felt an urge to spit blood. If it weren't for this name, why would they have troubled Qin Fang, even wanting to kill him for revenge?

But now...

Qin Fang, under their siege, remained unscathed, while the elder himself was about to fall under Qin Fang's hand, to reunite with Shangguan Tianling.

The frustration in this, how unbearable it was?

This must have been the first time in this elder's decades-long life, and certainly the last!

"Huh?"

At this moment, Qin Fang suddenly felt intense goosebumps prickling on his back, the icy sensation sweeping swiftly across his entire body.

"Sniper..."

At this instant, Qin Fang's mind immediately made this judgment. With a dramatic change in expression, his body twisted with extreme agility, quickly sliding to the side.

He even abandoned the Tianchi Sect elder, who was within arm's reach and about to fall under his hand... After all, the previous sense of crisis was far too strong for Qin Fang to take the risk.

Puff~~

Qin Fang could clearly feel a bullet whizzing almost directly by his body, tearing his clothes slightly, leaving two holes visible.

The chilling coldness even left Qin Fang somewhat shaken...

However, the outcome was still favorable; Qin Fang's evasive maneuver was timely, successfully dodging the lethal sniper shot.

While Qin Fang evaded, another was less fortunate...

The Tianchi Sect elder was originally ready to perish together with Qin Fang when he approached, but seeing Qin Fang suddenly abandon him and dodge aside left him bewildered, not understanding what had transpired. Then he suddenly felt severe pain assault his chest...

Almost instinctively, the Tianchi Sect elder looked down at his chest, which was now covered in bright red blood, a gaping hole appeared near his heart...

Although it hadn't hit the heart directly, the sniper bullet's impact was tremendous, destroying half of his heart with just one shot...

The elder only saw this sight before everything went black, and his body went limp, gently collapsing to the ground.

Suffering such damage exceeded what his body could bear, making death inevitable...

"Elder Sun..."

This scene fell into the eyes of the other Tianchi Sect experts, who immediately cried out in grief and anger.

"I'll kill you!"

But evidently, they were unaware of the sniper, believing the elder had died at Qin Fang's hands, as they had witnessed Qin Fang's assault on the elder...

Chapter 1767 - Frenzy Demon Pill!

...

The elder of the Tianchi Sect certainly died a bit unjustly, and rather tragically at that...his entire heart was directly blown apart.

Of course, he was mentally prepared for this beforehand, so his death was not entirely undeserved!

He thought he would be killed under Qin Fang's palm, at least leaving a relatively intact corpse, but he never expected to be shot by a sniper gun...

The fellow disciple he had been with for decades died just like this in front of him, leaving the remaining elder of the Tianchi Sect utterly enraged. The longsword in his hand bloomed into a series of dazzling sword blossoms, which struck straight at Qin Fang's vital points...

The moves were extremely vicious and the strikes were extraordinarily fierce, almost abandoning his own defense entirely, adopting a suicidal fighting technique to trade life for life with Qin Fang.

"Kill me? Come on..."

Qin Fang didn't care, nor did he bother to explain anything, but simply moved his feet silently, easily dodging the elder's fierce sword techniques.

As for those remaining young people, Qin Fang paid them no mind at all.

The six-man sword formation, after killing one person, instantly lost more than half its power, and the threat to Qin Fang was greatly reduced.

If previously the six-man sword formation had the power to kill a grandmaster-level expert, now it couldn't even harm a hair of a grandmaster-level expert.

Furthermore, this elder's rage completely disrupted the rhythm of the sword formation, and the once mighty sword formation was on the verge of collapse.

No longer posing a threat to Qin Fang, the presence of these young experts was instantly reduced to a very low level, so much so that Qin Fang didn't even bother to glance at them.

In fact, Qin Fang didn't even take this Tianchi Sect elder seriously. Although a master-level peak expert is quite formidable and his sword techniques are quite splendid, to harm Qin Fang was a bit of a stretch...

However, Qin Fang did not kill this elder, instead, he kept evading time and time again, as if he was very cautious of him.

Of course, Qin Fang wasn't afraid of this Tianchi Sect elder, who was weaker than him, but rather the hidden sniper in the shadows...

That shot just now fully demonstrated that the opponent was a very formidable sniper, with the gunman's precision quite high. Had Qin Fang not sensed it in advance and dodged in time, it wouldn't have been the Tianchi Sect elder who was killed, but Qin Fang himself!

Qin Fang is quite confident in his strength, but he's also very cautious... He can handle injuries from knives and swords, but against firearms, he remains quite sensitive and wary.

The power of bullets is much greater than that of typical knives and swords, with a significantly higher damage value. Although Qin Fang is wearing two layers of Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor, boosting his defense by dozens of points, along with his inherent life points, anything below a hundred points of damage isn't fatal.

However, the human body has many vulnerable areas, even for martial artists...like the head, heart, and dantian.

Qin Fang isn't too worried about his heart, as it is protected by double layers of Heavenly Silkworm Silk Armor, making it hard even for typical bullets to penetrate, and perhaps not even the sniper's bullets could pierce through.

But aside from the crucial chest and abdomen, his head remains exposed, and if hit by a bullet, it could still be fatal.

It's precisely because of this that Qin Fang shows considerable concern towards the hidden sniper, hesitating even to engage with the Tianchi Sect members in combat.

However, the Tianchi Sect members obviously did not notice this, as after their elder was killed, each of them went completely berserk, launching attacks rapidly and viciously, almost every move being a life-threatening maneuver.

Luckily, the sword formation had been nearly destroyed, so even though their assault was more brutal than before, the overall lethality was greatly reduced.

Qin Fang felt no pressure from this, and his lack of urgent counterattack was mostly due to the hidden sniper.

While the number of assassins infiltrating Jiangzhou isn't large, it's certainly not negligible, including some gun-wielding experts...

The Shadow Viper is just one among them, though it's challenging to assure there aren't others of the same level involved, especially since the shot just now demonstrated grandmaster-level strength, which even Qin Fang could barely achieve for now...

This Tianchi Sect elder's strength was impressive; his all-out suicidal attack had even made Qin Fang feel quite troubled.

Though unable to harm Qin Fang temporarily, as Qin Fang's Traceless Snow Stepping Technique is not to be underestimated, dragging it out isn't a solution either.

"Get out of the way!"

This Tianchi Sect elder could chase him down, and those four young experts joined the fray, forming an encirclement around Qin Fang, and a small Four Symbols Sword Formation nearly blocked him...

And just as Qin Fang was being cornered, a cold chill surged across his back, clearly indicating that the sniper hiding in the shadows had locked onto him once again.

This result obviously infuriated Qin Fang, and without a moment's hesitation, he suddenly unleashed a powerful force from his feet, as a surge of violent true qi swept out, targeting those four young experts around him...

Chapter 1768 - Frenzy Demon Pill! (Part 2)

Meanwhile, Qin Fang took advantage of this violent True Qi shock to quickly leap up, his body forming a strange arc in mid-air, instantly breaking free from the encirclement of these four people!

Poof~~

Almost simultaneously with Qin Fang's leap, a bullet arrived as expected, almost shooting past under Qin Fang's crotch. The gust of wind that it brought made Qin Fang feel a chill below. Had he been slightly slower, this bullet might have blown off his manhood!

"Damn..."

Though he avoided the attack once again, Qin Fang's anger flared, hating the gunman hidden in the dark to the core.

Qin Fang had dodged it, but another Tianchi Sect member wasn't so lucky. On the other side, the young swordsman who was opposite Qin Fang had his head blown off this time, not sustaining chest or abdominal injuries. Red and white matter splattered around, leaving only a headless corpse, looking particularly grotesque...

This sniper had clearly made a preemptive prediction, knowing that Qin Fang might leap up, hence slightly raising the aim.

Yet, Qin Fang's reaction was still faster than the sniper had judged. This shot failed to hit Qin Fang but blew off the head of the Tianchi Sect disciple.

By this time, six Tianchi Sect experts had already fallen, leaving only the last four, while Qin Fang remained unharmed.

"Ji Xiang, it's about time you made a move..."

Though Qin Fang appeared relaxed on the surface, he was actually a bit anxious... He didn't care much about these Tianchi Sect experts. Still, if he abandoned these people to chase the sniper, the outcome might have been entirely different from the current situation.

Qin Fang being ambushed by assassins was quite normal, as now nearly all assassins lurking in Jiangzhou were after him.

But precisely because of this, Qin Fang knew he wasn't fighting alone; Ji Xiang was secretly assisting him.

The sniper appearing now was very skilled, making Qin Fang suspect he was part of the Shadow Viper. However, this pair usually appeared together, yet only a sniper emerged this time, while the expert in close combat was nowhere to be seen, which was odd.

"You despicable cheat!"

As Qin Fang pondered, the surviving elder of the Tianchi Sect cursed with a livid face. If he assumed the earlier elder's death was Qin Fang's doing, the young disciple with his head blown off had nothing to do with Qin Fang.

There was a sniper lurking in the shadows. Qin Fang knew the sniper was there to kill him, but the result was Qin Fang unscathed, with two Tianchi Sect members already dead. The Tianchi Sect immediately felt Qin Fang had people secretly sniping them...

"You think six against one is a fair fight?"

Qin Fang didn't bother to explain; he merely sneered sarcastically.

The Tianchi Sect now thought about fairness. Regardless of whether the sniper in the dark was also after Qin Fang or arranged by him, compared to the six-on-one with the Tianchi Sect, Qin Fang was quite courteous...

"You..."

The Tianchi Sect elder's face turned grim from Qin Fang's remark, glancing at the already lifeless corpses on the ground, his eyes full of rage and seemingly quietly resolved about something.

"You lot, go hunt down that sneaky bastard..."

Carefully standing with a sword, protecting himself, while he commanded the three remaining Tianchi Sect disciples.

"Elder..."

The young disciples hesitated briefly, eyeing the corpses on the ground and the unharmed Qin Fang, their faces showing great concern.

Moments ago, their six-person sword formation couldn't deal with Qin Fang. If they all left, how could the elder handle Qin Fang alone?

"Don't worry! Leave him to me..."

But the Tianchi Sect elder seemed confident, waving them off to deal with Qin Fang himself.

"Yes!"

Though the disciples were worried, the thought of the hidden gunman killing two of their own filled them with rage. They agreed in unison, splitting into three groups heading directly into the dim shadows...

Qin Fang merely twitched the corner of his mouth and said nothing more, as it wasn't necessary.

The hidden sniper wasn't arranged by him but to assassinate him. Now with the Tianchi Sect arrogantly chasing the gunman, Qin Fang felt slightly relieved, no longer needing to watch his back for gunfire!

"Your opponent is me..."

The Tianchi Sect elder stayed behind, holding a sword with one hand, coldly staring at Qin Fang as the disciples went after the hidden sniper.

Chapter 1769 - Frenzy Demon Pill! (Part 3)

Then, right in front of Qin Fang's eyes, he retrieved something similar to a pill from his body and casually tossed it into his mouth.

"Frenzy Demon Pill..."

Witnessing this scene, Qin Fang was slightly taken aback, almost instinctively exclaiming.

Although the elder swallowed the elixir rather quickly, Qin Fang still managed to catch sight of it and used his Scouting Skill to identify it, quickly learning its name and purpose.

"Oh..."

Elder Tianchi was also slightly stunned, clearly not expecting Qin Fang to shout out the name of the elixir he had just taken.

"Didn't expect you to have some insight... Not bad, what I just took was indeed the Frenzy Demon Pill! Since you can recognize it, you should also know its effects..."

However, Elder Tianchi seemed not to care much. The elixir was already taken, and it dissolved immediately in his mouth. It no longer mattered that Qin Fang knew its name and effects, as it was impossible to stop now, and the effects were already asserting themselves on his strength.

"Today, even if it costs my life, I must end this scourge of yours..."

Soon after, Elder Tianchi's expression turned icy, and his once black-and-white pupils gradually became blood-red, looking eerily sinister.

What's most bizarre was that the slightly exposed skin showed bulging veins that subtly turned bluish-black, almost as if there were mysterious and unfathomable patterns...

"It really is a madman..."

Seeing this scene, Qin Fang's expression became unprecedentedly cautious, and he couldn't help muttering under his breath.

The Frenzy Demon Pill is a highly sinister and forbidden elixir in the Martial World, an elixir that harms both the enemy and the user significantly.

Its effects are quite similar to the Berserk Potion in Qin Fang's hand, even with similar side effects... perhaps even more perverse.

Taking the Frenzy Demon Pill can enhance one's strength for a certain period, with the exact range of enhancement depending on one's resilience - the stronger the resilience, the greater the enhancement; weaker resilience leads to limited enhancement.

It's said that there was once a grandmaster-level expert who practiced Vajra Indestructible Divine Skill and swallowed four or five Frenzy Demon Pills in one go, forcibly enhancing his strength from Grandmaster Level to Great Grandmaster Level...

Of course, after experiencing a dramatic increase in strength, the expert directly wiped out all his enemies cleanly, only to turn into a dry corpse after the effects wore off... It had indeed overdrawn too much life potential!

Precisely because of the demonic nature of this Frenzy Demon Pill, it triggered numerous bloody storms in the Martial World in the past, causing extensive bloodshed and was soon classified as a forbidden drug in the Martial World.

However, in critical moments, this elixir can indeed have extraordinary effects, and many sects secretly produced or preserved some.

Nevertheless, the overall quantity remains quite rare, and due to the extinction of certain herbs, no more Frenzy Demon Pills have been produced over time.

The remaining Frenzy Demon Pills are practically irreplaceable; over the years, the number of surviving ones is pitifully small.

Even a thousand-year sect like the Tang Sect seems to have very few in stock, and they treasure them carefully, not taking them out unless at critical times.

Yet Qin Fang hadn't expected the Tianchi Sect to have Frenzy Demon Pills, let alone this elder bringing one out and swallowing it just to kill him...

Regardless of whether this elder is a madman or not, he had taken the Frenzy Demon Pill, and now it's a fact. Qin Fang is quite aware that the elder's power is rapidly increasing...

In just a moment, Qin Fang clearly felt that his strength had crossed the threshold of Grandmaster Level, and it was still growing.

Qin Fang made no move, just watched quietly, waiting... seemingly not worried at all that this elder has already surpassed the Grandmaster Level.

"Grandmaster Level! Such strong power..."

Taking the Frenzy Demon Pill only makes one's power go berserk, but it doesn't change the mind much. Elder Tianchi could clearly feel the enhancement of his power, so much so that he was almost lost in it.

As a master-level expert at the peak for many years, he had long fantasized about crossing this threshold, yet it was always beyond reach, causing him a mental block.

Now, finally able to experience the strength of a grandmaster-level expert, the exhilarating sensation almost made him want to shout with delight.

"I'll kill you!"

Advanced to the Grandmaster Level, Elder Tianchi immediately gained much confidence, looking at Qin Fang with exceptionally sharp eyes, and his gaze filled with disdain as if he could dispose of Qin Fang with a mere wave of his hand...

Bang~~

But before this Grandmaster-level Elder Tianchi could make a move, a sudden clear sound was heard.

To be exact, it was the sound of a gun...

Almost with the gunshot, a bloody hole appeared in the center of Elder Tianchi's forehead on the opposite side.

His gaze froze entirely in that instant, and although the smug expression brought by the surge of power had not completely faded from his face, he was helplessly accepting this reality!

"Sigh... why waste so many words!"

At this moment, a silvery modified version of the Desert Eagle appeared in Qin Fang's hand, with a faint hint of smoke still trailing from the muzzle...

Evidently, this elder who had advanced to Grandmaster Level was shot dead by Qin Fang before he could fully adapt to his Grandmaster Level strength, without ever understanding how he died...

Chapter 1770 - Slaying the Shadow Viper!

...

The strength of this Elder Tianchi is beyond doubt, and after taking the Frenzy Demon Pill, his power surged to the Grandmaster-level tier, which was already far beyond what Qin Fang could handle at the moment.

Under normal circumstances, Qin Fang's first reaction would certainly be to turn around and run, utilizing his advantage in the Traceless Snow Stepping Technique to shake off the opponent.

However, the current situation was clearly different. Although Elder Tianchi's strength was enhanced, it was limited to his power alone; his body's adaptability had not fully synchronized with his strength, causing a brief pause...

This pause was extremely short, as Elder Tianchi was originally a master-level peak expert, and he would instinctively react when faced with firearms.

Yet, this time there was a slight error; his body and strength were not well-coordinated, which gave Qin Fang an opportunity to exploit.

The Desert Eagle in Qin Fang's hand had been modified, enhancing its power significantly, and even the firing speed had increased, turning it into a formidable weapon.

Now that it was in Qin Fang's hands, Elder Tianchi was simply unlucky not to dodge it, as Qin Fang aimed a fatal shot at his forehead...

Being able to take out this Grandmaster-level powered Elder Tianchi with a single shot even surprised Qin Fang himself. He originally only meant for a sneak attack, hoping to severely injure him would have been considered good luck.

The Desert Eagle he used was modified, its power substantially increased, comparable to bullets fired from a sniper rifle.

Being hit by such a powerful gun, even if it wasn't a vital area, the damage inflicted would be significant enough to make even a Grandmaster-level expert feel quite uncomfortable.

An injured Grandmaster-level expert would naturally see a significant drop in strength, like that old witch from Baihua Valley who chose to self-destruct after being injured.

Qin Fang, who was of quasi-grandmaster level strength, with full firepower and the aid of various sneaky skills, might just be able to handle an injured Grandmaster-level expert.

However...

The outcome shocked Qin Fang greatly. He managed to kill Elder Tianchi in one shot, rendering all his subsequent tactics unnecessary.

"Ah... ah..."

And at this moment, such screams could be heard nearby, not just from one person, but seemingly from two or three people consecutively.

Qin Fang didn't care about how unjust Elder Tianchi's death was. He immediately turned towards that direction and discovered that the young experts from the Tianchi Sect who were pursuing the sniper had been disabled, three of them in an instant...

The only one remaining was the strongest among them, reaching a master level. However, it seemed he couldn't hold out much longer, as a giant black man was attacking him ferociously, probably just needing two or three more moves before killing him.

Bang~~~

Sure enough, just as Qin Fang made this assessment, that black man used his powerful strength to blow the young expert away, then suddenly exerted force with his feet, storming forward with incredible speed. His hands suddenly opened wide, grabbing the young expert's head, and his knee launched a fierce strike...

A dull thud sounded, and then Qin Fang saw that the young master-level expert, without any decent defense, had his head smashed by the black man's knee, causing a splash of blood and brain matter, staining the ground in a chaotic color...

"Such strong power!"

Even Qin Fang was surprised upon witnessing such a scene. The force from the black man's knee strike was terrifying, and Qin Fang felt that without going berserk, he might even be slightly inferior!

It wasn't that the young Tianchi Sect expert was too weak. Qin Fang had fought him before; his hand skills were quite strong, and his swordsmanship was extremely intricate. After all, he was a master-level expert eligible to become an elder...

But unfortunately, he encountered this rampaging black man. His longsword had been knocked away, leaving him to fight barehanded, ending in such a tragic outcome.

Qin Fang glanced briefly and saw the young expert's longsword had been flung over ten meters away, with a dent on the hilt almost breaking the fine steel sword.

"Bullet mark..."

Upon seeing the dent, Qin Fang realized that the sword wasn't knocked away by the black man but shot away by a hidden sniper.

"Shadow Viper..."

Seeing such a scene, Qin Fang immediately thought of a notorious assassin duo in the underground world: Shadow Viper.

Isn't this exactly the case?

A melee expert leading in front, with a distant sniper hiding behind, complementing each other perfectly. Plus, this was a black man—the unseen sniper should be a white man, matching the characteristics of Shadow Viper.